ALL IS QUIET AT MANILLA

Gen. Otis Reports That Business in the City of Manilla is Resuming Its Former Activity.

Insurgents Opened Fire on the American Troops But None of the Shots Took Effect.

Manilla, Feb. 13.—Adjutant General, Washington, D. C.: Everything quiet this morning; business in city resuming former activity. OTIS.

Manilla, Feb. 13, 10:35 a. m.—Pursuing their customary tactics, the insurgents on the extreme left of the line opened fire at long range on the American troops last night, maintaining their fire for a few minutes before settling down None of their shots took effect, however, and the Americans did not reply. All was quiet along the rest of the line.

The Concord is now lying off Paranaque.

The weather at night now is cool and showers are frequent.

Private Meisick, of the Montana regiment, died in the hospital yesterday.

OTIS HEARS A REPORT.

It Is That Aguinaldo Was Ordered to Commence Hostilities.

Washington, Feb. 13.—The following cablegrams from Gen. Otis were received at the war department:

Fitz Hugh Lee, Jr., Twenty-first infantry, to be second lieutenant cavalry, Second regiment volunteer engineers; Second Lieut. James E. Lawton, to be first lieutenant; Sergt. William B. Dougall, Company K, to be second lieutenant.

ARE NOT ALARMED.

Agents of the Bulgaria Think She Is All Right.

London, Feb. 13.—The Hamburg-American Steamship company, has issued an assuring statement regarding the company's steamer Bulgaria, reported in a dispatch from Ponta del Gada, Azores, yesterday as drifting helplessly 800 miles from the Azores, where twenty-five passengers, women and children, were taken from her by the tank steamer Weehawken and landed at Ponta del Gada. The company's statement is to the effect that they have been advised that the Bulgaria's rudder was injured, but that her commander, Capt. Schmidt, one of the oldest and most efficient shipmasters, evidently considered the situation so little dangerous that he declined the Weehawken's offer to take the Bulgaria in tow. The company, it is added, has taken steps to render assistance to the steamer.

ADMIRAL DEWEY.

The Senate Passes a Bill Creating the Office of Admiral.

Washington, Feb. 13.—The senate has passed a bill creating the office of admiral of the navy. Rear Admiral Dewey, it is understood, will be named for the office.

THE WORK OF CONGRESS.

Washington, Feb. 13.—The senate went on with business today as usual, notwithstanding the storm. Quite a wrangle took place over the agreement to vote on the McEnery Philippine resolution on Tuesday, Senator Platt of Connecticut and others saying snap judgment had been taken and others denying this.

After this there was much recrimination, ending in a personal wrangle between Senators Wolcott and Hoar. It was finally decided to meet at 11 o'clock tomorrow so that those who wish to talk on the resolution might do so.

The bill intended to make Dewey an admiral was passed and the consideration of the agricultural appropriation bill begun.

Speaker Reed was not at the capitol today, and sent word to one of his lieutenants that he thought it advisable to adjourn on account of the storm. Less than 100 members were present, and those who braved the storm refused to adjourn and went on with consideration of the sundry civil appropriation bill.

TO GO TO ST. LOUIS.

The Cleveland Ball Players Are to Be Transferred.

St. Louis, Feb. 13.—The Post Dispatch this afternoon says: No matter who comes out on top in the baseball fight between Chris Von Der Ahe, Receiver Muckenfuss and others, one thing is certain, and that is that the Cleveland players will be transferred to St. Louis. One of the Cleveland players let the cat out of the bag today when he said that the old Forest City team had been ordered to report at Hot Springs at once, and that the understanding was that they were to be moved right into St. Louis from there. He says they will leave the springs about March 25 and that they will be playing exhibition games about Sunday, April 2. Indeed the plan is for them to make their debut here on that day.

AN EARTHQUAKE SHOCK.

Knoxville, Tenn., Feb. 13.—An earthquake shock of from five to ten seconds passed through East Tennessee this morning at 3:30. It was felt mostly in the upper end of the state, not reaching as far west as this city. People were aroused from their sleep, but no damage was done.

VOTE FOR PETER JANSEN.

Lincoln, Neb., Feb. 13.—There was an unusually large number of absentees when the twenty-second joint ballot for senator was taken. The only change was the casting of one vote for Peter Jansen.

BRANCH LINES PURCHASED.

Atchison, Kas., Feb. 13.—It is officially announced here that the Missouri Pacific Railway company has purchased the Central branch lines west of Waterville. There has been considerable talk that the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe company had bought the property. The Missouri Pacific has been operating the lines for eighteen years under lease.

VOTERS BLOCKADED.

Dover, Del., Feb. 13.—On account of the railroad blockade only two senators and one representative were present at the joint session of the legislature today. They took one ballot, resulting 2 for J. Edward Addicks (Rep.) and one for George Gray (Dem.), and adjourned until tomorrow.

A LANDMARK GONE.

United States Hotel at Chicago Destroyed By Fire.

Chicago, Feb. 13.—The United States hotel, an old landmark at the southeast corner of Cottage Grove avenue and Thirty-first street, was destroyed by fire today. During the palmy days, longe before the civil war, the hotel was a favorite resort of prominent political men, among whom were Gen. U. S. Grant and Stephen Douglass.

TRUSTEE DUSS WINS.

He Retains Money of the Society of Economites.

Pittsburg, Feb. 13.—The long-pending suit against John Duss, trustee of the famous Society of Economites, brought by heirs of former memners, for the purpose of securing the dissolution of the society and an accounting and distribution of the funds was decided in favor of Trustee Duss today by Judge M. W. Acheson of the United States circuit court. The suit involved many millions of dollars.

Less than a dozen of the Economites are still living, and with two or three exceptions the are nonogenarians.

WORK OF RESCUE.

Men Saved From Snowslide Say It Was a Miracle.

Denver, Col., Feb. 13.—A special to the News from Silver Plume, Col., says:

Many people living in cabins on the mountain sides are moving today in order to avoid possible death in the snow slides, such as that which swept down Cheyenne canon yesterday, killing at least ten persons. Much heavier masses of snow than that which came down yesterday are still clinging to the mountain sides and are liable to become dislodged at any moment.

The bodies of the missing men who were carried away in the avalanche of yesterday are still being hunted for. So far eight bodies have been recovered. Three men who were caught in the slide were taken out only slightly bruised, and they will recover. It is known that thirteen persons were in the slide and two are missing. Possibly a dozen more were caught by the slide, but the Italians who lived in the canon are averse to giving information. The men who were saved say that it was by a miracle, for they were unable to get out of the way of the moving mass of snow.

The bodies of De Stefeno and Joseph Tondeni have been recovered.

Where the slide finally stopped the drift is 300 feet across and from 50 to 75 feet in depth. It is fully 1500 feet in length. The drift is filled with timbers and boulders, and the rescue party found it almost impossible at times to dig into the hard mass. The rescue party was made up of the mining and business men of this place and Georgetown, and they worked in relays. Ropes were used, and sometimes seventy-five men would be hauling away on them to get a log out.

From within ten minutes after the slide had come down the gulch until late in the night the men were working in rescuing the missing ones. At De Stefeno's cabin no trace of the man could be found. The roof of the cabin was taken off and the sides were crushed in. On the floor sat the body of the wife. On one side was the boy, as if kneeling in prayer, while directly in front of the mother was the girl of 2 years in the same supplicating attitude. The mother was leaning over the little girl as if giving her protection. All three were dead. The snow was packed tightly around them.

The ore house of the Pelican and Carey City mines was swept away and it is estimated that $50,000 worth of ore was carried into the basin between the mountains and lost.

TO BE REORGANIZED.

Plan For Consolidation of the Wisconsin Central Lines.

Milwaukee, Feb. 13.—The Evening Wisconsin today says: It is learned that the parties have so far progressed with the agreement that the plan of reorganization of the Wisconsin Central lines has been agreed upon and that it is the plan to have it fully approved of and given out before the parties come before the court again in order that everything may be fully settled. It is the intention to issue the plan about March 1 and to present it to the court the following day. The plan will bring to a consummation the original plan of Edwin Abbot, that of unifying the entire system, taking in not only all of the leased lines, but the Central Car company as well.

In the plan it is stated the Boston interests are exceedingly well cared for and it is stated Edwin Abbot has carried his point to a very large degree, although obliged with all the rest to yield in some particulars. In bringing about the reorganization it is stated Mr. Abbot has made sacrifices which will result in his retirement from active participation in Wisconsin Central matters and a new man will be at the head of the system.

GREAT NORTHERN EARNINGS.

Nearly a Million Dollars Greater Than In 1897.

St. Paul, Feb. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Great Northern today reported to the state railroad commission the gross earnings for the year 1898 for the purpose of taxation. The report shows that the earnings in the state of Minnesota were nearly $1,000,000 greater than the year previous. The statement follows: Earnings, $8,928,493.45; 1897 earnings, $7,955,814.72; increase, $972,678.73. Taxes, $267,854.80; 1897 taxes, $238,674.45; increase, $29,180.35.

Willmar & Sioux Falls earnings for 1898 were $621,791.80; 1897, $552,171.95, an increase of $69,619.85. Taxes, 1898, $13,392.09, an increase of $29,180.35 over 1897.

THOSE DISORDERLY STUDENTS.

Each Will Have a Separate Trial at Madison.

Madison, Wis., Feb. 13.—A call for a special election to choose a successor to Assemblyman Albert Woyciechowski, who died last week was issued today by Acting Governor Stone. He was from the Fifth district, a Polish stronghold in Milwaukee. The election will be held Feb. 28.

The students charged with disorderly conduct after the Opera house disturbance a month ago will be given separate trials. Their cases came up in the municipal court this morning and H. W. Chynoweth, ex-regent of the university, who is defending them, asked for a separate trial for each, and it was granted. H. F. Lacey's case was taken up first and this morning the testimony of the police officers was taken.

VOTE IN UTAH.

Salt Lake, Feb. 13.—The joint assembly took one ballot for senator and adjourned until tomorrow. The result was: King, 8; McCune (Dem), 24; Powers (Dem.), 2; Nebeker (Dem.), 1; Cannon, 12; Sutherland (Rep.), 11; absent, 3; not voting, 2.

THE SOUTH SHIVERS

A Temperature of Unprecedented Severity From the Gulf Northward.

THE LOWEST KNOWN

The Previous Record Is Broken By Six Degrees at Atlanta.

Atlanta, Ga., Feb. 13.—The South shivered today in a temperature of unprecedented severity. From the gulf of Mexico northward and from the Atlantic coast to the west boundaries of Texas, the cold wave has settled heavily on the country and produced the lowest temperatures ever known. Anniston, Ala., reported the lowest temperature—15 below—at 7 o'clock this morning. Atlanta comes next with 8½ below, recorded officially. This is the lowest ever known here, the low mark being broken by 6 degrees. Street thermometers recorded 10 and 12 below and this temperature accompanied by a wind which reached a velocity of fifteen miles an hour, made the cold almost unbearable.

Great suffering was reported to the police early in the day and prompt measures were taken for relief. The Atlanta Journal and Constitution competed with the police and furnished coal and provisions to hundreds of families.

A large number of people with frostbitten hands, faces, ears and noses were cared for early in the morning and ten cases were sent to the Grady hospital.

A week ago the temperature was 72 above. Street car traffic is demoralized, no cars having been run on some lines since Saturday night. Four inches of snow covers the ground.

Superintendent Stephens of the Western Union reports telegraph facilities badly demoralized. There is no connection with New Orleans or Jacksonville, Fla., and many wires in every direction have snapped as they were frozen from the cold. The storm in the vicinity of Mobile has wrecked all wires to New Orelans and a large crew of linemen left Mobile early in the day in an effort to restore communication.

Among the temperatures reported to the weather bureau are the following, all below zero: Nashville, 12; Knoxville, 10; Selma, Ala., 6; Birmingham, 5; Columbus, Ga., 4; Mobile, 1; Montgomery, 4, and many others hovering near the zero mark.

A SCARCITY OF WATER.

People of Pottsville May Have to Melt Snow.

Pottsville, Pa., Feb. 13.—The coal region is snowbound to the depth of several feet, the snow drifted in a manner never equaled before. Railroad traffic is suspended, except for a few mail trains, which are being forced through the drifts hours behind time. Electric railways are completely tied up, and mails to suburban points are being transported on sleighs. Yesterday and today the snowfall at times has been several inches an hour. The worst difficulty is threatened through scarcity of water, due to the freezing of streams and reservoirs. Thermometer, 5 degrees below zero.

BUSINESS SUSPENDED.

Phenomenal Weather Culminates In a Blizzard at Washington.

Washington, Feb. 13.—The phenomenal weather of the past week culminated in a blizzard-like snow storm today, which broke all records and left no room for the oldest inhabitant to say the winters were no longer as severe as when he was a boy. The temperature record was smashed last week when the thermometer went to 15 degrees below zero and a snow record was established when to the heavy fall of the past week thirteen inches was added from Saturday night up to 10 o'clock today.

At the hour when the weather bureau made this observation the snow was falling as fast and heavily as at any time since it began and a high wind was piling it in huge drifts. At noon there had been no let up at all in the snowfall and the sky gave no indication of immediate relief, though the weather bureau held out an indefinite promise that the storm would pass over either this afternoon or tonight.

The one favorable element in the storm situation was the comparatively moderate temperature, the thermometer showing 10 degrees above zero. Behind the snow storm is a cold wave, so that when the snow abates zero and below is likely to add to the suffering.

Business is practically suspended. Street cars either were running not at all or so infrequently as to be of little real service. The car lines' chief value, in fact, consisted in the path the car sweepers made for pedestrians whom duty sent forth into the storm. Business in the departments was almost at a standstill, less than half the force reporting. At noon the treasury department dismissed the clerks and other employes for the day, and other departments, it was expected would follow suit.

The paralysis to all kinds of business was the worst since the fierce blizzard of March 1888. The telegraph wires were in better working order than then, but aside from better communication with the outside world the conditions then were not comparable to those of today in this vicinity.

Railroad traffic was almost abandoned today, the only train up to noon being a local from Baltimore.

The Potomac is frozen over with six inches of ice and unless broken a flood is quite probable that will inundate the lower sections of the city, especially as reports from the mountains north and west of the city show that they are buried deep in snow. Many cases of extreme suffering in the country districts are expected to be reported later.

The snowfall in this city and conditions in the surrounding country have been about the same for the whole storm since it began as officially registered by the weather bureau up to this morning at 11 o'clock, has been 27.1 inches in depth. Practically none of this has melted away, so that the depth that covers the city is about 27 inches.

At Alexandria, Va., the snowfall is very heavy and has resulted in almost completely isolating that place from the outside world. River navigation is suspended.

The Norfolk & Western steamer from Norfolk left Norfolk last night for Washington, but turned back.

The Chesapeake & Ohio canal is frozen solid and many coal barges are icebound and their crews in a helpless condition.

This forenoon the storm center was off Cape Henry. It had come up the Atlantic coast from the gulf, leaving a heavy white trail in its wake and was working its way up the coast gradually so that its severest effects are likely to be in New York and New England today and tombrrow.

In the South the snow was accompanied by intense cold. At many factory towns the operatives remained in the mills as affording better shelter than their homes.

The weather bureau today issued the following weather bulletin:

"By far the most important feature of the weather this morning is the extreme cold weather which prevails through the gulf states and Tennessee. The zero line extends through Central Louisiana, Southern Mississippi, Southern Alabama and Central Georgia. At New Orleans the minimum temperature was 6 degrees, which was 9 degrees lower than any previous record. At Vicksburg the minimum temperature was 1 dfliegree below zero; at Montgomery, 4 degrees below zero; at Atlanta, 6 degrees below, and in the gulf region the temperatures were from 3 degrees to 9 degrees below any previous records, except possibly in Florida, from which state reports this morning are missing. It is evident, however, from inspection of the prevailing conditions to the northward, that the line of freezing temperature extends well into Central Florida.

"Advisory messages were sent to Florida as early as Saturday night and this information was supplemented on Sunday morning by warnings that the freezing temperature would extend as far south as Tampa by Monday morning. Special bulletins were also issued during Sunday in the west gulf states.

"Another remarkable feature of this weather was the heavy snow which was extended through the whole Atlantic coast districts, almost to Florida, particularly heavy snows having fallen in the Potomac valley and up in the Chesapeake region. The snows also extended into New England and warnings of heavy snowfall were distributed generally on Sunday morning.

"The storm on the Atlantic coast, which has been the cause of the heavy snow fall, is moving rapidly to the northeast, and clearing weather may be expected generally by tonight in the entire Atlantic coast region, accompanied by somewhat colder weather in the middle districts. It will remain cold in the South, with most probably more freezing temperatures in Northern and Central Florida, and it will not be so cold on Tuesday in the west gulf states.

"An area of low pressure is moving in from the Northwest and rapidly rising temperatures may consequently be expected as far East as the central valleys on Tuesday. They have already risen decidedly in the extreme Northwest, and are generally above zero.

"Thirteen inches of snow has fallen at Washington since Saturday night.

"H. E. WILLIAMS,
"Acting Chief United States Weather Bureau."

BLIZZARD ON THE COAST.

Wind Blows Sixty Miles an Hour on Cape Henry.

Lewes, Del., Feb. 13.—A terrible blizzard is raging all along the coast. At Cape Henry the velocity of the wind is sixty miles an hour and at noon the speed was 15 miles an hour below that. The breakwater harbor is full of heavy ice, blown in by the northeast gale. This is likely to cause damage to the shipping anchored here when it moves out. The United States collier Sterling is lying dangerously near the breakwater and will be damaged unless the gale soon abates. The schooner Elihu Bailey is aground near the point of Cape Penlilope in a bad position.

The surfmen attached to the life saving station have been forced to abandon for the present their patrol of the coast. The storm is equally as severe as the blizzard of 1888, which wrought such awful damage along the coast.

The blockaded condition of the railroads is becoming worse as the day advances. The Pennsylvania railroad is making heroic efforts to move its passenger trains, and thus far has succeeded in moving about 50 per cent of the regular scheduled passenger service of its various divisions. The through Western trains reach here from five to eight hours behind time. The greatest difficulty is experienced on the Philadelphia, Wilmington & Baltimore division. On the Baltimore & Ohio, the Lehigh Valley and other roads similar conditions of delay prevail.

THE POOR SUFFERING.

The Snowfall Accompanied By a Gale at Baltimore.

Baltimore, Feb. 13.—Snow has been falling in this city without intermission since 9 o'clock Saturday night and the wind has been blowing a gale from the northwest with the result that the street car lines and all the steamboat lines leading into the city are at a standstill. Reports from all parts of the state show the same condition of things and much suffering both among the farmers and the poor.

All trains are behind owing to snow drifts on all lines.

Baltimore & Ohio engine No. 818, on train No. 10 from Washington, while backing, side wiped train No. 105, standing still at the time. The corner of one Pullman car was damaged, the side of a Blue line coach slightly damaged and a car repairer was injured.

A BLINDING BLIZZARD.

New Haven, Conn., Feb. 13.—During last night the snow storm which prevailed intermittently Saturday night and Sunday developed into one which had many of the characteristics of a blizzard, and today practically the whole state of Connecticut is suffering from a blinding snow storm.

TERRIFIC GALES IN ENGLAND.

London, Feb. 13.—Terrific gales are again prevailing on the coasts of the British isles. Many ports have suffered serious damage from the waves, esplanades being washed away in many cases. Shipping has been battered severely, and several minor wrecks, with some loss of life, are reported.

TRAINS ABANDONED.

Philadelphia, Feb. 13.—The Reading railroad at noon today issued official announcement of the entire abandonment of its train service until further notice. The Pennsylvania railroad is moving about half of their regular scheduled passenger trains, but has abandoned freight coal trains.

AROUND THE ZERO MARK.

Auburn, N. Y., Feb. 13.—The mercury at 8 o'clock this morning and 9 o'clock hovered around the zero mark. A light snow is falling.

MODERATING AT BUFFALO.

Buffalo, N. Y., Feb. 13.—The weather has moderated somewhat. At 8 a. m. the thermometer at the weather bureau registered zero, having risen from 2 below since 8 o'clock last night. A light snow is falling.

NAVIGATION SUSPENDED.

Memphis, Tenn., Feb. 13.—The present cold snap is a record breaker for West Tennessee, Arkansas and Mississippi. Zero weather has prevailed for several days and there has been much suffering among poor people. The effect of the weather has been to cause a complete suspension of navigation on the Mississippi river from Greenville, Miss., north of Cairo.

SIGNALS OF DISTRESS.

Lewes, Del., Feb. 13.—The United States steam collier Sterling is flying signals of distress. She is dragging her anchors and it is feared she may strike against the breakwater. No assistance can be rendered the collier, owing to the drift ice.

AN ASYLUM HORROR

Cottage at South Dakota Insane Asylum Burns to the Ground.

SEVENTEEN PERISH

They Were All Women Who Had Been Placed There Temporarily.

Yankton, S. D., Feb. 13.—One of the most horrifying fires in the history of Yankton occurred yesterday morning at 2 o'clock at the state insane asylum, where one of the cottages took fire in the basement, completely gutting the building and causing the loss of the lives of seventeen inmates confined there. The names of those missing and the counties from which they came are:

Augusta Boerse, Lake county.
Julia Erickson, of Meade.
Ella Lokken, of Codington.
Margaret Lynch, of Union.
Josiah Olson, of Hamlin.
Martena Tennyson, of Pennington.
Elizabeth Stople, of Davison.
Mrs. Kampinl, of Brown.
Maggie Flynn, of Hamlin.
Lucina Gossage, of Hamlin.
Adelina Hurley, of Potter.
Christina Johnson, of Coddington.
Jennie Kronig, of Pennington.
Lusia Klen, of Coddington.
Caroline Lindberg, of Brown.
Katie Plavitz, of Bonhomme.
Gaini Swanson, of Kingsbury.

The cottage was erected of stone and granite walls with wooden interior, and intended for laundry purposes, but owing to the crowded condition of the main building, forty of the female patients were placed here, with the laundry in the basement. The exact cause of the fire is not known, except that it originated in the dry room of the laundry. Here there is a coil of steam pipes and the theory is that either fine particles similar to lint settled on the pipes which ignited, or that clothes which were thickly hung here dropped on the pipes and were fired.

The lack of water greatly hindered the work of the firemen. The burned cottage stands 300 in the rear of the main building, the water tank for fire protection standing 100 feet in the rear of the cottage. The steam pipes used for pumping ran from the boiler room to the main building through the cottage for heating and then to the artesian well or tank. The intense heat in the burning building caused the pipes to burst shortly after the fire began, leaving the fire hose without power, except in the direct pressure from the tank, which was in no way sufficient to quench the flames. Two streams of water were thrown on the building, but did little good.

With the thermometer standing at 23 degrees below zero the inmates who could escape came down the narrow flight of stairs in their night clothing and bare feet into the bitter cold and had it not been for the nearness of shelter the suffering and loss of life would have been even more terrible. The building was three stories high with an attic and two entrances, one east and one west. There was one stairway from the second and third floors, which led into the main halls to these entrances, thus giving but one exit for those on the second and third floors and attic. Fifty-two persons were in the building, forty patients and twelve female attendants. The attendants escaped, as did the others who were saved, with none of their personal effects, many losing all they possessed.

An inquest is now in progress at the asylum, which may develop the exact cause. It is not thought blame will attach to any of the attendants.

Portions of the charred remains can be seen in the debris at the bottom of the basement. The work of removing the remains and debris will begin today. The four walls of the cottage still stand and will make the work of removal dangerous, as a collapse is liable to occur without a moment's warning. In 1882 the asylum, then a frame building, was destroyed by fire and six lives were lost.

Loss on building and machinery in yesterday's fire is estimated to be $18,000, uninsured.

MIGHTY SNOWSLIDE.

Ten Persons Are Buried Alive In a Colorado Catastrophe.

Silver Plume, Col., Feb. 13.—Two mighty snow slides, combining into one, swept down Cherokee gulch at 8 o'clock yesterday morning, carrying away a dozen or more mine buildings, cabins and machinery, and causing great loss of life and damage to mine property. How many dead bodies lie in this great mass of snow and debris will not be known before spring. Eight dead bodies are now at the morgue, two more persons are known to be lost and three have been taken out alive.

The rescuing party has only penetrated about fifteen feet into the mass of snow and wreckage piled up at the foot of the gulch to the depth of seventy-five feet. The dead are as follows:

Dominick Destafno, his wife and two children, a boy aged 5 and a girl aged 2.
Joseph Tondenia.
Peter Tondenia.
John Tondenia.
Jerome Guananzi.
John Bietto.
Enrico Nawarin.

Injured: Tony Negretto, arm broken, otherwise injured; Joseph Concono, head and body bruised; Tony Malino, leg broken.

The worst has not come. Only about a third of the enormous drift piled up on the mountain broke away. A drift about 100 feet in height still clings to the mountain side, and should it become loosened, the upper end of the town is in danger of destruction. The slide today started in what is known as Garry City gulch. It swept over the Pelican mines tunnel house, carrying away the mine dumps and buildings and filling the entire valley.

As this slide reached the main gulch the snow in Swallow Hen gulch, on the opposite mountain, broke away and rushed down to Cherokee gulch. Here the two avalanches met and continued their course toward the town. Just back of Silver Plume in the main gulch was a settlement of Italian miners. Their cabins were directly in the path of destruction, and were crushed like egg shells. Trees were torn up by the roots, and gigantic boulders carried away like pebbles. A turn in the gulch just as it opens on the town checked the slide, and it now stands threatening destruction to at least a portion of this camp, should the remainder of the snow on the mountain side start to fall.

Every available man from Silver Plume and Georgetown is digging for the bodies of the missing.

What a man attains to seems for a little time to be the highest rung in the ladder, and during that brief period he may be content, but when he discovers that there are other rungs, still higher up, ambition gives birth to discontent, and he begins once more to climb. To climb is really man's chief end. It isn't in attainment, but in work, that man finds his real happiness, consequently it is not strange that we find men working until they break down when there is no real necessity for it.

If men only knew it, they could work to almost any extent on through middle life and into old age, if they would only take a little common sense care of their health. The trouble is that they do not take the little stitches here and there that are necessary to preserve health. They pay no attention to the signs of on-coming ill-health. A little biliousness, a little indigestion, a little loss of sleep and appetite, a little nervousness, a little headache, a little shakiness in the morning, and a little dullness all day, a little this and a little that—all these little things they neglect. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery makes the appetite keen, digestion and assimilation perfect, the liver active, the blood pure and the nerves steady. It is the great blood-maker and flesh-builder. It is the great liver invigorator and nerve tonic. It fits a man to work and work and work. Medicine dealers sell it and have nothing else "just as good."

"I was a sufferer five or six years from indigestion," writes B. F. Holmes, of Gaffney, Spartanburg Co., S. C., "also from sore stomach and constant headache. I then used Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and 'Pleasant Pellets,' which in a few days gave me permanent relief."

A man or woman who neglects constipation suffers from slow poisoning. Doctor Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation. One little "Pellet" is a gentle laxative, and two a mild cathartic. All medicine dealers sell them.

ADRIFT AND HELPLESS.

The American Liner Bulgaria Drifting In a Heavy Sea.

Ponta Del Gada, Azores Islands, Feb. 13.—The British tank steamer Weechawken, Capt. Casey, from Philadelphia Jan. 27 for Hull, has arrived here with twenty-five passengers, Capt. Schmidt, from New York, Jan. 28, for Hamburg. The Weechawken reports the Bulgaria drifting helplessly 800 miles from the Azores. Nothing is known here as to the fate of the other passengers.

London, Feb. 13.—According to a dispatch from Ponta Del Gada to the Daily Mail, the twenty-five members of the Bulgaria's company on board the Weechawken are women and children. The rest of the passengers and the crew could not be taken off owing to heavy weather. It is understood here tonight that the Hamburg-American liner Bulgaria, which is reported drifting helplessly 800 miles from the Azores, carried ninety passengers.

New York, Feb. 13.—Emil Boaz, the general agent of the Hamburg-American steamship line in this city, said that the Bulgaria, had no cabin accommodations for passengers and therefore all the passengers aboard were in the steerage. They were mostly Germans and from all parts of the United States. The company does not keep a list of the crews on its ships, and Mr. Boaz said it was impossible to obtain a list of the names of the steerage passengers.

VERY BITTER FEELING.

Cubans Make Strong Speeches Against the Americans.

Havana, Feb. 13.—The feeling which existed among the Cubans toward Governor Gen. Brooke over the question of precedence in the line of the funeral procession of Gen. Garcia, on Saturday, has moderated very greatly, owing to explanations that have been made, and most of the ill humor now is directed against the Cuban generals, who hastily took offense where none was intended, and ordered the Cuban soldiers to leave and then themselves retired. The other generals are disposed to blame Gen. Andrade for ordering the soldiers not to march.

The leading generals and the members of the Cuban assembly, which is composed of military men, held a meeting and debated the subject until 2 o'clock Sunday morning. A number of strong speeches were made against Americans, and it was decided to appoint a commission to investigate the occurrence and determine whether or not the conduct of the governor general constituted a ground of offense. The commission will report on Tuesday next.

Senor Lanuza, secretary of justice and public instruction in Gen. Brooke's advisory council; Senor Domingo Mendez Capote, secretary of government in the council, and Gen. Mario Menocal, chief of police of Havana, who were present at the meeting, talked of resigning their positions, but finally decided not to do so then, because it would be unpolitic and unpatriotic to suddenly break off their relations with the United States military authorities.

He Will Be Asked to Resign By the Cuban Assembly.

THE PALL BEARERS

All Except One at Gen. Garcia's Funeral Were Obscure Negroes.

Havana, Feb. 13.—Maj. Miranda, who was one of the members of the staff of the late Gen. Garcia and is now an employe in the postal service, was the only officer to assist in carrying the coffin of the late commander at his funeral on Saturday. The other bearers were chiefly obscure negroes and this fact has caused a feeling of indignation against the generals who were interested in formulating the program for the obsequies.

The police arrangements for controlling the crowds were absolutely inadequate. At the cemetery the rabble invaded the chapel and Governor General Brooke, Gen. Chaffee, of the governor general's staff, and the other American officers were obliged to force their way in behind the casket.

Afterwards when the coffin was borne from the chapel to the grave, a struggling crowd of dirty, ragged negroes impeded the progress of the bearers and Gen. Brooke and his staff and the other guests of honor of the city, and the American generals were roughly buffeted and jostled.

At a well attended secret meeting of the members of the Cuban assembly and prominent Cuban generals held yesterday, it was decided to request Gen. Andrade, who in November last was chosen vice president of the Cuban military assembly, to resign, in view of the grave error he committed on Saturday in ordering the Cuban troops not to march in Gen. Garcia's funeral procession.

The yearly carnival festivities are beginning in Havana. On Saturday afternoon the Prado was crowded with a good-natured assemblage who pelted each other with flowers and many colored bits of paper. Many carnival balls will be held this week.

AN IRATE HUSBAND.

After Robert Parker For Eloping With His Wife.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Feb. 13.—Robert Parker, lat of Marquette, was arrested here Friday by Deputy Sheriff Arnott on telegraphic advice from the sheriff of Marquette county. The nature of the charge against Parker is not definitely known, but it will be either that of larceny, or obtaining goods under false pretenses. Thereby hangs a tale.

J. J. Nobben, of Marquette, arrived here early in the week. He was on the trail of a wife who had deserted him and skipped with Parker some weeks ago, just after he had sent her $65 in cash from Duluth, where he was then working. Mr. Nobben found the erring woman living on Seymour road. Parker occupied the house with her. Mr. Nobben was at first inclined to have the couple arrested and tried on the charge of adultery, but finding it would be difficult to make a case against them, he went back to Marquette, with the threat of having Parker arrested on the charge of either larceny or obtaining goods under false pretenses, Parker having taken Nobben's furniture when he skipped with his wife, and also having purchased goods for himself on credit from a Marquette merchant under the pretense that they were for Nobben. That the injured husband has fulfilled his threat is shown by the arrest of Parker. Parker and Mrs. Nobben arrived in the Soo Jan. 21 last, accompanied by Mrs. Nobben's little child and two of the children of Parker, who is a widower.

REGAINED HIS HEALTH.

King Oscar Is About to Return to Stockholm.

Chicago, Feb. 13.—A Stockholm cable to the Record says: King Oscar, who has spent the last three weeks trying to regain his health, has quite recovered, and will resume the control of government Feb. 17. Much amusement has been caused in court circles here by the sensational rumors that have got abroad to the effect that Crown Prince Gustaf's regency would end in his coronation. His majesty seems to have no idea of abdicating, and his rest and course of treatment at Saltsjoebaln have given him new interest in state affairs.

Leading citizens of Stockholm have subscribed $20,000 toward the fitting out of an expedition to search Greenland for some trace of Professor Andree. It is believed that the expedition, whether or not it fails of its object, will add to the fund of knowledge regarding the little-explored interior of Danish America.

COL. COLSON SHOT.

Officers of the Fourth Kentucky Settle a Dispute.

Anniston, Ala., Feb. 13.—Trouble which has been brewing for some time between Col. David G. Colson and First Lieut. Ed Scott of the Fourth Kentucky volunteers culminated at a late hour Saturday night in a pitched battle, in which Col. Colson was shot in the hip and Lieut. Scott and many others had narrow escapes. The encounter occurred in a restaurant. Scott was lunching with a friend, Lieut. Blakeman of the Fourth, when Col. Colson entered. Col. Colson is said to have pulled Lieut. Blakeman's ear. Lieut. Scott declared that Lieut. Blakeman was his friend, and he would not allow him to be insulted. At this time Col. Colson drew a pistol, and Lieut. Scott rose from his chair with a pistol in each hand. There were quite a number of men present, some of whom declare that Col. Colson opened the fight. Probably a dozen shots were fired before onlookers could stop the fusillade.

Lieuts. McKay and Phelps of the Fourth Wisconsin, on duty at the provost guards, were in the room. Lieut. Phelps ran up to Lieut. Scott and demanded his pistols. The latter gave them up. Lieut. McKay, in the meantime, had ordered Col. Colson to disarm, but he refused to do it, and the pistol was taken from him by force. Col. Colson, it is said, immediately drew another weapon and fired, but without effect. The provost lieutenant overpowered and disarmed Col. Colson. The colonel was the only man injured in the engagement. A bullet entered his hip and ranged around to the rear, where it was extracted.

Lieut. Scott was arrested yesterday. Both officers have many warm personal friends in the regiment, which was mustered out Saturday, and there is much feeling between the two factions.

STRONG STATEMENTS.

Three Women Relieved of Female Troubles by Mrs. Pinkham.

From Mrs A. W. SMITH, 59 Summer St., Biddeford, Me.:

"For several years I suffered with various diseases peculiar to my sex. Was troubled with a burning sensation across the small of my back, that all-gone feeling, was despondent, fretful and discouraged; the least exertion tired me. I tried several doctors but received little benefit. At last I decided to give your Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. The effect of the first bottle was magical. Those symptoms of weakness that I was afflicted with, vanished like vapor before the sun. I cannot speak too highly of your valuable remedy. It is truly a boon to woman."

From Mrs. MELISSA PHILLIPS, Lexington, Ind., to Mrs. Pinkham:

"Before I began taking your medicine I had suffered for two years with that tired feeling, headache, backache, no appetite, and a run-down condition of the system. I could not walk across the room. I have taken four bottles of the Vegetable Compound, one box of Liver Pills and used one package of Sanative Wash, and now feel like a new woman, and am able to do my work."

From Mrs. MOLLIE E. HERREL, Powell Station, Tenn.:

"For three years I suffered with such a weakness of the back, I could not perform my household duties. I also had falling of the womb, terrible bearing-down pains and headache. I have taken two bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and feel like a new woman. I recommend your medicine to every woman I know."

Havana cabled the following to the war department: Death report, Feb. 9, Matanzas: A. H. Morgan, civilian teamster, with engineer battalion, killed accidentally; Santiago, Private William J. Cunniff, Company F, Third Georgia, malarial hematuria; Havana, Private Richard Orphan, Company I, Second artillery, killed. Alleged case of yellow fever at Guanajay found to be malaria.

SALOONS ARE LICENSED.

Dawson's First Dog Train Road In Successful Operation.

Tacoma, Wash., Feb. 13.—Advices from the Klondike region state that Dawson's first dog tram-road is in successful operation. It runs from Dawson to the forks of Eldorado and Bonanza creeks and thence up Bonanza a total distance of nearly twenty miles. Thirty thousand dollars were expended in building the road and placing bridges over Bonanza creek. The tram company charges 1 cent a pound for all freight passing over the road. Ten dogs pull a sled load of 2000 pounds.

The North American Transportation and Trading company is preparing to engage in hydraulic mining on a large scale this spring. Commissioner Ogilvie recently required saloons at Dawson, the Forks and Gold Hill to take out two licenses at $2500 each. They readily paid it, some having feared that all saloons would be closed.

HOPE FOR A VESSEL CREW.

Siberian Prisoners May Be From the Missing Webster.

San Francisco, Feb. 13.—A late report to the effect that a number of American prisoners, whose names are unknown, are confined in a certain Siberian prison, undergoing penal punishment, has aroused a hope that among these men may be found the crew of the lost sailing schooner, E. E. Webster, which was last heard from in Bering sea waters in April, 1896. It has been thought that the Webster either drifted into Asiatic waters or was purposely sailed across the straits by her captain. I. Liebes, of this city, the owner of the Webster, says that there is little or no doubt that the vessel went down during a severe storm and that all on board were lost.

STOCK IS PERISHING.

Thousands of Range Horses In Eastern Oregon Will Die.

Long Creek, Ore., Feb. 13.—Thousands of range horses are said to be starving to death in Eastern Oregon. Cattle and sheep buyers who have recently visited this city and who have also been in the counties of Crook, Gilliam, Morrow, Baker, Wallowa, Union, Umatilla, Harney and Malheur, say that in every section they have visited with very few exceptions, the owners of both horses and cattle have despaired of saving more than a small percentage of their stock.

BOOK FIRM BURNED OUT.

Chicago, Feb. 13.—The 5-story brick building at the northwest corner of Wabash avenue and Madison street, occupied by the book and stationery firm of A. C. McClurg & Co., was with its contents totally destroyed by fire yesterday, entailing a loss of nearly $650,000, of which $500,000 was on the stock. The fire was started by an explosion of gas which leaked from a pipe on the third floor and spread with amazing rapidity. Mandel Bros. suffered a loss of about $10,000, chiefly from water, their basement being flooded. Other losses consisting of plate glass and damage by smoke and water will probably amount to $2500. McClurg's stock was insured for about $350,000.

WERE ONLY DRUNK.

Suez, Feb. 13.—The United States transport Grant has arrived here. Gen. Lawton had telegraphed the United States consular agent, A. W. Hayden, that fifty members of the expedition had deserted at Port Said and would be brought to Suez by train. A guard of Egyptian soldiers was marshalled in the depot to prevent their escape. They had gone ashore and got drunk, but were willing to return. The transport will wait for them here.

TREMENDOUS LOSS.

Colon, Colombia, Feb. 13.—At a conference held yesterday at Panama a representative of the strikers declared that the men were willing to accept $2.50 a day in currency, but the railway officials declined to entertain the proposal. [illegible] more laborers from Fortune Island arrived today on the steamer Finance.

The general situation so far as the strike is concerned is unchanged. The Panama end of the railroad is completely blocked and immense quantities of freight are awaiting transportation. The railway company's loss will be tremendous.

SASH AND DOOR POOL.

Oshkosh, Wis., Feb. 13.—A pool to embrace practically all the sash, door and blind factories in the United States will be launched in New York Tuesday. Its capital will be many millions of dollars. Oshkosh will be represented at the meeting and Oshkosh manufacturers are still in favor of the consolidation. The plan of forming this pool was originated more than a year ago.

A heavy gale was blowing all day along the west coast of France. Three vessels were ashore off Brest. The sea has done much damage at Brest and Havre to shipping and docks.

The judicial officer who has just returned here from a visit to Dreyfus on the Isle Du Arable says that the prisoner is in good health, but declines to reply to written interrogations of the court of cassation, on the ground that his answers are inaccurately transmitted to Paris.

Prince Napoleon Charles Gregoire Jacques Phillipe Bonaparte, third son of Prince Lucien Bonaparte, prince of Canino and chief of the older branch of the Bonaparte family, is dead at Rome. He was born in 1835.

Paris papers assert that the negotiations which have been in progress between the French and [illegible] governments regarding the Bahr-El-Ghazel basin, west of the White Nile, are on the eve of satisfactory settlement. Great Britain has admitted the legality of the French claim to a commercial outlet on the Nile, and negotiations are now proceeding for the delimitation of the boundaries.

A heavy gale swept the British Isles, causing floods at many points. Rivers have overflowed their banks, railways have been submerged and there have been numerous casualties along the coast. At Newport, Monmouthshire, a huge tidal wave leaped over the sea wall, submerging thousands of acres and the low-lying portions of the town. The unusually high tide did serious damage to the sea walls at Ryde and Sandown, on the Isle of Wight.

It is feared that the loss of the British steamer Arno, which foundered in the gale off Naze lightship, will prove a very serious disaster. The captain and three members of the crew who reached Southsea in an exhausted condition with their boat practically smashed up, report that thirteen men are missing from the ship's crew.

CONDENSED DISPATCHES.

At Pueblo, Col., fire yesterday destroyed the Deeremer theater building, causing losses aggregating $54,000. Frozen water plugs interfered with the work of the fire department. It was 26 below zero when the fire was burning.

Rev. E. L. Baugher, D.D., of Gettysburg, died at Philadelphia last night, aged 79 years. For twenty-five years he was professor of Greek in the Pennsylvania college, Gettysburg.

The home of Anton Bader, located four miles northeast of Paris, Mich., burned and his wife and 2-year-old son perished in the flames. It is supposed the woman went back after once leaving the house to save some valuables and was overcome by smoke.

The Hamburg-American line steamer Adria, chartered by the International Navigation company, arrived in New York from Antwerp after a most tempestuous passage, during which Capt. Von Levitzow was thrown down into the cabin passageway and killed.

No tidings from the disabled steamer Pavonia have as yet been received. It is understood that the home office of the company has taken steps to send a powerful tug to assist the disabled ship.

The factory building of the Manhattan Brass company at New York was destroyed by fire, together with a large quantity of valuable stock of finished material and machinery. The estimated loss is $250,000.

FOR SMOKELESS POWDER.

Thought That Cornstalk Piths Are Better Than Cotton.

Penns Grove, N. J., Feb. 13.—At the big powder works of the Duponts at Carney's Point interesting experiments in smokeless powder are being made by experts in the employ of the government. One of the difficulties of manufacture so far is that the powder is not wholly smokeless and that it apparently loses strength through storage. The experiments, it is said, led to the discovery that cotton could not be ground fine enough to bring about the best results and that the powdered pith of corn stalks gave somewhat better results. This fact is only partly authenticated. If it should prove of lasting value, a new source of revenue is opened up for farmers, since thousands of acres of corn stalks annually go to waste in the field, although much is being used in the manufacture of cellulose.

LOSS OF $250,000.

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 13.—A fire yesterday destroyed business property on South Pearl street valued at $250,000. Mann & Anker, makers of women's garments; the Grand Union Tea company, Hallenbeck & Co., milliners, and Mann & Waldemann, wholesale women's suits, are the principal sufferers, losing their entire stocks.

A HEAVY GALE.

Chatham, Mass., Feb. 13.—A northeast gale with thick snow set in at midnight last night and caught a large number of vessels on the shoals, and w[illegible] the breaking away of the great field of ice extending from Chatham to Hannis, it is feared that many of the vessels on the south side of the cape have been carried over to Nantucket.

Good-Bye, Rheumatism

The Right Remedy Will Banish it Forever.

If you would forever be rid of the aches and pains, and sometimes the tortures produced by Rheumatism, you must take the right remedy. Those who continue to suffer are relying upon remedies which do not reach their trouble. The doctor's treatment always consists of potash and mercury, which only intensify the disease, causing the joints to stiffen and the bones to ache, besides seriously impairing the digestive organs.

Rheumatism is a disordered state of the blood, and the only cure for it is a real blood remedy. Swift's Specific (S. S. S.) goes down to the very bottom of all diseases of the blood, and promptly cures cases that other remedies can not reach.

Mr. E. K. S. Clinkenbeard, a prominent attorney of Mt. Sterling, Ky., writes:

"Two years ago I was a great sufferer from Rheumatism. I had tried every remedy I could hear of except S. S. S. # NEED OUR WHEAT

Old World More Dependent on the New Than a Year Ago.

A MILLION PER DAY

Clearances of Wheat For Last Eight Weeks Have Been Heavy.

The commercial writer of the Chicago Chronicle says of the wheat market: For several days now new cash export buying has been almost daily reported as rather small, but notwithstanding this the clearances keep up exceptionally heavy, this suggesting that the new business doing is possibly being more or less hidden for a purpose. Last week's clearances of 5,871,000 bus was 2,361,000 bus more than for the like week in 1898, and in eight weeks have been 12,226,000, or over 35 per cent in excess of last year, the total for the last eight weeks being 46,968,000 bus, against 34,742,000 in 1898. Taking out the holidays and Sundays, and it will be seen the clearances have aggregated very close to 1,000,000 bus for each working day, which is not only very remarkable, but significant in the face of the alleged big European crop of 1898. It tells us very plainly that the old world is apparently more dependent on the new in this season of alleged great plenty than she was a year ago when the world's wheat bins were being swept to meet the demands and secure the excellent prices ruling. It will be nearly six months before America will have a new crop fit to ship and at this rate of export it does not appear possible that it can be met without dragging our stock down to an exceedingly low point, notwithstanding the immense harvest last year.

The smaller shipments from Russia and Argentina thus far have undoubtedly been very disappointing to importing Europe as well as to America, because it was expected by everyone they would be larger than ordinary on account of the better crops produced. It is no doubt true American prices were kept well down in the 60s so long a time on this hypothesis—that competition would be acute, and if America wanted to get rid of her surplus, recognized as large she must put a price on it that would insure heavy takings. In this she was certainly eminently successful yet had she known what she now knows, that those countries were to be relatively small instead of large shippers, she would have been justified in asking more money for her goods, and would likely have sold just as many. Five cents or so a bushel increase on what we have already exported would have added up a nice little sum. The world forgot that there was nothing but new wheat this crop year, and for that reason home demands would have to come out of it entirely, leaving a smaller per cent than usual of the crop for export. America, however, goes right along keeping prices low, just as though she had an inexhaustible supply, when the fact is every kernel she has to spare there promises to be a good market for.

THE COPPER STOCKS.

A Higher Market Is Looked For This Week.

The Boston exchange is closed today and therefore no copper stock quotations can be given. A higher market is looked for this week, following the 3-days' holiday season. The copper market maintains its strong tone at 18c, with offerings at this figure very restricted. Producers are so well sold up that it is very difficult to purchase copper for any delivery during the next sixty to ninety days, says the Boston Globe. Consumers are thoroughly awake to the situation, and are now watching the copper market closely to secure whatever metal they possibly can, and to keep the prices for manufactured goods in line with the price of the raw material.

With the supply of copper so short it is difficult to see how any violent reaction could occur. Realizations by foreign speculators may be expected to result in rapid and wide fluctuations on the London exchange, but the domestic market is differently situated. There are no large holdings of copper to be thrown suddenly and unexpectedly on the market, as in the syndicated times, so that values are not only likely to be maintained, but there is a strong probability that they will advance.

An official of the Calumet & Hecla, speaking of the copper market and the phenomenal rise in the price of metal, says:

"We manage to keep pretty well posted upon the production of copper, as well as upon the consumption at all times, and know for a fact that there has not been copper enough produced for the past year or two to supply the demand at 12c.

"What will be the effect of the advance to 18c is a matter of conjecture, but it is safe to say that the demand will fall off considerably, and then opposite conditions will obtain and the supply will be greater than the demand. Most consumers are fairly well supplied with copper at present and have looked out for future needs to a large extent, but some are in want of immediate deliveries of the metal, which evidently cannot be had except at fancy prices.

"When the idea became prevalent that copper was going to be higher, of course everybody wanted to purchase at figures then current for future delivery. The demand was abnormal and has resulted in abnormal conditions in the copper market. Conditions will right themselves in the natural course of events and lower prices will rule for copper, but there is no reason for expecting anything below a 12c or 13c copper market for many months yet."

It is announced that the Hancock copper mine will soon take its place among the list. J. D. Cuddihy is in Boston in the interests of the Hancock.

During January the low London quotation for spot copper was £58 1s 3d, and the highest £69 15s.

It is rumored that some action will be taken on the Ahmeek and Seneca mines very soon, and holders of old certificates have been advised to retain them.

Kaukauna is also being launched. Skiff Shelden is now in Boston in connection with its flotation.

The treasurer of a Boston copper company makes the statement that he could sell 2,000,000 pounds of copper at 18 cents among his customers if he had the copper.

Capt. B. F. Chynoweth of the Adventure property is in New Yark conferring with the Eastern management, and may visit Boston before his return to the lake.

The stock of the Onondaga Land and Copper company will be offered for subscription in a few days.

The Old Dominion mine has obtained a coal supply and has started its smelters. The railroad has reached the mine. It is claimed production will reach 1,500,000 pounds a month at the start. There is no question that the Old Dominion has an abundance of copper in sight. The rock, however, is more refractory than that in the northern mines, and the copper may cost more to extract. The management believes, however, that other advantages will offset this as to bring the cost of production to a low figure. The report that the company has contracted a considerable floating debt is not well founded. The Old Dominion owes nothing except what is amply covered by coke and coal supplies and copper above ground.

GIVE THE CHILDREN A DRINK

Called Grain-O. It is a delicious, appetizing, nourishing food drink to take the place of coffee. Sold by all grocers and liked by all who have used it because when properly prepared it tastes like the finest coffee but is free from all its injurious properties. Grain-O aids digestion and strengthens the nerves. It is not a stimulant, but a health builder, and children, as well as adults, can drink it with great benefit. Costs about one-fourth as much as coffee. 15 and 25 cents.

UPPER MICHIGAN.

An Endeavor to Have the Legislature Pass an Iron Bounty.

Marquette—Members of the legislature from the upper peninsula decided in a caucus to locate a normal school at Marquette. This is quite a plum, and a great many other Northern Michigan towns worked hard to get it.

When the legislative visitors were here last week their attention was directed to a bill now before the Minnesota legislature providing for a state bounty on iron smelted in that state from ores mined within its borders. It was urged that if Minnesota should offer a bounty on pig iron as proposed, the effect would almost inevitably be to build up a great iron and steel manufacturing industry in that state, at the expense of the neighboring states in which no similar inducement to capital seeking investment in such ventures was offered. The point was made that if Minnesota adopts the proposed method of stimulating the establishment there of blast furnaces for the reduction of ores mined in the state, Michigan should do the same thing for the protection of her iron interests, which are of equal importance and equally deserving of the fostering care of the state.

Houghton—The Adventure Consolidated has secured a stamp mill site, the Mining Journal is informed, on the shore of Lake Superior, about two miles from Ontonagon village, embracing about half a section of land. The Mass was after the same property, and it is said that the Michigan was also turning covetous eyes in that direction. The title to the property seems to be perfect, but the money will not be paid over until after Hon. Thomas B. Dunstan has had a chance to look over the original records in the office of the register of deeds of Ontonagon county, which is a part of his business in that county this week.

Superintendent Wyckoff, who came up from Portage Entry Wednesday, says that there is a prospect of a large amount of stone being placed on the market this year by the Portage Entry Quarries company. It will be taken about equally from the old Portage Red and from the Kerber-Jacobs quarries.

Calumet—Paul W. Grierson, formerly postmaster at Calumet, whose marriage to Miss Clara Lyle Sweet, until recently of the Calumet schools, took place at the home of the bride's parents at Mankato, Minn., recently, will locate at Butte, Mont., where he is to open a branch office for Towle, Fitzgerald & Co., of Boston, successors to Leland, Towle & Co.

Menominee—The new machinery recently purchased by the Richardson Shoe company has arrived and is now in place. One hundred men are now employed and within the next week or two the average output of shoes will be 500 pairs daily.

Mitchell L. Sweig, the wealthy cedar dealer and mill owner of Bagley, was acquitted at Menominee of the charge of burning his wife's residence. The case occupied the attention of the court since Monday afternoon and great interest has been manifest, so much that the court instructed the jury repeatedly to be vigilant.

The Kirby-Carpenter company will have banked by next Saturday night fully 47,000,000 feet of logs, and unless the weather changes suddenly later on, will secure its desired cut of 80,000,000 feet.

"OLD SLEUTH" AS AN ARTIST.

Although the name of Harland Halsey was scarcely associated, in the public mind, with American literature, and although no magazine printed his picture at the head of its last of famous contributors, yet he not only made more literature than anybody else since Dumas the elder and made more by literature than anybody since Scott, but his productions fulfilled most of the stock critical requirements, says the Chicago News.

They were eminently moral, in the first place. In the whole series, beginning with "Old Sleuth" and consisting of some 600 or 700 volumes, you cannot find a single lady with a doubtful past. They were full of action, which is an especially strong point. They contained no dismal and obnoxious "problems" of ethics or sociology. They fulfilled, in an eminently successful way, Mr. Tolstoi's elemental condition that a true work of art must appeal to the masses of the people. It was no select, highly educated, corrupted few that formed Mr. Halsey's audience. And if Mr. Caine is correct in saying that the first business of the novelist is to satisfy the craving of the human soul for compensation by showing that virtue ever triumphs in the end, then Mr. Halsey stands many pegs higher than Thackeray or George Eliot, for virtue never triumphed more signally and astonishingly than in Mr. Halsey's myriad detective stories. Sin and guile had no show at all in the hands of the author of the "Boys' Own" series.

Finally, Mr. Halsey made about $500,000 by his pen—a fact which if properly advertised will do much to redeem literature from the slight under which it rests in the business world.

Break In the Water Main Floods Some Cellars on Central Avenue.

DID SOME DAMAGE

Wieland & Wade Report Considerable—Main Break In Another Place.

While one of the hydrants on Central avenue was being thawed out yesterday it burst and, as a result, the street and adjoining cellars were flooded for a time. Temporary arrangements were soon made to keep the water out of the cellars and this morning the break was repaired. Another break in the main occurred at Cody and Fifty-seventh avenue. This did no damage other than the flooding of the street.

The break on Central avenue flooded the cellars of Wieland & Wade, C. J. Hendricks and O. T. Strand. Wieland & Wade report their damage as considerable, but are unable to make figures as yet.

A SANDSTORM.

Graphic Description of a Fierce Desert Simoom.

"Sand, sand, sand. Sand everywhere," writes a correspondent from the scene of the British operations on the Nile.

"Beating down upon this arid plain is the fierce sun, which gives a temperature of 120 degrees in the shade. The heat and glare are intolerable. At midday one lies sweltering and gasping under a coating of sweat and sand, eyes, ears and nose choked with dust, while flies, gnats and ants seek out the tenderest parts. There is no escape from these conditions.

"At first one sighs for a breath of wind to cool the burning air. When it comes the effect is disastrous. A blinding, suffocating cloud of dust springs from the earth, sweeps over the camp and searches out every nook and cranny in hut and tent. It penetrates the most secret recesses of trunks and boxes, mingles with food and drink, and makes a sticky compound of sweat and mud under which the skin smarts and stings. Evening and morning are numbered among the delights of the desert. Under normal conditions they are too often attended in these parts with violent storms of wind and sand devils. These "devils" are whirlwinds of dust that gather volume and force as they sweep along, cutting fresh particles from the matrix of sandstone rock and driving their myriads of atoms to swell the dust of the desert. During the last few days we have had several opportunities of observing this process of nature. Last night my blankets were spread under the veranda of the tent. It was a beautiful night. The air was calm, the sky was clear and the moon cast dark shadows of palm and mimosa on the white plain. Under these soft influences of light and sound the desert lost its terrors, and one looked dreamily on the picture until a solemn silence fell upon the camp and sleep sealed the eyelids. A moment later and the scene was changed. A breath of hot wind as from a furnace, brought every tented sleeper to his feet with a gasp. Instantly the camp was alive with sound and motion. The rush of the storm mingled with the neighing of horses, the groaning of camels, the bleating of goats and the flapping of canvas. The moon was hidden behind a cloud of sand. Sand filled the air—a whirling, rushing hail of atoms. As it swirled around and above the tents, straining ropes, dashing against canvas, tearing tent pegs out of the ground, one began to realize how fragile was the roof overhead, and to be even thankful that it was not more substantial. The sand devil raged for half an hour without damage, save to tent pegs, which flew about rather dangerously. Every moment I expected the tent to collapse and go scudding before the storm. But it held fast, and, covering my head with a blanket, I lay down, smothered in dust, while the struggle between canvas and sand went on with growing fierceness. The servants, who lay on the sand, slept undisturbed until aroused by their masters.

Then active operations began and the sharp click of mallets falling on tent pegs was heard throughout the storm. The tent next to mine was the first to go. It fell or rather, glided to the ground, and presently there emerged from the wreckage three figures. Finding the position untenable I made a virtue of necessity and struck my tent before further damage could be done. Having made fast the canvas over my baggage and furniture I drew my bed into the open, and wrapping myself in a blanket, lay sweltering and choking until the storm abated. At dawn we were able to remove the traces of this experience. The tents were soon pitched, furniture, clothes and boxes were dug out of the sand, and presently Abdul Hassan, Mahomet and the other servants were "making kitchen" and lighting fires under cover of some dead bushes.

IN CHICAGO.

Chicago, Feb. 13.—Butter, firm; creameries, 14@21c. Eggs, firm; fresh, 22c.

IN LOVE WITH THEIR ENGINES.

There had been a railway accident, five persons killed, including the engineer and fireman, of course, and there was the usual talk about the affair, says the Chicago Times-Herald. Not much, because such accidents are so common and tread on each other's heels. A little knot at a fashionable club was commenting on the matter, and one of the men made the remark so frequently made that he wondered how the companies could get men to risk their lives, especially when the pay was not high.

"Yet there are three applicants for every place," remarked a stout, prosperous merchant. "At least there was when I was on the road, and I suppose it is worse now?"

"What road did you manage?" was asked. "I never knew you were in the business."

"Manage!" laughed the merchant. "At the age of 18 I went into the shops. two years later I was a fireman, and I had just got my first engine when my father died, and my rich uncle yanked me out of the railroad business and put me into his importing house. You'll hardly believe it, but I fairly cried at the change, although I had sense enough to see that it was for my own good. So you see I've had experience, and I can tell you why men risk their lives on the road.

"You understand why a man enlists as a soldier, and you know it isn't for the money in it. If he comes back—and every man thinks he will—he has something to talk about for the balance of his life. He thinks he is a hero, and so does everybody else. But no one looks at engineers and firemen as heroes, although they are. And they feel that they are. It is the danger that makes the business attractive, and the swifter the run, the sharper the curves, the better the run, in a railroad man's eyes. They despise yard work or suburban trains or anything that isn't fast and risky.

"Some of you know what fascination there is in a yachtsman's life, and you know it is greatest in a storm. When you come into port you feel that you have been in a battle with the elements and that you have conquered. The man who wrote:

Who can tell what joy he feels
As neath the storm his vessel reels.

knew a sailor from the ground up.

"To the railroad man the engine and train is a ship, and the run is a voyage. There is danger in every turn of the wheels, there is the feeling that this tremendous thing rushing along is under the control of human agency, that it has to be coaxed as well as driven, and when the engine comes to a standstill at the station the train hands feel as if they had conquered the monster that might have hurled them to death. They don't say so, but they feel it. I feel it even now, and while I ride as a passenger I can hardly restrain myself from climbing on the footboard with the fireman or into the cab with the engineer. Once a man gets that feeling into his veins he will stay on the road all his life, and, I believe, haunt trains when he is dead."

AN UNKNOWN SUICIDE.

Chicago, Feb. 13.—An unknown man, about 30 years of age, shot himself in the right temple in the corridor of the Great Northern hotel today.

In the United States there are 245,000 miles of railroad track. This would encircle the earth nearly ten times. The Pioneer limited train on the Milwaukee road travels in one year between Chicago and the Twin Cities just 300,000 miles—mileage enough to encircle the earth exactly twelve times. This beautiful train, with its cosy private compartment cars, library buffet smoking cars, and dining car service the best in the world, is always the preference of constant travelers. With the thermometer ranging between 15 and 30 below during the present "cold snap," its cars are as comfortable as any home. Too much cannot be said in favor of the Pioneer limited.

You can have The Evening Herald delivered every night at your home in city or suburb for 10 cents a week.

District Court, Eleventh Judicial District.

In the matter of the Duluth Dress Stay Company, insolvent:

The petition of the assignee for leave to sell the assets of said insolvent in gross, having come on for hearing before this court on the 11th day of February, 1899, Messrs. Alford & Hunt appearing for said petitioner, and there being no appearance in opposition thereto, and the court having listened to the arguments of counsel and having duly considered the same.

It is hereby ordered that said assignee be allowed to sell said assets in gross; that said sale shall be by public auction upon the 27th day of February, 1899, and that said assignee shall make a report of said sale to this court on the 4th day of March, 1899.

It is further ordered, that notice of this sale and of the time when the same shall be reported to this court be served upon each and every creditor of said insolvent by mailing a copy of this order forthwith to each of said creditors, and by publishing the same in The Duluth Evening Herald for two (2) successive issues.

District Court, Eleventh Judicial District.

In the Matter of the Assignment of Charles E. Lovett and Basil D. Brown, Co-Partners as C. E. Lovett & Co., Charles E. Lovett and Basil D. Brown, Insolvents:

In the above entitled matter, it appearing that all the assets of said insolvents have been reduced to money, and that the time limited for filing proofs of claims against said insolvents has expired, and a summary statement of receipts and disbursements having been made and filed, it is hereby

Ordered, that all persons having claims against said insolvents (individually or as a firm) existing on July 30th, 1895, and who have duly filed such claims with A. W. Bradley, assignee of said insolvents, before or on January 30th, 1899, shall now file with the clerk of this court releases of all such claims as provided by law, on or before March 11th, 1899, or be barred from sharing in the proceeds of the estate of said insolvents. And it is further

Ordered, that this order be published for two successive days in a daily newspaper published in Duluth, Minnesota, and that a copy thereof, with summary statement, be mailed to each creditor who has proved his claim as aforesaid and has not filed releases thereof, within five days from the date hereof.

THE EXPECTED WHITEWASH.

The forecast of the report of the war investigating commission, which was recently published by The Herald, was so accurate that it is not necessary to repeat in these columns the detailed report which was made public by the president last night. So far as the war department is concerned, particularly the work of the secretary and the adjutant general, the whitewash brush is lavishly applied.

Concerning the charges made by Gen. Miles regarding the "embalmed beef," the report says: "The testimony as to the condition of the meat issued to the troops, with some exceptions, showed that the refrigerated beef issued was pure, sound and wholesome. * * * In view of the facts above set forth, the commission is of the opinion that no refrigerated beef furnished by contractors and issued to the troops during the war with Spain was subjected to or treated with any chemicals by the contractors or those in their employ."

This feature of the report is not surprising as it is well known that the commission did not take any testimony to sustain the charges that it could avoid, while the beef packers who furnished the "embalmed beef" have been using every influence at their command to get a favorable report. As the Army and Navy Register recently said, the report of the commission was discredited in advance by the evident intent to get the witnesses say that the meat furnished to the troops was all right.

An effort is made by the report to impeach the testimony of Dr. W. H. Daly, major and chief surgeon, United States volunteers, who was on Gen. Miles' staff, and who originally discovered that the "fresh beef" was apparently preserved with secret chemicals. The report omits to state, however, that sixty-three officers representing a dozen regiments sent confirmation of the commanding general's statements. The men who backed up the charges are:

Maj. Gen. Henry W. Lawton.

Brig. Gens. Gilbert S. Carpenter and Lloyd Wheaton.

Cols. Theodore Roosevelt and George M. Harries.

Majs. A. H. Bowman, A. W. Corliss, J. M. Lee, R. A. Pyles, George F. Dow and Frank C Armstrong

Recently the New York Journal came into possession of telegrams that passed between the Armour company at Chicago and its agents and lobbyists at Washington. Fac similes of these dispatches were published by the Journal and their authecticity has not been denied. One dispatch from Armour's lobbyist, Brine, to his employers, said:

"I had an hour's talk with Col. Denby this morning. Daly's testimony annoys him greatly from a legal standpoint. He has been writing the commission's report, and up to now says he had plain sailing. Wants to ascertain soon as possible Daly's character standing at home at Pittsburg. Handicapped by Atwater positively refusing all remuneration, but now that department interested he is more limber."

When the meat contract was originally made, Armour's Washington agent, Galbraith, telegraphed to his employers as follows:

"Freeze 30,0000 carcass beef quarters to weigh 175 to 200 also 2800 hindquarters 8.40 for carcasses 10½ hinds Colorados all right not necessary be particular about quality."

Other dispatches showing collusion between the subsistence department and the beef contractors have been published, and within the past two weeks word has come from Havana that several tons of this refrigerated beef had to be thrown overboard because it was rotten and stinking and unfit for use. And yet the commission reported that the beef furnished to the troops was "pure, sound and wholesome."

NO PERMANENT DOMINION.

The Chicago Times-Herald is urging that steps be taken to bring the warfare in the Philippines to an end, and that no policy of extermination be persued there. It says:

"The Filipinos are not so much rebels as children. They are not savages holding a land which it is our duty or desire to possess. In taking over the sovereignty of the Philippines from Spain we owe a duty to the nations of the world for their pacification, and to the natives for guidance to independent government. What we have promised to Cuba we will give to the Philippines. And in giving it we will have far less temptation to procrastination than will be the case in Cuba. Where there are geographical, political and sanitary reasons why we should annex Cuba, with the consent of the Cubans, there are none why we should exercise a permanent protectorate over the Philippines. We ask and want no permanent dominion in the Philippines beyond such a naval depot as shall preclude the possibility of some future Dewey being forced to conquer a base and refuge for the American navy in Asiatic waters. If Aguinaldo can assist us to bring peace and home rule to the Philippines let us accept his services. He has learned the power, now let him and his followers know the justice of the United States of America."

Talk of this kind by a newspaper owned by one of President McKinley's closest personal and political friends is significant. It will give little comfort to "imperialists," like the St. Paul Pioneer Press, that want to subjugate the Filipinos and compel them, at the point of the sword, to accept American sovereignty.

A Washington dispatch refers to the unsettled condition of the boundary line between Minnesota and Canada and says that the experience of George H. Warren and others, of Minneapolis, has been laid before the high joint commissioners by Representative Tawney. These citizens pre-empted town 68, range 14 west, in St. Louis county. This land was surveyed by the United States government in 1881, thrown open for settlement in 1882, and purchased by the Minneapolis party in 1883. Since then the Canadians have surveyed the same land, and it is now in the Canadian dominion. Other property in this same district is affected. Thus another reason why Governor Lind and the legislature should take action at once to have congress provide for the definite settlement of the boundary.

Gen. C. McC. Reeve, who went to the Philippines as colonel of the Thirteenth Minnesota, writes to a friend in Minneapolis as follows: "This is not a white man's country, and never will be. Any poor man who comes down here with the expectation of making his everlasting fortune will be doomed to bitter disappointment. It is all very well to shout about the extension of our territory and imperial destiny, but I would like to see a few of the fellows who are staying at home and doing the shouting, come out here." And if it is not a white man's country, why should we retain possession of it?

Because the moon is full on March 27, Easter this year falls on April 2, and because Easter falls on the 2nd day of April, Ash Wednesday will be Feb. 15, next Wednesday. While it is the boast that the church decides Easter and fixes the rest of the calendar for the world, that is not absolutely true, because the moon cuts a very large figure in the calculation, for Easter is always the first Sunday after the full moon which happens upon or next after March 21 of each year, and if the full moon comes on a Sunday then Easter is the Sunday following. It is a change in the moon phases which makes Easter a movable feast and determines all the rest.

The anniversary of Abraham Lincoln's birthday falling on Sunday this year, it is being observed today. Lincoln was a man of the common people. From humble beginnings he worked his way, alone and unaided, to the highest position in the nation. He stands in history by the side of Washington as the greatest of presidents, and as long as the republic endures his name will be revered and his memory honored.

In corroboration of the statements of Gen. Miles comes the news that the board of meat survey at Havana, of which Capt. Pitcher, of the Eighth infantry, is president, has discovered that the contents of 10,848 cans are unfit for human food. Also in the rations distributed among the destitute of La Punta several hundred cans of decomposed meat have been found. Gen. Miles has everything to gain from an inquiry into the beef question.

Hon. A. J. Beveridge, the newly-elected United States senator from Indiana, is connected with Meridian Street M. E. church, Indianapolis, and a member of its board of trustees. United States Senator Fairbanks, of Indiana, is also a trustee in the same church. There is no other church in the country that has two United States senators on its board of trustees.

Gen. Miles says the beef was bad. Theodore Roosevelt says it was unfit to eat. The war commission says the beef was good. The people prefer to believe Miles and Roosevelt, especially when their statements are corroborated by the men who ate the beef, or tried to eat it.

The public building bill is being trimmed down. The total has been reduced to less than $7,000,000. The St. Cloud building was cut out, Congressman Morris not having enough influence to have it retained in the bill.

The Alger relief commission laid on the whitewash with a large brush. Mr. Alger could not ask for a greater "vindication."

The single tax idea will undoubtedly have a new boom with Tom L. Johnson and his millions behind it.

MANY OVERDUE.

Large List of Atlantic Liners Many Days Out at Sea.

New York, Feb. 13.—None of the Atlantic passenger lines from Great Britain and the continent that regularly arrive here at the end of the week has yet been sighted. The passenger lines due are the American liner Paris, nine days out from Southampton, which was due on Friday; the Cunarder Etruria, eight days out from Queenstown; the French liner La Bretagne, nine days out from Havre; the Anchor liner Anchoria, six days out from Glasgow; the Holland-American liner Spaarndam, eighteen days out from Rotterdam; the Hamburg-American liner Petoria, fifteen days out from Hamburg; the North German Lloyd liner Gera, thirteen days out from Bremen; the White Star liners Nomadic (a freighter), thirteen days out, and the Cymric, ten days out from Liverpool. Freight steamers whose voyages are growing uncomfortably long are the Eastern Prince, twenty-four days out from Shields; Deike Rickmers, twenty-five days out from Havre; Salerno, twenty-six days out from Newcastle, England, and the Catania, eighteen days out from St. Michael's. The Almida, fifty-eight days out from Shields, was about given up as lost, with all on board.

No doubt a large fleet of steamers has arrived in the vicinity of Sandy Hook bar and is waiting outside for the blizzard to pass. The marine observer laconically reports: "Nothing but blizzard."

THE CHIPPEWAS' CLAIMS.

Efforts May Be Made to Get Some Legislation.

Washington, Feb. 13.—Representatives Morris and Eddy are considering the advisability of introducing legislation at this session for satisfying some of the claims of the Chippewa delegation, now in this city. Backed by the Indian Rights' association, the Indians are making things lively here. While the prospects of securing legislation at this session are not bright, owing to the few remaining days, Messrs. Eddy and Morris have under consideration plans for remedial legislation. They decline, however, to state the nature of the plans. The Indian Rights' association is endeavoring to secure representation on the corps of officials who are to make an investigation of timber matters on the Chippewa reservations, in accordance with the Platt amendment to the Indian appropriation bill. The association has little faith in the recent investigation of the land office, and say that if the proposed examination is to be thorough the Indians should have a representative on the board of inspection.

Land Commissioner Hermann denies that the sale of timber lands set for March 10 is to be postponed. He says advertisements are being prepared describing the lands, etc., which will be published at an early date.

Kirby Jones, of Duluth, has been appointed teacher at the Leech Lake school at $540 a year.

Judge Morris has declined an invitation to address the Hamilton club, April 8.

NIGHT FIREMAN KILLED.

A Woman's Fascinator the Only Clue to the Murderer.

Cleveland, Feb. 13.—Jacob Gerbrandt, night fireman at the Hunt stamping works on Hickox street, between Euclid avenue, was found dead in the boiler room of the plant early today, having been stabbed through the heart. The case is shrouded in mystery. The motive for the crime was evidently not burglary, for Gerbrandt's money and watch was found on his body. Appearances indicated that the murdered man made a valiant struggle for life. The only clue found was a woman's knit fascinator, which was lying near the body. The theory is advanced by the police that Gerbrandt may have been holding a clandestine meeting with the woman and that a lover or husband interrupted the meeting and killed Gerbrandt. The murdered man was 40 years old and had a wife and three children.

HIS RANK TOO LOW

Alger's Reason Why Gen. Wood Could Not Be Cuban Governor General.

HE EXPLAINS ALL

Secretary Alger Tells an Expectant Public All About Army Matter.

New York, Feb. 13.—Secretary of War Alger, being interviewed here, said that the war department desired and expected a full investigation of the charges that unwholesome beef had been supplied to the army under contract with the government. Gen. Alger expressed no opinion as to the character of the verdict by the board of inquiry into Gen. Miles' charges, but he said he believed that it would be conclusive.

"The war department is being investigated," said Secretary Alger. "We want to give the investigators a free hand. If there is anything wrong the department wants to know. If anything was sold to the government that should not have been sold it should be found out. If the beef packers are guilty, they ought to be brought to book."

"I have no late news from Manilla," continued the secretary in answer to questions, "but if there had been anything important I should have heard it.

"Gen. Otis is entirely free to do what he likes. No instructions have been sent to him as he is fully competent to deal with the situation.

"He did not expect the attack by the natives. He had reported unrest and uneasiness among them, but when the outbreak finally came it was a surprise to him.

"I can't tell how long the trouble there will last, but I think the present force of troops will be sufficient. Gen. Otis has not asked for any more men. I cannot tell about the general disposition of the natives. Gen. Otis merely says that they have been showing signs of uneasiness for some time.

"It depends upon circumstances whether the regular troops now on the way to Manilla will relieve an equal number of volunteers. This was the original intention when the regulars were sent, but it is impossible now to say whether the plan can be carried out immediately.

"I have not been able to ascertain whether the army bill will pass at the present congress. I can only state that Senator Cockrell, who is a member of the military committee of the senate, is opposed to it, but how much he will be able to accomplish I cannot say."

"Will there be an extra session if the bill does not pass?" was asked.

"We must have an army," replied Gen. Alger. "The 27,000 men we now have are not enough.

"Everything in Cuba and Porto Rico is going satisfactorily," he continued. "There never was any idea of making Gen. Wood commanding general in Cuba. His rank is not high enough and the grade of major general is now full. The trouble about the customs receipts in Santiago has been settled. I think it arose from a misapprehension. They thought that the goods would have to be landed elsewhere. Of course all the receipts from the tariff must pass through Gen. Brooke's hands.

"I shall go to Cuba and Porto Rico in March if everything is all right then. I never had any idea of going until congress adjourned. I have never been in Cuba and I think I would like to see for myself, if I could do so, before the bad season begins. I expect to inspect all the posts there."

THE DAKOTAS.

Farmer Arrested For a Crime Formerly Credited to Link Thayer's Gang.

NORTH DAKOTA.

Fargo—There has been considerable surprise created here by the arrest of Elmer Thompson, a prominent farmer of Richland county, for alleged complicity in the robbery of the postoffice at Abercrombie last November. Thompson was taken before a United States commissioner and bound over to the grand jury. It had been supposed that the robbery was done by the gang with which Link Thayer was mixed up. Thayer was arrested on the charge of holding up the Great Northern train, and is now serving a 20-year term in Stillwater. His crowd was credited with a number of burglaries in the Red river valley, and it was supposed that they were responsible for this, as a Milwaukee handcar was stolen from Abercrombie that night and afterward found at Wahpeton, where the gang was supposed to rendezvous. The arrest of Thompson was due to the work of some secret service men, and it is alleged that others will be implicated.

The county commissioners have instucted the county treasurer to order the township and school district treasurers to withdrew their funds on twenty days' notice. Heretofore, it has been the custom of the county treasurers to leave the money on deposit with the county treasurer and draw on the fund as needed. This makes an additional burden on the county treasurer, which is worse, now that there is concerted action on the part of the national banks in the county to refuse to put up bonds for county deposits.

Grand Forks—Ed Rollins, who was injured last week while switching in the Northern Pacific yards, died from his internal injuries at St. Luke's hospital. He leaves a wife.

William Jarvis, who has been a resident of Grand Forks since 1878, died from a stroke of paralysis.

Col. Plummer writes from 79 East Canton street, Boston: "My health is good and I am feeling first rate. Haven't tasted a drop of liquor for a year and never shall again. I am here living with my sister, who takes the very best of care of me, but I cannot help feeling discontented in enforced idleness, when I know I am capable of better work than I ever did in my life before. A year ago I was in the depths. I can never forget the horrors of my situation. If it hadn't been for McKenzie I would have gone over the divide. Now, here I am all right and as happy as man can be who has nothing to do." The colonel will deliver several lectures in the vicinity of Boston in February.

SOUTH DAKOTA.

Yankton—The boot and shoe store of Andrew Shoen was entered by burglars during the night and over $150 worth of shoes were taken. About three weeks ago this same store was entered and $50 worth of goods were removed.

Deadwood—Good Shot, the Indian wife murderer, was indicted by the United States grand jury. F. M. Brown, of Deadwood, was appointed by the court to defend him.

Victim of La Grippe.

Dr. Miles' Nervine.

In these days when so many ordinary preparations are advertised, it is significant that Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine stands alone as the one remedy of all others that never fails to benefit the weak, weary, nerve-shattered, tired and worn out victim of wasted vitality. In every city, in business offices, counting rooms and banks, in the homes of all liberally educated men and women—wherever the friction of worry is wearing out the nerves and reducing the vitality of the body, Dr. Miles' Nervine is received with open arms. Physicians use it, and to clergymen, lawyers and school teachers it is of untold value. It invariably insures sound sleep, and gives the overstrung nerves their natural rest. It puts new life into the worn out body, brings springiness back to the step, brightness to the eyes, cheerfulness to the mind. It should find its way into every family where some member needs a general building up of the body, a purifying of the blood and a strengthening of tired nerves.

Rev. E. J. Jenkins, pastor of the United Brethren church at Brazil, Ind., sends the following letter describing his illness, and telling how he was cured: "I suffered severely from nervous prostration, brought on me by two successive attacks of la grippe. My appetite failed me; I grew pale and thin. I was exceedingly nervous and suffered greatly. Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine was recommended to me by one of my brother clergyman, who had received great benefit from its use. I decided to give it a trial, and to my great satisfaction I found myself improving after taking the first few doses. My health was speedily restored, and I have never lost an opportunity to speak a good word in praise of Dr. Miles' Nervine."

"In 1892 I had a severe attack of la grippe, followed by nervous prostration, which left me a physical wreck. I suffered from intense pains in my head; was restless, irritable and so nervous that I could not be quiet for a minute at a time. It was almost impossible for me to get any sleep or rest at night, and when I did sleep I was disturbed with horrid dreams and morbid fears. My appetite failed; nothing that I ate seemed to give me any strength, and I wasted in flesh. After doctor's medicine failed, I tried almost every remedy recommended as nerve tonic, but nothing did me any good until I began taking Dr. Miles' Nervine. The first night I rested so nicely, and I began feeling better from that time on. Dr. Miles' Nervine cured me, and I cannot speak too highly of it."

MRS. ELIZABETH MADISON, Kennard, Ind.

La grippe shows no favor in the selection of its victims. When it finds the vitality of the system lowered, the nerve force weakened and the resistive power destroyed it gains an entrance into the system. Keep it out by increasing the vital strength and building up the nervous energy with the only truly great restorative medicine. Dr. Miles' Nervine.

Sample Treatment Free.

A trial package of Dr. Miles' favorite treatment for la grippe, consisting of Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine, Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills and Dr. Miles' Nerve and Liver Pills, will be sent absolutely free of cost to any person who will send name and address on a postal card, requesting the samples, and mentioning the name of this paper. ## MOTHERS' CONGRESS

Annual Convention Assembles In Washington---Reports Listened to.

Washington, Feb. 13.—The Mothers' congress assembled in annual session here today.

The president of the national council, May Wright Sewall, submitted her report from which the following was taken:

"The attention of the public and of ourselves can never too often be emphasized upon that feature of the council which differentiates it from all other organizations, namely, that it is the purpose of the council to bring together, not individuals on the basis of common aims and common principles, but organizations whose aims and methods are essentially different, and may, indeed, as far as their fitness to unite in the council is concerned, be essentially antagonistic.

"Although the membership of the council has been increased by three large national organizations, one state council and four local councils since the last triennial, it is found that all of these organizations can find relatively adequate expression in a session covering eight days.

"The history of philanthropy and reform shows that the charge of one-sided has often been justly brought to bear against these organized agencies for the improvement of human society. Every national organization which is a member of the council is conscious of having experienced an expansion of sympathy and an access of intelligence through its council relationship.

"The last four years have been characterized by the growing sensitiveness to the prevailing defects in American municipal organization and management. Since our last triennial the national municipal league for the improvement of local government has been organized. The same influences which brought the league into being have caused intelligent women living in American cities to feel the condition of municipal life a direct appeal to their own consciences. Sensitive as the average woman's conscience is to personal wrong, even a superior woman needs a practical awakening to cure her of the obtuseness to official organized public wrong.

"During the last four years a wonderful change has been wrought in American women in this particular. The local council is a manifestation of this change, and the local council will be found to be the most effective instrument that has been shaped to woman's hand for the correction of evils and the inauguration of the reign of virtue in public places."

She recommended that a committee be formed whose business it shall be (a), to secure a complete list of all the titles under which women are gathered into organizations in this country, and (b), to classify these titles and group them under the head of religion, education, civics and politics, industry, professional freedom and activity, literature and art; that the council request the next president of the council to appoint eight women to stand at the head of each of the eight departments; that institutions as well as organizations be admitted to membership on the same pecuniary terms and with the same representation as local councils.

Octavia Williams Bates, the chairman, submitted the report of the committee of domestic relations under the law. It was in part as follows:

"The work of the committee falls under four divisions:

"I. The furtherance of all movements that have to do with the maintenance of the family and the urging of all members of the national council of women of the United States to join organizations that are aiming to bring about juster legislation for the domestic relations, and to educate public sentiment to a keener appreciation of the necessities of such laws.

"II. The extending of assistance, advice and co-operation, if possible, to all commissions, both national and state, that have for their object more uniformity in the laws that relate to the domestic relations among the different states.

"III. The advocating the presence of capable, trained women in and their admission as members on all commissions for uniform legislation upon the domestic relations.

"IV. The compiling of a hand book of the laws of the domestic relations in the different states of the Union, which shall include the laws regulating the relation of husband and wife, also that of parent and child, with the recent decisions modifying such laws.

"The work of regulating and controlling the domestic relations by just and intelligent legislation is one that under different names and in various organizations is attracting the attention of sociologists, philanthropists and the most advanced thinkers in the legal profession. It is conceded that the 'problems of poverty, pauperism, crime, intemperance, unchastity, and the low grade of political morality are all, at their root, largely problems of the home. The world is also beginning to acknowledge that it is from the family that all good must originate, and it is there that all movements tending toward the amelioration of the human race must begin. The life of the family holds within itself the key to the welfare of the state. If it be thus maintained by all thinkers that the foremost questions of the day are all inseparable parts of one problem—the problem of the family and the home—then the laws that govern the family and the home must necessarily have a more important bearing upon the social problems of our time, and are, perhaps, the most important subjects that can claim the attention of the earnest, devoted members of society.

"We, as a committee, believe that so long as divorce laws are enacted by legislators composed of men alone they will generally be grossly unfair to women.

"We hold that the true remedy for needless divorces is a reform in the popular conception of the relations of husband and wife by a more equitable legal definition of marriage itself, where the law of marriage recognizes the relation as a life-long partnership of equals with reciprocal rights and duties.

"We are also of opinion that there are many other laws which bear heavily upon women and need equalizing, viz., those in regard to domicile, custody of children, dower and courtesy."

Mrs. Lillian M. N. Stevens, president of the national W. C. T. U., presented the report of that organization, the concluding paragraph of which was as follows:

"There has been a great gain in the number of total abstainers in this country within the past four years. It is an interesting fact that, counting in the Orientals, the great majority of people in the world do not drink intoxicants. The labor department's returns plainly indicate that the consumption of alcoholic drinks of all kinds is growing less year after year. Our society takes to itself a large share of the credit in bringing about this change, which has been very marked since 1895. I confidently believe that no other society within the last four years has done more to advance woman's cause; that no other society has done so much toward breaking down sectarian and sectional barriers, thus making its members worthy to bear the name of Christian and of temperance, and we are a union of hearts and a union of hands founded on the great principles of prohibition, total abstinence and purity; a society destined to gain more and more in members and influence, until the shadow caused by the liquor traffic shall flee away."

LAND DECISIONS MADE.

Rulings of Commissioner Confirmed By the Secretary.

Washington, Feb. 13.—The secretary of the interior has confirmed the decision of Land Commissioner Hermann in the appeal case of Andrew F. Baker, in which the commissioner is holding for cancellation the homestead entry of Baker on the contest of Gustaf Olsen, alleging abandonment.

The protest of James O'Leary, Ashland, Wis., against the timber and stone lands final proof of John C. Williams was dismissed by Commissioner Hermann. Mr. O'Leary appealed. The secretary of interior has handed down a decision confirming the decision of the land commissioner.

THE EXPECTED WHITEWASH.

The forecast of the report of the war investigating commission, which was recently published by The Herald, was so accurate that it is not necessary to repeat in these columns the detailed report which was made public by the president last night. So far as the war department is concerned, particularly the work of the secretary and the adjutant general, the whitewash brush is lavishly applied.

Concerning the charges made by Gen. Miles regarding the "embalmed beef," the report says: "The testimony as to the condition of the meat issued to the troops, with some exceptions, showed that the refrigerated beef issued was pure, sound and wholesome. * * * In view of the facts above set forth, the commission is of the opinion that no refrigerated beef furnished by contractors and issued to the troops during the war with Spain was subjected to or treated with any chemicals by the contractors or those in their employ."

This feature of the report is not surprising as it is well known that the commission did not take any testimony to sustain the charges that it could avoid, while the beef packers who furnished the "embalmed beef" have been using every influence at their command to get a favorable report. As the Army and Navy Register recently said, the report of the commission was discredited in advance by the evident intent to get the witnesses say that the meat furnished to the troops was all right.

An effort is made by the report to impeach the testimony of Dr. W. H. Daly, major and chief surgeon, United States volunteers, who was on Gen. Miles' staff, and who originally discovered that the "fresh beef" was apparently preserved with secret chemicals. The report omits to state, however, that sixty-three officers representing a dozen regiments sent confirmation of the commanding general's statements. The men who backed up the charges are:

Maj. Gen. Henry W. Lawton.

Brig. Gens. Gilbert S. Carpenter and Lloyd Wheaton.

Cols. Theodore Roosevelt and George M. Harries.

Recently the New York Journal came into possession of telegrams that passed between the Armour company at Chicago and its agents and lobbyists at Washington. Fac similes of these dispatches were published by the Journal and their autheticity has not been denied. One dispatch from Armour's lobbyist, Brine, to his employers, said:

"I had an hour's talk with Col. Denby this morning. Daly's testimony annoys him greatly from a legal standpoint. He has been writing the commission's report, and up to now says he had plain sailing. Wants to ascertain soon as possible Daly's character standing at home at Pittsburg. Handicapped by Atwater positively refusing all remuneration, but now that department interested he is more limber."

When the meat contract was originally made, Armour's Washington agent, Galbraith, telegraphed to his employers as follows:

"Freeze 30,0000 carcass beef quarters to weigh 175 to 200 also 2800 hindquarters 8.40 for carcasses 10½ hinds Colorados all right not necessary be particular about quality."

Other dispatches showing collusion between the subsistence department and the beef contractors have been published, and within the past two weeks word has come from Havana that several tons of this refrigerated beef had to be thrown overboard because it was rotten and stinking and unfit for use. And yet the commission reported that the beef furnished to the troops was "pure, sound and wholesome."

NO PERMANENT DOMINION.

The Chicago Times-Herald is urging that steps be taken to bring the warfare in the Philippines to an end, and that no policy of extermination be persued there. It says:

"The Filipinos are not so much rebels as children. They are not savages holding a land which it is our duty or desire to possess. In taking over the sovereignty of the Philippines from Spain we owe a duty to the nations of the world for their pacification, and to the natives for guidance to independent government. What we have promised to Cuba we will give to the Philippines. And in giving it we will have far less temptation to procrastination than will be the case in Cuba. Where there are geographical, political and sanitary reasons why we should annex Cuba, with the consent of the Cubans, there are none why we should exercise a permanent protectorate over the Philippines. We ask and want no permanent dominion in the Philippines beyond such a naval depot as shall preclude the possibility of some future Dewey being forced to conquer a base and refuge for the American navy in Asiatic waters. If Aguinaldo can assist us to bring peace and home rule to the Philippines let us accept his services. He has learned the power, now let him and his followers know the justice of the United States of America."

Talk of this kind by a newspaper owned by one of President McKinley's closest personal and political friends is significant. It will give little comfort to "imperialists," like the St. Paul Pioneer Press, that want to subjugate the Filipinos and compel them, at the point of the sword, to accept American sovereignty.

A Washington dispatch refers to the unsettled condition of the boundary line between Minnesota and Canada and says that the experience of George H. Warren and others, of Minneapolis, has been laid before the high joint commissioners by Representative Tawney. These citizens pre-empted town 68, range 14 west, in St. Louis county. This land was surveyed by the United States government in 1881, thrown open for settlement in 1882, and purchased by the Minneapolis party in 1883. Since then the Canadians have surveyed the same land, and it is now in the Canadian dominion. Other property in this same district is affected. Thus another reason why Governor Lind and the legislature should take action at once to have congress provide for the definite settlement of the boundary.

Gen. C. McC. Reeve, who went to the Philippines as colonel of the Thirteenth Minnesota, writes to a friend in Minneapolis as follows: "This is not a white man's country, and never will be. Any poor man who comes down here with the expectation of making his everlasting fortune will be doomed to bitter disappointment. It is all very well to shout about the extension of our territory and imperial destiny, but I would like to see a few of the fellows who are staying at home and doing the shouting, come out here." And if it is not a white man's country, why should we retain possession of it?

Because the moon is full on March 27, Easter this year falls on April 2, and because Easter falls on the 2nd day of April, Ash Wednesday will be Feb. 15, next Wednesday. While it is the boast that the church decides Easter and fixes the rest of the calendar for the world, that is not absolutely true, because the moon cuts a very large figure in the calculation, for Easter is always the first Sunday after the full moon which happens upon or next after March 21 of each year, and if the full moon comes on a Sunday then Easter is the Sunday following. It is a change in the moon phases which makes Easter a movable feast and determines all the rest.

The anniversary of Abraham Lincoln's birthday falling on Sunday this year, it is being observed today. Lincoln was a man of the common people. From humble beginnings he worked his way, alone and unaided, to the highest position in the nation. He stands in history by the side of Washington as the greatest of presidents, and as long as the republic endures his name will be revered and his memory honored.

In corroboration of the statements of Gen. Miles comes the news that the board of meat survey at Havana, of which Capt. Pitcher, of the Eighth infantry, is president, has discovered that the contents of 10,848 cans are unfit for human food. Also in the rations distributed among the destitute of La Punta several hundred cans of decomposed meat have been found. Gen. Miles has everything to gain from an inquiry into the beef question.

Hon. A. J. Beveridge, the newly-elected United States senator from Indiana, is connected with Meridian Street M. E. church, Indianapolis, and a member of its board of trustees. United States Senator Fairbanks, of Indiana, is also a trustee in the same church. There is no other church in the country that has two United States senators on its board of trustees.

Gen. Miles says the beef was bad. Theodore Roosevelt says it was unfit to eat. The war commission says the beef was good. The people prefer to believe Miles and Roosevelt, especially when their statements are corroborated by the men who ate the beef, or tried to eat it.

The public building bill is being trimmed down. The total has been reduced to less than $7,000,000. The St. Cloud building was cut out, Congressman Morris not having enough influence to have it retained in the bill.

The Alger relief commission laid on the whitewash with a large brush. Mr. Alger could not ask for a greater "vindication."

The single tax idea will undoubtedly have a new boom with Tom L. Johnson and his millions behind it.

MANY OVERDUE.

Large List of Atlantic Liners Many Days Out at Sea.

New York, Feb. 13.—None of the Atlantic passenger lines from Great Britain and the continent that regularly arrive here at the end of the week has yet been sighted. The passenger lines due are the American liner Paris, nine days out from Southampton, which was due on Friday; the Cunarder Etruria, eight days out from Queenstown; the French liner La Bretagne, nine days out from Havre; the Anchor liner Anchoria, six days out from Glasgow; the Holland-American liner Spaarndam, eighteen days out from Rotterdam; the Hamburg-American liner Petoria, fifteen days out from Hamburg; the North German Lloyd liner Gera, thirteen days out from Bremen; the White Star liners Nomadic (a freighter), thirteen days out, and the Cymric, ten days out from Liverpool. Freight steamers whose voyages are growing uncomfortably long are the Eastern Prince, twenty-four days out from Shields; Delke Rickmers, twenty-five days out from Havre; Salerno, twenty-six days out from Newcastle, England, and the Catania, eighteen days out from St. Michael's. The Almida, fifty-eight days out from Shields, was about given up as lost, with all on board.

No doubt a large fleet of steamers has arrived in the vicinity of Sandy Hook bar and is waiting outside for the blizzard to pass. The marine observer laconically reports: "Nothing but blizzard."

THE CHIPPEWAS' CLAIMS.

Efforts May Be Made to Get Some Legislation.

Washington, Feb. 13.—Representatives Morris and Eddy are considering the advisability of introducing legislation at this session for satisfying some of the claims of the Chippewa delegation, now in this city. Backed by the Indian Rights' association, the Indians are making things lively here. While the prospects of securing legislation at this session are not bright, owing to the few remaining days, Messrs. Eddy and Morris have under consideration plans for remedial legislation. They decline, however, to state the nature of the plans. The Indian Rights' association is endeavoring to secure representation on the corps of officials who are to make an investigation of timber matters on the Chippewa reservations, in accordance with the Platt amendment to the Indian appropriation bill. The association has little faith in the recent investigation of the land office, and say that if the proposed examination is to be thorough the Indians should have a representative on the board of inspection.

Land Commissioner Hermann denies that the sale of timber lands set for March 10 is to be postponed. He says advertisements are being prepared describing the lands, etc., which will be published at an early date.

Kirby Jones, of Duluth, has been appointed teacher at the Leech Lake school at $540 a year.

Judge Morris has declined an invitation to address the Hamilton club, April 8.

NIGHT FIREMAN KILLED.

A Woman's Fascinator the Only Clue to the Murderer.

Cleveland, Feb. 13.—Jacob Gerbrandt, night fireman at the Hunt stamping works on Hickox street, between Euclid avenue, was found dead in the boiler room of the plant early today, having been stabbed through the heart. The case is shrouded in mystery. The motive for the crime was evidently not burglary, for Gerbrandt's money and watch was found on his body. Appearances indicated that the murdered man made a valiant struggle for life. The only clue found was a woman's knit fascinator, which was lying near the body. The theory is advanced by the police that Gerbrandt may have been holding a clandestine meeting with the woman and that a lover or husband interrupted the meeting and killed Gerbrandt. The murdered man was 40 years old and had a wife and three children.

Secretary Alger Tells an Expectant Public All About Army Matter.

New York, Feb. 13.—Secretary of War Alger, being interviewed here, said that the war department desired and expected a full investigation of the charges that unwholesome beef had been supplied to the army under contract with the government. Gen. Alger expressed no opinion as to the character of the verdict by the board of inquiry into Gen. Miles' charges, but he said he believed that it would be conclusive.

"The war department is being investigated," said Secretary Alger. "We want to give the investigators a free hand. If there is anything wrong the department wants to know. If anything was sold to the government that should not have been sold it should be found out. If the beef packers are guilty, they ought to be brought to book."

"I have no late news from Manilla," continued the secretary in answer to questions, "but if there had been anything important I should have heard it.

"Gen. Otis is entirely free to do what he likes. No instructions have been sent to him as he is fully competent to deal with the situation.

"He did not expect the attack by the natives. He had reported unrest and uneasiness among them, but when the outbreak finally came it was a surprise to him.

"I can't tell how long the trouble there will last, but I think the present force of troops will be sufficient. Gen. Otis has not asked for any more men. I cannot tell about the general disposition of the natives. Gen. Otis merely says that they have been showing signs of uneasiness for some time.

"It depends upon circumstances whether the regular troops now on the way to Manilla will relieve an equal number of volunteers. This was the original intention when the regulars were sent, but it is impossible now to say whether the plan can be carried out immediately.

"I have not been able to ascertain whether the army bill will pass at the present congress. I can only state that Senator Cockrell, who is a member of the military committee of the senate, is opposed to it, but how much he will be able to accomplish I cannot say."

"Will there be an extra session if the bill does not pass?" was asked.

"We must have an army," replied Gen. Alger. "The 27,000 men we now have are not enough.

"Everything in Cuba and Porto Rico is going satisfactorily," he continued. "There never was any idea of making Gen. Wood commanding general in Cuba. His rank is not high enough and the grade of major general is now full. The trouble about the customs receipts in Santiago has been settled. I think it arose from a misapprehension. They thought that the goods would have to be landed elsewhere. Of course all the receipts from the tariff must pass through Gen. Brooke's hands.

"I shall go to Cuba and Porto Rico in March if everything is all right then. I never had any idea of going until congress adjourned. I have never been in Cuba and I think I would like to see for myself, if I could do so, before the bad season begins. I expect to inspect all the posts there."

THE DAKOTAS.

Farmer Arrested For a Crime Formerly Credited to Link Thayer's Gang.

NORTH DAKOTA.

Fargo—There has been considerable surprise created here by the arrest of Elmer Thompson, a prominent farmer of Richland county, for alleged complicity in the robbery of the postoffice at Abercrombie last November. Thompson was taken before a United States commissioner and bound over to the grand jury. It had been supposed that the robbery was done by the gang with which Link Thayer was mixed up. Thayer was arrested on the charge of holding up the Great Northern train, and is now serving a 20-year term in Stillwater. His crowd was credited with a number of burglaries in the Red river valley, and it was supposed that they were responsible for this, as a Milwaukee handcar was stolen from Abercrombie that night and afterward found at Wahpeton, where the gang was supposed to rendezvous. The arrest of Thompson was due to the work of some secret service men, and it is alleged that others will be implicated.

The county commissioners have instucted the county treasurer to order the township and school district treasurers to withdrew their funds on twenty days' notice. Heretofore, it has been the custom of the county treasurers to leave the money on deposit with the county treasurer and draw on the fund as needed. This makes an additional burden on the county treasurer, which is worse, now that there is concerted action on the part of the national banks in the county to refuse to put up bonds for county deposits.

Grand Forks—Ed Rollins, who was injured last week while switching in the Northern Pacific yards, died from his internal injuries at St. Luke's hospital. He leaves a wife.

William Jarvis, who has been a resident of Grand Forks since 1878, died from a stroke of paralysis.

Col. Plummer writes from 79 East Canton street, Boston: "My health is good and I am feeling first rate. Haven't tasted a drop of liquor for a year and never shall again. I am here living with my sister, who takes the very best of care of me, but I cannot help feeling discontented in enforced idleness, when I know I am capable of better work than I ever did in my life before. A year ago I was in the depths. I can never forget the horrors of my situation. If it hadn't been for McKenzie I would have gone over the divide. Now, here I am all right and as happy as man can be who has nothing to do." The colonel will deliver several lectures in the vicinity of Boston in February.

SOUTH DAKOTA.

Yankton—The boot and shoe store of Andrew Shoen was entered by burglars during the night and over $150 worth of shoes were taken. About three weeks ago this same store was entered and $50 worth of goods were removed.

Deadwood—Good Shot, the Indian wife murderer, was indicted by the United States grand jury. F. M. Brown, of Deadwood, was appointed by the court to defend him.

Victim of La Grippe.

Dr. Miles' Nervine.

In these days when so many ordinary preparations are advertised, it is significant that Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine stands alone as the one remedy of all others that never fails to benefit the weak, weary, nerve-shattered, tired and worn out victim of wasted vitality. In every city, in business offices, counting rooms and banks, in the homes of all liberally educated men and women—wherever the friction of worry is wearing out the nerves and reducing the vitality of the body, Dr. Miles' Nervine is received with open arms. Physicians use it, and to clergymen, lawyers and school teachers it is of untold value. It invariably insures sound sleep, and gives the overstrung nerves their natural rest. It puts new life into the worn out body, brings springiness back to the step, brightness to the eyes, cheerfulness to the mind. It should find its way into every family where some member needs a general building up of the body, a purifying of the blood and a strengthening of tired nerves.

Rev. E. J. Jenkins, pastor of the United Brethren church at Brazil, Ind., sends the following letter describing his illness, and telling how he was cured: "I suffered severely from nervous prostration, brought on by two successive attacks of la grippe. My appetite failed me; I grew pale and thin. I was exceedingly nervous and suffered greatly. Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine was recommended to me by one of my brother clergyman, who had received great benefit from its use. I decided to give it a trial, and to my great satisfaction I found myself improving after taking the first few doses. My health was speedily restored, and I have never lost an opportunity to speak a good word in praise of Dr. Miles' Nervine."

"In 1892 I had a severe attack of la grippe, followed by nervous prostration, which left me a physical wreck. I suffered from intense pains in my head; was restless, irritable and so nervous that I could not be quiet for a minute at a time. It was almost impossible for me to get any sleep or rest at night, and when I did sleep I was disturbed with horrid dreams and morbid fears. My appetite failed: nothing that I ate seemed to give me any strength, and I wasted in flesh. After doctor's medicine failed, I tried almost every remedy recommended as nerve tonic, but nothing did me any good until I began taking Dr. Miles' Nervine. The first night I rested so nicely, and I began feeling better from that time on. Dr. Miles' Nervine cured me, and I cannot speak too highly of it."

MRS. ELIZABETH MADISON, Kennard, Ind.

La grippe shows no favor in the selection of its victims. When it finds the vitality of the system lowered, the nerve force weakened and the resistive power destroyed it gains an entrance into the system. Keep it out by increasing the vital strength and building up the nervous energy with the only truly great restorative medicine, Dr. Miles' Nervine.

Sample Treatment Free.

A trial package of Dr. Miles' favorite treatment for la grippe, consisting of Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine, Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills and Dr. Miles' Nerve and Liver Pills, will be sent absolutely free of cost to any person who will send name and address on a postal card, requesting the samples, and mentioning the name of this paper. # MOTHERS' CONGRESS

Annual Convention Assembles In Washington---Reports Listened to.

Washington, Feb. 13.—The Mothers' congress assembled in annual session here today.

The president of the national council, May Wright Sewall, submitted her report from which the following was taken:

"The attention of the public and of ourselves can never too often be emphasized upon that feature of the council which differentiates it from all other organizations, namely, that it is the purpose of the council to bring together, not individuals on the basis of common aims and common principles, but organizations whose aims and methods are essentially different, and may, indeed, as far as their fitness to unite in the council is concerned, be essentially antagonistic.

"Although the membership of the council has been increased by three large national organizations, one state council and four local councils since the last triennial, it is found that all of these organizations can find relatively adequate expression in a session covering eight days.

"The history of philanthropy and reform shows that the charge of one-sided has often been justly brought to bear against these organized agencies for the improvement of human society. Every national organization which is a member of the council is conscious of having experienced an expansion of sympathy and an access of intelligence through its council relationship.

"The last four years have been characterized by the growing sensitiveness to the prevailing defects in American municipal organization and management. Since our last triennial the national municipal league for the improvement of local government has been organized. The same influences which brought the league into being have caused intelligent women living in American cities to feel the condition of municipal life a direct appeal to their own consciences. Sensitive as the average woman's conscience is to personal wrong, even a superior woman needs a practical awakening to cure her of the obtuseness to official organized public wrong.

"During the last four years a wonderful change has been wrought in American women in this particular. The local council is a manifestation of this change, and the local council will be found to be the most effective instrument that has been shaped to woman's hand for the correction of evils and the inauguration of the reign of virtue in public places."

She recommended that a committee be formed whose business it shall be (a), to secure a complete list of all the titles under which women are gathered into organizations in this country, and (b), to classify these titles and group them under the head of religion, education, civics and politics, industry, professional freedom and activity, literature and art; that the council request the next president of the council to appoint eight women to stand at the head of each of the eight departments; that institutions as well as organizations be admitted to membership on the same pecuniary terms and with the same representation as local councils.

Octavia Williams Bates, the chairman, submitted the report of the committee of domestic relations under the law. It was in part as follows:

"The work of the committee falls under four divisions:

"I. The furtherance of all movements that have to do with the maintenance of the family and the urging of all members of the national council of women of the United States to join organizations that are aiming to bring about juster legislation for the domestic relations, and to educate public sentiment to a keener appreciation of the necessities of such laws.

"II. The extending of assistance, advice and co-operation, if possible, to all commissions, both national and state, that have for their object more uniformity in the laws that relate to the domestic relations among the different states.

"III. The advocating the presence of capable, trained women in and their admission as members on all commissions for uniform legislation upon the domestic relations.

"IV. The compiling of a hand book of the laws of the domestic relations in the different states of the Union, which shall include the laws regulating the relation of husband and wife, also that of parent and child, with the recent decisions modifying such laws.

"The work of regulating and controlling the domestic relations by just and intelligent legislation is one that under different names and in various organizations is attracting the attention of sociologists, philanthropists and the most advanced thinkers in the legal profession. It is conceded that the 'problems of poverty, pauperism, crime, intemperance, unchastity, and the low grade of political morality are all, at their root, largely problems of the home. The world is also beginning to acknowledge that it is from the family that all good must originate, and it is there that all movements tending toward the amelioration of the human race must begin. The life of the family holds within itself the key to the welfare of the state. If it be thus maintained by all thinkers that the foremost questions of the day are all inseparable parts of one problem—the problem of the family and the home—then the laws that govern the family and the home must necessarily have a more important bearing upon the social problems of our time, and are, perhaps, the most important subjects that can claim the attention of the earnest, devoted members of society.

"We, as a committee, believe that so long as divorce laws are enacted by legislators composed of men alone they will generally be grossly unfair to women.

"We hold that the true remedy for needless divorces is a reform in the popular conception of the relations of husband and wife by a more equitable legal definition of marriage itself, where the law of marriage recognizes the relation as a life-long partnership of equals with reciprocal rights and duties.

"We are also of opinion that there are many other laws which bear heavily upon women and need equalizing, viz., those in regard to domicile, custody of children, dower and courtesy."

Mrs. Lillian M. N. Stevens, president of the national W. C. T. U., presented the report of that organization, the concluding paragraph of which was as follows:

"There has been a great gain in the number of total abstainers in this country within the past four years. It is an interesting fact that, counting in the Orientals, the great majority of people in the world do not drink intoxicants. The labor department's returns plainly indicate that the consumption of alcoholic drinks of all kinds is growing less year after year. Our society takes to itself a large share of the credit in bringing about this change, which has been very marked since 1895. I confidently believe that no other society within the last four years has done more to advance woman's cause: that no other society has done so much toward breaking down sectarian and sectional barriers, thus making its members worthy to bear the name of Christian and of temperance, and we are a union of hearts and a union of hands founded on the great principles of prohibition, total abstinence and purity; a society destined to gain more and more in members and influence, until the shadow caused by the liquor traffic shall flee away."

Rulings of Commissioner Confirmed By the Secretary.

Washington, Feb. 13.—The secretary of the interior has confirmed the decision of Land Commissioner Hermann in the appeal case of Andrew F. Baker, in which the commissioner is holding for cancellation the homestead entry of Baker on the contest of Gustaf Olsen, alleging abandonment.

The protest of James O'Leary, Ashland, Wis., against the timber and stone lands final proof of John C. Williams was dismissed by Commissioner Hermann. Mr. O'Leary appealed. The secretary of interior has handed down a decision confirming the decision of the land commissioner.

PROPHECY REALIZED

Rich Properties Shown Up By Development In Seine River District.

GREAT GOLD FIELDS

Wonderful Progress Made By the Olive and Golden Star Mines.

The predictions of The Herald made a year and more ago as to the future of the Seine River and Lake of the Woods district are now being realized to be true. At that time there were but two dividend-paying mines in the entire district. Since that time the Olive, Golden Star and Regina have been added to the list, besides a large number of good properties that are in course of development and bid fair to soon be dividend-payers.

The Seine River district seems to be the richest and most active. The Olive and Golden Star mines have made wonderful progress, having been put on a dividend-paying basis within the past eighteen months. The early buyers of these stocks are now considered as lucky and of being able to well judge the future, as a great many of them bought the stock at 10 cents per share. Now they can realize 96 cents per share for their stock in the Olive and 50 cents per share for their stock in the Golden Star, and things are pointing to the future wherein Golden Star will be worth par within ninety days.

The stock of the Golden Star is owned largely by citizens of Duluth. This mine is in good running order now. The third consignment of bullion was received here on Wednesday of last week, and amounted to twelve bricks valued at $15,000. Besides this the concentrates saved during this run are valued at $3000. This shipment is the production of twenty-seven days' run of the company's stamp mill. The management says that the new mining skip is now fully installed and in good working order, and that on account of its expediting the work the company expects to produce at least $20,000 for this month, and which they expect to arrive in the city about March 10. During January the mill was in operation twenty-seven days and cleaned up $15,125.24, which represented 76 pounds 5 ounces and a small fraction. In addition to this the mill has concentrates which average $274.90 per ton and enough to amount to $3000 in round numbers. This makes a total output for the mine for the twenty-seven days in January of $18,000. During the month the mill was shut down four days to allow the putting in of a skip in the mine. Eight days of the time ore was taken from the dump and the balance of the time it was taken from the second and third levels. The skip will be finished to the fifth level by the last of this week and ore can then be taken from the deeper levels where the greatest values are to be had. During the remainder of this month ore will be taken from the deeper levels as much as possible.

The cost of operating the mine and the mill, including the cost of putting in the new skip, was under $3900 for January, and Superintendent Keer of the mine states he will reduce the cost for February to less than $3000. Thus it will be seen the net profits of the mine for the two first months of this year will reach at least $35,000, which will make a dividend of 3½ per cent on the capitalization of the mine for the two months. These figures are bound to be increased within the next few months, as there will shortly be added at least ten more stamps.

The mine now has a crushing and power capacity for thirty stamps, but only ten stamps have been put in. The additional twenty stamps will be erected if the management decides it can supply them with ore from the Golden Crescent and the JO41, with which they are making terms for mining and milling.

The Alice A mine, which is owned and controlled by Superior parties, now has a 2-stamp mill of the Tremaine pattern, capable of handling ten tons per day, in operation, and the company recently sold 100,000 shares to an English syndicate for the purpose of erecting fifty additional stamps on the property, and by September the mine will have an output of 100 tons per day, which will be increased to five times that number before the year 1900 is past.

In addition to the mines now in operation, there are several deals now on hand which will be closed in a few days which will mean several more working mines for the Golden Star group, among the number being AD2, known as the Butchart property. Another property which is bound to attract some attention is JO41. It is located on the Golden Star vein and is a larger property than the Golden Star. The JO41 will be opened from the Golden Star at the sixth level, the north drift of the former being extended into that property. Many people believe the JO41 property will be as great, if not greater, than the Golden Star. The nature of the formation leads to this belief. Richness and a greater width to the vein are the possibilities that await the development of the JO41 when the north drift of the Golden Star is extended to that property. It will have mining and milling arrangements with the Golden Star and will have no outlay to make it a bullion producer and subsequently a dividend payer. The JO41 has a great future.

TWO LARGE BANQUETS.

Fusionists to Have Big Spreads In Twin Cities.

It is probable that a number of Duluth people will go to Minneapolis Wednesday to be present at the banquet given by the League of Democratic clubs in honor of Governor Lind and Mayor James Gray of Minneapolis. The notable feature of the affair will be the presence of William J. Bryan, who will contribute an address on some theme as yet unannounced. William Baldwin, president of the league, has been elected as toastmaster. The banquet will be given at the West hotel, Wednesday evening, and plans are being made for an attendance of not less than 500, which is the limit of the accomodations. The reform editors will be in session on Feb. 15, in St. Paul, and it is expected that there will be a large number of them present. The program is as follows:

"The Young Democracy," Thomas R. Kane, of St. Paul; "The City of Minneapolis," Mayor James Gray; "The League of Democratic Clubs," Fred Schilplin, of St. Cloud; "The Air of Politics," Hon. D. H. Evans, Tracy; "The Mission of the Young Men in Politics," Senator C. O. Baldwin, Duluth; "The People and Politics," Senator S. A. Stockwell, Minneapolis; "The Democratic Party," Hon. T. D. O'Brien, St. Paul; "Politics—Ideal and Practical," Hon. John Lind; "What Pleases the Prince," Hon. Charles A. Towne, Duluth; address, Hon. William J. Bryan.

A one-fare rate has been made from Duluth by the railroads.

Tomorrow evening a Democratic banquet will be given at the Ryan hotel in St. Paul. The following announcement has been sent out: "The banquet is under the auspices of the Democratic city and county organization. Hon. Humphrey Barton, chairman and toastmaster; Judge J. W. Willis, chairman of the banquet committee. The twelve wards and country representation will first be presented, followed by a representation of the Jefferson club by Dr. A. J. Stone, when Governor Lind speaks to "Our State." Hon. David S. Rose, mayor of Milwaukee, follows, when Mr. Bryan speaks for "Democracy." The care of banquet guests will be in charge of John L. Townley, Esq. Hon. John W. Willis and National Committeeman T. D. O'Brien head the committee of reception. Music, Second regiment band. Floral and decorations by May."

COULD NOT EAT OR SLEEP

Serious Condition After Bilious Fever—How Cured.

EAGLE BEND, MINN.—"I was taken sick with bilious fever, and for three weeks I could not sleep and I could eat very little. The medicine which I took from the doctor did not help me, and I made up my mind to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. When I had taken two bottles I was well. Hood's Sarsaparilla has also cured me of headache, with which I was troubled." MISS AGDA E. YOUNGBERG.

PECULIAR POISONS.

Generated In the Human Body.

The Result of Imperfect Digestion of Food.

Every living thing, plant or animal, contains within itself the germs of certain decay and death.

In the human body these germs of death (called by scientists ptomaines), are usually the result of imperfect digestion of food; the result of indigestion or dyspepsia.

The stomach, from abuse, weakens, does not promptly and thoroughly digest the food. The result is a heavy, sodden mass which ferments (the first process of decay) poisoning the blood, making it thin, weak and lacking in red corpuscles; poisoning the brain causing headaches, pain in the eyes.

Bad digestion weakens the heart, causing palpitation and finally bringing on disease of this very important organ.

Poor digestion poisons the kidneys, causing Bright's disease and diabetes.

And this is so because every organ, every nerve depends upon the stomach alone for nourishment and renewal, and weak digestion shows itself not only in loss of appetite and flesh, but in weak nerves and muddy complexion.

The great English scientist, Huxley, said the best start in life is a sound stomach. Weak stomachs fail to digest food properly, because they lack the proper quantity of digestive acids (lactic and hydrochloric) and peptogenic products. The most sensible remedy in all cases of indigestion is to take after each meal one or two of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, because they supply in a pleasant, harmless form all the elements that weak stomachs lack.

The regular use of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will cure any form of stomach trouble, except cancer of the stomach.

They increase flesh, insure pure blood, strong nerves, bright eye and clear complexion, because all these result only from wholesome food well digested.

Nearly all druggists sell Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets at 50 cents full-sized package or by mail by enclosing price to Stuart company, Marshall, Mich., but ask your druggist first. A little book on "Stomach Diseases" mailed free. Addres Stuart company, Marshall, Mich.

AMUSEMENTS.

MISS CLARA THROPP.

Tomorrow evening Miss Clara Thropp will appear at the Lyceum in Henrik Ibsen's "A Doll's House." Miss Thropp is the author of the musical comedy drama "Queen Mab," and a very successful novel entited "A Few Little Lives," published by McMillan & Co. The story of "A Doll's House" is one of intense interest, and tells of Nora, the petted and spoiled wife of an inconsiderate husband. Her youth has been passed as a doll child, she is her husband's doll wife and their home is "A Doll's House." When her husband's love is tried and found wanting, she rebels and stands revealed a woman.

Dr. Rea to Make His Regular Professional Visit to Minneapolis and Duluth.

The patients of Dr. Rea will be glad to know that he has arranged his next professional visit to Duluth on Tuesday and Wednesday, Feb. 14 and 15, and will remain two days. During his stay he will treat and consult patients as usual, at his offices in parlors I and J, Hotel Spalding. There is no physician in the United States better known than Dr. Rea. His cures are so numerous, and often of such a miraculous nature, that many writers have claimed that many of his cures were miracles. It is claimed by Dr. Rea's friends that he can diagnose any disease of any person without asking a question, and that he is the only living physician who can scientifically do so without making a mistake. The Louisville Commercial says: "In the treatment of cancers, consumption, tumors, heart troubles, nervous troubles and catarrh, Dr. Rea has no equal in the world." The Evansville Courier says: "There is no experiments in Dr. Rea's practice; able as he is to tell any one his disease without asking a question, he is not likely to doctor his patients for the wrong disease." The Houston (Texas) Post says: "Dr. Rea is the highest authority on chronic diseases and enjoys the largest practice of any living physician. Our readers will see that this visit of Dr. Rea will enable the sick to consult this eminent specialist close to their homes."

ONE MAN'S OPINION

Comment on the Advisability of Duluth Going Into Telephone Business.

MAYOR'S ARGUMENT

Proposition Is Made That He Has Overlooked Question of Competition.

Mayor Truelsen's proposition to have the city build a telephone system of its own is being quite freely discussed. There are a great many who think it would be a nice thing for the city to control the telephone system and that it is the ideal plan, but are not so sure that it ought to be attempted just now. One of these said to a Herald man today:

"I believe, as does Mayor Truelsen, in municipal ownership of all public utilities. The ideal city government should own all the franchises and operate the water, lighting, street railway and other systems, and I hope the day will come when those in Duluth will pass into the hands of the city. I do not believe, however, that the time is ripe for the city to go into the telephone business. It has one experiment in municipal ownership on its hands now and while I have every confidence in the ultimate solution of that problem, there is no question but that it is still a problem and a very delicate one.

"The mayor gives figures as to the price for which a fine telephone system can be secured and says that, at the figures proposed by Mr. Evans, who put in a bid for the franchise—$30 for business places and $20 for residents—the city could make a fine profit. That is doubtless all very true, but Mayor Truelsen has ignored one thing, I think, and it is one of the most vital elements in the situation—competition. He admits that the present company cannot be ousted. Therefore he must expect to fight it. The Bell monopoly, which is behind the Duluth company, is very wealthy, and where others have entered upon its territory it has fought fiercely. It is true that successful war has been waged against it by private companies but private companies can always conduct business at a cheaper cost than municipalities. Possibly this ought not to be, but it is a condition and not a theory which confronts us. The Bell Telephone company makes enormous profits every year and it will be perfectly willing to spend what to it will be a small sum, but to the city a very large one, in demonstrating right here in Duluth that municipal ownership of telephone systems is a failure. In other cities where the Bell company has met with opposition it has cut the very heart out of rates, even going so far as to furnish telephones in residences free of charge. Can the city of Duluth meet such competition and pay interest on the investment? It might be argued that by getting rates down to bed rock the city will have accomplished a sufficient result, but that argument would be very lame. The telephone is used by the few and not by the many and the city has no moral right to go into the business unless it is absolutely certain that the income will be sufficient to entirely sustain the plant.

"Now there is another thing. How does the mayor propose to furnish us with Superior connections? We must have them or we will have to keep the present 'phones in, too. Superior must be induced to go into the municipal ownership business also and even then may not the city find the same difficulty in making connections that is now in the way of making a water connection?

"What is my solution of the question? Well, I think the best thing to do is to let a rival company undertake the job of fighting the present company. Make a contract at as low a price for telephones as it is possible to get, provide for purchase of the plant by the city in the future and then let the two companies do the fighting and the citizens sit back and watch it and reap the benefit of the reduced price of telephones. The successful competition which the Bell company has met has come from private companies and not from municipalities."

EXPERIENCE WITH WOLVES.

Treasurer Johnson of Cook County Pursued By Them.

Charles Johnson, treasurer of Cook county, arrived in Duluth Saturday, and he reports that the wolves on the north shore are particularly fierce and hungry this winter. He was followed all the way down by packs of them that threatened him constantly. He left Grand Marais Tuesday with a team of three dogs, and the wolves followed him, keeping up with the dogs. Toward evening they became bolder and would come close up to the sled. This continued until Two Harbors was reached. Mr. Johnson reports that the wolves are very troublesome along the north shore. They are made desperate by the cold and deep snows, and are making attacks upon cattle belonging to the settlers. Last week a lumber scaler was working late in the woods when he was attacked, and he was just rescued in time. He was standing on a pile of logs holding the wolves at bay, and one, bolder than the rest, had taken a nip at his leg.

RELIGION AND REVIVAL.

Rev. H. White Comments on the Nature of Revivals.

Rev. H. White, in his sermon in the First Unitarian church yesterday morning, said that there are kinds of religious revival, one in accordance with the laws of growth, and the other the result of powerful external stimulus. The latter kind, he characterized as galvanic, and this kind, he said, is based on a false conception of God and man and their general effect is bad, not good.

"Religion and Revivals" was the subject of the sermon. Mr. White said that he believed in revivals; physical revivals by means of food and exercise; intellectual revivals by study and the development of the mind according to the laws of mind, and religious revivals by developing the moral and spiritual powers by obedience to moral and spiritual laws.

We have no right to be prejudiced against revivals merely because they are revivals, said he, there are other considerations. The word revival means a revival of life. All believe in the possibility of new life, physical, moral, intellectual and spiritual, gained by the laws of growth. There is another phenomenon, which resembles life, but it is altogether different from it. There are the normal, vital movements of life, and the movements, produced by some powerful stimulus from without, the twitching of an eye-lid or the moving of a muscle by a strong electric current, which is galvanism. The question, then, in regard to the usual religious revivals is this: Are they vital or are they galvanic? Before answering this, another question must be asked, viz: Do the results of the work of the ordinary evangelist come from the working of the moral and spiritual powers in man, according to the moral and spiritual laws, or are they the result of a powerful stimulus? There are two considerations which would show that they were the results of the latter; that they are essentially galvanic and not vital. The first is a study of the spiritual nature of man and the working of the moral and spiritual laws, and the second is the study of what might be called the psychology of the mob.

The principles of real moral and religious life are in brief, absolute devotion to the right for its own sake and not for reward, and self-respect and humanity. These laws are disobeyed at every turn in the revival. Men are taught to do right to get into heaven and not for the right's sake whatever the consequence; the strong and the good in men is not appealed to, but they are told that they are poor, worthless creatures, and there if often found intellectual arrogance in the evangelist.

NEW RAILROAD TARIFFS.

Rates From Duluth to Points In the Southwest.

The Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul, the St. Paul & Duluth, the Des Moines, Northern & Western, and the Eastern Railway of Minnesota have issued a joint tariff rate on merchandise classes between Duluth, Cloquet and the Superiors to Eau Claire, Chippewa Falls, Sioux City, Sioux Falls, Kansas City and Des Moines. The rates on first-class goods vary from 50 cents to $1.20 per 100 pounds; on second class from 40 to 95 cents; on third class goods from 30 to 70 cents; fourth class 20 to 51 cents; fifth class 12½ to 38 cents; class A from 17½ to 48 cents; class B from 15 to 39½ cents; class C from 13 to 32 cents; class D from 10 to 27½ cents; Class E from 8 to 23 cents.

The St. Paul & Duluth, the Chicago Great Western and the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railways, in connection with the Iowa Central, the Rock Island & Peoria, the St. Louis, Peoria & Northern, the Chicago, Peoria & St. Louis and connecting lines have issued a new joint tariff on potatoes from points on the St. Paul & Duluth to Memphis, Tenn., Natchez, Miss., Baton Rouge, La., Helena, Ark., Mobile, Ala., New Orleans and Arkansas. The minimum carload is fixed at 24,000 pounds. The rate to Memphis is 37½ cents per 100 pounds, to Mississippi and Arkansas points 47½ cents, and to Jackson and Meridian, Miss., 50 cents.

COLD IN THE WOODS.

Men In the Camps Have Much Trouble With Frost.

Among those who suffered most from the cold spell that ended Saturday were the men in the woods. It is popularly supposed that the cold is not felt so much in the woods as in town, that the woods break the force of the wind, that the men are kept at hard work and that, therefore, they are not likely to feel the cold. Men who have come in since the cold weather began tell a different story. They say that scarcely a man in any of the camps escaped a touch of the frost. Frosted toes, fingers, noses, chins and cheeks were very common, and the men were constantly stopping to rub the frozen portions with snow. Men were frozen when they were working as hard as they could, and there were cases of frozen fingers and toes when the men were perspiring from their exercise. One man had both feet frozen while he was working hard loading logs on a sled.

Another way in which the woods suffered from the cold was from the difficulty experienced in getting men to go out on account of the cold. Employment agents say that there is a constant demand for men greater than they can supply. Most of the camps are short, and could handle more men than they have if they could get them. This is the busiest winter the woods in this section ever saw, and the cut will be tremendous. Many of the contractors are behind with their work, and they need men to help them catch up. Whether there were no men, or whether they were keeing housed on account of the cold weather, the employment agents could not get nearly enough men to fill their orders.

A Postscript.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Would you kindly permit me to amplify one point briefly mentioned in my communication relative to the "Street Car Hog." I said that sometimes relief might be gained by appealing to the conductor. This is an important branch of the subject. I am happy to be able, for the sake of Duluth's reputation, to say that the street car men of Duluth are generally excellent, and reflect credit upon the manager. Many people with a grievance do not think to report it at headquarters, and the conductors and manager are often unjustly censured. But they are salaried employes of a corporation, and it is not in their power to introduce radical reforms.

The conductor is handicapped by the system of overcrowding, and by the public's habit of meekly submitting to the encroachments of the street car hog. When the car is packed like a sardine can with people, the conductor cannot see what is going on in the interior of the dangling, surging, writhing mass of humanity. Had Dr. Wildes appealed to the conductor first, he might not have been driven to that court of last resort, the concealed weapon.

The lesson which needs to be made emphatic and clear is that the street car monopoly is a monster to whose tyranny the public too lamely submits. The street car hog, and many evils that follow in his train, will disappear when public opinion awakes to the truth that the street railway system is our dearly paid servant, not our master.

Difficult to Determine How a Republican Majority Is Figured Out.

CHEADLE'S CHANCES

Regarded as Certain That He Will Succeed Himself---City Attorneyship.

How a Republican majority can be figured out in the council is a question that is puzzling a good many Republicans who are pretty good figurers themselves. Conceding the Republicans Judge Carey, whom the News Tribune claimed in order to help make out that a "great Republican victory" had been scored, and assuming that Alderman Johnson wins out in the decision of the tie between him and Dr. Cullum, the fusionists would still have eight. Judge Carey cannot, however, be counted out of the fusion ranks by any known system of arithmetic.

It is regarded as certain that City Clerk Cheadle will be re-elected. J. W. Becker is a candidate for the position of assistant city clerk. Mr. Becker has held the position of stenographer in the clerk's office for a long time.

From Republicans no less than from the fusionists are heard expressions of confidence in City Attorney Richards and satisfaction with the record he has made. There are many cases of the greatest importance to the city in litigation at this time, and it is generally conceded that under such circumstances it would be poor business policy to put in a new man. A business establishment would certainly not at such a juncture, it is argued, dismiss a legal adviser who had successfully conducted its cases for a new man, no matter how great his legal ability, who was unacquainted with their history, details and ramifications.

Several possible candidates besides Dr. Murray for health officer have been mentioned, but none are generally talked of, and the doctor seems to have the call.

OVER A BAR BILL.

A Saloonkeeper Shoots a Customer at a Dance.

Cleveland, Ohio, Feb. 13.—John Visocke, a Slav, was shot and almost instantly killed in a saloon and dance hall at the corner of Hill and Cross streets late last night by the saloonkeeper, John Skintick. The killing was the result of a quarrel over a liquor bill which it is alleged Visocke owed the saloonkeeper. Skintick disappeared from the place before the arrival of the police, but was captured early today.

A SIX-DAY RACE.

Much Interest Taken In That to Begin at San Francisco.

San Francisco, Feb. 13.—Judging by the interest taken in the preliminary events, the 6-day bicycle race which will begin at the Machanics' pavilion tonight is assured of a large attendance. Much curiosity is manifested regarding the appearance and condition of the contestants in the long distance events to be run off during the week. Tod Sloan has been supplanted as a popular idol here by Michael, Elkes and Bald. Even Waller, who attracted little attention while residing in Oakland, across the bay, a few days ago, is now greeted with hearty applause when he shows himself on the track.

A goodly crowd greeted the cycle racers last night. The event of the evening was a 1-mile match race between Orlando Stevens, of Ottumwa, Iowa, and Jay Eaton, of Elizabeth, N. J., paced, for six laps by Fournier on his motor cycle. Stevens won the first heat in 2.04 1-5, and the second heat and the match in 1:59 3-5.

The first semi-final of the professional tandem pursuit race resulted in the making of a new world's indoor record, Cotter and Downing defeating Lawson and Julius in 1:59 4-5. The final resulted in a victory for Cotter and Downing over Stevens and Goodman in 1:59 4-5.

Half mile handicap, professional, final—Lawson, Chicago, (thirty yards), won; Cotter, Tacoma, (fifty-five yards), second; Chapan, Atlanta, (twenty yards), third. Time, :59.

Half mile unpaced exhibition by Charles W. Miller; time, :59 2-5; world's indoor record.

One mile exhibition, paced—Bay Gibson, Cincinnati, won; time, 1:58 3-5.

Half mile exhibition, paced—Eddie Bald, Buffalo; time, 1:00 3-5.

Two-mile exhibition, paced—Harry Elkes, Great Falls, N. Y.; time, 4:01 2-5.

One mile motorcycle exhibition by Fournier of France; time, 1:58 4-5.

One mile exhibition, paced, by Jimmy Michael; time, 1:57 1-5.

DEATHS IN CUBA.

DR. DALY'S OPINION.

Thinks the War Commission Was Appointed on Purpose to Whitewash.

Pittsburg, Feb. 13.—Dr. William Daly, in a long statement anent the war board report, says he reported his suspicions about the refrigerated beef to Commanding Gen. Miles at the early part of August last and the latter at once undertook to have the army supplied with fresh beef, and requested the war department to send no more refrigerated beef. To this latter request no attention was paid. He says the commission soon after appointment revealed to the country that their business was to protect the contractors and destroy everyone who called attention to any irregularities. Dr. Daly conitnues:

"They studiously refrained from calling men before them who ate of the beef, became nauseated and sick when fed by it, and when anyone did appear before them who gave honest testimony as to irregularities or shortcomings either as to the unfit beef or other improper or insufficient rations, by the overcrowding of the transports with the sick and convalescent or any other matter that a wise administration would be pleased to hear of in order to remedy and prevent a recurrence, such witnesses were, without exception bullied, brow-beaten, hectored and treated in the most brutal manner generally as a warning to others to have a care as to how they called the attention of this so-called commission to anything that they were not expected in any sense to ascertain or discover.

"But they called officers of the commissary department who improperly felt that they had been impugned as to dereliction of duty when no such charge was either made or implied. These men were all treated with the utmost deference by the so-called commission and applauded for their testimony, and even the bearded beef which they claimed to be of excellent quality and which no citizen would eat willingly was considered by them the proper thing for the soldier."

A SERIOUS HITCH.

Americans and Canadians Cannot Agree as to Alaska.

Chicago, Feb. 13.—A special to the Tribune from Washington says:

It is stated that there is a serious hitch in the work of the Anglo-American commission. The obstacle is believed to be a demand made by the Canadian commission for the cession of the town of Skaguay, Alaska. The American commissioners have definitely refused. Skaguay is the natural gateway to the Klondike. Unless an amicable adjustment can be reached within a few days there is a possibility that the negotiations for a new treaty between the United States and Canada may be broken off.

PROPHECY REALIZED

Rich Properties Shown Up By Development In Seine River District.

GREAT GOLD FIELDS

Wonderful Progress Made By the Olive and Golden Star Mines.

The predictions of The Herald made a year and more ago as to the future of the Seine River and Lake of the Woods district are now being realized to be true. At that time there were but two dividend-paying mines in the entire district. Since that time the Olive, Golden Star and Regina have been added to the list, besides a large number of good properties that are in course of development and bid fair to soon be dividend-payers.

The Seine River district seems to be the richest and most active. The Olive and Golden Star mines have made wonderful progress, having been put on a dividend-paying basis within the past eighteen months. The early buyers of these stocks are now considered as lucky and of being able to well judge the future, as a great many of them bought the stock at 10 cents per share. Now they can realize 96 cents per share for their stock in the Olive and 50 cents per share for their stock in the Golden Star, and things are pointing to the future wherein Golden Star will be worth par within ninety days.

The stock of the Golden Star is owned largely by citizens of Duluth. This mine is in good running order now. The third consignment of bullion was received here on Wednesday of last week, and amounted to twelve bricks valued at $15,000. Besides this the concentrates saved during this run are valued at $3000. This shipment is the production of twenty-seven days' run of the company's stamp mill. The management says that the new mining skip is now fully installed and in good working order, and that on account of its expediting the work the company expects to produce at least $20,000 for this month, and which they expect to arrive in the city about March 10. During January the mill was in operation twenty-seven days and cleaned up $15,125.24, which represented 76 pounds 5 ounces and a small fraction. In addition to this the mill has concentrates which average $274.80 per ton and enough to amount to $3000 in round numbers. This makes a total output for the mine for the twenty-seven days in January of $18,000. During the month the mill was shut down four days to allow the putting in of a skip in the mine. Eight days of the time ore was taken from the dump and the balance of the time it was taken from the second and third levels. The skip will be finished to the fifth level by the last of this week and ore can then be taken from the deeper levels where the greatest values are to be had. During the remainder of this month ore will be taken from the deeper levels as much as possible.

The cost of operating the mine and the mill, including the cost of putting in the new skip, was under $3900 for January, and Superintendent Keer of the mine states he will reduce the cost for February to less than $3000. Thus it will be seen the net profits of the mine for the two first months of this year will reach at least $35,000, which will make a dividend of 3½ per cent on the capitalization of the mine for the two months. These figures are bound to be increased within the next few months, as there will shortly be added at least ten more stamps.

The mine now has a crushing and power capacity for thirty stamps, but only ten stamps have been put in. The additional twenty stamps will be erected if the management decides it can supply them with ore from the Golden Crescent and the JO41, with which they are making terms for mining and milling.

The Alice A mine, which is owned and controlled by Superior parties, now has a 2-stamp mill of the Tremaine pattern, capable of handling ten tons per day, in operation, and the company recently sold 100,000 shares to an English syndicate for the purpose of erecting fifty additional stamps on the property, and by September the mine will have an output of 100 tons per day, which will be increased to five times that number before the year 1900 is past.

In addition to the mines now in operation, there are several deals now on hand which will be closed in a few days which will mean several more working mines for the Golden Star group, among the number being AD2, known as the Butchart property. Another property which is bound to attract some attention is JO41. It is located on the Golden Star vein and is a larger property than the Golden Star. The JO41 will be opened from the Golden Star at the sixth level, the north drift of the former being extended into that property. Many people believe the JO41 property will be as great, if not greater, than the Golden Star. The nature of the formation leads to this belief. Richness and a greater width to the vein are the possibilities that await the development of the JO41 when the north drift of the Golden Star is extended to that property. It will have mining and milling arrangements with the Golden Star and will have no outlay to make it a bullion producer and subsequently a dividend payer. The JO41 has a great future.

The banquet will be given at the West hotel, Wednesday evening, and plans are being made for an attendance of not less than 500, which is the limit of the accomodations. The reform editors will be in session on Feb. 15, in St. Paul, and it is expected that there will be a large number of them present. The program is as follows:

"The Young Democracy," Thomas R. Kane, of St. Paul; "The City of Minneapolis," Mayor James Gray; "The League of Democratic Clubs," Fred Schilplin, of St. Cloud; "The Air of Politics," Hon. D. H. Evans, Tracy; "The Mission of the Young Men in Politics," Senator C. O. Baldwin, Duluth; "The People and Politics," Senator S. A. Stockwell, Minneapolis; "The Democratic Party," Hon. T. D. O'Brien, St. Paul; "Politics—Ideal and Practical," Hon. John Lind; "What Pleases the Prince," Hon. Charles A. Towne, Duluth; address, Hon. William J. Bryan.

A one-fare rate has been made from Duluth by the railroads.

Tomorrow evening a Democratic banquet will be given at the Ryan hotel in St. Paul. The following announcement has been sent out: "The banquet is under the auspices of the Democratic city and county organization, Hon. Humphrey Barton, chairman and toastmaster; Judge J. W. Willis, chairman of the banquet committee. The twelve wards and country representation will first be presented, followed by a representation of the Jefferson club by Dr. A. J. Stone, when Governor Lind speaks to "Our State." Hon. David S. Rose, mayor of Milwaukee, follows, when Mr. Bryan speaks for "Democracy." The care of banquet guests will be in charge of John L. Townley, Esq. Hon. John W. Willis and National Committeeman T. D. O'Brien head the committee of reception. Music, Second regiment band. Floral and decorations by May."

COULD NOT EAT OR SLEEP

Serious Condition After Bilious Fever —How Cured.

EAGLE BEND, MINN.—"I was taken sick with bilious fever, and for three weeks I could not sleep and I could eat very little. The medicine which I took from the doctor did not help me, and I made up my mind to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. When I had taken two bottles I was well. ## PECULIAR POISONS.

Generated In the Human Body.

The Result of Imperfect Digestion of Food.

Every living thing, plant or animal, contains within itself the germs of certain decay and death.

In the human body these germs of death (called by scientists ptomaines), are usually the result of imperfect digestion of food; the result of indigestion or dyspepsia.

The stomach, from abuse, weakens, does not promptly and thoroughly digest the food. The result is a heavy, sodden mass which ferments (the first process of decay) poisoning the blood, making it thin, weak and lacking in red corpuscles; poisoning the brain causing headaches, pain in the eyes.

Bad digestion weakens the heart, causing palpitation and finally bringing on disease of this very important organ.

Poor digestion poisons the kidneys, causing Bright's disease and diabetes.

And this is so because every organ, every nerve depends upon the stomach alone for nourishment and renewal, and weak digestion shows itself not only in loss of appetite and flesh, but in weak nerves and muddy complexion.

The great English scientist, Huxley, said the best start in life is a sound stomach. Weak stomachs fail to digest food properly, because they lack the proper quantity of digestive acids (lactic and hydrochloric) and peptogenic products. The most sensible remedy in all cases of indigestion is to take after each meal one or two of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, because they supply in a pleasant, harmless form all the elements that weak stomachs lack.

The regular use of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will cure any form of stomach trouble, except cancer of the stomach.

They increase flesh, insure pure blood, strong nerves, bright eye and clear complexion, because all these result only from wholesome food well digested.

Nearly all druggists sell Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets at 50 cents full-sized package or by mail by enclosing price to Stuart company, Marshall, Mich., but ask your druggist first. A little book on "Stomach Diseases" mailed free. Address Stuart company, Marshall, Mich.

AMUSEMENTS.

MISS CLARA THROPP.

Tomorrow evening Miss Clara Thropp will appear at the Lyceum in Henrik Ibsen's "A Doll's House." Miss Thropp is the author of the musical comedy drama "Queen Mab," and a very successful novel entitled "A Few Little Lives," published by McMillan & Co. The story of "A Doll's House" is one of intense interest, and tells of Nora, the petted and spolled wife of an inconsiderate husband. Her youth has been passed as a doll child, she is her husband's doll wife and their home is "A Doll's House." When her husband's love is tried and found wanting, she rebels and stands revealed a woman.

Dr. Rea to Make His Regular Professional Visit to Minneapolis and Duluth.

The patients of Dr. Rea will be glad to know that he has arranged his next professional visit to Duluth on Tuesday and Wednesday, Feb. 14 and 15, and will remain two days. During his stay he will treat and consult patients as usual, at his offices in parlors I and J, Hotel Spalding. There is no physician in the United States better known than Dr. Rea. His cures are so numerous, and often of such a miraculous nature, that many writers have claimed that many of his cures were miracles. It is claimed by Dr. Rea's friends that he can diagnose any disease of any person without asking a question, and that he is the only living physician who can scientifically do so without making a mistake. The Louisville Commercial says: "In the treatment of cancers, consumption, tumors, heart troubles, nervous troubles and catarrh, Dr. Rea has no equal in the world." The Evansville Courier says: "There is no experiments in Dr. Rea's practice; able as he is to tell any one his disease without asking a question, he is not likely to doctor his patients for the wrong disease." The Houston (Texas) Post says: "Dr. Rea is the highest authority on chronic diseases and enjoys the largest practice of any living physician. Our readers will see that this visit of Dr. Rea will enable the sick to consult this eminent specialist close to their homes."

ONE MAN'S OPINION

Comment on the Advisability of Duluth Going Into Telephone Business.

MAYOR'S ARGUMENT

Proposition Is Made That He Has Overlooked Question of Competition.

Mayor Truelsen's proposition to have the city build a telephone system of its own is being quite freely discussed. There are a great many who think it would be a nice thing for the city to control the telephone system and that it is the ideal plan, but are not so sure that it ought to be attempted just now. One of these said to a Herald man today:

"I believe, as does Mayor Truelsen, in municipal ownership of all public utilities. The ideal city government should own all the franchises and operate the water, lighting, street railway and other systems, and I hope the day will come when those in Duluth will pass into the hands of the city. I do not believe, however, that the time is ripe for the city to go into the telephone business. It has one experiment in municipal ownership on its hands now and while I have every confidence in the ultimate solution of that problem, there is no question but that it is still a problem and a very delicate one.

"The mayor gives figures as to the price for which a fine telephone system can be secured and says that, at the figures proposed by Mr. Evans, who put in a bid for the franchise—$30 for business places and $20 for residents—the city could make a fine profit. That is doubtless all very true, but Mayor Truelsen has ignored one thing, I think, and it is one of the most vital elements in the situation—competition. He admits that the present company cannot be ousted. Therefore he must expect to fight it. The Bell monopoly, which is behind the Duluth company, is very wealthy, and where others have entered upon its territory it has fought fiercely. It is true that successful war has been waged against it by private companies but private companies can always conduct business at a cheaper cost than municipalities. Possibly this ought not to be, but it is a condition and not a theory which confronts us. The Bell Telephone company makes enormous profits every year and it will be perfectly willing to spend what to it will be a small sum, but to the city a very large one, in demonstrating right here in Duluth that municipal ownership of telephone systems is a failure. In other cities where the Bell company has met with opposition it has cut the very heart out of rates, even going so far as to furnish telephones in residences free of charge. Can the city of Duluth meet such competition and pay interest on the investment? It might be argued that by getting rates down to bed rock the city will have accomplished a sufficient result, but that argument would be very lame. The telephone is used by the few and not by the many and the city has no moral right to go into the business unless it is absolutely certain that the income will be sufficient to entirely sustain the plant.

"Now there is another thing. How does the mayor propose to furnish us with Superior connections? We must have them or we will have to keep the present 'phones in, too. Superior must be induced to go into the municipal ownership business also and even then may not the city find the same difficulty in making connections that is now in the way of making a water connection?

"What is my solution of the question? Well, I think the best thing to do is to let a rival company undertake the job of fighting the present company. Make a contract at as low a price for telephones as it is possible to get, provide for purchase of the plant by the city in the future and then let the two companies do the fighting and the citizens sit back and watch it and reap the benefit of the reduced price of telephones. The successful competition which the Bell company has met has come from private companies and not from municipalities."

EXPERIENCE WITH WOLVES.

Treasurer Johnson of Cook County Pursued By Them.

Charles Johnson, treasurer of Cook county, arrived in Duluth Saturday, and he reports that the wolves on the north shore are particularly fierce and hungry this winter. He was followed all the way down by packs of them that threatened him constantly. He left Grand Marais Tuesday with a team of three dogs, and the wolves followed him, keeping up with the dogs. Toward evening they became bolder and would come close up to the sled. This continued until Two Harbors was reached. Mr. Johnson reports that the wolves are very troublesome along the north shore. They are made desperate by the cold and deep snows, and are making attacks upon cattle belonging to the settlers. Last week a lumber scaler was working late in the woods when he was attacked, and he was just rescued in time. He was standing on a pile of logs holding the wolves at bay, and one, bolder than the rest, had taken a nip at his leg.

RELIGION AND REVIVAL.

Rev. H. White Comments on the Nature of Revivals.

Rev. H. White, in his sermon in the First Unitarian church yesterday morning, said that there are kinds of religious revival, one in accordance with the laws of growth, and the other the result of powerful external stimulus. The latter kind, he characterized as galvanic, and this kind, he said, is based on a false conception of God and man and their general effect is bad, not good.

"Religion and Revivals" was the subject of the sermon. Mr. White said that he believed in revivals; physical revivals by means of food and exercise; intellectual revivals by study and the development of the mind according to the laws of mind, and religious revivals by developing the moral and spiritual powers by obedience to moral and spiritual laws.

We have no right to be prejudiced against revivals merely because they are revivals, said he, there are other considerations. The word revival means a revival of life. All believe in the possibility of new life, physical, moral, intellectual and spiritual, gained by the laws of growth. There is another phenomenon, which resembles life, but it is altogether different from it. There are the normal, vital movements of life, and the movements, produced by some powerful stimulus from without, the twitching of an eye-lid or the moving of a muscle by a strong electric current, which is galvanism. The question, then, in regard to the usual religious revivals is this: Are they vital or are they galvanic? Before answering this, another question must be asked, viz: Do the results of the work of the ordinary evangelist come from the working of the moral and spiritual powers in man, according to the moral and spiritual laws, or are they the result of a powerful stimulus? There are two considerations which would show that they were the results of the latter; that they are essentially galvanic and not vital. The first is a study of the spiritual nature of man and the working of the moral and spiritual laws, and the second is the study of what might be called the psychology of the mob.

The principles of real moral and religious life are in brief, absolute devotion to the right for its own sake and not for reward, and self-respect and humanity. These laws are disobeyed at every turn in the revival. Men are taught to do right to get into heaven and not for the right's sake whatever the consequence; the strong and the good in men is not appealed to, but they are told that they are poor, worthless creatures, and there if often found intellectual arrogance in the evangelist.

NEW RAILROAD TARIFFS.

Rates From Duluth to Points In the Southwest.

The Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul, the St. Paul & Duluth, the Des Moines, Northern & Western, and the Eastern Railway of Minnesota have issued a joint tariff rate on merchandise classes between Duluth, Cloquet and the Superiors to Eau Claire, Chippewa Falls, Sioux City, Sioux Falls, Kansas City and Des Moines. The rates on first-class goods vary from 50 cents to $1.20 per 100 pounds; on second class from 40 to 95 cents; on third class goods from 30 to 70 cents; fourth class 20 to 51 cents; fifth class 12½ to 38 cents; class A from 17½ to 48 cents; class B from 15 to 39½ cents; class C from 13 to 32 cents; class D from 10 to 27½ cents; Class E from 8 to 23 cents.

The St. Paul & Duluth, the Chicago Great Western and the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railways, in connection with the Iowa Central, the Rock Island & Peoria, the St. Louis, Peoria & Northern, the Chicago, Peoria & St. Louis and connecting lines have issued a new joint tariff on potatoes from points on the St. Paul & Duluth to Memphis, Tenn., Natchez, Miss., Baton Rouge, La., Helena, Ark., Mobile, Ala., New Orleans and Arkansas. The minimum carload is fixed at 24,000 pounds. The rate to Memphis is 37½ cents per 100 pounds, to Mississippi and Arkansas points 47½ cents, and to Jackson and Meridian, Miss., 50 cents.

COLD IN THE WOODS.

Men In the Camps Have Much Trouble With Frost.

Among those who suffered most from the cold spell that ended Saturday were the men in the woods. It is popularly supposed that the cold is not felt so much in the woods as in town, that the woods break the force of the wind, that the men are kept at hard work and that, therefore, they are not likely to feel the cold. Men who have come in since the cold weather began tell a different story. They say that scarcely a man in any of the camps escaped a touch of the frost. Frosted toes, fingers, noses, chins and cheeks were very common, and the men were constantly stopping to rub the frozen portions with snow. Men were frozen when they were working as hard as they could, and there were cases of frozen fingers and toes when the men were perspiring from their exercise. One man had both feet frozen while he was working hard loading logs on a sled.

Another way in which the woods suffered from the cold was from the difficulty experienced in getting men to go out on account of the cold. Employment agents say that there is a constant demand for men greater than they can supply. Most of the camps are short, and could handle more men than they have if they could get them. This is the busiest winter the woods in this section ever saw, and the cut will be tremendous. Many of the contractors are behind with their work, and they need men to help them catch up. Whether there were no men, or whether they were keeing housed on account of the cold weather, the employment agents could not get nearly enough men to fill their orders.

A Postscript.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Would you kindly permit me to amplify one point briefly mentioned in my communication relative to the "Street Car Hog." I said that sometimes relief might be gained by appealing to the conductor. This is an important branch of the subject. I am happy to be able, for the sake of Duluth's reputation, to say that the street car men of Duluth are generally excellent, and reflect credit upon the manager. Many people with a grievance do not think to report it at headquarters, and the conductors and manager are often unjustly censured. But they are salaried employes of a corporation, and it is not in their power to introduce radical reforms.

The conductor is handicapped by the system of overcrowding, and by the public's habit of meekly submitting to the encroachments of the street car hog. When the car is packed like a sardine can with people, the conductor cannot see what is going on in the interior of the dangling, surging, writhing mass of humanity. Had Dr. Wildes appealed to the conductor first, he might not have been driven to that court of last resort, the concealed weapon.

The lesson which needs to be made emphatic and clear is that the street car monopoly is a monster to whose tyranny the public too lamely submits. The street car hog, and many evils that follow in his train, will disappear when public opinion awakes to the truth that the street railway system is our dearly paid servant, not our master.

Difficult to Determine How a Republican Majority Is Figured Out.

CHEADLE'S CHANCES

Regarded as Certain That He Will Succeed Himself--- City Attorneyship.

How a Republican majority can be figured out in the council is a question that is puzzling a good many Republicans who are pretty good figurers themselves. Conceding the Republicans Judge Carey, whom the News Tribune claimed in order to help make out that a "great Republican victory" had been scored, and assuming that Alderman Johnson wins out in the decision of the tie between him and Dr. Cullum, the fusionists would still have eight. Judge Carey cannot, however, be counted out of the fusion ranks by any known system of arithmetic.

It is regarded as certain that City Clerk Cheadle will be re-elected. J. W. Becker is a candidate for the position of assistant city clerk. Mr. Becker has held the position of stenographer in the clerk's office for a long time.

From Republicans no less than from the fusionists are heard expressions of confidence in City Attorney Richards and satisfaction with the record he has made. There are many cases of the greatest importance to the city in litigation at this time, and it is generally conceded that under such circumstances it would be poor business policy to put in a new man. A business establishment would certainly not at such a juncture, it is argued, dismiss a legal adviser who had successfully conducted its cases for a new man, no matter how great his legal ability, who was unacquainted with their history, details and ramifications.

Several possible candidates besides Dr. Murray for health officer have been mentioned, but none are generally talked of, and the doctor seems to have the call.

OVER A BAR BILL.

A Saloonkeeper Shoots a Customer at a Dance.

Cleveland, Ohio, Feb. 13.—John Visocke, a Slav, was shot and almost instantly killed in a saloon and dance hall at the corner of Hill and Cross streets late last night by the saloonkeeper, John Skintick. The killing was the result of a quarrel over a liquor bill which it is alleged Visocke owed the saloonkeeper. Skintick disappeared from the place before the arrival of the police, but was captured early today.

A SIX-DAY RACE.

Much Interest Taken In That to Begin at San Francisco.

San Francisco, Feb. 13.—Judging by the interest taken in the preliminary events, the 6-day bicycle race which will begin at the Machanics'-pavilion tonight is assured of a large attendance. Much curiosity is manifested regarding the appearance and condition of the contestants in the long distance events to be run off during the week. Tod Sloan has been supplanted as a popular idol here by Michael, Elkes and Bald. Even Waller, who attracted little attention while residing in Oakland, across the bay, a few days ago, is now greeted with hearty applause when he shows himself on the track.

A goodly crowd greeted the cycle racers last night. The event of the evening was a 1-mile match race between Orlando Stevens, of Ottumwa, Iowa, and Jay Eaton, of Elizabeth, N. J., paced, for six laps by Fournier on his motor cycle. Stevens won the first heat in 2:04 1-5, and the second heat and the match in 1:59 3-5.

The first semi-final of the professional tandem pursuit race resulted in the making of a new world's indoor record, Cotter and Downing defeating Lawson and Julius in 1:59 4-5. The final resulted in a victory for Cotter and Downing over Stevens and Goodman in 1:59 4-5.

Half mile handicap, professional, final—Lawson, Chicago, (thirty yards), won; Cotter, Tacoma, (fifty-five yards), second; Chapan, Atlanta, (twenty yards), third. Time, :59.

Half mile unpaced exhibition by Charles W. Miller; time, :59 2-5; world's indoor record.

One mile exhibition, paced—Bay Gibson, Cincinnati, won; time, 1:58 3-5.

Half mile exhibition, paced—Eddie Bald, Buffalo; time, 1:00 3-5.

Two-mile exhibition, paced—Harry Elkes, Great Falls, N. Y.; time, 4:01 2-5.

One mile motorcycle exhibition by Fournier of France; time, 1:58 4-5.

One mile exhibition, paced, by Jimmy Michael; time, 1:57 1-5.

DEATHS IN CUBA.

Washington, Feb. 13.—Gen. Brooke today cabled the war department as follows:

Havana, Feb. 13.—Adjutant General, Washington: Death report Feb. 7: Hospital ship Missouri, Havana harbor, Capt. Oliver Perry Smith, commissary, acute nephritis. Guanajay, Feb. 10, Private James C. Loonie, Company L, Two Hundred and Second New York, malarial fever.

Providence, R. I., Feb. 13.—Mrs. Amos Palmer, of Edgewood, R. I., was shot and almost instantly killed last night in her home and her husband has been arrested charged with her murder. Palmer was at one time confined in an insane asylum.

DR. DALY'S OPINION.

Thinks the War Commission Was Appointed on Purpose to Whitewash.

Pittsburg, Feb. 13.—Dr. William Daly, in a long statement anent the war board report, says he reported his suspicions about the refrigerated beef to Commanding Gen. Miles at the early part of August last and the latter at once undertook to have the army supplied with fresh beef, and requested the war department to send no more refrigerated beef. To this latter request no attention was paid. He says the commission soon after appointment revealed to the country that their business was to protect the contractors and destroy everyone who called attention to any irregularities. Dr. Daly coninues:

"They studiously refrained from calling men before them who ate of the beef, became nauseated and sick when fed by it, and when anyone did appear before them who gave honest testimony as to irregularities or shortcomings either as to the unfit beef or other improper or insufficient rations, by the overcrowding of the transports with the sick and convalescent or any other matter that a wise administration would be pleased to hear of in order to remedy and prevent a recurrence, such witnesses were, without exception bullied, brow-beaten, hectored and treated in the most brutal manner generally as a warning to others to have a care as to how they called the attention of this so-called commission to anything that they were not expected in any sense to ascertain or discover.

"But they called officers of the commissary department who improperly felt that they had been impugned as to dilection of duty when no such charge was either made or implied. These men were all treated with the utmost deference by the so-called commission and applauded for their testimony, and even the bearded beef which they claimed to be of excellent quality and which no citizen would eat willingly was considered by them the proper thing for the soldier."

A SERIOUS HITCH.

Americans and Canadians Cannot Agree as to Alaska.

Chicago, Feb. 13.—A special to the Tribune from Washington says:

It is stated that there is a serious hitch in the work of the Anglo-American commission. The obstacle is believed to be a demand made by the Canadian commission for the cession of the town of Skaguay, Alaska. The American commissioners have definitely refused. Skaguay is the natural gateway to the Klondike. Unless an amicable adjustment can be reached within a few days there is a possibility that the negotiations for a new treaty between the United States and Canada may be broken off.

THE GREAT DRAWING

The Casting of Lots to Be Feature of the Council Meeting.

THAT BRIDGE AGAIN

More Complications Over the Tischer Creek Bridge Are In Sight.

The grand prize drawing to decide the tie between Alderman Johnson and Dr. Cullum in the First ward aldermanic election will probably be the feature of the council meeting this evening. The council will canvass the election returns tonight and the election in the First ward must be decided before the result is announced, it is held.

Possibly another echo from the Tischer's creek bridge may be heard this evening. It is asserted that committee No. 2 did not correctly state the facts bearing on the question of the water ram to Mr. Ricketts, the expert engineer employed by the committee, thus doing an injustice to the engineering department. The members of the first committee are said to be inclined to take the matter up to ascertain if an injustice has not been done because of the manner in which the case was submitted to the expert. The members of the first committee feel that if the case was submitted as alleged, an injustice has been done themselves as well as the engineering department. If nothing comes up tonight, there will in the future, it is said.

The election pay rolls will probably be passed.

Provision may be made for the transportation to Duluth of the Spanish cannon secured for the city by Senator Nelson.

The board of public works may be directed to look into the matter of providing a steam ferry for the canal.

BILL FOR FORESTRY PRESERVE.

Gen. C. C. Andrew Sends a Copy of One to Duluth.

Gen. C. C. Andrews, chief fire warden of the state, has sent County Auditor Halden a copy of a proposed bill providing for the acquirement of lands for forestry purposes by the state, together with a request for an opinion upon it. The bill provides that the forest commissioner of the state may attend tax sales in any of the counties of the state and bid in at such sale in behalf of the state such tracts as may be suitable for forestry purposes and not suitable for agriculture. The forest commissioner is also authorized to take all means necessary to acquire title.

Deputy Auditor Wasgatt answered the letter in behalf of Mr. Halden, who is out of the city. He said that he could see no objection to the plan, if it was possible for the state to acquire extended and connected tracts in this manner, which is very doubtful. It would be worse than useless for the state to acquire isolated tracts for forestry purposes.

ONE SCORE AGAINST.

Judge Cant Refuses to Dismiss Arthur Avenue Case.

The city lost the first move in the case brought against it by the Northern Pacific Railroad company to decide the road's right to cross Arthur avenue on Rice's Point. Last week, after the road had put in its case, the city made a motion to dismiss the case on the ground that the road had failed to make out a cause of action. Judge Cant heard the arguments on the motion, and then took the matter under advisement, promising to announce his decision today. This morning he denied the motion to dismiss, and the city proceeded to introduce testimony to offset that of the road, which claims the right to the crossing by virtue of sixteen years' adverse possession, and asks the court to restrain the city permanently from interfering with that right. The case was expected to last at least the remainder of the day. J. B. Richards and Henry F. Greene appear for the city and Washburn, Lewis & Bailey for the road.

CITY TELEPHONE SYSTEM.

Petitions In Its Favor Are Being Circulated.

There was placed in circulation Saturday afternoon a petition asking the Duluth legislative delegation to introduce and work for the passage of a bill authorizing the cities in the state to issue bonds, on vote of the people, for the construction of their own telephone system, and requesting the council to immediately take action favorable to such a measure.

A number of the petitions are being circulated by citizens, and in addition petitions have been placed in all of the down town drug stores, and in S. J. Nygren's, at West Duluth; C. J. Tufte's, at the West End; S. O. Sterrett's, at 926 East Second street, and A. Le Richeux's, at 405 East Fourth street; at Chamberlain & Taylor's book store, and at Mannheim's bakery, 120 West Fourth street.

It was reported this morning that a large number of signatures had been obtained already.

Interurban Contest at "Skat."

At the Merchants' hotel yesterday afternoon about thirty Duluth and Superior players held an interurban "skat" contest. "Skat" is a game of cards. ## COLDEST EVER KNOWN.

Thirty-Nine Degrees Below Zero at Lebanon, Ky.

Louisville, Ky., Feb. 13.—The coldest weather ever known in Kentucky was recorded today. At Louisville the thermometer only reached 10 below, but the state suffered much more. Lebanon, Ky., showed a temperature of 39 below, Carlisle 30, Princeton 30 and the highest recorded in reports from twenty-five stations was 13 below.

At Paducah a negro woman and her child were frozen to death in the field. In many towns business has been suspended and coal shortage is reported from all parts of the state. Coal has advanced 2 cents a bushel in Louisville.

The Ohio river is fast freezing. So far there has been comparatively little suffering, but if the cold weather continues any longer there is certain to be a great deal, as the coal supply is fast becoming exhausted, and the greatest difficulty is experienced in getting fuel to the places in need.

A LACK OF COAL.

Nashville, Tenn., Feb. 13.—The weather here today is the coldest on record. There is much suffering owing to the lack of coal, but the coal trains are being sent in as rapidly as possible, being given the right-of-way over other trains. Suffering among the poor is being relieved by the charitable organizations.

MARDI GRAS CANCELLED.

Birmingham, Ala., Feb. 13.—Owing to the intensely cold weather, 10 degrees below zero, the Birmingham Carnival society has called off the Mardi Gras celebration. The town is full of visitors. The present blizzard is the worst on record.

ALMOST ISOLATED.

Lancaster, Pa., Feb. 13.—Lancaster is almost isolated this morning. No trains arrived here on the Pennsylvania railroad from the west since 2 a. m. The Philadelphia & Reading road is entirely tied up. One section of the fast line express from the West on the Pennsylvania is fast in the snow in the tunnel cut near Elizabethtown and the other near Columbus.

MAIL CARRIER FROZEN.

Little Rock, Ark., Feb. 13.—An old negro mail carrier named Brossier, who for many years has carried the mail between Little Rock and Fourche Dam, in Pulaski county, was found frozen to death today. The thermometer last night reached zero and the weather today is very cold.

BLIZZARD IN VIRGINIA.

Richmond, Va., Feb. 13.—The blizzard raged here today in full force and vigor. It has snowed incessantly since Saturday afternoon and the thermometer registered only 6 degrees above zero this afternoon. The snow has drifted five and six feet in places and the suffering is intense. There is great fear of a fuel famine.

A LINER SIGHTED.

Swampscott, Mass., Feb. 13.—A big steamer, apparently an ocean liner, was sighted off Dread ledge in Swampscott bay this afternoon in the midst of the storm. She was apparently at anchor and was blowing her whistle continually, but whether as a distress signal or a warning on account of the thick weather, could not be determined from shore. She was badly iced up. The life-saving crew was prevented from going to her assistance owing to the ice.

A FOOT OF SNOW.

Newburgh, N. Y., Feb. 13.—A foot of snow fell here Sunday, and a fierce storm still rages today.

ALL ARRESTED.

Anniston, Ala., Feb. 13.—Col. Colson, who was wounded Saturday night is doing well. Lieut. Scott has given bonds. Lieuts. McKay and Phelps, of the Fourth Wisconsin, will also be arrested for assault and battery on warrants sworn out by Lieut. Wilhout. They disarmed Col. Colson, who was struck in the face several times. Both Colson and Scott had been mustered out so they are not accountable to the military authorities. Gen. Leroy T. Frank, commanding Camp Shipp, has ordered an inquiry.

BY ONE WHO KNOWS

Ramon Reyes Lala, an Educated Filipino, Champions His People.

He Writes a Stirring Plea For Liberty and Self Government.

The government and all the conditions of life of 7,000,000 men, women and children, inhabitants of the Philippine islands, have been profoundly affected by the decision of the Paris peace commission. It is a little singular that, while the disposition of the islands has been thoroughly discussed from the point of view of the Americans, the English, the Germans and the Japanese, the Filipino has hardly been consulted as to his desires and inclinations regarding the future. Ramon Reyes Lala, a native of the Philippine islands, educated in England and now temporarily a resident of the United States, who is thoroughly familiar with the conditions in the Philippines, appears as the champion of his people, and in the following article he makes some exceedingly valuable suggestions for the future government of the Philippines, showing vividly the needs and hopes of his countrymen.

There has been not a little curiosity shown by the American public as to the future of the Filipino, and not a few wiseacres have croaked most dolefully about his worth as a citizen. I therefore wish to show that my countrymen are not as black as they have been painted and that there is enough stamina in the race to warrant cultivation and a high citizenship.

True, we have no world genius to show you, we have no grand literature, no distinct national art—but there are, I think, enough evidences of our capacity for these things to cause Americans to give us a genuine Yankee welcome.

For opportunity to prove ourselves, our manhood, our talents and our hopes is all that we feel entitled to. Let the American people help us to a realization of this long-desired opportunity, and they will win our eternal gratitude.

We have, I repeat, already given evidence of a capacity for civic functions. Though living amid the most discouraging conditions and under the most oppressive government in the civilized world, my countrymen have ever proved tractable and law-abiding, where the law was based upon equality and right. Nay, they have done more than this. It is said by all travelers that no other people in the world have endured as much as the Filipinos, and therefore they can surely not be accused of a religious disposition. And when, finally, the dogs of war were let loose, it can surely not be said that these "blood-thirsty and cruel Malays" did much havoc among the hundreds of defenseless Spaniards who were in their power.

But it is not upon this capacity to refrain from bloodshed in times of great provocation that I would base the right of my countrymen to citizenship. I claim that we have shown for generations—ever since the Spanish occupation, and even long before—the capacity to govern ourselves, for the most of the gobernadocillos or governors of townships, and many of the provincial governors, have been native Filipinos. As the township, under an American regime, would also be the unit of government, it follows that the same administrative talents that have made the Filipino communities models of domestic peace hitherto, will keep them the same. As to the larger offices of state, the majority with us, as well as with you in America, are palpably unfitted. And yet we have men among us who would, I think, be fit to assume any task that the United States might impose upon them—even to the governor general of the colony itself.

Aguinaldo, though young for such a position, has surely shown remarkable ability, and would, I believe, always handle himself with discretion. Agoncillo is another man who has shown an uncommon talent for affairs—while Cayetano S. Arellano, the eminent Manilla jurist, is in my mind as capable as any American whom it has yet been my fortune to meet. This man is a profound lawyer, and is of untarnished reputation. He is widely traveled, and conversant with the history of other countries as well as with every detail of the life of his own. He should be put at the head of the supreme court of the islands, if the United States decide to assume the task of governing them, for no other man so well knows the intricate Spanish laws, the customs and the character of the people.

I have merely made mention of these names to prove that a few of us at least are ready for even the duties of American citizenship—high as these are—and I do not underrate them when I say this. Indeed, we can show not a few others who would rank on the same intellectual plane with the gentlemen mentioned above—and there is no reason why, in the course of a generation, there should not be thousands where now there are scores. It will cause some surprise when I state that no subject possesses greater interest to the Filipino mind than civics and law. There are today already more than 1000 Filipinos who are full-fledged lawyers—graduates of the University of Manilla, and some of them of the best schools in Europe. The average native is also much interested in the affairs of his village, and there is usually as much desire among them to hold public office as among the rulers of free America.

Annexation will possibly have the peculiar effect of changing family names in the Philippines. As a paterfamilias, the Filipino has no superior, here or elsewhere; for nowhere, I verily believe, is there more family affection than among the natives of my country, but the mother is really the head of the home; her word is law and she gives the surname to her offspring, who hold her in peculiar awe. Necessarily, much of this will be changed by the advent of Western civilization, and I confess that I am sorry, too, for there is a great deal that is lovely in these Eastern domestic customs. However, the elastic nature of the Filipinos will easily adjust itself to new conditions, and will retain its inherent virtue.

I do not believe as some of my countrymen do, that the Filipino will disappear before the incoming tide of American emigration, as did the American Indian. There are good reasons for this belief. One is, we are of the tropics tropical, and not even a hundred generations could completely acclimatize the American, nor adapt him to the conditions of this sultry zone. There is no more danger that we will be supplanted by the Americans than that the Dutch will supplant the Malays in Java. The body of the population must ever be native born and in that physiological necessity and ethnological fact lies our national salvation. Therefore, even in the event of American annexation, the Filipinos will in the main rule themselves; nor can anyone else do it so well.

American annexation will give us not the rule of a hatred foreigner, but the opportunity of political equality—where each individual can work out his own destiny on lines of individual choice.

The Filipinos are by nature agriculturalists. The farm suits them better than the store or factory. The Chinese and the foreigners, indeed, almost monopolize the trade of the islands; the natives being in the main producers, or else in the professions. And right here will come the great opportunity for American commerce; for the carrying trade of the islands, as well as the various kinds of manufacture, will soon be in American hands, and the chances for large profit will soon draw many investors to those golden shores.

The hemp, tobacco, sugar, lumber, indigo, rice and cocoa industries will thus alone receive a magnificent impetus and the production of these articles of export will be stimulated so that within five years their yield will be increased threefold. Hitherto there was little incentive to work hard for oneself, since the profits were shorn for the benefit of the oppressor. Woe to the Filipino who prospered; he was fleeced in a thousand ways by the officials of the state and of the church. Thus ambition was atrophied and enterprise of every sort was dwarfed into apathy. Foreign investors also were similarly encouraged, and many were only allowed to leave the scene of their unprofitable investment after they had lost their last dollar. I remember two Englishmen who had discovered a great ledge of coal. They were allowed, at great expense, to develop it until the point when it was about to become profitable. Then the government began to impose restriction after restriction, until every further endeavor was attended only with loss. The investors were finally forced to give up in despair, as the Spaniards intended that they should; and both of them left the island in disgust. Another investor, an American friend of mine, Thomas Collins, went into the lumber business and seemed on the high road to great wealth, when he became involved in a lawsuit which a corrupt judge decided against him, leaving him penniless as the result of an unjust decision.

It can thus be easily seen why the natives have manifested so little business enterprise in the inglorious past. Believe me, let them once know that they will profit by the results of their labors and they will be encouraged to labor and to industrial art.

Millions of acres of arable land are yet untilled. They wait an era of demand to impel them to fruitfulness; and America will create that demand by an increasing commerce that will redound to her double advantage. For, in exchange for the products of the islands, she will give the thousand and one articles of civilization manufactured in America. Send us prayer books and missionaries for our rice and hemp, if you wish; but keep out American liquors and American politics. No one can drink the strong beverages of the temperate zone in the Philippines and live. Many foreigners, it is true, insist upon their arrival in Manilla on calling for whiskies and brandies; but such indulgence is sure, even if continued only moderately, to superinduce a fatal fever, or some other tropical disease. Many of the foreigners who have died there owed their deaths to the daily tipple alone. For this reason the climate has not been so dangerous to the natives of wine-drinking countries, like France and Italy. American troops should be cautioned in regard to this insidious danger, and strong liquors, both for your sake and ours, should be kept out of the colony.

Protestantism will not flourish in the Philippines. The pomp and ceremonial of the Catholic church appeals most strongly to the native imagination, and no religion which is wanting in splendor and in grand music will find a foothold in the islands. There is thus little danger of the Filipinos ever becoming Quakers. They are a very musical people. Every village has its native orchestra, and in the processions, of which the natives are so fond, and which occur every few days, the music is the chief feature. Indeed, it may be said that every Filipino plays some instrument, and even little children 5 or 6 years of age play the piano or guitar amazingly well. It is refreshing to go through the suburbs of Manilla on a fine summer eve and to hear the happy people on the wide verandas of their houses singing and playing popular airs, which the passersby below will take up, so that the whole street resounds with melody. Music is truly a great civilizer, and it has doubtless been a powerful instrument in the hands of the church to win the natives to the standard of the cross. To the native, however, all music is divine, and it is music of the stirring, operatic sort that most appeals to them. It must be full of movement. The soft, tender airs of sentiment, or the music of emotion, do not affect him. Thus in the churches and at funerals it is a common thing to hear lively marches and the latest waltz—while the audience listens entranced—keeping time with hands and feet.

Strange to say, the Filipinos, notwithstanding their great love for music and their wonderful ingenuity in inventing and constructing musical instruments, have no distinct school of their own, preferring to play the compositions of European composers than to take the trouble to wrixte their own. I believe, however, that they are capable of a high order of composition, for one of the gifted Luna brothers, whom I know very well, composed some pieces of extraordinary merit—and I am sure others also have the genius to do so.

I must make reference, also, to the Filipino in the realm of art. We have produced a few great painters—and yet another of the Luna brothers, who studied in Madrid, took prizes in the art academy there, and gives promise of a remarkable career. This, however, shows of what the race is capable, and I am convinced that we have many Lunas. Out of the primative conditions, also, we have evolved a style of architecture eminently suited to our environment. The prevalence of death-dealing tornadoes and of destructive earthquakes—those iconoclasts of the Philippines—has forbidden the erection of splendid temples and of imposing piles. The finest edifices at present are of Spanish design, but how could it be otherwise, when the Spanish superintended the construction of every building in the colony?

I believe that large estates should be prohibited by law, for I fear that a few scheming Americans may soon own the greater part of the islands, and will therefore soon have a great part of the population on their states, educating them for a future of dependence and for political subserviency. At present every native owns his own house and his own little patch of land, and is contented and happy. Let him continue undisturbed in his humble possessions.

The chief necessity of the islands are good schools, and we hope that the Americans will not long withold from us this long-desired boon. Comparatively few natives have had the advantage of modern methods. At present the educational facilities are most meager and the methods of the native schoolmasters, as well as the Spanish priests, are most antiquated. Only Spanish books have as a rule been allowed, and the whole course of colonial education has had a theological bias. The groundwork of superstition, however—reared with such infinite labor during the centuries of Spanish priestcraft—is fast giving way. The eyes of the natives have at last been opened. They will no longer tolerate the delusions of the past, but will eagerly embrace the doctrines of the new. Under American dominion, a glorious future awaits the Filipino. He will for once be able to hew out of the rock of opportunity the statute of his own worth.

All But One Accept.

The mayor has received letters from nearly all of the appointees on the reception and entertainment committees, all of those heard from accepting except A. H. Comstock. The latter states that he cannot spare the time to serve regularly on the committees this year, but will give his services whenever he can. The mayor was loath to let Mr. Comstock off, but as he had given a great deal of time last year and promised to do what he could this, the mayor said that he did not feel like insisting on Mr. Comstock's accepting.

Stewart Phelps Dead.

Stewart Phelps died this morning at his home, 1327 London road, of pneumonia. Mr. Phelps had been a resident of Duluth twelve years, coming here from Honey Eye, near Luna, N. Y. He owned the East End livery stable for a number of years. He came from a wealthy family at Luna and will be mourned there as well as here.

Husband Was Not There.

It was reported at police headquarters this morning that a man named Porter, living at 109 East Fifth street, had been maltreating his wife. Capt. Thompson investigated and found Mrs. Porter badly bruised and bleeding. The husband had decamped. The couple have been married five months. The neighbors say Porter has frequently assaulted his wife before.

THEY WANT TO QUIT.

Factory Obtained By Bonus Does Not Pay Very Well.

St. Paul, Feb. 13.—An Eau Claire, Wis., special to the Dispatch says: Esch and others of a citizens' committee of Neillsville have sued Kerr brothers et al on contract by which defendants were to remove their furniture plant from Hicksville, Ohio, for a bonus of $17,000 from Neillsville people. The defendants established a factory at Neillsville, but want to quit and return to Ohio.

A SETTLEMENT DEFERRED.

Grievances of Telegraphers of the Union Pacific.

Omaha, Feb. 13.—The grievance committee of the Union Pacific telegraphers, which has been in session in this city for a couple of weeks, had a short conference with General Manager Dickinson this morning. They have formulated a scale of wages and regulations for hours and terms of employment which has been submitted to the company.

General Manager Dickinson asked to have the settlement of the matter deferred to March 1, on account of the pressing business and to this the committee acceded. At that time the whole matter will be taken up and both men and company officials express the belief that it will be settled satisfactorily to all concerned.

SENATE CONFIRMATIONS.

Washington, Feb. 13.—The senate today confirmed the following nominations:

E. J. Bell, assistant treasurer; H. Dudley Coleman, melter and refiner of the mint, and Mayer Cohen, coiner of the mint, at New Orleans.

Postmasters: Wisconsin—A. W. James, Waukesha; J. White, South Superior; B. H. Sanford, Sheboygan Falls; L. P. Hindes, Lodi; W. H. Johnson, Berlin; G. H. Dodge, Arcadia.

Army—Lieut. Col. F. M. Cox, to be assistant paymaster general; also some promotions in the lower grades in the army.

MATTRESS MAKER FAILS.

St. Louis, Feb. 13.—Francis W. Bergin, one of the largest mattress manufacturers in the West, filed a bankruptcy petition in the United States district court today. Liabilities, $34,600; assets, $30,000.

THE MACKINAC.

Milwaukee, Feb. 13.—Congressman Michael Griffin of Wisconsin, in a letter to the Journal today regarding the naming of the new gunboat, says he will take the subject up with the entire Wisconsin delegation and try to act as a unit in influencing Secretary of the Navy Long to name the gunboat Mackinac as suggested by the Journal.

THE PUBLIC MAY PEEP.

Of all the city houses in this country, perhaps the four Vanderbilt mansions in Fifth avenue are the most familiar in appearance to the general public, says Harper's Bazar. The brown stone "twins," across the corner from St. Patrick's cathedral, are thought by many good judges to be the most perfect type of a great city house to be found in New York. One of these houses belongs to George Vanderbilt and the other to Mrs. Sloane, formerly Miss Vanderbilt. For months the Sloane house has been hooded in canvas, and the passers-by have been wondering what was going on. The casual observer will never really know what has been done behind those canvas screens. A few bites taken out of the wall and filled with great stained glass windows and the rechiseling of the carved stone work will be about all that he will see: and yet $1,000,000 will not pay for all the work that is being done, and when finished, Mrs. Sloane's house will be a palace worthy to rank with the great house of Cornelius Vanderbilt a little farther up the avenue. If Mrs. Sloane's house is to be taken as an indication of the trend of fashion in architecture, then French designs of the last century are to continue to rule. The great ball room is to be in the style of the Louis Quinze period; the library, of the Louis Quatorze; the salon, of the Louis Seize; while at least one of the bedrooms will be in the style of the empire. New York, as well as the other American cities, now has many houses which, both for the magnificence of their interiors and for the treasures of art they contain, are quite as well worth seeing as some of the foreign palaces. Therefore it is a very welcome whisper which is being circulated to the effect that some of these houses will be opened occasionally, and that visitors properly accredited will be admitted on the payment of a small fee. The fee would be turned over to some charitable purpose. Lucky indeed would be the object selected to benefit by this new departure! Curiosity was not forgotten in the make-up of the average American.

THE QUEER RUSSIAN SOCIALIST.

Leon Tolstoi is the Russian peasant through and through, and has not yet (in 1894) recovered his health, which he injured while working among the typhus and scurvy patients in the villages during the late famine. It is 7 o'clock in the evening, but at this latitude and season daylight lasts almost till midnight. The count suggests a walk, and off we go, the two of us, up hill and down dale, through the birch woods. He knows every nook and corner of them, for he was born here, and here he has passed three-quarters of his life.

We explored the country for a good two hours. He talked fluently in English on many subjects, explaining his views on non-resistance, on woman's rights and the future progress of the world generally. He spoke highly of Henry George and his ideas on the land question. "If I were czar," he wrote me afterward, "I would put the single tax into operation, and then call a constitutional convention and abdicate. He took me into a peasant's house and we sat down there for a time while he conversed with the occupants. I could not understand a word, but it was easy to see how much they appreciated him. We passed a man plowing in a field. "That is the work I prefer to all others," he said. When we reached home the family had gathered for supper and we talked till a late hour. I noticed that everything in the house was severely simple.

Count Tolstoi's wife and children follow him at intervals. The wonder to me is not that there should not be entire agreement among them, but that he has influenced them as much as he has. Madame Tolstoi seemed to me to agree on the whole with her husband's theories, but she thought that he was in advance of the times, and she would not consent to educating the children as peasants. The count, like a good, non-resistant, gracefully yielded. Nevertheless, his children more or less accept his principles and one daughter had been planting potatoes with a peasant woman on the day I arrived.

One little story, told me by the governess, will illustrate his way of dealing with the children. His youngest daughter, Sacha, a pretty child of 10, had come running into the house a day or two before with her arm black and blue where a peasant boy had struck her, and she went crying to complain to her father. He took her on his knee and quieted her and then said: "If I were you I would go to the pantry and get a plate of meats and take it out to him. Don't you think it will do him more good than a whipping?" And he actually persuaded her to do as he said.

FROZEN TO DEATH

Unidentified Dead Woman Found In a Hallway In New York.

BRIDGE SHRINKAGE

Brooklyn Bridge Measured to Find the Effect of Cold.

New York, Feb. 13.—Mary Goodwin, of Brooklyn, aged 31 years, was frozen to death on Sunday. An unidentified woman was found frozen to death in a hallway on Forty-seventh street, in this city, Sunday morning. She was thinly clad, and had evidently sought shelter from the storm.

Fears are entertained that Mail Carriers Palmer and Hawkins of the New York office have been drowned. The two men left Hart's island for City island on Thursday morning to deliver the mails. They were in a small boat, and the high wind that was blowing, and the floating ice, made it impossible for them to control their craft. Six men in a larger boat, who attempted to rescue them, were unable to do so, and it is feared that the light boat was carried off in the sound and perhaps crushed or overturned.

On Saturday when the thermometer was 3 degrees below zero, measurements at the Brooklyn bridge were taken of the trusses and other parts to find out how much the contraction had been. In comparing these figures with those taken last July, when the thermometer was 90 degrees above, it was found that the difference was 14½ feet.

A BLIZZARD NOW.

Cars Tied Up and Coal Short In Philadelphia.

Philadelphia, Feb. 13.—The storm in this vicinity has assumed the proportions of a blizzard. This has had the effect of piling the light, dry snow up in drifts, some streets being impassable to trolley cars.

The Pennsylvania, Reading, Lehigh Valley and New Jersey Central roads are all seriously affected by the blizzard. Trains on these roads are late and in some instances schedules have been abandoned.

Shipping remains at a standstill on the Delaware river. The ice is getting heavier and there is no prospect of any arrivals at or departures from the port of Philadelphia during this week. A coal famine is imminent in ports that depend on Philadelphia for a supply of anthracite.

HOVERING ABOUT ZERO.

The Temperature at Pittsburg Is Still Very Low.

Pittsburg, Feb. 13.—The mercury continues to hover about zero. Last night it dropped to 6 degrees below. Today it is 1 degree below. Yesterday and last night many of the large mills were kept in operation to prevent the machinery from freezing.

There is a continued stagnation of river navigation, but no further damage to boats and other craft has been reported. There is much ice in the Ohio and the upper rivers remain frozen tight. The rivers are still falling and the greatest danger feared by rivermen is that craft will suffer when the break up comes.

RAILROADS GIVE UP.

No Use of Attempting Traffic Until Storm Abates.

Wilmington, Del., Feb. 13.—The blizzard of last night and this morning effectually blockaded railroad travel in Delaware. On the Delaware railroad, which traverses the length of the state, the track clearing crews are assembled at the various stations awaiting orders, it having been decided that it was useless to attempt to open the tracks until the snow should abate.

The northbound Norfolk express, due in Wilmington at 4:15 a. m., was reported at 3 o'clock at Delmar, the last station on the road, ninety miles below Wilmington, completely stalled and compelled to remain so indefinitely. The passengers were cared for at the hotel and boarding houses. The southbound Norfolk express, which left New York at 8:30 o'clock last night, managed to reach Wilmington today, but no attempt will be made to send it down the Delaware road until there is some assurance that it will get through.

All the peninsular branch railroads are blocked, with no trains running.

TRAFFIC ALMOST PARALYZED.

Streets of New York Like Those of a Village.

New York, Feb. 13.—The fearful storm which prevailed all day yesterday and last night has increased in violence, and together with the snow, which has drifted in many places, has almost paralyzed traffic. Surface cars are almost entirely stalled, the elevated trains are running without regard to schedule, and ferryboats make a few trips as best they can. The upper and lower bay is one mass of ice.

There are very few people on the streets today and, it being a holiday, even the main streets of New York look like those of a little town.

The people living in the suburbs have in some instances been unable to reach the city owing to stalling of the surface cars.

Trains on all the steam railroads have been delayed over five hours by the storm. Through trains from the West are from one to three hours behind time.

The steamer Furst Bismarck, which was to have sailed today for Mediterranean ports, will not sail till tomorrow owing to the storm.

HEAVY SNOW IN BOSTON.

Boston, Feb. 13.—The heavy snow storm which began here on Saturday increased in force during the night and this morning a high northeast wind was driving the snow into big drifts and covering the railroad tracks with a mass of snow that soon began to delay traffic in spite of all efforts to keep open the lines. Thermometer 12 degrees below zero.

TRAFFIC RESUMED.

Denver, Feb. 13.—The entire Denver & Rio Grande railroad system, with the exception of the Blue River branch from Leadville to Dillon, is open today. Traffic has been resumed in all departments and no fear of any further delay is felt as the storm has abated. The Colorado Midland is also open to Leadville and is rushing coal into that camp.

SNOW IN PHILADELPHIA.

Philadelphia, Feb. 13.—There has been a severe snow storm here for the past twenty-four hours. It was the heaviest fall for the given time in twelve years. Strong northeast winds accompanied the storm and trains are generally from one to six hours late. Along the Delaware river and the New Jersey coast shipping was at a standstill. It was still snowing at midnight, with no signs of abatement.

HEAVY SNOWFALL.

Washington, Feb. 13.—Seven inches of snow have fallen lately, making a total of 21.6 inches during the past week. As a consequence travel is exceedingly slow. The thermometer has been near the zero point all day and there is much suffering among the poor. Incoming trains are from two to six hours late. The Potomac river is frozen over with from four to six inches of ice.

ALL RECORDS BROKEN.

South McAllester, I. T., Feb. 13.—All weather records were broken in the Indian territory Sunday night. Today the thermometers range from 15 to 21 degrees below zero. 'Frisco and "Katy" trains are from three to four hours late. For the first time in many years the Canadian river is frozen over and the ice men are putting up natural ice by the hundreds of tons.

TOWNE TO SPEAK.

Will Be the Orator at Michigan University on Washington's Birthday.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Feb. 13.—Hon. Charles A. Towne, of Duluth, will be the orator at the Washington birthday exercises at the university of Michigan.

SOLDIERS TURNED BACK.

Transport Not Ready to Take Them to Manilla.

Columbus, Ohio, Feb. 13.—The Third battalion of the Seventeenth infantry, which left here Sunday afternoon for Manilla, only got as far as Mount Vernon, Ohio, when orders were received from the war department turning the regiment back to the barracks, the reason being that the transport on which they were to sail was not ready, work having been delayed on account of the extreme cold. The men spent the night in the train in the railroad yards here, their quarters at the barracks having been left cold and comfortless when they made their start for the far East yesterday.

AN EXTRA SESSION.

Secretary Gage Says Financial Reform Is Neither Dead Nor Asleep.

Chicago, Feb. 13.—Secretary of the Treasury Lyman J. Gage and Mrs. Gage were in Chicago Sunday to attend the funeral of Dr. J. H. Etheridge. Before leaving for Washington today, Secretary Gage said:

"Financial reform is neither dead nor asleep. The extraordinary prosperity of the government finances and of the business of the country has combined with the glut of important business in congress to delay it. But the delay only adds to the sense of its importance and makes it clearer every day what legislation is needed. I do not look for action at the present session of congress, but I have no doubt that the next session will give effect to the recommendations of the president and secretary of the treasury in regard to the retirement of the greenbacks. Will there be an extra session of congress? That depends on the fate of the army bill. If congress does not pass that bill at the present session there will certainly be an extra session.

"The situation in the Philippines does not give us any uneasiness. The opposition to the American occupation is entirely the effect of manipulation. The leaders have temporarily misled the people. But the strife will soon be over and as soon as the natives have become quiet, so as to listen to reason, we have no fear that they will not acquiesce in all that we propose to do there. As to the islands being a heavy tax on the country, that is all moonshine. The revenues of the Philippines will at all times be ample to defray all possible expenses of the government.

"We are even more hopeful in regard to Cuba. Industries are reviving, there is a growing spirit of co-operation and the island will in the near future be more prosperous than its people ever expected it could be.

"Our trade relations with Canada seem to be difficult to adjust to the satisfaction of both countries. Mr. Charlton would sweep away the national frontier and make business intercourse as untrammeled between the two countries as it is now between two of our states. But I think the day is a good way off when such reciprocity as that will be regarded with favor in this country."

THE SKATERS RESCUED.

One of Them Had Both His Feet Frozen.

Chicago, Feb. 13.—Five of the six persons who were thought to have been lost on the ice last night were rescued this morning. They were: Elmer D. Brothers, of 435 North Ashland avenue; Orel Manney, his niece, same residence; Chauncey Manney, his nephew, same residence; George Malloy, 18 years old, of Lake Forest; J. M. Carsons, 18 years old, of Lake Forest.

Arthur Fletcher, of Ravenswood Park, who was reported missing, was found at his home this morning. Both of his feet were frozen. Fletcher says that about 6 o'clock last evening he and three others were skating on the lake near Calvary cemetery when they say Brothers and his party were cut off from shore by a crack in the ice that in places was 100 feet wide. He told Brothers he would go to shore and get a boat, which he did. When he returned, however, Brothers was not in sight, and Fletcher searched nearly all night for him and his companions. Fletcher fell in the water twice during his wanderings in the dark and it was with great difficulty that he finally reached shore with both of his feet frozen.

ENGLAND IN INDIA

W. J. Bryan Believes British Rule Has Actually Injured British Trade.

How the Governors of the Colony Have Plundered and Robbed.

In the discussion of a colonial policy for the United States frequent references will be made to England's government in India, says W. J. Bryan in the Omaha World-Herald. The imperialists are already declaring that Great Britain's policy has resulted in profit to herself and benefit to her Asiatic subject.

The opponents of imperialism, on the other hand, find in India's experience a warning against a policy which places one nation under the control of another and distant nation.

In 1600 the first East India company was organized. Its charter was for fifteen years, but a new and perpetual charter was granted in 1609. Under the reign of Charles II the company obtained another charter, which continued former privileges and added authority "to make peace or war with any prince or people (in India) not being Christian." The affairs of the company were managed with an eye single to gain, and the intervention in the quarrels of native princes resulted in the gradual extension of its influence. Money was the object, and the means employed would not always bear scrutiny. There was, however, no hypocritical mingling of an imaginary "philanthropy" with an actual "5 per cent."

In 1757 Lord Clive, by the battle of Plassey, made the company the dominant power in Indian politics, and under Clive and Hastings the income of the East India company reached enormous proportions.

The history of the century, beginning with the battle of Plassey and ending with the Sepoy mutiny in 1857, was written under headlines like the following: "The First War With Hyder Ali," "The Rohilla War," "The Second War With Hyder Ali," "The War With Tippoo Sahib," "The War With the Mahrattas," "Suppression of the Pindaris," "The Last of the Peshwas," "The First Burmese War," "The First Afghan War," "The Conquest of Scinde," "The Sikh Wars," "The Conquest of Punjab," "The Annexation of Pegu," "The Annexation of Oudh," "The Outbreak of Meerut," "The Siege of Lucknow," etc.

This brief review is not given because it is interesting, but to acquaint the reader with the imperialistic plan of solving the problem of civilization by the elimination of unruly factors.

In 1858 parliament, by an act entitled "An act for the better government of India," confessed that the management of Indian affairs could be improved, and placed the control in the hands of a secretary of state for India and a council.

In 1877 Queen Victoria assumed the title empress of India.

Even if it could be shown that England's sovereignty over India had brought blessings to the Indian people and advantage to the inhabitants of Great Britain, we could not afford to adopt the policy. A monarchy can engage in work which a republic dare not undertake. A monarchy is constructed upon the theory that authority descends from the king and that privileges are granted by the crown to the subjects. Of course, the ruling power recognizes that it owes a duty to the people; but, while the obligation is binding upon the conscience of the sovereign, it cannot be enforced by the subject.

Webster presented this idea with great force in his speech on the Greek revolution. After setting forth the agreement between the allied powers, he said: "The first of these principles is that all popular or constitutional rights are holden not otherwise than as grants from the crown. Society, upon this principle, has no rights of its own; it takes such government, when it gets it, as a boon and a concession, but can demand nothing. It is to live in that favor, which emanates from royal authority, and if it have the misfortune to lose that favor, there is nothing to protect it against any degree of injustice and oppression. It can rightfully make no endeavor for a change by itself; its whole privilege is to receive the favors that may be dispensed by the sovereign power, and all its duty is described in the single word 'submission.' This is the plain result of the principal continental state papers; indeed, it is nearly the identical text of some of them."

The English people have from time to time forced the crown to recognize certain rights, but the principle of monarchy still exists. The sovereign has a veto upon all legislation; that the fact that this veto has not been used of late does not change the governmental theory, and, in India, the application of the theory had deprived the Indian people of participation in the control of their own affairs.

A nation which denies the principle that governments derive their just powers from the consent of the governed can give self-government to one colony and deny it to another; it can give it to colonies strong enough to exact it by force and deny it to weaker ones; but a nation which recognizes the people as the only sovereigns and regards those temporarily in authority merely as public servants is not at liberty to apply the principle to one section of the country and refuse it to another.

But, so far from supporting the contention of the imperialists, British rule in India really enforces every argument that can be made against a colonial system of government. In the first place, to authorize a commercial company "to make peace or war with any prince or people (not Christian)," according to its pleasure, was to place the pecuniary interests of a few stockholders above the rights of those with whom they had dealings. Clive and Hastings seem to have acted upon this authority. When the former was called to account he confessed that he had forged a treaty, and his conduct was such that parliament was compelled to vote that he "had abused his powers and set an evil example to the servants of the public," but as he had increased the power of England in India, his condemnation was accompanied by the declaration that he had, "at the same time, rendered great and meritorious services to his country."

The prosecution of Hastings for wrongs inflicted upon the people of India occupies a conspicuous place among the political trials of history. The speeches made against him recall the operations of Cicero against Verres, who, by the way, was also charged with plundering a colony.

Cicero said that Verres relied for his hope of escape upon his ability to corrupt the judges of his day, and it appears that the East India company was also accused of polluting the stream of justice only a century ago.

In his speech on the nabob of Arcot's debts Burke said: "Let no man hereafter talk of the decaying energies of nature. All the acts and monuments in the records of peculation, the consolidated corruption of ages, the pattern of exemplary plunder in the heroic times of Roman iniquity never equalled the gigantic corruption of this single act. Never did Nero, in all the insolent prodigality of despotism, deal out to his praetorian guards a donation fit to be named with largesse showered down by the bounty of our chancellor of the exchequer on the faithful band of his Indian sepoys."

How little human nature changes from age to age! How weak is the boasted strength of the arm of the law when the defendant possesses the influence purchased by great wealth, however obtained, and the accusation comes from a far off victim of oppression!

Those who expect justice to be exercised by officials far removed from the source of power—officials who do not receive their commissions from, and cannot be removed by, the people whom they govern—should read Sheridan's great speech portraying the effect of the Hastings policy upon the people of India.

No clearer case was ever made against a prisoner at the bar, and yet, after seven years' trial before the house of lords, Hastings was acquitted, not because he was guiltless, but because England had acquired territory by his policy.

Lord Macauley, in describing the crimes perpetrated at that time against a helpless people, gives expression to a truth which has lost none of its force with the lapse of years. He says: "And then was seen what we believe to be the most frightful of all spectacles—the strength of civilization without its mercy. To all other despotism there is a check, imperfect indeed, and liable to gross abuse, but still sufficient to preserve society from the last extreme of misery. A time comes when the evils of submission are obviously greater than those of resistance, when fear itself begets a sort of courage, when a convulsive burst of popular rage and despair warns tyrants not to presume too far on the patience of mankind. But against misgovernment such as then afflicted Bengal it is impossible to struggle. This superior intelligence and energy of the dominant class made their power irresistible. A war of Bengalese against Englishmen was like a war of sheep against wolves, of men against demons."

"The strength of civilization without its mercy!"

The American people are capable of governing themselves, but what reason have we to believe that they can wisely administer the affairs of distant races? It is difficult enough to curb corporate power in this country, where the people who suffer have in their own hands the means of redress. How much more difficult it would be to protect the interests of the people where the people who do the governing do not feel the suffering, and where the people who do the suffering must rely upon the mercy of alien rulers!

True, Macaulay argues that English morality, tardily but finally, followed English authority into the Orient; but as a matter of fact, the bleeding of India has continued systematically during the present century. Polite and refined methods have been substituted for the rude and harsh ones formerly employed, and the money received is distributed among a larger number, but the total sum annually drawn from India is greater now than it was when England's foremost orators and statesmen were demanding the impeachment of notorious malefactors.

Sir J. Strachey, an Englishman, in a history recently published, is quoted as saying that "the confiscation of the rights of the ryots (in Bengal) has reached vast proportions." He then shows that through the action of the English government the Zemindars, or middlemen have been able to enormously increase their income at the expense of the tillers of the soil, the increase being from £400,000 in the last century to £13,000,000 at the present time.

On Dec. 28, 1897—only a year ago—a meeting of the Indian society was held at Montague Mansions and strong resolutions were adopted. Below will be found an extract from the resolutions:

"That this conference of Indians, resident in the United Kingdom, is of opinion—

"That of all the evils and 'terrible misery' that India has been suffering for a century and a half, and of which the latest developments are the most deplorable famine and plague, arising from ever increasing poverty, the stupid and suicidal frontier war and its savagery, of the wholesale destruction of villages, unworthy of any people, but far more so of English civilization; the unwise and suicidal prosecutions for sedition, the absurd and ignorant cry of the disloyalty of the educated Indians, and for the curtailment of the liberty of the Indian press; the despotism—like that of the imprisonment of the Natus—and the general insufficiency and inefficiency of the administration—of all these and many other minor evils, the main cause is the unrighteous and un-British system of government which produces an unceasing and ever increasing bleeding of the country, and which is maintained by a political hypocrisy and continuous subterfuges unworthy of the British honor and name, and entirely in opposition to the wishes of the British people, and utterly in violation of acts and resolutions of parliament, and of the most solemn and repeated pledges of the British nation and sovereign.

"That unless the present unrighteous and un-British system of government is thoroughly reformed into a righteous and truly British system, destruction to India and disaster to the British empire must be the inevitable result."

Mr. Naoroji, an Indian residing in England, in supporting the resolution, pointed out the continuous drain of money from India, and argued that the people were compelled "to make brick, not only without straw, but even without clay." He insisted that England's trade with India would be greater if she would allow the people of India a larger participation in the affairs of their own government, and protested against the policy of sending Englishmen to India to hold office and draw their support from taxes levied upon the inhabitants. He complained that British justice is one thing in England and quite another in India, and said: "There (in India) it is only the business of the people to pay taxes and to slave, and the business of the government to spend those taxes to their own benefit. Whenever any question arises between Great Britain and India there is a demoralized mind. The principles of politics, of commerce, of equality which are applied to Great Britain are not applied to India. As if it were not inhabited by human beings!"

Does anyone doubt that, if we annex the Philippines and govern them by agents sent from here, questions between them and the people of the United States will be settled by the people of the United States and for the benefit of the people of the United States? If we make subjects of them against their will and for our own benefit, are we likely to govern them with any more benevolence?

The resolutions quoted mention efforts made for the curtailment of the liberty of the press. Is that not a necessary result of governmental injustice? Are we likely to allow the Filipinos freedom of the press if we enter upon a system that is indefensible according to our theory of government?

Mr. Hyndman, an English writer, in a pamphlet issued in 1897, calls attention to English indifference to India's wrongs and, as an illustration of this indifference, cites the fact that during the preceding year the India budget, affecting the welfare of nearly 300,000,000 of people, was brought before parliament on the last day of the session, when only a few members were present. He asserts that "matters are far worse now than they were in the days of the old East India company," and that "nothing short of a great famine, a terrible pestilence or a revolt on a large scale will induce the mass of Englishmen to devote any attention whatever to the affairs of India."

To show how, in the government of India, the interests of English officeholders outweigh the interests of the natives, I give an extract from the pamphlet already referred to:

"First, under the East India company, and then, and far more completely, under the direct rule of the crown and the English people, the natives have been shut out from all the principal positions of trust over five-sixths of Hindoostan, and have been prevented from gaining any experience in the higher administration or in military affairs. Whenever it was possible to put in an Englishman and oust a native an Englishman has been put in, and has been paid from four times to twenty times as much for his services as would have sufficed for the salary of an equally capable Hindoo or Mohammedan official. * * * At the present time, out of 39,000 officials who draw a salary of more than 1000 rupees a year 28,000 are Englishmen and only 11,000 natives. Moreover, the 11,000 natives receive as salaries only £3,000,000 a year; the 28,000 Englishmen receive £15,000,000 a year. Out of the 960 important civil offices which really control the civil administration of India 900 are filled by Englishmen and only sixty by natives. Still worse, if possible, the natives of India have no control whatsoever, in any shape or way, over their own taxation, or any voice at all in the expenditure of their own revenues. Their entire government—I speak, of course, of the 250,000,000 under our direct control—is carried on and administered by foreigners, who not only do not settle in the country, but who live quite remote from those of the people and return home at about 45 or 50 years of age with large pensions.

"As I have often said in public, India is, in fact, now governed by successive relays of English carpetbaggers, who have as little sympathy with the natives as they have any real knowledge of their habits and customs."

"The Statesman's Year Book of 1897," published by Macmillan & Co., London, contains some interesting statistics in regard to India.

It seems that there are but 2,500,000 Christians in India—less than 1 per cent—after so many years of English control.

It appears, also, that in 1891 only a little more than 3,000,000 out of 300,000,000 were under instruction; a little more than 120,000,000 were not under instruction nor able to read or write. Twenty-five millions appear under the head "not returned."

The European army in India amounts to 74,000 and the native army to 145,000. In the army the European officers number 5000 and the native officers number 2700. One-fourth of the national expenditure in India goes to the support of the army. Nearly one-third of India's annual revenue is expended in Great Britain. The salary of the governor general is 250,800 rupees per annum.

The Year Book above mention is also responsible for the statement that the act of 1893, closing the Indian mints to the free coinage of silver, was enacted by the governor general and council upon the same day that it was introduced. Mr. Leech, former director of the United States mint, in an article in the Forum, declares that the closing of the mints of India on that occasion was the most momentous event in the monetary history of the present century. It will be remembered that this act was made the excuse for an extra session of our congress and for the unconditional repeal of the Sherman law.

One can obtain some idea of the evils of irresponsible alien government when he reflects that an English governor general and an English council changed the financial system of nearly 300,000,000 people by an act introduced and passed in the course of a single day.

No matter what view one may hold upon the money question, he cannot defend such a system of government without abandoning every principle revered by the founders of the republic. Senator Wolcott of Colorado, one of the president's commissioners, upon his return from Europe, made a speech in the senate, in which he declared that the last Indian famine was a money famine, rather than a food famine. In that speech Mr. Wolcott also asserted that the closing of the India mints reduced, by $500,000,000, the value of the silver accumulated in the hands of the people. If Mr. Wolcott's statement contains the smallest fraction of truth the injury done by the East India company during its entire existence was less than the injury done by that one act of the governor and his council. If the famine was, in fact, a money famine, created by an act of the governor and his council, then indeed is English rule as cruel and merciless in India today as was the rule of the East India company's agents a century ago.

English rule in India is not bad because it is English, but because no race has yet appeared sufficiently strong in character to resist the temptations which come with irresponsible power.

We may well turn from the contemplation of an imperial policy and its necessary vices to the words of Jefferson in his first inaugural message: "Sometimes it is said that man cannot be trusted with the government of himself. Can he, then, be trusted with the government of others?

"Or have we found angels in the form of kings to govern him? Let history answer this question."

ABOUT WHISKERS.

Amount of Beard a Man Might Grow In a Lifetime.

If a man should permit his beard to grow without trimming from the day it first takes root he would have enough whiskers to furnish himself with a suit. This may seem a broad and rather fishy statement, but when the rules of arithmetic are applied to the provisions of nature it can be demonstrated. What would the average man think of a beard twenty-five feet in length? Yet it is no idle dream to say that in the course of a long life devoted to the propagation of whiskers the average man would grow a string of that length.

Some practical exemplifications of the power of man in growing hair upon his face have been observed at odd times. Take for instance the old fellows who have vowed never to shave until the king returns to his own again. They give up razor and hone on the defeat of their political parties, and in some cases put in twenty years wearing hair untrimmed and untouched by steel. What noble beards trail over their waistcoats before the change of sentiment releases them from their vows.

Over in Indiana an old German early developed a longing for whiskers which could never be wholly satisfied. Possibly this was due in part to the painful fact that as years and girth increased his thatch diminished until his dome became so highly polished that it could be used for a heliograph. When 50 years of age his whiskers were thick, long and glossy, and he was as proud of them as a boy with copper-toed boots and the Stars and Stripes at the tops. He could tuck his whiskers into his boots without making the cinch so tight that movement of the chin would be implied. This is only one illustration of what can be done in the matter of growing whiskers.

But to get down to actual measurements. The beard grows half an inch every two weeks. Now if the wearer devotes himself to whiskers during the thirty-six years of the average beard-growing life, he puts in 728 long months of four weeks each in whisker raising. But while he may produce an inch a lunar month, to be absolutely certain, the growth is limited to about half this amount. Then by applying the rules it will be seen that he would produce between twenty-five and thirty feet of whiskers.

Of course all this is predicated on the statement that the whiskers would grow uniformly all the time. Now the truth is that when a man's beard has attained a certain length the soil where it is planted fails to furnish the right kind of nourishment, and the beard grows no longer. But in order to make good on the original proposition, it is necessary to admit that no check or failure in uniform growth would mark the progress of the whiskers to the lariat proportions.

Such a beard would be very useful and might be productive of great embarrassment to the wearer. If plaited for two-thirds of its length, and the usual loop placed in the outer end, it could be used to toss a steer or throw a bronco. In a fight the long-bearded man could stand off at long range and flay the less fortunate antagonist, using the whiskers as a quirt, a weapon much affected by the plainsman. But the owner would be compelled to keep his "rope" well coiled when not in action, for it might become entangled with vehicles, cattle, etc., in such a manner as to cause great distress of mind and body.

If the beard should reach such splendid proportions, what of the hair? Hair grows twice as rapidly as whiskers. If, therefore, the man touched not his locks with the shears for the same time, and his scalp would work all right, he would trail about with a thatch over fifty feet long. It would worry him greatly to carry this covering about with him, although on cold days he could wrap his form in his hair and whiskers, and bid defiance to the worst blizzard ever sent out from Medicine Hat.

The hair has much the best of the whiskers anyway, and should, if not molested, get the decision. Hair begins to grow as soon as the infant begins to lift up its voice. Unless it fails by the wayside—a habit much noted of late—it grows with great success and continuity for all the life of the individual. Now allowing seventy years of life one has just that sum in which to calculate upon the extreme radiation of the thatch. Whiskers refuse to sprout until some sixteen years of preparation have been passed. Some faces, indeed, show signs of coming beards a year or two earlier, but elixirs and diligence in down shaving rarely produce results before sixteen mile posts have been passed, and even then the youth is not solicitous concerning his whiskers—he seeks a mustache. So it will be seen that the hair, if properly cultivated and not stunted by overstudy, will win by many lengths.

It would be interesting to see the man with locks flowing behind him something farther than the width of two city lots, and a beard dancing on the breezes as far in advance of his toes as the front of an ordinary business building. But he would be in hard luck if a policeman were camping on his trail. He could not hope to escape with such a spinnaker boom out behind no matter how sluggish the craft giving chase. Neither could he get away with a jib sheet running four times his own length over all to the fore. But it would be an interesting sight just the same.

PENSIONERS OF THE WAR.

Twenty Thousand Will Be Added to the List.

Commissioner of Pensions H. Clay Evans estimates that in ten years there will be 20,000 persons drawing pensions from the government as a result of the war with Spain. He places the average pension at about $10 a month, which would make the annual expenditure for pensions on account of the recent war about $2,500,000.

It is possible that this estimate of the commissioner may be exceeded, and it may prove to be considerably more than the government will have to pay out in the way of bounties to the invalids of the army and navy and to the relatives of soldiers and sailors killed during the war. The number of claims now on file at the pension office will run up into the thousands, and are increasing at the rate of 100 a day, says the Philadelphia Times. Commissioner Evans says that no additional laws will be needed to adjudicate these claims, as the existing pension laws cover all deaths and disabilities incurred in the military service.

Less than six weeks after the formal declaration of hostilities the first application for a pension resulting from the war with Spain was filed at the commissioner's office. It was from the widow of Private W. H. Hook, of Company F, Second Wisconsin infantry. It seems that about two days after Hook was mustered into the service his regiment was ordered into a state camp. There Hook contracted a fever and died inside of a week. His widow lost no time in putting in a claim for pension, and on June 1 her papers were in the hands of the authorities here. Her name was placed at the head of the list of applicants for pensions growing out of the war with Spain. Three separate files were maintained—one for invalid soldiers, another for mothers and widows and one for navy claimants. For the first few weeks nearly all the applicants were from "dependents," that is, widows and mothers, and were about evenly divided between the army and navy. Later on a flood of "invalid" applications were received, coming from soldiers who had been ordered out of the service and who were filing claims for bounty based on diseases contracted while in the service. By July 1 ten applications from dependents had been filed. The first soldier to apply for a pension on his own account was F. Roy Eshleman, a private in Company E, Sixth Illinois infantry. His papers were recorded at the commissioner's office on June 8. No more applications of this class came in until July 1, but from that date they began to pile up rapidly. They numbered sixty-nine by Sept. 1 and 455 on Nov. 1. About that time the mustering out process began and the soldiers returned to their homes and fell into the hands of sharp attorneys. The latter got in their work and soon the applications came into the pension bureau in a stream. During the month of November the cases ran up to 1623, but the record was broken in the first three weeks of December, when the total was almost doubled. On Dec. 20 the number of invalid claims on file was 3167, of which 1398 came in since Dec. 1. In the meantime the persons who were injured in the navy were putting in their claims. On Dec. 20 there were 225 claims for pensions growing out of fatalities and damages sustained by sailors. Of this number 193 were invalid claims and the balance were petitions from mothers and widows. This made a grand total of 3392 claims on file Dec. 20 from the army and navy.

The first pension of the Spanish war was granted to Jesse F. Gates, a member of Company A, Second United States light artillery. This soldier was badly wounded at Santiago, a Spanish shell tearing away a portion of his face and disfiguring him for life. He put in a claim for pension on Oct. 26 and then got officials of the administration interested in his case. Upon the direct order of the president his claim was taken up and adjudicated, the allowance being made Nov. 16 and the pension dating from Oct. 26. Gates receives $17 a month. Probably two-thirds of the applications for pensions are based on disabilities alleged to result from malarial poisoning contracted in the service. A great number of the claimants did not leave the United States and never came within a thousand miles of the enemy. They were kept in the unhealthy camps at Tampa, Chickamauga and Dunn Loring, Va., where their systems were undermined by foul drinking water and poor sanitation. It is regarded as doubtful whether or not these claims will be allowed. Many of the men who were in bad shape upon being mustered out of the service will entirely recover inside of a few months and will have no complaint for which a pension is allowable. The regiments that went to Cuba are well represented in the claims on file at the department, a particularly large number being from members of the Seventy-First New York.

A special division has been formed by Commissioner Evans to take care of claims growing out of the war with Spain. In order to keep these papers separate from those relating to pensioners of the civil war, each packet containing the records is stamped with a broad red and blue band.

WHY IS ELECTRIC LIGHT BEST?
Because it is Healthy, Clean, Pure and Brilliant.
HEALTHY! It has no odor. Prof. Thomson states one cubic foot of gas consumes as much oxygen as four adults.
CLEAN It causes no discolorations of furnishings and decorations in homes.
SAFE As electric bell work, no danger of suffocation.
CHEAP! By using a little care in turning off lights when not in use it is cheaper than any other illuminant.

AGAINST THE BILL

Duluth Commission Merchants Are in Opposition to McGrath Measure.

ISSUE A CIRCULAR

Meeting of Commission Men to Be Held in St. Paul Next Friday.

The Duluth commission merchant's have taken action against the McGrath bill which places commission merchants under the control of the state grain and warehouse commission. A meeting has been called to be held next Friday evening at the Commercial club, in St. Paul, and commission merchants of St. Louis, Hennepin, Ramsey and other counties will be present and discuss the subject. The Duluth Fruit and Produce exchange has addressed the following to commission merchants:

At a special meeting of the Duluth Fruit and Produce exchange held Thursday, Feb. 9, for the purpose of considering the proposed legislation against commission merchants as proposed in the house by Representative McGrath, and in the senate by Senator Grindeland, it was decided that the bill even in its proposed modified form, as we understand it is to come up in the near future, is a vicious bill aimed at the commission merchants in general in a spirit of retaliation by some one who has either been swindled by a snide house, or has some imaginary wrong. As we understand, the bill as it is proposed to be amended, will be something as follows:

We will be compelled to procure from the state grain and warehouse commission a license to do business, to which we do not object, but we will further be compelled to keep books or records for the benefit of this warehouse commission covering names of all persons or firms to whom we have sold shipments of goods at any time, and that at any time shipper becomes dissatisfied, account of an actual or imaginary wrong, or from mere curiosity, may request an examination of our books to be made by this commission, and under this law we will be compelled to submit to such examination. We cannot see why commission merchants should be compelled to allow any commission or person to examine their books at any time more than should other lines of business. It seems to us that a person or persons making such examination, would become possessed of very valuable information concerning every one's books, which, if he desired, he may secretly traffic in, and we can see where a good deal of harm might result from thus affording a competitor a medium through which it may be possible for him in some manner or other to obtain valuable information concerning some other competitor's business. The whole idea of this proposition is wrong.

We understand the cause of this bill being introduced, is that the farmers claim they have not the opportunities for looking up a firm's financial responsibility that other business men have. Claiming that they have no access to Bradstreet and Dun, or any other commercial agency, and that some of them nave been swindled by false and fictitious quotations sent out by houses who engage in the business temporarily for the purpose of getting goods to pocket the money. The trouble of it is, the farmers are endeavoring to get some legislation that will secure them against loss in marketing their goods. In most cases where farmers have sustained losses, it is where they have been shipping to for some time account of receiving quotations from some house of which they know nothing about or have ever heard of before, giving quotations far above the market. In this case it looks as though the farmer was looking to get something for nothing, or more than the actual value of his goods, and account of his failure to do so he requires legislation to make the legitimate houses pay for such losses. It was decided at this meeting of our exchange, that we should oppose any such legislation as this, and would support any legislation along the lines of the inclosure accompanying this letter.

A very similar bill to the McGrath bill has just been defeated in the legislature of York state, and an article regarding it may be seen in the Fruit Trade Journal.

It was decided at this meeting that we believe the only way the commission men's interest could be protected, would be by an organization throughout the state, and we further decided to submit our view to the Twin City commission merchants, and request that they call a meeting of their exchanges at the earliest possible moment,and take some action in the matter. We believe that on account of their being the two largest markets in the state that they should take the initiative in this matter, and that we shall be pleased to co-operate with them. We believe that if all the exchanges would call a special meeting to be held at once, and make a general call on the commission men throughout the state, for the meeting to be held at the earliest possible moment at Minneapolis or St. Paul, and request that the legitimate commission firms be present or represented by proxy, the purpose of this meeting be to form an organization whereby we will become an organized body, opposing any legislation or other matters that may be aimed against our interest, supporting such legislation as we may deem to our interest, we believe good results would be experienced. To carry this on money must be raised, and it is the sentiment of all the commission men in Duluth that they will willingly bear their share of the burden.

If legislation along the line of this inclosure were adopted, it would establish a bureau of information for the country shipper which would be more complete and more reliable than any business house is able to get through the different commercial agencies. It would also be very hard for dishonest people to engage in this line of business.

Trusting you will see some merit in this recommendation, or at least that some portion of the proposition, if not the entire proposition, will meet with your approval, and that we will receive consideration at your hands, we are, awaiting an early reply. Very respectfully yours,

DULUTH FRUIT AND PRODUCE EXCHANGE.

SUGGESTION TO CARNEGIE.

Dr. Long Thinks He Should Give Duluth a Library Building.

Rev. S. P. Long, in the prelude to his sermon at the First Methodist church last night, offered a suggestion which may mean something to Duluth if Andrew Carnegie, to whom it was directed, avails himself of it. Mr. Carnegie's fashion of donating libraries to towns in which he is interested because of the location of any of his interests there is well known. Mr. Long's suggestion was that as Mr. Carnegie's furnaces are now being supplied with ore from Duluth, this might be sufficient inducement to him to make Duluth one of his donations. These are always generous, and in proportion to the size and importance of the city to which they are given. He said:

"My suggestion is this, that a committee of our city fathers, or other representatives wait upon Mr. Carnegie and interest him, if possible, in erecting a library building in our city, representing to him that his interests will be increasing here. Also, that while Duluth is important in the world of commerce as the capital of the richest iron county in the Northwest, if not in America, a city where fortunes have been made, yet no philanthropist has ever donated to the city a public building, statue or work of art of any kind. Surely Duluth has more claim upon Mr. Carnegie's generosity than many of the cities which have become his beneficiaries, since from her ports is shipped the iron that feeds his great mills at Pittsburg. It is possible that Mr. Carnegie may not be like the many men who have taken much from Duluth and given nothing in return, but that it may please him to give as well as take."

Only Partially Observed.

Lincoln's birthday was partially observed as a holiday at the court house today. This morning all of the offices were open, and most of the clerks were present. This afternoon, however, the observance was as near complete as it often gets. All of the offices were open, but in most cases they were maintained in that shape by the chiefs, or the chief deputies, and the subordinates had the afternoon off. The district court did not observe the day, for there was a case on trial before Judge Cant, the last case of the January term, which was laid over to await the convenience of the attorneys.

CANNOT BE THAWED.

Pipes on Railroad Street Frozen Up For Good.

The water main on Railroad street, from Seventh avenue west to Eighth avenue west, and the mains in Seventh and Eighth avenues west, from the Railroad street main to the docks, are frozen up. The Omaha & Northern Pacific warehouses, Cutler & Gilbert's warehouse and limekiln, and the other large warehouses and docks in the section immediately west of the Armour Packing company's plant, are left without water supply other than such as can be obtained from the bay.

Manager Case of the water department, said this morning that nothing could be done in the way of thawing out the pipes. The mains are frozen practically solid. They are very close to the surface, not being much over four feet down in the deepest places, and owing to this fact, and the extent of the territory in which the pipes are frozen, it would be impossible to thaw the pipes out.

Those having charge of the property from which the water supply is cut off have employed a force of men to guard against fire, and holes in the ice in the bay are kept open so that water may be obtained from there.

FIRE AT LAKESIDE.

Two Houses Totally Destroyed at an Early Hour.

The residences of W. F. Frazer and T. J. Weldon, Nos. 5721 and 5723 Avondale street, Lakeside, were destroyed by fire at 5:30 this morning. The Frazer residence belonged to the Lakeside Land company, and was valued at $1000, and insured for $600. The other house belonged to P. Roberts, and was valued at about $800, insurance unknown. Both were 2-story frame structures. The contents of the Frazer house were nearly all saved, but everything in the Weldon house was destroyed, the family being away.

The origin of the fire is a mystery. It started in the Weldon house, in which there were no fires, the family being away for some time. The buildings were so far from a hydrant that the fire department could not get a stream on the flames.

SCHIVEREA'S MEETINGS.

Put In a Busy Sunday Addressing Several Meetings.

The men's meeting at the Y. M. C. A. yesterday afternoon, addressed by Evangelist F. Schiverea, was largely attended, the audience consisting of about 1200 men. His text was from First Kings, ii, 2-3, the words of David on his deathbed: "I go the way of all the earth. Be thou strong, therefore, and show thyself a man, and keep the charge of the Lord thy God, to walk His ways, to keep His statutes, and His commandments, and His judgments, as it is written in the law of Moses, that thou mayest prosper in all that thou doest." The speaker's language was plain and strong, and his arguments convincing. He said that all men must die, and that everyone leaves a legacy on his deathbed. He asked what the men of Duluth were leaving. Some will leave the legacy of uncontrolled passion, of infernal appetites, of attainted blood. The boys have as much right as their fathers to sin, and the father who sins has no right to punish his boy for following his example. True manhood and prosperity are the two greatest things on earth. Not a man but aspires to both, yet they do not all get them, because they do not start right. Manhood consists in the possession of a pure character, pure life, pure motives, pure objects, pure desires. It means to have backbone, so that no one can lead one to ruin.

At the close of his remarks Mr. Schiverea asked all those who joined him in the quest for true manhood to rise, and everyone got up.

Mr. Schiverea put in a busy Sunday yesterday. He addressed a large audience of women at the First Presbyterian church in the afternoon, at 2:30 o'clock, speaking from the text, "Is it well with thee? Is it well with thy husband? Is is well with thy child?" At 6:30 o'clock, after the young men's meeting at 4 o'clock, he addressed a union meeting of young people at the Presbyterian church. At the Armory, in the evening, a large meeting was held, the evangelist preaching from the text, "What shall it profit a man if he gain the whole world and lose his own soul?" Bible readings will be held by him every afternoon this week at 3:30 o'clock, and the evening meetings at the Armory will continue.

Mr. Schiverea spoke at Grace M. E. church yesterday morning before a large audience.

Bankruptcy Petitions Filed.

Finley Morrison filed a petition in bankruptcy in the United States court today. He gives his liabilities as $134,636.83, being all the liabilities of the firm of Peters & Morrison, which was in the lumber business in Menominee, Mich., and went into the hands of a receiver.

A. H. W. Eckstein has also filed a petition in which he gives his liabilities at $11,533.25, the greater part of which consist of endorsements on paper of the old firm of Brace, Eckstein & Forest, and other paper.

Wave Went South.

The cold wave dodged Duluth yesterday and went South. At Memphis, Tenn., this morning, it was 6 degrees below zero; at St. Louis, 8 degrees below, and at Topeka, Kas., 10 degrees below. The cold wave is believed to be over for the present, and some snow is looked for.

Celebrated His Release.

John LaPlant, who was released from jail Saturday on the poor debtor's oath, after serving 120 days for selling liquor to Indians, was arrested on the Bowery Saturday night for drunkenness. This morning he complained that something was the matter with his back and he was sent to the hospital.

Theodore Polander got thirty days this morning for drunkenness. Theodore had bobbed up on this charge too often. Charles Gilbrandson and John Wilson went up for ten days for the same offense.

NEW PASTOR PREACHES.

Rev. Alexander Miln Occupies Pilgrim Church Pulpit.

Rev. Alexander Miln, the new pastor of Pilgrim Congregation church, occupied the pulpit yesterday morning and evening and was greeted by large congregations. The members of Pilgrim church are very much pleased with their new pastor. They consider him a man of much energy and personal strength and look to him to build up a large and prosperous church.

Rev. Mr. Miln referred very briefly to his coming here and of the warmth of the welcome extended him. He expressed pleasure at identifying himself with Duluth and felt that he would not regret it. His morning sermon was from the text Romans viii, 37: "Nay, in all these things we are more than conquerors through Him that loved us."

The music was very fine, the regular choir being assisted by several other musicians.

Rev. Mr. Miln is for the present at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ward Ames. His family will arrive in about two months.

A Fine Entertainment.

A fine entertainment was given last evening at the Polish hall on East Fourth street. There was music by the band and by the Polish church choir and a number of recitations, drills, etc. Miss V. Rossel, J. Kempinski and Miss Mary Polski gave delightful recitations. The junior choir gave a fan drill, Misses May and Agnes Polski a vocal duet, Miss Frances Zygmanski a vocal solo. Several tableaux and pantomimes were also given.

The Wrestling Match.

The handicap wrestling match between Duncan A. McMillan, the giant Scotchman, and Hjalmar Lundin, the Swedish strong man, at the Lyceum theater Wednesday night, promises to be one of the most interesting athletic events of the year. Mr. McMillan is the undisputed champion of the world at mixed styles and Lundin has acquired a reputation for strength and wrestling ability that is excellent. McMillan agrees to throw Lundin three times in one hour catch-as-catch-can.

Mr. Powers Speaks.

Ex-Labor Commissioner Powers delivered an address at Morley church to a large crowd last evening. His topic was "The Workingman's Improving Condition." He said that the condition of the workingmen had improved much since ancient times; that the word "penury" is used to signify the deepest poverty, and is equivalent to a condition bordering upon starvation. He said the past problem was one of distribution that has been solved, and the present problem is how to justly distribute the world's vast production. He believed in progress and said if there was none then there was no hope in this world or the next. The idea of progress was a new one. The word was not found in the old English translations of the Bible. He thought conditions were slowly but steadily improving for the laboringmen.

A Number of Duluth Young People Secure Remunerative Clerical Positions.

During the past two weeks Duluth firms have engaged the following young people as stenographers and accountants: Attorney J. A. Hanks has engaged Miss Sadie Carey as stenographer and bookkeeper. J. L. Wiggins, president Duluth Malleable Iron works, has engaged Miss Lizzie Jacoby as stenographer and typewritist. Clyde W. Stilson, attorney, has engaged Miss Williams as stenographer and bookkeeper. The New York Life Insurance company has engaged Miss Marie Fredrickson as stenographer and typewritist. The Richards Lumber company has engaged Ernest Grocheau as stenographer. West Duluth Iron company has engaged Miss Maud Fisher as bookkeeper. Attorney Whitely has engaged Miss Anna Farrell as stenographer and typewritist. The Zenith Elevator company has engaged Samuel Coultra as bookkeeper. The St. Louis hotel has engaged Miss Lydia Olsen as stenographer and typewritist. We learn that without one exception the above named young people left Duluth Business University to accept these positions, that not one of said young people attended this institution more than six months, some not more than three months, that in each and every case they are proving satisfactory to their employers and are found competent to do what is required of them, which speaks volumes for the thorough training received at this practical institution.

We also learn from Principal McCarter that he had not students or graduates to fill several equally good positions that were offered last week.

AGAINST THE BILL

Duluth Commission Merchants Are in Opposition to McGrath Measure.

ISSUE A CIRCULAR

Meeting of Commission Men to Be Held in St. Paul Next Friday.

The Duluth commission merchants have taken action against the McGrath bill which places commission merchants under the control of the state grain and warehouse commission. A meeting has been called to be held next Friday evening at the Commercial club, in St. Paul, and commission merchants of St. Louis, Hennepin, Ramsey and other counties will be present and discuss the subject. The Duluth Fruit and Produce exchange has addressed the following to commission merchants:

At a special meeting of the Duluth Fruit and Produce exchange held Thursday, Feb. 9, for the purpose of considering the proposed legislation against commission merchants as proposed in the house by Representative McGrath, and in the senate by Senator Grindeland, it was decided that the bill even in its proposed modified form, as we understand it is to come up in the near future, is a vicious bill aimed at the commission merchants in general in a spirit of retaliation by some one who has either been swindled by a snide house, or has some imaginary wrong. As we understand, the bill as it is proposed to be amended, will be something as follows:

We will be compelled to procure from the state grain and warehouse commission a license to do business, to which we do not object, but we will further be compelled to keep books or records for the benefit of this warehouse commission covering names of all persons or firms to whom we have sold shipments of goods at any time, and that at any time shipper becomes dissatisfied, account of an actual or imaginary wrong, or from mere curiosity, may request an examination of our books to be made by this commission, and under this law we will be compelled to submit to such examination. We cannot see why commission merchants should be compelled to allow any commission or person to examine their books at any time more than should other lines of business. It seems to us that a person or persons making such examination, would become possessed of very valuable information concerning every one's books, which, if he desired, he may secretly traffic in, and we can see where a good deal of harm might result from thus affording a competitor a medium through which it may be possible for him in some manner or other to obtain valuable information concerning some other competitor's business. The whole idea of this proposition is wrong.

We understand the cause of this bill being introduced, is that the farmers claim they have not the opportunities for looking up a firm's financial responsibility that other business men have. Claiming that they have no access to Bradstreet and Dun, or any other commercial agency, and that some of them have been swindled by false and fictitious quotations sent out by houses who engage in the business temporarily for the purpose of getting goods to pocket the money. The trouble of it is, the farmers are endeavoring to get some legislation that will secure them against loss in marketing their goods. In most cases where farmers have sustained losses, it is where they have been shipping to for some time account of receiving quotations from some house of which they know nothing about or have ever heard of before, giving quotations far above the market. In this case it looks as though the farmer was looking to get something for nothing, or more than the actual value of his goods, and account of his failure to do so he requires legislation to make the legitimate houses pay for such losses. It was decided at this meeting of our exchange, that we should oppose any such legislation as this, and would support any legislation along the lines of the inclosure accompanying this letter.

A very similar bill to the McGrath bill has just been defeated in the legislature of York state, and an article regarding it may be seen in the Fruit Trade Journal.

It was decided at this meeting that we believe the only way the commission men's interest could be protected, would be by an organization throughout the state, and we further decided to submit our view to the Twin City commission merchants, and request that they call a meeting of their exchanges at the earliest possible moment,and take some action in the matter. We believe that on account of their being the two largest markets in the state that they should take the initiative in this matter, and that we shall be pleased to co-operate with them. We believe that if all the exchanges would call a special meeting to be held at once, and make a general call on the commission men throughout the state, for the meeting to be held at the earliest possible moment at Minneapolis or St. Paul, and request that the legitimate commission firms be present or represented by proxy, the purpose of this meeting be to form an organization whereby we will become an organized body, opposing any legislation or other matters that may be aimed against our interest, supporting such legislation as we may deem to our interest, we believe good results would be experienced. To carry this on money must be raised, and it is the sentiment of all the commission men in Duluth that they will willingly bear their share of the burden.

If legislation along the line of this inclosure were adopted, it would establish a bureau of information for the country shipper which would be more complete and more reliable than any business house is able to get through the different commercial agencies. It would also be very hard for dishonest people to engage in this line of business.

Trusting you will see some merit in this recommendation, or at least that some portion of the proposition, if not the entire proposition, will meet with your approval, and that we will receive consideration at your hands, we are, awaiting an early reply, Very respectfully yours,

SUGGESTION TO CARNEGIE.

Dr. Long Thinks He Should Give Duluth a Library Building.

Rev. S. P. Long, in the prelude to his sermon at the First Methodist church last night, offered a suggestion which may mean something to Duluth if Andrew Carnegie, to whom it was directed, avails himself of it. Mr. Carnegie's fashion of donating libraries to towns in which he is interested because of the location of any of his interests there is well known. Mr. Long's suggestion was that as Mr. Carnegie's furnaces are now being supplied with ore from Duluth, this might be sufficient inducement to him to make Duluth one of his donations. These are always generous, and in proportion to the size and importance of the city to which they are given. He said:

"My suggestion is this, that a committee of our city fathers, or other representatives wait upon Mr. Carnegie and interest him, if possible, in erecting a library building in our city, representing to him that his interests will be increasing here. Also, that while Duluth is important in the world of commerce as the capital of the richest iron county in the Northwest, if not in America, a city where fortunes have been made, yet no philanthropist has ever donated to the city a public building, statue or work of art of any kind. Surely Duluth has more claim upon Mr. Carnegie's generosity than many of the cities which have become his beneficiaries, since from her ports is shipped the iron that feeds his great mills at Pittsburg. It is possible that Mr. Carnegie may not be like the many men who have taken much from Duluth and given nothing in return, but that it may please him to give as well as take."

Only Partially Observed.

Lincoln's birthday was partially observed as a holiday at the court house today. This morning all of the offices were open, and most of the clerks were present. This afternoon, however, the observance was as near complete as it often gets. All of the offices were open, but in most cases they were maintained in that shape by the chiefs, or the chief deputies, and the subordinates had the afternoon off. The district court did not observe the day, for there was a case on trial before Judge Cant, the last case of the January term, which was laid over to await the convenience of the attorneys.

CANNOT BE THAWED.

Pipes on Railroad Street Frozen Up For Good.

The water main on Railroad street, from Seventh avenue west to Eighth avenue west, and the mains in Seventh and Eighth avenues west, from the Railroad street main to the docks, are frozen up. The Omaha & Northern Pacific warehouses, Cutler & Gilbert's warehouse and limekiln, and the other large warehouses and docks in the section immediately west of the Armour Packing company's plant, are left without water supply other than such as can be obtained from the bay.

Manager Case of the water department, said this morning that nothing could be done in the way of thawing out the pipes. The mains are frozen practically solid. They are very close to the surface, not being much over four feet down in the deepest places, and owing to this fact, and the extent of the territory in which the pipes are frozen, it would be impossible to thaw the pipes out.

Those having charge of the property from which the water supply is cut off have employed a force of men to guard against fire, and holes in the ice in the bay are kept open so that water may be obtained from there.

FIRE AT LAKESIDE.

Two Houses Totally Destroyed at an Early Hour.

The residences of W. F. Frazer and T. J. Weldon, Nos. 5721 and 5723 Avondale street, Lakeside, were destroyed by fire at 5:30 this morning. The Frazer residence belonged to the Lakeside Land company, and was valued at $1000, and insured for $600. The other house belonged to P. Roberts, and was valued at about $800, insurance unknown. Both were 2-story frame structures. The contents of the Frazer house were nearly all saved, but everything in the Weldon house was destroyed, the family being away.

The origin of the fire is a mystery. It started in the Weldon house, in which there were no fires, the family being away for some time. The buildings were so far from a hydrant that the fire department could not get a stream on the flames.

SCHIVEREA'S MEETINGS.

Put In a Busy Sunday Addressing Several Meetings.

The men's meeting at the Y. M. C. A. yesterday afternoon, addressed by Evangelist F. Schiverea, was largely attended, the audience consisting of about 1200 men. His text was from First Kings, ii, 2-3, the words of David on his deathbed: "I go the way of all the earth. Be thou strong, therefore, and show thyself a man, and keep the charge of the Lord thy God, to walk His ways, to keep His statutes, and His commandments, and His judgments, as it is written in the law of Moses, that thou mayest prosper in all that thou doest." The speaker's language was plain and strong, and his arguments convincing. He said that all men must die, and that everyone leaves a legacy on his deathbed. He asked what the men of Duluth were leaving. Some will leave the legacy of uncontrolled passion, of infernal appetites, of attainted blood. The boys have as much right as their fathers to sin, and the father who sins has no right to punish his boy for following his example. True manhood and prosperity are the two greatest things on earth. Not a man but aspires to both, yet they do not all get them, because they do not start right. Manhood consists in the possession of a pure character, pure life, pure motives, pure objects, pure desires. It means to have backbone, so that no one can lead one to ruin.

At the close of his remarks Mr. Schiverea asked all those who joined him in the quest for true manhood to rise, and everyone got up.

Mr. Schiverea put in a busy Sunday yesterday. He addressed a large audience of women at the First Presbyterian church in the afternoon, at 2:30 o'clock, speaking from the text, "Is it well with thee? Is it well with thy husband? Is is well with thy child?" At 6:30 o'clock, after the young men's meeting at 4 o'clock, he addressed a union meeting of young people at the Presbyterian church. At the Armory, in the evening, a large meeting was held, the evangelist preaching from the text, "What shall it profit a man if he gain the whole world and lose his own soul?" Bible readings will be held by him every afternoon this week at 3:30 o'clock, and the evening meetings at the Armory will continue.

Mr. Schiverea spoke at Grace M. E. church yesterday morning before a large audience.

Bankruptcy Petitions Filed.

Finley Morrison filed a petition in bankruptcy in the United States court today. He gives his liabilities as $134,636.83, being all the liabilities of the firm of Peters & Morrison, which was in the lumber business in Menominee, Mich., and went into the hands of a receiver.

A. H. W. Eckstein has also filed a petition in which he gives his liabilities at $11,533.25, the greater part of which consist of endorsements on paper of the old firm of Brace, Eckstein & Forest, and other paper.

Wave Went South.

The cold wave dodged Duluth yesterday and went South. At Memphis, Tenn., this morning, it was 6 degrees below zero; at St. Louis, 8 degrees below, and at Topeka, Kas., 10 degrees below. The cold wave is believed to be over for the present, and some snow is looked for.

Celebrated His Release.

John LaPlant, who was released from jail Saturday on the poor debtor's oath, after serving 120 days for selling liquor to Indians, was arrested on the Bowery Saturday night for drunkenness. This morning he complained that something was the matter with his back and he was sent to the hospital.

Theodore Polander got thirty days this morning for drunkenness. Theodore had bobbed up on this charge too often. Charles Gilbrandson and John Wilson went up for ten days for the same offense.

NEW PASTOR PREACHES.

Rev. Alexander Miln Occupies Pilgrim Church Pulpit.

Rev. Alexander Miln, the new pastor of Pilgrim Congregation church, occupied the pulpit yesterday morning and evening and was greeted by large congregations. The members of Pilgrim church are very much pleased with their new pastor. They consider him a man of much energy and personal strength and look to him to build up a large and prosperous church.

Rev. Mr. Miln referred very briefly to his coming here and of the warmth of the welcome extended him. He expressed pleasure at identifying himself with Duluth and felt that he would not regret it. His morning sermon was from the text Romans viii, 37: "Nay, in all these things we are more than conquerors through Him that loved us."

The music was very fine, the regular choir being assisted by several other musicians.

Rev. Mr. Miln is for the present at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ward Ames. His family will arrive in about two months.

A Fine Entertainment.

A fine entertainment was given last evening at the Polish hall on East Fourth street. There was music by the band and by the Polish church choir and a number of recitations, drills, etc. Miss V. Rossel, J. Kempiniski and Miss Mary Polski gave delightful recitations. The junior choir gave a fan drill, Misses May and Agnes Polski a vocal duet, Miss Frances Zygmanski a vocal solo. Several tableaux and pantomimes were also given.

The Wrestling Match.

The handicap wrestling match between Duncan A. McMillan, the giant Scotchman, and Hjalmar Lundin, the Swedish strong man, at the Lyceum theater Wednesday night, promises to be one of the most interesting athletic events of the year. Mr. McMillan is the undisputed champion of the world at mixed styles and Lundin has acquired a reputation for strength and wrestling ability that is excellent. McMillan agrees to throw Lundin three times in one hour catch-as-catch-can.

Mr. Powers Speaks.

Ex-Labor Commissioner Powers delivered an address at Morley church to a large crowd last evening. His topic was "The Workingman's Improving Condition." He said that the condition of the workingmen had improved much since ancient times; that the word "penury" is used to signify the deepest poverty, and is equivalent to a condition bordering upon starvation. He said the past problem was one of distribution that has been solved, and the present problem is how to justly distribute the world's vast production. He believed in progress and said if there was none then there was no hope in this world or the next. The idea of progress was a new one. The word was not found in the old English translations of the Bible. He thought conditions were slowly but steadily improving for the laboringmen.

A Number of Duluth Young People Secure Remunerative Clerical Positions.

During the past two weeks Duluth firms have engaged the following young people as stenographers and accountants: Attorney J. A. Hanks has engaged Miss Sadie Carey as stenographer and bookkeeper. J. L. Wiggins, president Duluth Malleable Iron works, has engaged Miss Lizzie Jacoby as stenographer and typewritist. Clyde W. Stilson, attorney, has engaged Miss Williams as stenographer and bookkeeper. The New York Life Insurance company has engaged Miss Marie Fredrickson as stenographer and typewritist. The Richards Lumber company has engaged Ernest Grocheau as stenographer. West Duluth Iron company has engaged Miss Maud Fisher as bookkeeper. Attorney Whitely has engaged Miss Anna Farrell as stenographer and typewritist. The Zenith Elevator company has engaged Samuel Coultra as bookkeeper. The St. Louis hotel has engaged Miss Lydia Olsen as stenographer and typewritist. We learn that without one exception the above named young people left Duluth Business University to accept these positions, that not one of said young people attended this institution more than six months, some not more than three months, that in each and every case they are proving satisfactory to their employers and are found competent to do what is required of them, which speaks volumes for the thorough training received at this practical institution.

We also learn from Principal McCarter that he had not students or graduates to fill several equally good positions that were offered last week.

WIPED OUT BY FIRE.

A Loss of Half a Million In Cincinnati's Clothing Quarters.

Cincinnati, Feb. 14.—A fire causing a loss of half a million started mysteriously in the upper back stories of the hat manufacturing establishment of Kahn, Feltheimer & Co., 106 West Third street, a few doors west of Race street, on the North Side at 4:30 a. m., and before the engines could get to work, the fire had communicated to the clothing house of H. A. Seinheimer & Co., 104 West Third. Next to that stood the corner building, occupied by Sanford, Varnes & Storrs, containing a valuable stock of clothing and material.

The first named buildings were entirely burned out, but the firemen succeeded in saving the corner building at the expense of practically ruining the contents. The entire fire department was called out and a perfect deluge of water was thrown. Nevertheless the fire found its way into the rear of buildings fronting on Race street, occupied by S. L. Weiler & Co., Louis Wald & Co., Reins & Meins, all clothiers, and causing considerable loss, although it was checked before the buildings were destroyed.

In an hour the fire was under control after a stubborn fight in which the firemen suffered from the cold and floods of water through which they were obliged to walk.

The guests at the St. Nicholas hotel became alarmed by the proximity of fire and most of them prepared for flight. Snow covering the roofs of adjacent buildings extinguished the showers of sparks and the flaming brands that were carried by the wind.

The amount of individual losses and insurance has not been made out. In a general way it is said the insurance is about two-thirds of the loss.

RADIATOR COMPANY.

Trenton, N. J., Feb. 14.—Articles of incorporation were filed today by the American Radiator company with an authorized capital of $10,000,000, one-half of which is preferred stock with 7 per cent cumulative interest. The company is empowered to manufacture and deal in radiators, boilers and other heating apparatus. This corporation is formed for the purpose of succeeding to the business of the Illinois company of the same name. The incorporators are: James B. Dill, of New York; Lewis Burch, of Chicago, and Howard K. Wood, of East Orange, N. J.

FIRE AT FOND DU LAC.

Blaze In a Lumber Yard Does Considerable Damage.

Milwaukee, Feb. 14.—A special to the Journal from Fond du Lac, Wis., says: Fire today broke out in the large lumber yard of Moore & Galloway and before subdued had wrought damage to the extent of $45,000, fully covered by insurance. At one time the entire plant, valued at $200,000 seemed doomed.

BOY BURNED TO DEATH.

Caught Fire While His Mother Went For Coal.

St. Paul, Feb. 14.—A special to the Dispatch from Albert Lea, Minn., says: Glen, the 2-year-old son of Engineer William Clark, on the Minneapolis & St. Louis, was burned to death last night. The mother had gone for coal and returning found the little fellow a mass of flames. Mr. Clark returned home on a local passenger. The little fellow died at 1 o'clock this morning.

ELEVATOR BURNED.

St. Paul, Feb. 14.—A special to the Dispatch from Manley Junction, Iowa, says: Bosworth's elevator burned at 9 o'clock this morning, caused by overheated oil stove in the engine room. It contained 8000 bushels of grain, covered by insurance, lost or damaged.

FIRE AT RAT PORTAGE.

St. Paul, Feb. 14.—A Winnipeg special to the Dispatch says: The Scovil block at Rat Portage was destroyed by fire last night. Loss, $10,000.

GROCERS GATHER

Retail Grocers and Merchants' Association of Minnesota In Session.

DULUTH MEN THERE

Minn Hist'l Society

Mr. Marion of Tower Would Have the Legislature Regulate Peddling.

From a Staff Representative.

St. Paul, Feb. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—The third annual convention of the Retail Grocers and General Merchants association opened at Market hall today.

President P. G. Hanson, of Minneapolis, called the convention to order. C. F. Rappe, president of the St. Paul Retailers' association, welcomed the guests. Mayor Kiefer also spoke, welcoming the delegates.

Mayor Truelsen of Duluth was unavoidably absent and the chair introduced W. G. Gordon to act in his stead.

On motion of Mr. Ten Voerde, St. Paul salesman representing outside firms and operating in Minnesota, were entielde to membership upon signing the rolls and paying dues.

The chair appointed a committee on resolutions with Simon Clark, of Duluth, as chairman.

Mr. Marion, of Tower, called attention to the bill introduced in the legislature designed to regulate peddling. Peddlers were of no earthly use to anybody and were a source of great harm, said the speaker. Mr. Marion, by request, read a copy of the bill. On motion of Mr. Clark, of Duluth, the bill was directed to be submitted to the committee on resolutions.

John Swift, representing the co-operative boom manufacturers of Minneapolis, was permitted to address the convention. When he concluded Mr. Clark, of Duluth, arose and facetiously remarked that if the millionaires of the country were to be swept off the face of the earth he was glad that the job would be done with co-operative brooms.

This afternoon H. P. Hall spoke on "The Merchant and Politics" and W. Scott Coe, Minneapolis, on "Business Education."

ADDRESS BY BRYAN.

Responded to an Invitation to Speak to the Minnesota Legislators.

St. Paul, Feb. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—The house gave twenty minutes of its time today to an address by Col. Bryan, who was invited to speak at the suggestion of Representative Yale. Speaker Dare appointed Representatives Yale, Stivers and Roberts as a committee to escort Col. Bryan to the speaker's platform. Mr. Bryan was evidently impressed by the generosity of a Republican legislature and made reference to it in his speech. He was received with marked attention and was warmly and generously applauded. Governor Lind escorted the distinguished soldier-politician as far as the steps leading to the speaker's platform.

After Col. Bryan finished the house took a recess of ten minutes for an informal reception. Mr. Bryan in his speech avoided all reference to partisan politics and confined himself to an eloquent plea for good government and fair play between man and man.

The house before adjournment passed eleven bills. Among them was the Jacobson bill, which prohibits railroad companies from raising rates on live stock, lumber, grain, flax and coal without first securing the consent of the railroad and warehouse commission.

A bill was passed requiring railroads to provide platforms at way stations, etc., for the purpose of facilitating the shipment of grain and live stock. A third railroad bill passed required railroads to issue passes to shippers of live stock who accompany the shipments. Other bills passed were:

H. F. No. 182, Fosnes—To amend section 5913 of the general statutes of 1894, relating to actions for death by wrongful act.

H. F. No. 189, Jackson—To authorize municipal courts having criminal jurisdiction to receive cash bail in case of misdemeanors and determining the title to such cash bail when deposited, etc.

H. F. 196, Hagstrom—To amend section 7987 general statutes of 1894, relating to legal holidays.

St. Paul, Feb. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—Among the new bills in the house today were:

Jackson—For punishment of thieves of horses, mules, cows, etc.

Krayenbuhl—To repeal the law prohibiting fee officers holding any other office at the same time.

Brusletten—Amending law for incorporation of annuity trust companies.

Neubauer—Ratifying actions of county commissioners in permitting street railways to use highways outside city limits.

Hillary—Empowering city councils in cities over 5000 to grant rights to construct street railway lines.

Hillary—Authorize grants to street railway companies in cities of over 50,000.

Dwinnell—To amend general statutes relating to filing instruments with register of deeds.

Grass—To amend general statutes relating to stay of execution.

Neubauer—To authorize county commissioners to grant rights for street railway lines on county roads.

Bush—Appropriation for reports of State Horticultural society.

Jacobson—To amend general statutes relating to aid for high schools.

A PLACE FOR MORRIS.

Member of Caucus Committee on Financial Legislation.

Washington, Feb. 14.—Gen. Grosvenor of Ohio, chairman of the Republican caucus, today announced the appointment of the following Republicans of the house as members of the committee on financial legislation, provided for by the resolution of the Republican caucus. Representatives Henderson of Iowa, Payne of New York, Dalzell of Pennsylvania, Kerr of Ohio, Hawley of Texas, Lovering of Massachusetts, Pearce of Missouri, Curtis of Kansas, Loud of California, Babcock of Wisconsin and Morris of Minnesota.

FILIPINO FREEDOM.

McEnery Resolution Passes the Senate By a Small Margin.

Washington, Feb. 14.—The senate began at 11 o'clock today with nine senators present. The chaplain was absent. Mr. Stewart of Nevada took the floor in opposition to the McEnery resolution and in favor of retaining the Philippines. Lindsay of Kentucky and Bacon of Georgia also opposed the McEnery resolution.

Mr. Mason said that he voted for the treaty with the understanding that there should be no further war in the Philippines.

At 2:35 a vote was taken by the senate on the Bacon amendment to the McEnery resolution. It was defeated, 29 to 29, the vice president voting in the negative. The McEnery resolution was then passed by a vote of 26 to 22.

SPREADING RAPIDLY.

A Fire In Chicago Does Damage to the Amount of $250,000.

Chicago, Feb. 14.—Frozen water plugs prevented the fire department getting a stream on flames that broke out in the big 7-story brick warehouse at 10 to 24 West Water street today and resulted in great damage. The fire started in the basement at the rear of the building and the flames shot up to the floors above quickly and flashed out of the second story windows before an alarm was turned in. Owing to the heroic efforts of Eddie Lowe, an office boy, several persons were saved from being burned to death. The lad ran from floor to floor and spread the alarm, and not until he saw that everyone had made good his escape did the boy leave the structure. The building was owned by the Manufacturers and Merchants' Warehouse company, and much of its space was rented to bicycle firms who will lose heavily. The damage to the building and contents is estimated at $250,000.

It is said that five or six persons have perished in the flames, but this has not yet been verified.

At 11:10 a. m. the fire is spreading rapidly and it looks as if a number of the surrounding buildings will suffer severely from the conflagration.

The fire was got under control at noon. None of the adjacent buildings were damaged to any great extent except from water and smoke. David Kelly, president of the Manufacturers and Merchants Warehouse company said it was impossible for him to estimate the loss as the building was packed from basement to roof with goods, the value of which cannot be estimated. They came from every quarter. The loss on the building is placed at $25,000 and that of the contents anywhere between $250,000 and $1,000,000.

As a result of the fire the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway and the Pan Handle system were blocked for three hours.

The losses fall most heavily on some fifty or sixty firms which had goods stored in the building, but insurance was carried by most of them.

WOULD NOT RECONSIDER.

Wisconsin Senate Likes the Anti-Pass Measure as It Is.

Madison, Wis., Feb. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—The senate this morning refused to reconsider the vote by which it adopted the anti-pass resolution for constitutional amendment prohibiting passes at last night's session. Reconsideration was sought for the purpose of adding an amendment providing forfeiture of office as a penalty.

Among the bills introduced were:

Mills—Requiring payment of poll tax and exhibition of receipt therefor before registering and voting.

Mills—Providing for two assistant district attorneys in counties of 29,000 or more and containing a city of second class; requiring railroads doing a business of $3500 a mile per annum to sell 1000-mile tickets for $20, companies doing less for $25, tickets to be transferable and good for two years.

Mills—To amend the statutes and provide a method to obtain possession of property in replevin actions; to amend the statutes relative to county superintendent of schools.

Outside of passing resolutions of respect to the memory of Assemblyman Woyciechowsky, introduction of bills was the only business before the assembly. Bills:

Becher—To change the system of drawing petit juries.

Callin—Authorizing the Bank of Commerce of Superior to reduce its capital stock; to amend the laws relating to the foreclosure of tax certificates.

Buffington—Appropriating $5000 to the W. C. T. U. home at Chippewa Falls.

Johnston—Providing for registration of physicians.

Grost—Providing for taxation of street railways and lighting companies.

Peohie—Repealing laws of 1898 relating to fire and police commission boards. Re-enacting the vessel tonnage tax.

McINTYRE WINS.

Milwaukee, Feb. 14.—The Evening Wisconsin today says: It was admitted here today that the flour mill syndicate, of which Thomas A. McIntyre is the head, had carried the day. All the Duluth mills, except the Freeman and a small concern, are reported to have been secured in addition to the majority of the mills in Minneapolis. It is also learned that the largest mills in New York and Buffalo, in addition to several large Milwaukee plants, have been captured.

ANARCHY PREVAILS.

Samoan Government Persists In Interfering With British Subjects.

Auckland, N. Z., Feb. 14.—Advices received here from Samoa, under date of Feb. 8, report that anarchy and rebellion still prevail there. The provisional government persists in interfering with the British subjects and also with servants of British residents.

COL. RAMSEY DEAD.

Washington, Feb. 14.—The war department today was advised of the death of Col. Gates Ramsey, Seventh artillery, at Augusta, Ga., yesterday, and of the death of James Baisley, Company M, Forty-seventh New York volunteers in Porto Rico yesterday. Baisley died of enteritis following typhoid fever.

NO QUORUM.

Harrisburg, Feb. 14.—The members of the legislature were not able to reach here today and the joint ballot showed the absence of a quorum. It resulted: Quay, 17; Dalzell, 1; Jenks, 2.

CAPTURE OF ILOILO

The Town Was Bombarded By the Boston and the Petrel.

IS SPEEDILY TAKEN

Chinese and Native Sections Destroyed By Fire—No American Losses.

Manilla, Feb. 14, 11:50 a. m.—Particulars of the capture of Iloilo by the United States forces under Brig. Gen. Miller on Saturday last, have been received here.

On the morning of Friday, Feb. 10, Gen. Miller sent an ultimatum to the commander of the rebels on shore, notifying him that it was his intention to take Iloilo by force if necessary.

Non-combatants and foreigners were warned to leave the town within twenty-four hours. The rebels were also warned that they must make no further belligerent preparations.

The gunboat Petrel was then moved to a position close in shore, and near the rebel fort, while the cruiser Boston took up her station at the other end of the town.

Friday passed quietly. During the day many refugees left the town of Iloilo. The majority of them were taken on board foreign ships lying in the harbor.

Searchlights from the United States warships were kept all night long illuminating the town and its defenses. The rebels so far as the lookouts on the ships could discover, remained quiescent throughout the night.

At 3 o'clock on the morning of Saturday, Feb. 11, the gunboat signalled to the cruiser Boston that the rebels were working in their trenches. In return the Petrel was ordered to fire warning shots upon the town from her 3-pounders. This was done and the rebels replied with a harmless fusillade. The Boston and the Petrel then bombarded the rebels' trenches, completely clearing them of their occupants in a very short space of time.

Soon after the bombardment began flames broke out simultaneously in various parts of the town. Thereupon forty-eight marines, acting as infantry and artillery, were landed from the cruiser Boston, and a company was sent ashore from the gunboat Petrel. These detachments marched straight into the town of Iloilo and, after hoisting the Star and Stripes over the fort, took possession of the place in the name of the United States.

The capture of the town and its defences having been accomplished, the marines and soldiers who had been sent ashore, proceeded to the task of saving the American, English and German consulates from destruction by the fire which was raging among the frail and inflammable buildings of the town. The Swiss consul's residence, which was in the same row as the consulates named was burned. The entire Chinese and native sections of the town were destroyed but foreign mercantile property escaped with slight damage.

There was some desultory firing by the enemy in the outskirts of Iloilo, but not a single American was injured.

Gen. Miller's force had complete control of the situation when the gunboat Petrel sailed from Iloilo for Manila. The Sixth United States artillery regiment occupied a position commanding both the bridges leading into the town and the Tennessee volunteers and the Eighteenth United States infantry were occupying the trenches that had been constructed by the rebels.

DEWEY'S REPORT.

He Thinks the Insurgent Loss Was Very Slight.

Washington, Feb. 14.—The navy department has received the following cablegram:

Manilia—Secretary of Navy, Washington: Petrel just arrived from Iloilo. That place taken by our forces Saturday and now occupied. No prisoners. No casualties on our side. Insurgent loss not known but believed to be slight. They attempted to burn town but foreign property generally saved by our forces. DEWEY.

MORE NEWS FROM OTIS.

Reports the Sailing of Spanish Prisoners of War.

Washington, Feb.. 14.—The war department has received the following advices from Gen. Otis under date of Manilla, Feb. 14:

One hundred and eighty officers and 1800 men, Spanish prisoners of war, left port on the 12th and 13th by steamers Reina Christina and Uruguay, en route to Spain. Can awards on Didy opened at Washington on the 4th be communicated? Isaac Russell, Company A, Utah artillery, slight scalp wound, condition excellent. Lieut. O. H. Grow, Utah artillery, en route to San Francisco on sick leave. Lieut. Chance, signal corps, convalescing slowly from typhoid fever; condition favorable.

TO HANDLE ALL FREIGHT.

John Promberger has again been awarded the contract for handling the freight of the Eastern Minnesota railway and Northern Steamship company at the head of the lakes. This will be the second season that Mr. Promberger has had the contract exclusively and so well pleased have the companies been with his work that the contract just closed is for a term of five years. The amount of freight handled at the Eastern Minnesota railway docks is enormous. Last year the total amount handled was 500,000 tons. One hundred thousand tons of railroad iron was one item of this. Two seasons ago when Mr. Promberger began this work he had only fifty men in his employ. Last summer he had 1000 men and as high as 700 at work in one day.

The contract Mr. Promberger has received includes all work at the Eastern Minnesota dock no matter whether the freight comes in Northern boats or those of other lines.

WIPED OUT BY FIRE.

A Loss of Half a Million In Cincinnati's Clothing Quarters.

Cincinnati, Feb. 14.—A fire causing a loss of half a million started mysteriously in the upper back stories of the hat manufacturing establishment of Kahn, Feltheimer & Co., 106 West Third street, a few doors west of Race street, on the North Side, at 4:30 a. m., and before the engines could get to work, the fire had communicated to the clothing house of H. A. Seinheimer & Co., 104 West Third. Next to that stood the corner building, occupied by Sanford, Varnes & Storrs, containing a valuable stock of clothing and material.

The first named buildings were entirely burned out, but the firemen succeeded in saving the corner building at the expense of practically ruining the contents. The entire fire department was called out and a perfect deluge of water was thrown. Nevertheless the fire found its way into the rear of buildings fronting on Race street, occupied by S. L. Weiler & Co., Louis Wald & Co., Reins & Meins, all clothiers, and causing considerable loss, although it was checked before the buildings were destroyed.

In an hour the fire was under control after a stubborn fight in which the firemen suffered from the cold and floods of water through which they were obliged to walk.

The guests at the St. Nicholas hotel became alarmed by the proximity of fire and most of them prepared for flight. Snow covering the roofs of adjacent buildings extinguished the showers of sparks and the flaming brands that were carried by the wind.

The amount of individual losses and insurance has not been made out. In a general way it is said the insurance is about two-thirds of the loss.

St. Paul, Feb. 14.—A special to the Dispatch from Manley Junction, Iowa, says: Bosworth's elevator burned at 9 o'clock this morning, caused by overheated oil stove in the engine room. It contained 8000 bushels of grain, covered by insurance, lost or damaged.

FIRE AT RAT PORTAGE.

St. Paul, Feb. 14.—A Winnipeg special to the Dispatch says: The Scovil block at Rat Portage was destroyed by fire last night. Loss, $10,000.

GROCERS GATHER

Retail Grocers and Merchants' Association of Minnesota In Session.

Minn. Hist'l Society

DULUTH MEN THERE

Mr. Marion of Tower Would Have the Legislature Regulate Peddling.

From a Staff Representative.

St. Paul, Feb. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—The third annual convention of the Retail Grocers and General Merchants association opened at Market hall today.

President P. G. Hanson, of Minneapolis, called the convention to order. C. F. Rappe, president of the St. Paul Retailers' association, welcomed the guests. Mayor Kiefer also spoke, welcoming the delegates.

Mayor Truelsen of Duluth was unavoidably absent and the chair introduced W. G. Gordon to act in his stead.

On motion of Mr. Ten Voerde, St. Paul salesman representing outside firms and operating in Minnesota, were entielde to membership upon signing the rolls and paying dues.

The chair appointed a committee on resolutions with Simon Clark, of Duluth, as chairman.

Mr. Marion, of Tower, called attention to the bill introduced in the legislature designed to regulate peddling. Peddlers were of no earthly use to anybody and were a source of great harm, said the speaker. Mr. Marion, by request, read a copy of the bill. On motion of Mr. Clark, of Duluth, the bill was directed to be submitted to the committee on resolutions.

John Swift, representing the co-operative boom manufacturers of Minneapolis, was permitted to address the convention. When he concluded Mr. Clark, of Duluth, arose and facetiously remarked that if the millionaires of the country were to be swept off the face of the earth he was glad that the job would be done with co-operative brooms.

This afternoon H. P. Hall spoke on "The Merchant and Politics" and W. Scott Coe, Minneapolis, on "Business Education."

ADDRESS BY BRYAN.

Responded to an Invitation to Speak to the Minnesota Legislators.

St. Paul, Feb. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—The house gave twenty minutes of its time today to an address by Col. Bryan, who was invited to speak at the suggestion of Representative Yale. Speaker Dare appointed Representatives Yale, Stivers and Roberts as a committee to escort Col. Bryan to the speaker's platform. Mr. Bryan was evidently impressed by the generosity of a Republican legislature and made reference to it in his speech. He was received with marked attention and was warmly and generously applauded. Governor Lind escorted the distinguished soldier-politician as far as the steps leading to the speaker's platform.

After Col. Bryan finished the house took a recess of ten minutes for an informal reception. Mr. Bryan in his speech avoided all reference to partisan politics and confined himself to an eloquent plea for good government and fair play between man and man.

The house before adjournment passed eleven bills. Among them was the Jacobson bill, which prohibits railroad companies from raising rates on live stock, lumber, grain, flax and coal without first securing the consent of the railroad and warehouse commission.

A bill was passed requiring railroads to provide platforms at way stations, etc., for the purpose of facilitating the shipment of grain and live stock. A third railroad bill passed required railroads to issue passes to shippers of live stock who accompany the shipments. Other bills passed were:

H. F. No. 182, Fosnes—To amend section 5913 of the general statutes of 1891, relating to actions for death by wrongful act.

H. F. No. 189, Jackson—To authorize municipal courts having criminal jurisdiction to receive cash bail in case of misdemeanors and determining the title to such cash bail when deposited, etc.

H. F. 196, Hagstrom—To amend section 7987 general statutes of 1894, relating to legal holidays.

St. Paul, Feb. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—Among the new bills in the house today were:

Jackson—For punishment of thieves of horses, mules, cows, etc.

Krayenbuhl—To repeal the law prohibiting fee officers holding any other office at the same time.

Brusletten—Amending law for incorporation of annuity trust companies.

Neubauer—Ratifying actions of county commissioners in permitting street railways to use highways outside city limits.

Hillary—Empowering city councils in cities over 5000 to grant rights to construct street railway lines.

Hillary—Authorize grants to street railway companies in cities of over 50,000.

Dwinnell—To amend general statutes relating to filing instruments with register of deeds.

Grass—To amend general statutes relating to stay of execution.

Neubauer—To authorize county commissioners to grant rights for street railway lines on county roads.

Bush—Appropriation for reports of State Horticultural society.

Jacobson—To amend general statutes relating to aid for high schools.

A PLACE FOR MORRIS.

Member of Caucus Committee on Financial Legislation.

Washington, Feb. 14.—Gen. Grosvenor of Ohio, chairman of the Republican caucus, today announced the appointment of the following Republicans of the house as members of the committee on financial legislation, provided for by the resolution of the Republican caucus. Representatives Henderson of Iowa, Payne of New York, Dalzell of Pennsylvania, Kerr of Ohio, Hawley of Texas, Lovering of Massachusetts, Pearce of Missouri, Curtis of Kansas, Loud of California, Babcock of Wisconsin and Morris of Minnesota.

FILIPINO FREEDOM.

McEnery Resolution Passes the Senate By a Small Margin.

Washington, Feb. 14.—The senate began at 11 o'clock today with nine senators present. The chaplain was absent. Mr. Stewart of Nevada took the floor in opposition to the McEnery resolution and in favor of retaining the Philippines. Lindsay of Kentucky and Bacon of Georgia also opposed the McEnery resolution.

Mr. Mason said that he voted for the treaty with the understanding that there should be no further war in the Philippines.

At 2:35 a vote was taken by the senate on the Bacon amendment to the McEnery resolution. It was defeated, 29 to 29, the vice president voting in the negative. The McEnery resolution was then passed by a vote of 26 to 22.

SPREADING RAPIDLY.

A Fire In Chicago Does Damage to the Amount of $250,000.

Chicago, Feb. 14.—Frozen water plugs prevented the fire department getting a stream on flames that broke out in the big 7-story brick warehouse at 10 to 24 West Water street today and resulted in great damage. The fire started in the basement at the rear of the building and the flames shot up to the floors above quickly and flashed out of the second story windows before an alarm was turned in. Owing to the heroic efforts of Eddie Lowe, an office boy, several persons were saved from being burned to death. The lad ran from floor to floor and spread the alarm, and not until he saw that everyone had made good his escape did the boy leave the structure. The building was owned by the Manufacturers and Merchants' Warehouse company, and much of its space was rented to bicycle firms who will lose heavily. The damage to the building and contents is estimated at $250,000.

It is said that five or six persons have perished in the flames, but this has not yet been verified.

At 11:10 a. m. the fire is spreading rapidly and it looks as if a number of the surrounding buildings will suffer severely from the conflagration.

The fire was got under control at noon. None of the adjacent buildings were damaged to any great extent except from water and smoke. David Kelly, president of the Manufacturers and Merchants Warehouse company said it was impossible for him to estimate the loss as the building was packed from basement to roof with goods, the value of which cannot be estimated. They came from every quarter. The loss on the building is placed at $25,000 and that of the contents anywhere between $250,000 and $1,000,000.

As a result of the fire the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway and the Pan Handle system were blocked for three hours.

The losses fall most heavily on some fifty or sixty firms which had goods stored in the building, but insurance was carried by most of them.

WOULD NOT RECONSIDER.

Wisconsin Senate Likes the Anti-Pass Measure as It Is.

Madison, Wis., Feb. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—The senate this morning refused to reconsider the vote by which it adopted the anti-pass resolution for constitutional amendment prohibiting passes at last night's session. Reconsideration was sought for the purpose of adding an amendment providing forfeiture of office as a penalty.

Among the bills introduced were:

Mills—Requiring payment of poll tax and exhibition of receipt therefor before registering and voting.

Mills—Providing for two assistant district attorneys in counties of 29,000 or more and containing a city of second class; requiring railroads doing a business of $3500 a mile per annum to sell 1000-mile tickets for $20, companies doing less for $25, tickets to be transferable and good for two years.

Mills—To amend the statutes and provide a method to obtain possession of property in replevin actions; to amend the statutes relative to county superintendent of schools.

Outside of passing resolutions of respect to the memory of Assemblyman Woyciechowsky, introduction of bills was the only business before the assembly. Bills:

Becher—To change the system of drawing petit juries.

Callin—Authorizing the Bank of Commerce of Superior to reduce its capital stock; to amend the laws relating to the foreclosure of tax certificates.

Buffington—Appropriating $5000 to the W. C. T. U. home at Chippewa Falls.

Johnston—Providing for registration of physicians.

Grost—Providing for taxation of street railways and lighting companies.

Peohle—Repealing laws of 1898 relating to fire and police commission boards. Re-enacting the vessel tonnage tax.

McINTYRE WINS.

Milwaukee, Feb. 14.—The Evening Wisconsin today says: It was admitted here today that the flour mill syndicate, of which Thomas A. McIntyre is the head, had carried the day. All the Duluth mills, except the Freeman and a small concern, are reported to have been secured in addition to the majority of the mills in Minneapolis. It is also learned that the largest mills in New York and Buffalo, in addition to several large Milwaukee plants, have been captured.

Harrisburg, Feb. 14.—The members of the legislature were not able to reach here today and the joint ballot showed the absence of a quorum. It resulted: Quay, 17; Dalzell, 1; Jenks, 2.

CAPTURE OF ILOILO

The Town Was Bombarded By the Boston and the Petrel.

IS SPEEDILY TAKEN

Chinese and Native Sections Destroyed By Fire—No American Losses.

Manilla, Feb. 14, 11:50 a. m.—Particulars of the capture of Iloilo by the United States forces under Brig. Gen. Miller on Saturday last, have been received here.

On the morning of Friday, Feb. 10, Gen. Miller sent an ultimatum to the commander of the rebels on shore, notifying him that it was his intention to take Iloilo by force if necessary.

Non-combatants and foreigners were warned to leave the town within twenty-four hours. The rebels were also warned that they must make no further belligerent preparations.

The gunboat Petrel was then moved to a position close in shore, and near the rebel fort, while the cruiser Boston took up her station at the other end of the town.

Friday passed quietly. During the day many refugees left the town of Iloilo. The majority of them were taken on board foreign ships lying in the harbor.

Searchlights from the United States warships were kept all night long illuminating the town and its defenses. The rebels so far as the lookouts on the ships could discover, remained quiescent throughout the night.

At 3 o'clock on the morning of Saturday, Feb. 11, the gunboat signalled to the cruiser Boston that the rebels were working in their trenches. In return the Petrel was ordered to fire warning shots upon the town from her 3-pounders. This was done and the rebels replied with a harmless fusillade. The Boston and the Petrel then bombarded the rebels' trenches, completely clearing them of their occupants in a very short space of time.

Soon after the bombardment began flames broke out simultaneously in various parts of the town. Thereupon forty-eight marines, acting as infantry and artillery, were landed from the cruiser Boston, and a company was sent ashore from the gunboat Petrel. These detachments marched straight into the town of Iloilo and, after hoisting the Star and Stripes over the fort, took possession of the place in the name of the United States.

The capture of the town and its defences having been accomplished, the marines and soldiers who had been sent ashore, proceeded to the task of saving the American, English and German consulates from destruction by the fire which was raging among the frail and inflammable buildings of the town. The Swiss consul's residence, which was in the same row as the consulates named was burned. The entire Chinese and native sections of the town were destroyed but foreign mercantile property escaped with slight damage.

There was some desultory firing by the enemy in the outskirts of Iloilo, but not a single American was injured.

Gen. Miller's force had complete control of the situation when the gunboat Petrel sailed from Iloilo for Manilla. The Sixth United States artillery regiment occupied a position commanding both the bridges leading into the town and the Tennessee volunteers and the Eighteenth United States infantry were occupying the trenches that had been constructed by the rebels.

DEWEY'S REPORT.

He Thinks the Insurgent Loss Was Very Slight.

Washington, Feb. 14.—The navy department has received the following cablegram:

Manilla—Secretary of Navy, Washington: Petrel just arrived from Iloilo. That place taken by our forces Saturday and now occupied. No prisoners. No casualties on our side. Insurgent loss not known but believed to be slight. They attempted to burn town but foreign property generally saved by our forces. DEWEY.

MORE NEWS FROM OTIS.

Reports the Sailing of Spanish Prisoners of War.

Washington, Feb. 14.—The war department has received the following advices from Gen. Otis under date of Manilla, Feb. 14:

One hundred and eighty officers and 1800 men, Spanish prisoners of war, left port on the 12th and 13th by steamers Reina Christina and Uruguay, en route to Spain. Can awards on Didy opened at Washington on the 4th be communicated? Isaac Russell, Company A, Utah artillery, slight scalp wound, condition excellent. Lieut. O. H. Grow, Utah artillery, en route to San Francisco on sick leave. Lieut. Chance, signal corps, convalescing slowly from typhoid fever; condition favorable.

TO HANDLE ALL FREIGHT.

John Promberger has again been awarded the contract for handling the freight of the Eastern Minnesota railway and Northern Steamship company at the head of the lakes. This will be the second season that Mr. Promberger has had the contract exclusively and so well pleased have the companies been with his work that the contract just closed is for a term of five years. The amount of freight handled at the Eastern Minnesota railway docks is enormous. Last year the total amount handled was 500,000 tons. One hundred thousand tons of railroad iron was one item of this. Two seasons ago when Mr. Promberger began this work he had only fifty men in his employ. Last summer he had 1000 men and as high as 700 at work in one day.

The contract Mr. Promberger has received includes all work at the Eastern Minnesota dock no matter whether the freight comes in Northern boats or those of other lines.

ARMS FOR FILIPINOS

Agents In Hong Kong Active In Fitting Out Filibustering Expeditions.

IN STATE OF TERROR

A Thousand Mounted Bandits Appeared In a Chinese Province Recently.

Port Townsend, Wash., Feb. 14.—The steamship Olympia has arrived from the Orient bringing late advices as follows:

Since the adjournment of the Paris peace commission the Filipinos have had agents in Hong Kong busily engaed in fitting out filibustering expeditions from that port. The Hong Kong government is using every effort to prevent such expeditions from leaving the place and English naval officers have received orders to search all vessels suspected of having arms and ammunition destined for the Philippines.

The province of New Chwang is in a state of terror, occasioned by the appearance of 1000 mounted bandits. Numerous outrages have been committed on residents, who are powerless. The merchants have moved their goods to a treaty port, twenty miles south of the invaded districts. Grave fears are entertained that the bandits contemplate a raid on the latter place, which is being fortified.

A serious uprising is reported from the province of Huhpeh against converts. The local authorities are rendering all possible protection to Christians while awaiting the arrival of troops. The Peking government has ordered troops to the scene with orders to the commanding officer to crush the uprising. In case of failure a severe penalty will follow.

By the breaking of ice on a river leading to Tien Tsin 200 persons were precipitated in the water. One hundred and six were drowned.

A report has reached officials at Peking that an assassin was despatched to Japan to take the life of the emperor of Japan. Great excitement was caused by the rumor and a thorough investigation has been ordered.

CAPTURE OF ILOILO.

Effected Without Any Casualties on American Side.

Manilla, Feb. 14.—Gen. Miller reports from Iloilo that that town was taken on Feb. 11 and held by troops. Insurgents given until evening of Feb. 11 to surrender, but their hostile actions brought on engagements during the morning. Insurgents fired native portion of town, but little loss was occasioned to property of inhabitants. No casualties among the United States troops reported. OTIS.

Manilla, Feb. 14.—9:45 a. m.—The United States gunboat Petrel arrived last evening with dispatches from Brig. Gen. Miller to Maj. Otis announcing that Iloilo had been taken by the combined military and naval forces on Saturday morning. Gen. Miller, on the receipt of his instructions from Manilla, sent native commissioners ashore from the United States transport St. Paul with a communication for the rebel governor of Iloilo calling upon him to surrender within a time stated, and warning him not to make a demonstration in the interval.

The natives immediately moved their guns and prepared to defend their position. Thereupon the Petrel fired two warning guns, the rebels immediately opening fire on her. The Petrel and Baltimore then bombarded the town, which the rebels, having set on fire, evacuated.

American troops were promptly landed and extinguished the fires, but not before considerable damage was done.

It is believed the enemy's loss during the bombardment was heavy, but no American causalties are reported.

BIG PAY FOR SOLDIERS.

It Is Alleged That Aguinaldo Offered Spaniards $4 Per Day.

Lonton, Feb.14.—Reuters Telegram company has received the following dispatch from Manilla dated Feb. 13, 3:45 p. m.:

"After the capture of Caloocan, a Spaniard who had been a prisoner there, came to the Americans holding up his hand and said that the Filipinos had offered to release the Spaniards, especially the artillerymen, if they would undertake to fight against the Americans at $4 per day. Most of the Spaniards refused and even those who accepted the offer did so in the hope of effecting an escape.

"The rebels, according to this informant, are discontented, unpaid, unfed and thoroughly disunionized, the talismanic wafers being of no avail against wounds, hunger and fatigue.

"On Friday Aguinaldo visited Polo, a few miles northwest of Caloocan and addressed the Filipino troops there, claiming that he had won a victory and asserting that 230 Americans had been killed."

Following is a copy of an official telegram from Auginaldo received by Agoncillo, which was translated by Senor Marti:

"On Sunday night the American army attacked our lines with premeditation and without justification, and the men-of-war of the American flotilla bombarded simultaneously Malabon, Caloocan and Paranaque, killing men, women and children. In the cities of Manilla and Tendo, defenseless and unoffending civilians were arrested, the Americans, besides, injuring the property of the people, at the same time saying they would never cease till they had exterminated the Filipino race.

"The Filipinos are united with one sentiment. They are resolved to die gloriously for the independence of the Philippines, rather than to submit to the unjust ambitions of the invader."

FILIPINO SHARPSHOOTERS.

They Succeed In Wounding Several of the Americans.

Manilla, Feb. 14.—The Twentieth Kansas and the First Idaho volunteers have been recalled from the marsh lands north of Malabon and the former regiment is now entrenched in front of Caloocan. The American lines form a complete cordon, twenty-two miles in length, from the coast north almost to Pasaqua, south of Manilla.

There has been no change in the disposition of the troops except that the Fourth United States cavalry had relieved the First Idaho volunteers and a battalion of the Twenty-third infantry has been stationed on the left flank to prevent the rebels sneaking along the beach. The enemy are busily throwing up entrenchments on their left, sharpshooters in the jungle covering their operations.

Several Americans were wounded in the trenches. Second Lieut. George A. Seaman of Battery B, Utah artillery, was shot in the leg while standing near his gun. Four men of the Twentieth Kansas volunteers were wounded slightly. Last night Private Brinton, Company B, and Private Stevens, Company G of the Twentieth Kansas, were wounded.

All the enemy's dead at Caloocan have been buried—127 last Sunday and 300 yesterday. The United States cruiser Charleston has moved up the coast and is now off Malalos, the seat of the Filipino government, at a distance estimated at about eight miles.

LOVE'S FLOWER GARDEN.

In Love's Flower Garden there is the full-blown rose of married happiness and the holy perfume of joyous motherhood for every woman who takes proper care of her health in a womanly way. For the weak, sickly, nervous, despondent woman, who suffers untold miseries in silence from weakness and disease of the delicate organs concerned in wifehood and motherhood, there are only thorns, and to her the perfume of motherhood is the aroma of death.

No woman is fitted for the responsibilities of wifehood and the duties of motherhood who is a sufferer in this way. Every woman may be strong and healthy in a womanly way, if she will. It lies with herself. She needs, in the first place, a little knowledge of the reproductive physiology of women. This she can obtain by securing and reading a copy of Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser. It contains 1008 pages and over 300 illustrations. It tells all about all the ordinary ills of life, and how to treat them. Several chapters and illustrations are devoted to the physical make-up of women. It tells how to treat all the diseases peculiar to women. It gives the names, addresses, photographs and experiences of hundreds of women who have been snatched from the verge of the grave to live happy, healthy lives by Dr. Pierce's medicines. This book she can obtain free. It used to cost $1.50, and over seven hundred thousand copies were purchased by women at that price. Over a million women now own copies. For a paper-covered copy send 21 one-cent stamps, to cover cost of mailing only, to World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y. For cloth-binding, send ten cents extra, or 31 one-cent stamps.

WORTHY OF EMULATION.

Pupils In a Bavarian Town to Have Teeth Treated Free.

Washington, Feb. 14.—The city council of Wurzburg, Bavaria, the seat of a university, has just taken action which Commercial Agent Stern at Bamberg says is worthy of imitation in the United States. In accordance with this action, the teeth of the poor pupils of the public schools of Wurzburg are to be examined and cared for, free of cost, provided the parents give their consent. The commercial agent says it is also intended to treat diseases of the ear and throat in a like manner, should the teeth experiment prove successful.

A STEAMER WRECKED.

A Possibility That Members of the Crew Were Lost.

Savannah, Ga., Feb. 14.—The steamship William Lawrence, of the Merchants and Miners line, running between Baltimore and Savannah, is a wreck and probably a total loss off Port Royal, S. C. She left Baltimore Wednesday last with a full cargo but no passengers. Saturday she ran into a severe storm off the South Carolina coast. She became disabled and in a helpless condition drifted ashore near the Port Royal bar. The crew abandoned the ship in six boats. One boat containing A. J. Morrissell, second assistant engineer, and John Canaway, John Donahue, William Seifort, Charles Greene and Frank Bolden, seamen, made Port Royal. Three other boats containing Capt. Willis, the first and second officers and the engineers and members of the crew have not been heard from. The wires are down to Port Royal. Assistant Engineer Morrissell reported today to J. J. Carolan, the company's agent here, giving the facts of the wreck. He has doubts of the survival of the three missing boats as the weather was very severe. The names of the missing men cannot be ascertained here.

Morrissell and his companions suffered terrible hardships from the cold in the open boat and were nearly exhausted when they made land. Agent Carolan expresses hope that the missing boats made land as the ship was near shore when abandoned and that the men have not reported owing to the interruption to the telegraph.

DELLENBAUGH GUILTY.

The Cleveland Judge Is Convicted of Double Dealing.

Cleveland, Feb. 14.—The circuit court has found Judge F. E. Dellenbaugh guilty as charged in the third specification. The sentence of the court was not announced, and it is understood that it will not be made public until after the trial of State Senator Burke, which will begin in a few days.

The third specification in the charges against Dellenbaugh is in connection with the "O. K." which he, as judge, placed on the Manning divorce decree, and in which, it was alleged, he was also interested as counsel. Judge Hale read the verdict. Judge Dellenbaugh was not present when the decision was read, he sitting as judge in the common pleas court.

DIGBY BURNED.

Halifax, N. S., Feb. 14.—The town of Digby, the gateway to the land of Evangeline, was almost wiped out by fire last night. All the business portion of the town is in ashes and the loss will be $200,000. At 2 a. m. the fire is still spreading threatening the Dufferin hotel and the railroad station.

AGED PRELATE DEAD.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Feb. 14.—Very Rev. John Finnen, pastor of St. John's Catholic church, Pittston, and vicar general of the Scranton diocese, died this morning of diabetes, aged 71 years. He came to Pittston in 1859 and built up a great church property in his parish.

Member of Reichstag Talks About That Country's Trade With Us.

A SERIOUS AFFAIR

American Makers Dump Their Surplus Products There at Low Prices.

Berlin, Feb. 14.—In last Saturday's debate in the reichstag, upon the interpellation of Count Von Kanitz, the agrarian leader, regarding the commercial relations between the United States and Germany, Count Posadowsky-Wehner, imperial secretary of state for the interior, made a singularly able and lucid statement of the development of the trade of the United States with Europe, accompanying this with detailed statistics.

Dealing particularly with the trade between the United States and Germany, Count Posadowsky-Wehner said he thought the extraordinary increase of America's exports was not solely due to protection, but also to the industrial productivity of the United States, which was rapidly becoming a great industrial as well as a great agricultural country.

He made a comparison between the years 1890 and 1898, showing a noteworthy diminution of agricultural exports and a large increase in industrial exports. The agrarians, he said, might perhaps welcome these figures, but the reverse of the picture was that the American imports of foreign manufactures had materially declined.

Quoting further statistical comparisons for the same years of America's trade with the various countries of Europe, he said that Gemany's case was worse than England's since the latter chiefly imported cereals, cotton and raw material. Germany, he continued, was already to be seriously affected by American industrial competition. As illustrations he cited the textile, iron and steel and shoemaking industries. In the first eight months of the financial year 1897-8, he said, no less than a third of the whole bicycle export was destined for the German market. This, he continued, was due to the fact that extreme protection not only sustained the prices of bicycles in the United States, but also artificially stimulated the bicycle industry there, and when the crisis came the superfluous production was shown in the German market at reduced prices.

Count Posadowsky-Wehner maintained that the fact of a repudiation by the United States congress of an interpretation of the act of 1842, which Austria had challenged as infringing article 5 of her treaty of 1829 with the United States, was an excellent precedent for Germany to claim the most favored nation treatment in the widest sense. In concluding his speech he estimated that American exports to Germany in 1899 would be found to have amounted to 852,500,000 marks, while American imports from Germany were known to have declined to 344,000,000 marks—a state of affairs warranting th govenment in asking that the treaty of 1828 should be enforced in a spirit of fairness.

WALLER IS PICKED.

San Francisco Wheelmen Think the Dutchman Will Win.

San Francisco, Feb. 14.—The score in the 6-day bicycle race at 2 a. m. was as follows:

Waller, Miller, Gimm, 63 miles and 5 laps; Pierce, 63 miles, 6 laps; Alberts, 63 miles, 4 laps; Lawson 63 miles, 5 laps; Nawn, 63 miles, 6 laps; Aaronson, 63 miles, 6 laps; Julius, Stevens, 63 miles, 6 laps; Frederick 63 miles, 5 laps; Turville, 57 miles, 2 laps; Chapman, 63 miles, 7 laps; Barnaby, 64 miles; Hannant, 63 miles; Ashinger, 63 miles, 3 laps; Pilkington, 63 miles, 2 laps.

After the McFarland-Goodman match Champion Elkes said that he would give McFarland two laps in a 10-mile match and agree to beat him. The match will probably be made. Much interest is taken by local wheelmen in Waller, the "Flying Dutchman," who rides under the colors of the Acme club, of Oakland, to which he belonged ten years ago. He is in good condition and many predict he will win the great race.

Frequent sprints placed Tom Barnaby, of Boston, in the lead at the sixth hour in the 6-day race. Chapman and Pierce also sprinted and held one lap to the lead of the champion, Miller, who found it impossible to gain a lap, although he made the attempt frequently. The cold building slowed the men. Pierce lost his lap in changing wheels early in the morning. Turville was troubled with cramps.

Score at 5 a. m., the sixth hour: Pierce, Lawson, Stevens, Waller, Nawn, Julius, Miller, Gimm, Aaronson, Fredericks, 123 miles, 7 laps; Barnaby, 124 miles, 1 lap; Chapman, 124 miles; Ashinger, Hale, 123 miles, 3 laps; Pilkington, Alberts, 123 miles and 1 lap; Hannant, 120 miles; Turville, 117 miles, 5 laps.

ATTACKS ON IRELAND.

Said to Be Promoted By the Jesuits Order.

London, Feb. 14.—The Rome correspondent of the Morning Post, referring to attacks published there upon Archbishop Ireland and Cardinal Rampolla, papal secretary of state, by the "anti-Americanism party" says:

"These attacks seem to be promoted by the Jesuits, and, judging by the excitement they have caused, they are bad omens for the future of Americanism."

THE FLYER LATE.

Spokane, Wash., Feb. 14.—After being snowed in for twenty-four hours near Durham, nine miles west of Blackfoot, Mont., in the Rocky mountains, the Great Northern mail "flyer" has arrived here, twenty-five hours late. The services of two rotaries with a large force of men were required to dig the train out of eight feet of snow. The line is now open and being kept so by constant snow plowing.

LAVIGNE TO FIGHT SMITH.

San Francisco, Feb. 14.—"Mysterious" Billy Smith and George ("Kid") Lavigne have been matched to fight twenty rounds in Woodard's pavilion on March 10, under the auspices of the Excelsior club. The purse will be 60 per cent of the gate receipts.

SMALLPOX RAGING.

Muscogee, I. T., Feb. 14.—A courier arrived here today from Morse, in the western part of the Creek nation, bringing news that smallpox is raging in that section and that not less than thirty-five persons had died of it in the last few weeks. The victims were negroes and Indians.

MR. BENHAM RESIGNS.

Seattle, Wash., Feb. 14.—W. L. Benham, Western freight manager of the Great Northern railroad, with headquarters at Seattle, has resigned.

Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup is the best remedy for coughs, colds, sore throat and grippe. This is the verdict of the people.

THE FIREMAN KILLED.

Seventeen Passengers Injured By a Train Leaving the Track.

Pittsburg, Feb. 14.—The south bound train on the Pittsburg & Lake Erie railroad, which left Cleveland at 11:18 a. m., was wrecked yesterday afternoon near Fleming Park, opposite Davis island. The fireman was injured so badly that he died and seventeen passengers were badly injured. A partial list of the dead and injured is as follows:

W. A. Campbell, fireman, found lying under the trucks of the baggage car; died before medical aid could be summoned. John Totten, engineer, painfully, but not fatally injured. George Neese, baggagemaster, cut about the head and arms; taken to the hospital, will live. James B. Yohe, a son of Superintendent J. B. Yohe of the Pittsburg & Lake Erie road, badly cut about head and face. He was traveling in the parlor car with his father. Miss Mary Kelly, Youngstown, Ohio, arms and neck badly injured. H. C. Barr, New Castle, leg and arms injured. B. C. Cato, Aliquippa, hurt about the back. E. S. Hubbard, Hotel Henry, not badly injured. C. P. Wagner, Newcastle, slightly injured. Samuel W. Armstrong, Newcastle. Caleb Welsh, conductor, McKeesport.

The wreck was caused by a broken rail.

DID NOT ASK IT.

Canadian Denies That the Cession of Skaguay, Alaska, Was Asked.

Chicago, Feb. 14.—John Charlton, one of the Canadian members of the joint high commission, who spoke before the Marquette club last night, states in an interview that the Canadian commissioners had not made the reported demand for the cession of Skaguay in determining the Alaskan boundary line.

"That is merely a newspaper surmise," he said, "and without any foundation. The Canadian commissioners have not made a demand for the cession of Skaguay. We hope to have the boundary question settled satisfactorily, but in what way I am not at liberty to state. I wish I were able to give some of the interesting material which we have, but the commission has made it a point to reserve all the details of its conferences until some definite result shall have been reached."

Mr. Charlton will return today to Washington, where he left the commission on Friday.

THE GERMANIC SINKS.

She Could Not Withstand the Heavy Ice Coating.

New York, Feb. 14.—The White Star liner Germanic sank at her pier in North river last evening and is now lying partially submerged. The accident is said to have been due to the heavy coating of ice which formed on the sides of the steamer. The continued loading of coal, combined with the heavy coat of ice, caused the steamer to list and slowly sink to the bottom. It is said that no one was injured.

CONDENSED DISPATCHES.

Carlos Garcia, the son of the late Gen. Calixto Garcia, has sent a letter to the executive committee of the assembly of the Cuban army, in which he declares that the abandoning of his father's body at the funeral was a cowardly act, and characterizes it as shameful, insulting and incompatible with the honor of the Cuban army.

El Correo, the organ of Don Carlos, prints a letter from the pretender forbidding his partisans to attend the sitting of the chamber when the peace treaty with the United States is discussed.

Ben Graves, Alexandria, Ark., and Will Johnson, Colorado county, Texas, farmers, froze to death while walking from McKinley to their homes.

A fatal railroad wreck occurred yesterday afternoon at Gallagherville, three miles west of Downingtown, Pa. The second section of the fast line east crashed into the rear of the first section. Engineer Joseph Smith and Fireman Corson were killed outright. Smith is pinned down under the engine. A number of passengers were injured. It is impossible to get further particulars of the accident at this point.

Viewed from a hygienic standpoint in its effect on the yellow fever germs, the freeze in the South is a blessing to the people of that section, according to Dr. Wyman, the surgeon general of the Marine hospital corps.

Senator Fairbanks, from the senate committee on immigration, reported back to the senate the bill extending the anti-contract labor laws of the United States to Hawaii with amendments making the bill cover all immigration questions. The amendments specifically include the Chinese exclusion acts.

Delaware & Hudson train No. 4, which left Montreal this morning, was derailed near Cummings Station, N. Y., yesterday afternoon. The engine turned over, and the engineer, W. S. Combs, and his little boy, 10 years old, were killed. The rest of the train hands and passengers escaped.

FIREMEN RESCUED.

New York, Feb. 14.—Public school No. 20 in Jersey City was burned today. Jennett's photograph apparatus factory, Gottberg's glass picture factory and John Matenheimer's residence were damaged. The total loss is about $75,000.

Battalion Fire Chief Hogan and three other firemen were half benumbed by the cold. They went into Gottberg's factory and were overcome by the smoke. They were rescued in an unconscious condition by other firemen and taken to a hospital.

RAILROAD BUILDER DEAD.

Toronto, Feb. 14.—Hugh Ryan, the railroad contractor, is dead, aged 65 years. In addition to building hundreds of miles of railway throughout Canada, he also was the contractor for the Sault Ste. Marie canal and built railways in Michigan, Illinois, Kentucky and Maine.

A STREET DUEL.

De Kalb, Texas, Feb. 14.—Three men were killed in a street fight here today and one wounded. B. F. Blocker shot and killed Frank Pittman, whereupon friends of the latter, bent upon revenge, caused a great deal of disorder. An attempt to arrest some of them brought fire arms into play and as a result John Hughes and Joe Duke were killed and Constable Dobbins was wounded.

THE MARDI GRAS.

New Orleans, Feb. 14.—Rex arrived yesterday accompanied by a fine float, including the Detroit. The Chicago has not yet arrived. The military display was creditable despite the snow. Proteus postponed his night parade and Comus his night parade tomorrow. More than the usual number of strangers are in the city, including many American, Cuban and Mexican editors, Essenic knights and visitors to other conventions.

A TAME FIGHT.

Cincinnati, Feb. 14.—Charlie Goff, of California, secured the decision over Charlie Johnson, of Philadelphia, before the People's Athletic club here last night. The fight was tame throughout and the unanimous opinion of the large crowd present was that the bout was pre-arranged.

Discovered By a Woman.

Another great discovery has been made, and that too, by a lady in this country. "Disease fastened its clutches upon her and for seven years she withstood its severest tests, but her vital organs were undermined and death seemed imminent. For three months she coughed incessantly, and could not sleep. She finally discovered a way to recovery, by purchasing of us a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, and was so much relieved on taking first dose, that she slept all night; and with two bottles, has been absolutely cured. Her name is Mrs. Luther Lutz. Thus writes W. C. Hamnick & Co., of Shelby, N. C. Trial bottles free at Duluth Drug company's drug store. Regular size 50 cents and $1. Every bottle guaranteed.

BEFORE and AFTER

LINCOLN'S BIRTHDAY.

It Is Celebrated By the Hennepin Republican Club.

Minneapolis, Feb. 14.—The Hennepin Republican club honored the memory of Abraham Lincoln last night with a banquet. More than 300 members were present. The eulogium on the great emancipator, the chief theme of the occasion, was assigned to ex-Attorney General Moses E. Clapp.

Frank E. Nye, a brother of the late "Bill" Nye, responded to the toast "The Administration." His assertion that the course of the administration of President McKinley and the Republican party would be justified by the future was greatly applauded.

M. J. Dowling, formerly secretary of the National Republican league, spoke of "Lincoln as a Politician."

Lieut. Gov. Lyndon A. Smith responded to the toast "The State of Minnesota."

Darius F. Reese, clerk of the supreme court, spoke to the sentiment "If Lincoln Lived Today."

Other speakers and toasts were: United States District Attorney R. G. Evans, "Past, Present and Future;" A. N. Dare, speaker of the house of representatives, "The Full House;" Ira B. Mills, chairman of the state railway commission, "The Granger Republican."

DIVORCE IN HIGH LIFE.

London, Feb. 14.—Baron Karl de Merck has secured a divorce on the ground of adultery committed by his wife with her maid's brother. The baroness was formerly Miss Lillian Young, and is said to be an American woman.

Francis C. Baring today was awarded a decree of divorce on the ground that his wife had been guilty of adultery with his cousin, the Hon. Reginald Thomas Dudley Brougham, brother of Baron Brougham. All the parties to this suit are well known in society.

A JEWISH SOCIETY.

Philadelphia, Feb. 14.—At yesterday's session of the grand lodge of the Independent Order B'Rith Abraham, the retiring grand master, Max Stern, of New York, was presented with a check for $2000 as a testimonial of his labors in behalf of the order. Simon Schellinski, of New York, was elected grand master for the ensuing year, and Jacob Scheon, of New York, was re-elected grand secretary. It was decided to reduce the order's death assessment from 5 to 4 cents. Over 400 delegates were present at today's session.

DECLINE IN WHEAT

Market Started Out Strong and Higher But Prices Soon Weakened.

DROP IN RECEIPTS

Large Increase In the European Visible and Other Bearish News.

Duluth Board of Trade, Feb. 14.—After a two-days' holiday, the wheat market opened strong and higher this morning. There was a decided falling off in the Northwest receipts and foreigners were said to be buying the March delivery at the seaboard. There was some bearish news, however, that soon wiped out most of the early strength. The world's shipments were large and an increase was noted in the Russian output. There was also a large increase in the European visible and the amount on passage showed an increase. Another bearish feature was the information that the severe cold weather has done no serious damage to the winter wheat crop. These influences combined to weaken the market and prices steadily declined to the close, which was ⅝c lower here and ½@⅝c lower at Chicago than on Saturday for the May option.

Trading in futures was dull on the Duluth board. May wheat opened ⅛c higher at 73c, sold up to 73⅛c at 9:33, reacted to 72⅞c at 11:40 and was quoted at 72½c at noon. It closed at 72½c, showing a net loss of ⅝c for the day. There was a fair amount of cash business, 65,000 bus being sold at 1½c under May for wheat to arrive and 2½c under for spot stuff. May corn and rye each advanced ½c, while oats declined ½c. Cash flax closed ¼c higher. About 60,000 bus of May flax was sold at $1.20 and $1.21 and it showed a net advance of 1c for the day. Following were the closing prices:

Wheat—No. 1 hard, cash, 71⅝c; February, 71⅝c; May, 72½c; July, 74⅝c. No. 1 northern, cash 69⅝c; February, 72⅛c; July, 72⅝c. No. 2 northern, 66⅜c. No. 3 spring, 62c. To arrive—No. 1 hard, 72⅞c; No. 1 northern, 70⅝c. Oats, 29½@29c. Rye, 55⅝c. Barley, 40@46c. Flax, $1.18; May, $1.20½. Corn, 34½c; May, 35c.

Car inspection—Wheat, 250; corn, 217; oats, 36; rye, 14; flax, 11. Receipts—Wheat, 104,987 bus; corn, 58,136 bus; oats, 7665 bus; rye, 1308 bus; barley, 1370 bus; flax, 3883 bus. Shipments—Wheat, 3004 bus.

BOARD NOTES.

ON THE CHICAGO BOARD.

Moderate Receipts and Higher Cables Develop Strength In Wheat.

Chicago, Feb. 14.—Moderate receipts and higher cables today developed decided strength in wheat at the commencement. May opened ⅝@⅞c higher at 73¾@74c and as foreigners were reported to be heavy buyers of the March delivery at the seaboard traders here became quite bullish and the price touched 74⅛c during the first hour's trading. Receipts here were only 138 cars of which 10 graded contract. There was a sharp falling off in the arrivals in the Northwest, Minneapolis and Duluth receiving only 738 carloads for two days. The world's shipments were large, amounting to 8,332,000 bus, with an increase in the Russian output. The European visible shows an increase of 1,040,000 bus and an increase of 1,440,000 bus on passage was reported. This latter piece of information together with milder weather and reports from the winter wheat districts that no serious damage had been done by the recent severe cold started several prominent traders selling short and May sank slowly to 73⅝c.

Light acceptances from the country and higher cables started corn strong. There was a good speculative demand by receiving houses and the opening advance was well maintained. Receipts, 883 cars. May opened ⅛@¼c higher at 37⅝@¾c and after touching 37⅞c, firmed up and held steady at 37⅝c.

Oats ruled active and higher with heavy buying by commission houses the feature. Receipts, 415 cars. May began ¼c up at 29c, rose to 29⅛c, then reacted to 28⅞c.

Lower prices for hogs at the yards and scattered selling by packers burdened provisions. May pork started unchanged at $10.12 and declined to $10.07. May lard opened a shade lower at $5.70 and declined to $5.67. May ribs began unchanged at $5.07 and sold off to $5.02@5.05.

Close: May, 72¾@72⅞c; July, 71¾c. Corn, February, 35½c; May, 37@37⅛c; July, 37⅞c; September, 38c. Oats, February, 27⅜c; May, 28⅝c; July, 26¼@26⅜c. Pork, February, $9.80; May, $10.00@10.02½. Lard, February, $5.45; May, $5.62½@5.65; July, $5.75; September, $5.77½. Ribs, May, $5.00@5.02½; July, $5.12½; September, $5.25. Cash: No. 2 red wheat, 73c; No. 3, 67@71c; No. 2 hard, 67@67½c; No. 3 hard, 65@67c; No. 1 northern, spring, 71@72½c; No. 2 northern, spring, 67@71½c; No. 3 spring, 65@67c. ### GOSSIP.

Received over private wire of B. E. Baker, grain and stock broker, room 107 Chamber of Commerce, and 307 Board of Trade.

Chicago, Feb. 14.—Total world's wheat shipments the past week, 7,880,000 bus. Russian shipments show quite an increase amounting to 1,080,000 bus for the week. American visible supply increased 1,770,000 bus. English visible increased 356,000 bus. Northwestern cars were heavier than for some time, amounting to 738. English markets were a penny higher. Broomhall cabled us that India and Russian offerings were of a sparse nature. Minneapolis reports sales of flour for two days amounting to 80,000 bbls. Wheat on passage 30,800,000 bus, which is a decrease compared with a year ago of 4,920,000 bus. Available stocks of wheat in all positions are a trifle less than 10,000 bus compared with last year. Clearances today were very light compared with the immediate past, amounting in all to 260,000 bus. About 25 loads sold for export. The market opened strong based on the advance on the other side but it did not hold, in fact quite an apathy on part of great many traders who are inclined to hold off and look on and watch for results. There is one thing that we would desire to impress on the minds of the people who are interested in wheat and that is that previous to this long spell of extreme cold weather no moisture had appeared in a large section of the winter wheat belt. There can hardly be a doubt but that considerable damage has been done to the growing plant, which will demonstrate itself later on. Therefore it would seem as if purchases made on weak spots should prove profitable to the investor. We rather look for a dragging market. Corn, oats and provisions seemed to be in the dumps, and the selling seemed to be better than the buying. Some fine day in the near future we look for a complete transformation all along the line.

THE COTTON MARKET.

Bullish Cables and Bad Weather News From the South.

New York, Feb. 14.—The cotton market opened 8 to 11 points higher, firm in tone, on very bullish cables and bad weather news from the South. Trading during the first hour was very heavy and general with Liverpool and the continent leading in the buying movement. Local shorts sought cover freely, giving special attention to the nearer deliveries. The reported failure of a large spot cotton house in Liverpool added to the unrest in local circles. Commission houses were seen to be buying and selling on the rise, the former being in the crop months and the latter in the spring and summer deliveries to take profits. A feature of the foreign news was an advance of 3-32d in spot cotton to the basis of 3 7-16 for middling with a good business doing at the higher level.

Spot cotton closed quiet and firm at an advance of 1-16c; middling uplands, 6 9-16c; middling gulf, 6 13-16c; sales, 1200 bales. Cotton futures closed steady: February, $6.28; March, $6.29; April, $6.27; May, $6.28; June, $6.26; July, $6.27; August, $6.29; September and October, $6.28; November, $6.20; December, $6.23.

Messrs. Carson and Hillyer Obtain Records of Temperature at Seine River.

A FINE POLO GAME

Gophers and Marinettes Expected to Put Up a Hot Contest.

Now that the cold weather has moderated it is perhaps safe to talk about cold records. When Messrs. Carson and Hillyer recently departed for the Seine river country to visit the Alice A gold mine they purchased a thermometer to take along with them and made sure to get a good one. The first morning after their arrival at the mine the thermometer recorded 59 degrees below zero and remained almost stationary below the 50 mark during their entire stay. Notwithstanding this low temperature, however, there was but little suffering among the miners and residents of the gold district as they were generally prepared for just such weather and did their work with very little inconvenience.

Work at the mine is progressing favorably and two stamps are pounding on the rock. The mill capacity will be increased to twenty stamps in the early spring.

GOPHERS WILL PLAY.

The Endion polo team cancelled their game with the Marinettes yesterday, but fortunately the Gophers of Duluth will take their places and an exciting contest is sure to be the result this evening. The West Duluth boys are smarting under their recent defeat and they propose to win this game, if possible. The Endions thought more of attending a dance than they did of keeping their engagement for tonight.

DEATH OF W. C. EDWARDS.

W. C. Edwards, a blacksmith, and an old resident of Smithville, died this morning from pneumonia with complications. He was about 45 years old and leaves a widow, but no children. He was sick about three weeks. Just previous to his illness he was employed by the Stone-Ordean-Wells company in Duluth. Mr. Edwards had resided in Smithville for ten years past and enjoyed the respect and esteem of all his neighbors. Arrangements for funeral have not been completed.

WEST DULUTH BRIEFS.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Lawrence departed today for their new home in St. Louis. They will stop for a time at Motley, Minn., to visit with the relatives of Mr. Lawrence.

P. A. Mitchell, manager of the Duluth Transfer Railway company, is moving his family into the Crawford house.

Henry Breen is reported to be ill.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Carlson, of 120 Fifty-eighth avenue west, yesterday morning.

The Royal Neighbors will give a basket social at their hall tomorrow evening.

Arrangements are being made by West Superior and Duluth parties to hold a grand skating carnival at the Marinette rink on Feb. 20, 21 and 22. It is proposed to bring some of the crack skaters of the Northwest here for races and contests in fancy skating.

W. B. Hartley, who attended the grand lodge of the Modern Woodmen in St. Paul, says that West Duluth fared exceedingly well in the distribution of offices. Judge Boyle was elected delegate to the head camp, which is the national convention, and Mr. Hartley was chosen as state clerk.

The dance given by the Lady Companions last evening was largely attended and very enjoyable.

E. G. Ketchum has gone to Chicago on business.

A masquerade dance will be given at Isaacson & Kauppi's hall on Saturday evening, Feb. 18.

McMILLAN IS CONFIDENT.

Duncan A. McMillan, the champion mixed style wrestler of America, for which he holds the Police Gazette belt, called at The Herald office this morning. He feels confident of winning his match with Hjalmar Lundin tomorrow night, although, he says, on account of Lundin's immense strength, the handicap is a strong one. McMillan is a big, raw-boned Scotchman, and Lundin will have no advantage in the matter of size in this match.

Candidates For Office.

Two Republican candidates for city clerk have bobbed up, Frank Wyman and Walter Thompson. Mr. Thompson was a candidate for the nomination for alderman in the Fifth ward.

The term of C. W. Wilson of the board of public works expires next month. Thus far no candidates to succeed him have appeared.

It is stated that Mr. McCormick will not make any change in the comptroller's office before May 1.

Fitzgerald-Sellwood Marriage.

At 7:45 o'clock this evening Miss Ella Eugene Fitzgerald, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Fitzgerald, of 1815 East Superior street, and Richard M. Sellwood will be married at the episcopal residence of the cathedral. Rev. Father Corbett will perform the ceremony. Relatives and a number of friends will be present at the ceremony.

ORDER FOR HEARING ON CLAIMS.—State of Minnesota, County of St. Louis.—ss.

In Probate Court, Special Term, January 31, 1899.

In the Matter of the Estate of Peter Hanson, Deceased:

Letters of administration on the estate of said deceased being this day granted unto J. J. Eklund of said county,

It is ordered, that all claims and demands of all persons against said estate be presented to this court, for examination and allowance, at the probate office, in Duluth, in said county, on the following day, viz: Monday, the 7th day of August, A. D. 1899.

It is further ordered, that six months from the date hereof be allowed to creditors to present their claims against said estate, at the expiration of which time all claims not presented to said court, or not proven to its satisfaction, shall be forever barred, unless, for cause shown, further time be allowed.

Ordered further, that notice of the time and place of the hearing and examination of said claims and demands shall be given by publishing this order once in each week, for three successive weeks prior to the day appointed for such examination, in The Duluth Evening Herald, a daily newspaper printed and published in said county.

Dated at Duluth, Minn., the 31st day of January, A. D. 1899.

By the Court,

MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE.—

Default has been made in the payment of the sum of nine thousand six hundred twenty-two and 34-100 ($9622.34) dollars, which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice on a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by William A. Foote, Helen M. Foote, John C. Eckert and Rachel A. Eckert, mortgagors, to Solomon L. Gillette, mortgagee, bearing date the first day of October, 1892, and with a power of sale therein contained duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for the county of St. Louis ahd state of Minnesota, on the 19th day of October, 1892, at 4 o'clock p. m., in Book 103 of mortgages, page 186.

After the execution and delivery of said mortgage the said mortgagee, Solomon L. Gillette died testate in the county of Chemung, in the state of New York, and on the 26th day of March, 1894, Kate M. Gillett, Robert T. Turner, Charles W. Gillett and William M. Ufford were by the surrogate's court of the county of Chemung, duly appointed executors of the estate of said Solomon L. Gillette, and the duly certified copy of their appointment as such executors was duly filed in the office of the register of deeds for St. Louis County, Minnesota, on the 14th day of February, 1899, at 10:15 o'clock a. m., in Book M of miscellaneous, page 361. And no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described therein, which are situated in St. Louis County, Minnesota, and described as follows, to-wit:

Lots numbered three hundred eighty-one (381) and three hundred eighty-three (383), of block fifty (50), Duluth Proper, Second Division, according to the recorded plat thereof, together with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said St. Louis County, at the front door of the court house, in the city of Duluth, in said county and state, on the 30th day of March, 1899, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of that day at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash to pay said debt of nine thousand six hundred twenty-two and 34-100 ($9622.34) dollars and interest, and one hundred dollars ($100) attorneys' fees as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Dated Duluth, Minn., Feb. 14th, 1899.

STATE OF MINNESOTA, COUNTY OF St. Louis.—ss.

District Court, Eleventh Judicial District.

In the Matter of the Assignment of Charles E. Lovett and Basil D. Brown, Co-Partners as C. E. Lovett & Co., Charles E. Lovett and Basil D. Brown, Insolvents:

In the above entitled matter, it appearing that all the assets of said insolvents have been reduced to money, and that the time limited for filing proofs of claims against said insolvents has expired, and a summary statement of receipts and disbursements having been made and filed, it is hereby

Ordered, that all persons having claims against said insolvents (individually or as a firm) existing on July 30th, 1895, and who have duly filed such claims with A. W. Bradley, assignee of said insolvents, before or on January 30th, 1899, shall now file with the clerk of this court releases of all such claims as provided by law, on or before March 11th, 1899, or be barred from sharing in the proceeds of the estate of said insolvents. And it is further

Ordered, that this order be published for two successive days in a daily newspaper published in Duluth, Minnesota, and that a copy thereof, with summary statement, be mailed to each creditor who has proved his claim as aforesaid and has not filed releases thereof, within five days from the date hereof.

Dated Feb. 11th, 1899.

ENGLAND AS A COLONIZER.

The News Tribune cites England's alleged successful government in India as a reason why the United States should follow a similar policy. The News Tribune evidently has not studied English government in India very closely.

At the London Indian society's conference, held in London in December, 1897, the resolutions speak of "the evils and terrible misery that India has been suffering for a century and a half," the terrible "famine and plague," the "stupid and suicidal frontier war," "its savagery and wholesale destruction of villages," "persecution for sedition," charge of disloyalty against educated Indians, the curtailment of the liberty of the press, despotism, and, above all, the unrighteous system of government, which causes an ever increasing bleeding of the country, maintained by "political hypocrisy and continual subterfuges," "in violation of the most solemn and repeated pledges of the British nation and sovereign. * * * That unless the present unrighteous and un-British system of government is thoroughly reformed * * * destruction to India and disaster to the British empire must be the inevitable result."

The same body met again on June 20, 1898, and passed resolutions of the same tenor, adding one which condemned the closing of the Indian mints to silver * * * "Thereby raising the true rupee of about 11d gold to a false rupee of 16d gold, a covert act of exacting 45 per cent more taxation from the Indians, and at the same time increasing the salaries of officials and other government payments to the same extent."

Dadabhai Naoroji, in his statement to the British-Indian currency committee, under date of Oct. 20, 1898, says:

"My remarks are for British-India only. In reality there are two Indias—one the prosperous, the other the poverty-stricken. The prosperous India is the India of the British and other foreigners. They exploit India as officials, non-officials, capitalists, in a variety of ways, and carry away enormous wealth to their own country. To them India is, of course, rich and prosperous. The more they can carry away the richer and more prosperous India is to them. These British and other foreigners cannot understand and realize why India can be called 'extremely poor' when they can make their life careers, they can draw so much wealth from it and enrich their own country. It seldom occurs to them, if at all, what all that means to the Indians themselves.

"The second India is the India of the Indians, the poverty-stricken India. This India, 'bled' and exploited in every way of their wealth, of their services, of their land, labor and all resources by the foreigners, helpless and voiceless, governed by the arbitrary law and argument of force, and with injustice and unrighteousness—this India of the Indians becomes the 'poorest' country in the world, after 150 years of British rule, to the disgrace of the British name. The greater the drain, the greater the impoverishment, resulting in all the scourges of war, famine and pestilence. Lord Salisbury's words face us at every turn, 'Injustice will bring down the mightiest to ruin.'"

Mr. Naoroji illustrates the matter in his statement to the British Indian currency committee by explaining that the appreciated rupee calls for one and one-half maunds of rice from the Indian taxpayer, where formerly one maund would have paid his indebtedness. This experience of the Indian farmer is not unknown to his agricultural brother in America.

The resolutions close with the same ominous warning voiced by the preceding conference: "That until this most deplorable bleeding of India is stopped there is little chance, if any, of saving India and the British empire from serious disaster or destruction, and lastly, that the constitution of the present currency committee is utterly unsatisfactory, as the suffering Indian taxpayer is not at all represented."

Further information of this character may be furnished to the News Tribune if it desires it to bolster up its claim that "not a British colony but is the better for the coming of the Briton."

It is really too bad that the American colonists were so foolish as to rebel against such a beneficent government and such a humane people!

SURPRISING REQUESTS.

All the newspapers in St. Louis county that have published an edition since it became known that County Attorney Phelps wants his salary increased from $2500 to $3500 a year have united in saying that there is no good reason why the salary of the county attorney should be raised, especially when retrenchment is the order of the day everywhere, and they have suggested that if he can not devote his time to the service of the county at the present salary, he can resign. There are other attorneys, fully capable of being prosecuting attorney of the county, who are ready to take the position if Mr. Phelps desires to step out. Nor should any bill be passed by the legislature permitting an increase in the county attorney's salary. The amount now fixed is large enough, and no power should be given to the county commissioners to raise it.

Another circumstance that calls for mention is the recent effort of the county treasurer to have the salary list of his office increased $2000 a year. What he intended to do with the additional clerks is a mystery, because the present force is not overworked and there is no prospect of any additional work being imposed on the office. The same is true of the county auditor's request for an additional allowance of $2500 for clerk hire. It is pleasing to note that the county board sat down on both requests. It is surprising that these officials should have ventured to suggest any increase in the expenses of conducting their offices, especially when there is an endeavor to cut down both the county and city expenditures and reduce the burden of taxation.

It appears from the current mercantile reviews that the first month of 1899 shows the smallest month's record of failures, with two exceptions, since January, 1894, when the liabilities amounted to $32,319,232. The past month they were $7,721,897, a falling off of $24,697,355 from five years ago. Compared with January, 1898, the liabilities are $2,729,616 smaller in a total of $10,451,513. In 1897 the liabilities amounted to $18,359,585, and the year before to $21,735,743. These are indubitable proofs of improvement in business conditions.

A writer in the current Cosmopolitan who is familiar with life in the Philippines says that "Filipino" means a person of pure Spanish extraction born in the Philippine islands. The people of mixed blood are Meztizos, while the Spaniards call the aborigines "Indians." The same writer says that the Indians of Luzon hate those of Panay, while both are cordially hated by the Mahometans of Mindanao.

Of course Iloilo has been captured by our army and navy. It could not be otherwise. The odds against the Filipinos are too great and they must yield to the greater power. But at the same time it should not be forgotten that they are fighting, as they believe, for their homes and liberty.

The News Tribune is a true blue imperialist. "There is little more regret," it declares, "in the death of 10,000 Filipinos than in the cutting down of as many pine trees in the United States." Some of the imperialists are not so frank in exposing to the public gaze their inhuman feelings.

An exchange points out that if the czar's peace plan should prove more than an iridescent dream and the war navies of the world be disbanded, just 1,696,000 men employed therein would be forced to seek peaceful employments. And thus labor's competition would be increased.

Senator Davis took occasion in his address to the Ohio Republican clubs at Dayton to refer to President McKinley as deserving of renomination and re-election. The Minnesota senator will postpone his presidential ambition until a later date than 1900.

In case Canada becomes a part of the United States, a Missourian proposes the following motto for the Greater America: "United we stand; divided by Niagara Falls.

The Cincinnati school boy, Master Good, who essayed the feat of collecting enough nickels from the school children to build a battleship, to be called the American Boy, actually did get $20,000 together.

The St. Louis Post-Dispatch says that when Gen. Otis gets through his work of mowing down the Filipinos like grass the missionaries will have to wait for a new crop.

There is hardly a federal office-holder in Duluth who will deny that William McKinley is a greater man than was Abraham Lincoln.

Perhaps the frigid East and South will hereafter refrain from referring to the West as the home of the blizzard.

THE DAKOTAS.

Important Legislation Yet to Be Considered In North Dakota.

NORTH DAKOTA.

Bismarck—The present legislative session will last but three weeks longer, and to finish up all work before the house will require steady work. In all, 276 bills have been introduced, of which 124 are in the senate and 152 in the house.

Some interesting bills have passed either the senate or house and await adoption by the other branch. Important legislation is in committee, such as Arnold's temperance bill, and Luke's primary election law, abolishing county conventions. Other primary election laws which are being considered have been offered by Baker, Winslow, Lynch and Little.

Twitchell's bill for the assessment of express and other companies; Earle's boiler inspection bill; Diesem's 3-cent mileage fare on roads and Stevens' general law covering negotiable instruments, are under consideration. None of the institution appropriation bills have been reported back from committees, and there will be amendments in committee reducing aggregate amounts to be appropriated. The coming week will be a busy one for both houses.

Lisbon—While the thermometer was down in the neighborhood of 25 degrees below zero and a brisk northerly wind skipping over the frozen prairie, the dwelling house of W. H. Hulett, a well-known farmer and district assessor, a few miles from Lisbon, caught fire from some burning fat in the oven of the cook stove upon which Mrs. Hulett threw some cold water, which scattered the fiery substance all over the floor, and the house was totally consumed, together with every article of personal property therein. Mrs. Hulett and the little children escaped with nothing but what clothes they had on. The family is being taken care of at the residence of Mrs. Hulett's father, A. A. Gates, in Lisbon.

Devils Lake—Early Sunday morning fire was discovered in John Daely's two-story frame building, known as the Hobjera flats. The firemen had the fire nearly out when the nipple on the pump of the engine broke and the water supply was cut off. The fire then started up in real earnest and burned and burned all the buildings for half a block to the alley. The Sevilla hotel was completely destroyed. The two-story frame building of John Daely was destroyed, insured for $3400, including contents; the Inter-Ocean building, belonging to United States Senator Hansbrough, the contents being saved, except the large press and engine. Insurance $1000 on the buildings, $2500 on the contents; S. J. Small, editor Inter-Ocean, lost all his household furniture, insured for $700; Hugh Fitzsimmons' two-story frame building was destroyed, insurance $1000. Insurance covers the loss on all except Small's and Fitzsimmons' property. The cause of the fire is unknown.

Fargo—Only five Fargo birds were exhibited at the St. Paul poultry show, and three of them secured first prizes.

An old colored man, who left Fargo recently to look for work, was found by Northern Pacific trainmen Saturday near Winnipeg Junction lying alongside the track. He was brought to the hospital here in a badly frozen condition. He had been overcome by the cold.

Col. Lounsberry has had W. J. Higgins arrested on the charge of uttering fraudulent paper. Higgins was taken before Judge Hanson and placed under bonds for the preliminary hearing, which will occur Wednesday. Higgins was formerly secretary of the Record Publishing company.

The appointment of John Shippam as private secretary of Senator McCumber pleases the many friends of the former in Fargo. He is well known here.

Straubville—No trace has been found of Andrew Ecklund, who disappeared from his home near this place on Dec. 22. He was about 40 years old and had only one hand, his right hand having been severed at the wrist. No reason can be given for his leaving home, and his friends fear that he started for some neighboring town on foot and was frozen to death or met with foul play. His dog which always followed him returned about a week afterwards. The man is supposed to have had $40 or $60 about his person when he disappeared.

Hankinson—Fire Sunday morning destroyed the dwelling of N. Billington, of this place. Everything was lost, the family barely escaping in their night clothes. No insurance. A collection is being taken to provide them with shelter and clothing.

SOUTH DAKOTA.

Sioux Falls—Great interest is manifested by the residents south of here along the Iowa boundary in the trial of Mrs. Alice Blood, charged with the murder of her husband, which will take place during a term of district court, which convenes tomorrow in Sioux county, Iowa. The murder occurred on the morning of Nov. 16 last. The deed was committed with a revolver while the husband was sitting at the breakfast table. From what neighbors say, George H. Blood, the murdered man, while industrious and well-to-do, was abusive to his wife and family, frequently striking his wife and making the lives of herself and children miserable and unbearable. The immediate cause of the tragedy was the declaration of Blood the night before the murder that their eldest daughter, Nellie, who has been attending the Hull academy, was old enough and big enough to go out and earn her own living, and that he proposed to make her do it. Mrs. Blood acknowledged that she killed her husband. Insanity will be the defense.

Deadwood—Among the witnesses from the Eastern part of the state who are attending United States court in this city is C. O. Davis, superintendent of the Indian school at Pierre. He states that the total attendance of the school at present is 147. When Mr. Davis was asked whether it pays to educate an Indian, he answered that it rarely did. The Indian pupils are usually very bright in everything except mathematics. Invariably the Indian boys show much skill and ingenuity in the trades, but, no matter how well educated the Indian pupils are, when they go back to the reservation they are soon absorbed in the race. A few will hold to the white man's ways.

Miller—C. D. Hazen, who opened the first store here seventeen years ago, died yesterday of consumption. He was prominent in business and social circles.

Reports from twenty miles south say that John Garrett, a stockman, was found frozen in an unconscious condition on the prairie.

PITEOUS APPEALS

Cries For Assistance Induce Governor Roosevelt to Throw Open Armories.

THE DEAD UNBURIED

Impossible to Reach the Potter's Field With the Unclaimed Bodies.

New York, Feb. 14.—In response to the piteous cries for aid that went up from many sections of the city, Governor Roosevelt has ordered the opening of the armories of the Eighth, Ninth, Twelfth, Sixty-ninth and Seventy-first regiments for the shelter of such portions of the homeless poor as might take refuge there.

"I am aware that there is some question whether or not I have the legal right to do this," said the governor, in announcing what he had done, "but I feel confident that the legislature will back me up in what I have done."

The city finds itself unable to bury its unclaimed dead. This is in great measure due to the ice-bound condition of the East river, which has made it impossible for several days for the steamers of the charities department to make their accustomed trips to the city cemetery on Hart's island.

No burials have taken place since last Tuesday, when the coffin-laden steamer made its last trip to the potter's field. On Friday about forty bodies were placed on board the steamer Thomas S. Brennan, and Capt. McCarthy made an attempt to land them at Hart's island. He succeeded in getting as far as Whitestone, where his further progress was stopped by pack ice and he found it necessary to return to the pier, where the bodies were unloaded and returned to the morgue. Another attempt to reach the island was made on the following day but without success.

There were in the morgue on Sunday 58 bodies awaiting burial, and this number was raised on Monday to 82, of which 46 were adults and the remainder children. Fortunately the capacity of the recently finished morgue is much greater than that of the old structure, and there is still room for a few more bodies.

Every day, however, adds a score more to the number of bodies for which provision has to be made, and even if the ice blockade should be suddenly raised, it is a question when the grave-diggers in potter's field will be able to excavate resting places in the frozen ground for such an enormous number of bodies.

Not only have burials been absolutely suspended by the city authorities, but private undertakers generally have been compelled to decline to conduct funerals. In many instances drivers who attended funerals on Sunday returned badly frostbitten and unable to resume work.

BURIED IN SNOW.

The Sun Shines From a Clear Sky In Washington.

Washington, Feb. 14.—The storm swept past Washington about midnight last night and this morning the sun shone bright from a clear blue sky on a city buried approximately three feet deep in snow. The gale of wind driving snow traveled northnortheastward during yesterday, leaving its heavy mantle of snow and its tales of hardships and suffering behind it in the South. Today it is supposed that New York and New England will experience something of the severe weather prevailing here yesterday. Washington was cut off from railroad communication with the outside world before noon, but now the storm has ceased, the companies have started to open up their lines and belated trains probably will begin arriving during the afternoon.

When householders awakened this morning they found themselves banked in by huge snow drifts. But, finding the skies serene, they started in with energy to clear a way out and by noon travel afoot and in carriages was practicable though difficult. A single cable line running to the eastern end of the city was the only one in operation, the underground and electric and horse lines being absolutely blocked by the masses of snow filling conduits and tracks. In places the drifts were eight feet deep.

The official weather bureau records show that from Washington south the weather conditions were unprecedented in the history of the service. They show that since Feb. 5 thirty-five inches of snow have fallen in Washington and of this fourteen inches fell between Sunday night and last night. There are no records in Washington at all to be compared with this, the snowfall being almost twice that of any ever before known in this city. The temperature yesterday was not as severe as it had been several days during the previous week. The lowest point registered by the thermometer yesterday was 5 degrees above zero, early in the morning. Today it was milder, the thermometers in the city registering 15 degrees above at 10 o'clock this morning.

All through the South records of cold weather were broken. At Jacksonville, Fla., the thermometer registered 10 degrees above, which is 4 degrees lower than ever before. New Orleans registered 6 degrees above zero, breaking all records by 4 degrees. The wind was blowing at a high rate in most places in the South.

Many persons became bewildered and exhausted during the blizzard yesterday evening and night and fell into snow drifts. Two score or more of cases were reported to police headquarters of persons who had been picked up partly or wholly unconscious and there are many cases of severe frost bites. The only sign a rescuer had of one woman whom he dragged unconscious from a snow drift was a bunch of feathers sticking out of the snow.

Today a large force was at work under the direction of the district government clearing ways through the streets and those gangs as well as the police had orders to search all large drifts for unfortunate ones. It is thought likely that a number of cases of deaths, resulting directly or indirectly from the storm, will be reported in the city and vicinity before the week is out.

The river is frozen clear to its mouth and the ice is covered with a heavy coating of snow. It will be some time before communication can be had with the many small hamlets along the shore, where much suffering will be occasioned by the storm.

The prices of necessary supplies of fuel and food have risen greatly and much suffering is reported among the poor. The charitable organizations are doing all they can to relieve this state of things and the Post and Evening Star have opened special relief subscription funds. Generous responses have been made to these appeals. The president sent a check for $100 to one of the relief organizations, the British members of the high joint commission contributed liberally. The husband of Julia Arthur, the actress, who is playing here, sent a check for $1000 for relief of the poor.

Infants are effected by foods taken by the nursing mother.

Prof. W. B. Cheadle, of St. Mary's Hospital and author of a treatise on the feeding of infants, has shown by experiments that wasting diseases, will result from depriving children of fats and hypophosphites.

Dr. Thompson says Cod-liver oil is what such mothers and infants require. "Scott's Emulsion" is pure Norwegian Cod-liver oil with hypophosphites.

BELATED STEAMERS ARRIVE.

The Steamer Catania One Which Caused Much Concern.

New York, Feb. 14.—With a clear sky overhead once more the ocean steamers began coming in at an early hour this morning. First the Cunarder Etruria and Holland-American liner Sparndam were sighted off Fire island. Next the American liner Paris was sighted off the Highlands. Then the Anchor liner Anchoria, from Glasgow, was reported in quarantine. Two other steamers also came in early, the Clyde liner Algonquin and the Ward liner Macedonia. It is believed many steamers arrived outside the bar during the blizzard and stood off shore for plenty of sea room and that they will reach port later. Among the liners due are LaBretagne, Gera and Cymric.

The steamer Catania, Capt. Furlong, which left St. Michael's, where she had put in for repairs, nineteen days ago, and about whose safety much anxiety was felt, passed Sandy Hook bound in today. The Catania left Glasgow on Dec. 18 for New York and put into St. Michael's Jan. 6, much damaged from gales, after being reported sighted at sea as almost a wreck.

A FURIOUS GALE.

The Blizzard Completely Paralyzes Shipping at New York.

New York, Feb. 14.—The blizzard has completely paralyzed shipping. The last vessel to arrive here was the Ward liner Cienfuegos, from Cuba, which came up to her dock early Sunday evening.

At midnight last night the maritime lookout at Sandy Hook reported a furious gale and that there was no cessation in the heavy fall of blinding snow. The weather was so thick that if any of the large fleet of passenger liners or other ocean steamers now several days overdue had succeeded in crawling up to an anchorage near the bar, they could not have been made out.

RAILROADS GIVE IN.

After Five Days of Battle With Unequal Odds.

Pittsburg, Feb. 14.—After battling against unequal odds with cold weather for five days, the railroads have succumbed and not a through train has left Pittsburg for the East since yesterday afternoon. The last train out of Pittsburg on the Pennsylvania railroad was the Philadelphia express, which left here at 4:30 p. m. yesterday and it got no farther than Altoona.

On the Baltimore & Ohio the night express left at 9 o'clock and ran to Cumberland, no passengers being received for points further east. Today the officials were all at sea and were unable to say when traffic could be resumed, but hopes were entertained that the roads would be opened up night. This is only the second time in the history of Pittsburg that railroad communication with the Eastern coast has bene entirely cut off. All Western trains are moving, but all are from one to four hours late. All their through passengers destined for Eastern points are being cared for at the hotels by the railroad companies.

At Altoona a large force of men have been sent out by the Pennsylvania railroad and are at work clearing the snow drifts from the road.

The mercury was below zero again last night, but the worst as far as Pittsburg is concerned is believed to be over and warmer weather is looked for within the next twenty-four hours.

THE STORMBOUND TWELFTH.

Washington, Feb. 14.—The war department has received the following dispatch from Cumberland, Md., concerning the belated Twelfth infantry, stormbound on a Baltimore & Ohio train:

"The Twelfth infantry delayed by storm. Men well provided for. Have rations for Tuesday and Wednesday.

"SMITH, LIEUT. COL."

BOSTON SNOWBOUND.

Boston, Feb. 14.—Boston and vicinity is snowbound today, after two days and two nights continuous snowfall. The streets are badly blocked, trains are stalled, and on all sides the snow is piled into great drifts, some of which in the suburbs reach to the second story windows. The street car lines, by continuous effort on the part of the management, were kept reasonably free from snow, and cars were kept running all night, while on nearly every steam road everything was tied up.

ONLY NINE BELOW.

Philadelphia, Feb. 14.—The storm has abated in this vicinity and at 10 a. m. the sun was shining brightly, the wind was blowing moderately and the thermometer registered 9 degrees below. The snow ceased falling about 2 a. m., with a record of nineteen inches since Saturday night. This came on top of about ten inches that had fallen last week.

Travelling of every sort is at a standstill. Street car tracks are buried under yards of drifted snow and the task of digging them out seems a hopeless one. Only a minimum amount of business is being transacted.

COMPANY C MEETING

Considerable Excitement Attended Last Evening's Session.

Company C of the Fourteenth Minnesota held a meeting in the municipal court room last night, and it was characterized by some arguments that were somewhat excited. The meeting was called by Capt. F. E. Resche for the purpose of getting a vote on the proposed increase of one regiment in the Minnesota brigade. By a vote of 27 to 7 Company C decided against the new formation.

A motion was made to have an auditing committee go over the company's books to see how well the treasury is furnished and to extract from the books a statement as to how the company's money has been expended since last spring. Some saw in the wording of the motion a suspicion of something objectionable, and Capt. Resche ruled it out of order, as it had not been stated in the call for the meeting, and could only be taken up at the regular meeting. An appeal from the chair was sustained and the matter was apparently settled.

The question was then raised whether the recruits that joined the company at Chickamauga were members or not. If they were not, several of the men who asked for the auditing committee were eligible neither to act on the committee nor to vote for it. Capt. Resche was undecided as to the recruits, though he thought the seventy-six men in the company when it was mustered in were eligible. It was suggested that a man who was not a member of the company had no right to look into its books, and this was effective in producing a retort that if the company's financial affairs were open and aboveboard there could be no possible objection to anyone looking into them.

Capt. Resche resented this as an insinuation, and the air became heavy with threatened trouble for a few minutes. It was finally decided that a committee of three should be elected by vote to get an opinion from the adjutant general on the subject, and Messrs. Truelsen, Lucken and J. O. Olson were elected. Capt. Resche then ordered the treasurer to make a report, in order that there might be no misunderstanding when the auditing is done. The report showed $75.85 in the treasury.

Nothing will be done in the premises until the adjutant general's heard from which will be within ten days, it is thought.

Company G will meet shortly to take action on the matter of securing money from the state for service at Camp Ramsey, and probably Henry E. Harris will be sent to St. Paul to look after the interests of the local companies. Company G will also take a vote on the four-regiment proposition.

SCHIVEREA'S MEETING.

Preaches on Christ's Requests to the Little Publican.

The Schiverea meetings at the Armory draw larger crowds every day. The weather having moderated the hall is much more comfortable and people have more inclination to turn out. Last evening Mr. Schiverea's text was Luke xix, 5: "Make haste and come down for today I must abide at thy house." The sermon was on Zaccheus, the little publican. He said Jesus Christ asked Zaccheus first to make haste a request which he makes of all of us and a reasonable request. The longer we live in sin the less likely we are to turn from it. Men cannot tell what moment sin will drive them to ruin. Death is on our track. The second request made to Zaccheus was to come down. This request he makes to everyone, to come down from the tree of pride and self satisfaction. The devil brings men down as they suffer the loss of reputation, character and all. The third request was that he should come today. Thus he asks, and we should obey by receiving our Savior today with joy.

The Bible services are being held in the First Methodist church this week and the Armory meetings will continue nightly.

KILLED HIS WIFE.

Deed of a Society Man After Celebrating His Wedding Anniversary.

Providence R. I., Feb. 14.—Amos B. Palmer, a young man well known in the social life of this city, shot and killed his wife at their home in Edgewood, town of Cranston, late Sunday night. The tragedy came as the ending of an evening spent in celebration with a small number of friends in observance of the eighth anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Palmer's marriage. During the evening much wine was drunk. It is alleged that her husband fired five shots at her, four of which took effect in the region of the heart and one in the left arm. It is understood that Palmer was confined at one time in the Butler hospital for the insane.

Mrs. Palmer was Addie Nutter, formerly a resident of New Hampshire. She married "Dollie" Bliss, a boot and shoe dealer of this city. Bliss got a divorce from her because of her immoral life and then young Palmer, the only son of Mrs. Anita Palmer, who had a great deal of wealth, took her up and cared for her until her mother died and a few days later he married her. The married life of the couple, as far as appeared on the surface, was happy.

The Palmer homestead was on Broad street and is now the site of the Providence Athletic club. The young people built a $5000 house further out on Broad street, which two years ago was sold for about half its cost. Then they erected a beautiful house in Edgewood, where their married life came to an end.

Of the social side of Sunday night's event, the servants say that Palmer was well intoxicated. After the friends left both the host and hostess had lunch and then retired to their room. A servant in a room overhead says she heard the couple laughing and talking and then came a pounding noise. She then heard Mr. Palmer call her, saying: "I think I have killed her." She was met at the foot of the stairs by Palmer, who said: "She is in there," pointing to his room, "and I have killed her. I have murdered my wife. My God, I am a murderer."

The girl found the body of her mistress lying on the floor with her head resting on a hassock. She did not touch the body, but at once went for the coachman, who was nearby. She told him what had happened and he came to the house at once. When he arrived he found Mr. Palmer evidently crazed and with a pistol in his hand, intent apparently upon taking his own life. There was a struggle between the two men. Palmer was twice disarmed of the revolver, then he calmed and rang for a surgeon. Later the police were notified. Today Mr. Palmer, who was arraigned at Knightsville on the charge of murder, pleaded not guilty and was held without bail.

Are the Opinions of Duluth Citizens Not More Reliable Than Those of Utter Strangers?

The above is a vital question.
It is fraught with interest to Duluth.
It permits of only one answer.
It can't be evaded or ignored.
A Duluth citizen speaks here.
Speaks for the welfare of Duluth.
A citizen's opinion is reliable.
An utter stranger's is doubtful.
The impression created is lasting.
Curiosity is at once aroused.
Read what follows and acknowledge these facts.

Charles Hendee, of 1811 Superior street west, night foreman at the Northern Pacific railroad roundhouse, says: "I was troubled on and off for years with pains through my loins and kidneys. If I caught cold or strained myself, the pains became very severe. I attribute the trouble to the heavy jarring I received while a locomotive engineer in years past. If I sat or laid long in any one position my back became so lame and sore that I could hardly straighten up, and in the morning on rising I felt tired and unrested. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills highly recommended and determined to try them. Procuring a box from the Duluth Drug company's, I used it and was promptly relieved of the trouble. I am pleased to recommend this valuable preparation to others, for its great merit is beyond question."

CULLUM GETS IT

He Is the Lucky Man In the Draw For the Seat.

THE FIREMEN'S PAY

The Council Again Discusses Wages Fixed By the Water Board.

Dr. M. B. Cullum was the winner in the drawing last evening to decide the tie between himself and Alderman Johnson in the aldermanic election in the First ward, and was duly declared by the council to be the alderman elect. The election returns were canvassed and the result officially announced by the council.

The committee on police and license made its report in the case of Capt. Resche of Company C, exonerating him from the charge of misrepresenting his men at Chickamauga on the question of mustering out.

The committee on purchasing and supplies submitted a report accepting R. H. Evans' bid for the telephone franchise on the basis of payment of one-half of 1 per cent of the gross earnings annually to the city and rates of $35 for the first year and $30 per annum for succeeding years for business uses and $20 per annum for residence phones, five-year contracts, the city to have the right to inspect the books and to purchase the plant at any time after five years at an amount not to exceed the cost of duplication with 10 per cent added, the franchise to run twenty-five years. The draft of an ordinance granting the franchise on these terms. The matter went to the committee on ordinances and resolutions.

After a spirited debate, the waterworks pay rolls went through with the exception of the pay of the four oilers and firemen at Lakewood whose wages were reduced to $50 per month by the board.

Alderman Sang first moved that the wages of these men be fixed at $58 per month. This was held out of order. He then moved to refer the matter back to the water board with instructions to fix the pay at the figure stated, and this also was held out of order.

Alderman Krumsieg then moved a reference to the light and water committee of the council to confer with the water board and report next week.

Alderman Cochrane opposed any attempt on the part of the council to change the rate fixed by the board as unbusinesslike. He thought the men should have $60 but they had agreed to take $50, and just as good men as they could be had at the latter figure.

Alderman Sang asserted that $50 was not enough. Alderman Cochrane asked why not if good men could be procured at that figure, to which Alderman Sang replied that the city had no right to grind men down to work twelve hours a day, thirty days in a month for $50. He asserted that that was worse than African slavery.

The matter was referred on Alderman Krumsieg's motion.

Alderman Jefferson made an opportunity when the election pay rolls came up to get in one of his side swipes at the mayor. He had the pay rolls of the special police divided from the balance for the purpose and made it the text of a discourse on the wicked extravagance of the mayor. There was no reason on earth or anywhere else, the alderman from the Third asserted, why special policemen should have been employed.

"It is a very disagreeable task to criticise a public official, especially our mayor," said Alderman Jefferson. As he spoke, his face wore the expression of that of a hungry man who has squared himself for action in front of a good meal. "The $175 spent for this purpose is simply wasted," he continued. "It is the mayor's right to employ three men and he never misses a chance to place an onerous expense on the public. I just wanted to call attention to the list he picked out as able bodied men."

Alderman Sang asserted that if necessity had arisen for a policeman while the regular force was on duty at the polling places and the police department had been unable to respond, the member from the Third would have been the first to criticise.

The gross earnings tax bill prepared by Attorneys Harris and Norton was received from the county commissioners with a request that it be approved by the council. The bill was referred to the city attorney, who suggested that the date of assessing the tax be made May 1 instead of March 1, as if the latter date were adopted it would be inoperative for a year. A resolution was passed approving the bill with the amendment suggested.

The report of the water and light board for the period from Aug. 1 to Jan. 1 was received, showing the net earnings of the water department to have been $52,121.97 and of the gas department $14,668.93, total, $66,790.90. The earnings for the year on the same basis were estimated at $125,-092.75 for the water department and $35,-205.43 for the gas department, a total of $160,298.16. The total net expenditures were given as follows: Water plant, $9943.78; gas plant, $8030.97; total, $17,974.75. Estimated annual expenses water plant, $23,865.07; gas plant, $19,274.33; total, $43,-139.40. Total annual expenses, including $111,200 interest on bonds, $154,339.40, leaving a margin of about $6000 of receipts over expenditures. The report stated that the board was satisfied that the expense of pumping from Lakewood would not be materially greater than the combined expenses of the Fifteenth avenue east and Lakeside pumping stations. It was urged that a part of the burden of the expenses of the department be assessed on property, by a frontage or otherwise, to decrease the water rates. With the report of the committee was an exhaustive report on the condition of the plant from Manager Chase.

A communication from the Building Trades council was received, protesting against the reduction of the wages of oilers and firemen at Lakewood to 13½ cents per hour. Referred.

A resolution was passed thanking Senator Nelson for his efforts to secure a captured Spanish cannon for the city.

Alderman Cromwell of the police and license committee reported that bonds had not been filed with the applications for license for a saloon at 926 Garfield avenue and one at 1605 West Michigan street, and that if they were not filed pretty soon the committee would get after them. The aldermen looked gratified at this evidence of zeal on the part of the committee.

An ordinance was introduced by Alderman Tischer providing for the licensing of wood vendors, and was referred.

The contract with Herman, Becklinger & Herman for electric lights for New Duluth for five years from Jan. 1 last, twenty lights at $120 per annum, was reported and referred back so that the aldermen could look it over.

The report of the police and license committee, Aldermen Cromwell, Duren and Tischer, in the Resche matter is, in the essential parts, in full as follows:

"First—That Capt. Resche did not 'misrepresent the boys at Chickamauga,' but that the trouble arose from a misunderstanding by the men of the action taken by the officers.

"Second—That the statement in the telegram sent to the News Tribune was true.

"Third—That the conversation said to have taken place between Capt. Resche and the first sergeant of Company A, and cited by the mayor as a proof of the captain having the 'swelled head,' did not take place as stated. That Capt. Resche did not make the statement in the manner attributed to him.

"We also find that the captain's conduct, both as a police officer and a soldier, was above reproach, and that the greater part of the trouble in Company C was caused by one member of the company, who was at once reinstated by the mayor on his return, and whose conduct as a soldier was disgraceful to himself, the company, regiment, city and state.

"For the sake of the family of this disturber, all of the testimony taken by the committee is not made a part of this report. If our city employes are to be judged by their war record, we cannot too strongly denounce the action of the mayor in putting a premium on misconduct by condemning and dismissing a first class officer without investigation, and reinstating one whose record is one of dishonor.

"While the mayor has the right to discharge police officers without the consent of the common council, we believe that, for the good of the service, good reasons should be given for every discharge.

"Capt. Resche having been greatly wronged by the mayor's action, your committee recommends that this report and the letter from Col. Van Duzee hereto attached be printed in the record, and the remainder of the testimony filed in the office of the city clerk."

With the report was a letter from Col. Van Duzee, commanding the regiment at Chickamauga, stating that the writer believed that Mayor Truesen was sincere in what he said but that he was terribly mistaken. Col. Van Duzee stated that the officers of the Fourteenth had, at a meeting not called for that purpose, decided to notify the war department that the officers wished to remain in the service. The colonel stated that he wrote the telegram that was sent and that neither the regiment as a whole nor the enlisted men were mentioned. He stated that the simple fact that the men thought that they were trying to force them to stay in the service was responsible for the trouble. The colonel refers to Capt. Resche as follows:

"Now, as to Capt. Resche—he is one of the most soldierly, gentlemanly and honorable men I ever knew. He was untiring in his labors, always prompt and never behind time, an ideal officer and man, and I was very proud of him. He has yet to do the first thing of which I would disapprove in a subordinate officer. If his head is swelled, I never knew it, and wish some others might be affected that way if it is like what Capt. Resche has. If inability to promote all the enlisted men in his company to be officers, as many fond parents would seem to think possible, was a fault, or if allowing merit to count instead of pull was a crime, he had it. I shall be greatly pleased to answer further questions or to do anything I can to help place Capt. Resche right before his friends."

The report was received.

There was a large crowd present to witness the drawing to decide the tie in the First ward. The scene was a dramatic one. City Clerk Cheadle posed as the goddess of fortune. He had the traditional bandage around his eyes, but the rest of the regulation costume, gown, girdle and sandals were dispensed with as unsuitable to the climate. Mr. Cheadle appeared in a suit of flannels with trousers, coat and vest as an outer covering. A jury box was used for the drawing. Slips of paper were deposited in it, two of them bearing respectively the names of the candidates and the rest being blank, there being ten in all. The city clerk turned the crank and drew the slips and handed them to President Cochrane. The first five were blanks. The sixth bore the name of Dr. Cullum, and as it was called a shout went up from the spectators. Alderman Johnson was the first to congratulate the successful candidate, going to him from his seat and giving him a hearty handshake. Mr. Johnson stated afterwards that he should not demand a recount.

Several of the aldermen announced their intention after the meeting of sifting the evidence on which the police and license committee made its report in the Resche matter. Alderman Sang stated it as his opinion that the committee had pretty slim evidence on which to brand any man as a disgrace to his city, country and state, as the committee did.

Chairman Cromwell of the committee in response to questions put to him after the meeting stated that the committee had not called the person censured before it to testify nor asked him to submit any evidence or name any witnesses he wanted examined. Asked who had suggested the names of the witnesses examined by the committee, Mr. Cromwell replied "certain persons." Asked if the committee had examined any of the enlisted men, Mr. Cromwell said that three privates and a sergeant had been examined. He was asked if they were members of Company C, and he said that the sergeant was not. Mr. Cromwell would not give the names of these witnesses. He was asked if the committee called any of the Company C men who had been present at a meeting of the council soon after the controversy over the refusal to reinstate Capt. Resche began and sustained the mayor, Mr. Cromwell said that he was not present at that meeting and did not know who they were.

"We did not go clear into this matter," explained Mr. Cromwell, "because it would disrupt the whole town."

"Well, you went into it far enough to brand a man a disgrace to his city and state," rejoined Alderman Sang warmly.

It is predicted that the end of the matter is not yet by any means.

Certainly a Record Breaker.

The subjoined figures indicate the minimum readings, taken for eighteen days, including Feb. 13, as recorded by D. A. Petre, of Woodland. The number of degrees below zero, footed up 475, or a minimum average for the eighteen days of 26.5 degrees below zero. It is doubtful if the oldest settler can get ahead of this remarkable record.

A FAMILY BURNED.

St. Louis, Feb. 14.—A special to the Globe-Democrat from Pine Bluff, Ark., says: Silas Jones and his six children have been burned to death on the Richardson and May plantation at Cornerstone. The house and its contents have been destroyed and none of its inmates escaped, it is thought the house caught fire after its occupants went to sleep. Mr. Jones' wife was away from home for the night and owing to that fact escaped.

HANDSOME FUNCTION

Dancing Party of the Assembly Most Brilliant Duluth Has Seen.

LARGE ATTENDANCE

Beautiful Gowns and Glorious Music Make a Delightful Affair.

The Assembly dancing party at the Spalding last evening was decidedly the most brilliant social function that Duluth has had. All of the previous Assembly and Benedict club parties, the two associations from which the new organization is drawn, were outdone. Everyone was delighted and doubly so at the knowledge that it was but the first of many similar parties.

The dancing hall was very pretty. Immense palms arranged here and there gave a pleasing effect, a cozy lounging room with a cheerful grate fire was arranged off the main room, and chairs and settees were arranged in the corridors. But nothing gives brilliancy to a party so much as handsome gowns and it was this which made the party so charming. The costumes of the ladies were nothing less than stunning and there was every variety of beautiful shade and color. Flaaten's orchestra was superb and finer music for dancing was never heard in any ball room. The selection of numbers was excellent and there was a dash and spirit to it which was irresistible. The entire party from the first dance to the last was full of life and vivacity. A program of twenty-four numbers with one extra was danced. At 11 o'clock refreshments were served in the private dining rooms. Dancing closed at 1 o'clock.

Yellow Jaundice Cured.

Suffering humanity should be supplied with every means possible for its relief. It is with pleasure we publish the following: "This is to certify that I was a terrible sufferer from yellow jaundice for over six months, and was treated by some of the best physicians in our city and all to no avail. Dr. Bell, our druggist, recommended Electric Bitters; and after taking two bottles, I was entirely cured. I now take great pleasure in recommending them to any person suffering from this terrible malady. I am gratefully yours, M. A. Hogarty, Lexington, Ky." Sold by Duluth Drug company.

CUTICURA CURED HER

When my little girl was six months old, she had Eczema. We had used cold creams and all kinds of remedies, but nothing did her any good; in fact she kept getting worse.

I used to wrap her hands up, and when I would dress her, I had to put her on the table, for I could not hold her. She would kick and scream, and, when she could, she would tear her face and arms almost to pieces.

I used four boxes of CUTICURA (ointment), two cakes of CUTICURA SOAP, and gave her the CUTICURA RESOLVENT and she was cured, and I see no traces of the humor left. I can truthfully say that they have saved her life, and any one suffering as she did, I should advise them to give CUTICURA a fair trial.

SCHMIDT WILL NOT ATTEND.

Mallory's Little Joke on the Former Representative.

The following story is related by the St. Paul Globe: The temperance committee of the house will consider the bill introduced by Mr. Pope of Kanabec, increasing the liquor license fee from $1000 to $1500, during the present week. Former Representative Schmidt, of Duluth, however, will not be present at the hearing. He attended to the bill all he was able the day it was introduced, the night of the same day and the following day, and has quit.

Mr. Schmidt, who is attorney for a Duluth brewing firm, happened to be in the house at the time the bill was introduced. He listened to the title at first merely from force of habit, having been a member of the house two years ago, and then became interested as attorney for the brewing company in the measure. He noted that it was referred to the committee on temperance, and looking over the list of committees ascertained that his friend Mallory, one of the Duluth representatives, was on the committee.

Shortly afteward he dropped into a chair alongside of Mallory, and at once commenced to speak in opposition to the proposition. Representative Mallory, a quiet joker in his way, as soon as Schmidt began to talk in opposition to the new bill, took the other end of the argument. Schmidt made a date with Mallory at the Merchants for that evening, and on arriving at the hotel the attorney was introduced to divers and sundry people, who he was quietly informed were members of the committee on temperance. Realizing that this would be the proper time to commence his crusade against the bill in the interests of his employers, Mr. Schmidt made himself agreeable. For some reason which he could not understand at the time, but does now, all the members of the temperance committee he was introduced to, as well as their friends, appeared to be in favor of the passage of the bill.

He argued, and in between arguments bought cigars and other things at the bar for the committee and friends of the committeemen. So assiduously did he labor with the crowd that at midnight he was completely out of money. Before he retired he telegraphed Duluth advising them of the situation, and at noon the next day a representative of the firm was on hand. Mr. Mallory was found in his seat, but when it came to the other members of the committee they did not answer in any way to the gentlemen Mr. Schmidt had met the evening before at the hotel. It suddenly dawned on him that he had been deceived by the guileless Mallory as to the members of the temperance committee, and this is one of the reasons why Mr. Schmidt will not attend the hearing before the committee this week.

A PLAGUE OF THE NIGHT.

Itching Piles and Other Rectal Troubles Easily Cured By a New and Safe Method.

A Remarkable Number of Cures Made By the Pyramid Pile Cure.

About one person in every four suffers from some form of rectal disease. The most common and annoying is itching piles, indicated by warmth, slight moisture and intense, uncontrollable itching in the parts affected.

The usual treatment has been some simple ointment or salve which sometimes give temporary relief, but nothing like a permanent cure can be expected from such superficial treatment.

The only permanent cure for itching piles yet discovered is the Pyramid Pile Cure, not only for itching piles, but for every other form of piles, blind, bleeding or protruding. The first application gives instant relief and the continued use for a short time causes a permanent removal of the tumors or the small parasites which cause the intense itching and discomfort of itching piles.

Many physicians for a long time supposed that the remarkable relief afforded by the Pyramid Pile Cure was because it was supposed to contain cocaine, opium or similar drugs, but such is not the case. A recent careful analysis of the remedy showed it to be absolutely free from any cocaine, opium, or in fact any poisonous, injurious drugs whatever.

For this reason the Pyramid Pile Cure is probably the only pile cure extensively recommended by physicians, because it is so safe, so prompt in the relief afforded and so far as known the only positive cure for piles except a surgical operation.

In one year the Pyramid Pile Cure has become the best known, the safest and the most extensively sold of any pile cure before the public.

Nearly all druggists now sell it at 50 sents and $1 per package.

Address the Pyramid company, Marshall, Mich., for book on "Cause and Cure of Piles" and also hundreds of testimonials from all parts of the United States.

If suffering from any form of piles ask your druggist for a package of Pyramid Pile Cure and try it tonight.

McMILLAN ARRIVES.

Champion Mixed Wrestler Is In the City.

Duncan McMillan, the champion mixed style wrestler of the world, who is to throw Hjalmar Lundin three times in an hour at the Lyceum tomorrow night, arrived in the city last night and is stopping at the St. Louis. McMillan is a giant. He is 6 feet 2 inches in height, and the beauty of his proportions will be understood when it is known that he will strip at 205 pounds for tomorrow night's match. A great deal of interest has been manifested in the match, and in sporting circles little else is talked of. There will undoubtedly be a large crowd and a lively match at the Lyceum tomorrow evening. The men are fairly well matched and everyone is looking for the best bout of the season.

AMUSEMENTS.

"A DOLL'S HOUSE."

This evening Miss Clara Thropp will appear at the Lyceum in Henrik Ibsen's drama "A Doll's House." Since her last appearance in this country in plays of a lighter order, Miss Thropp has met with distinct success as Katherine, in Shakespeare's "The Taming of the Shrew," and as Viola in "The Twelfth Night," besides in other parts that have in the past made the reputation of several of the world's greatest actresses. For 600 nights she played the part of Nora in London in Ibsen's masterpiece. Her depiction of that character became a topic for wide discussion on two continents.

COAL IN MINNESOTA.

Why Not Offer a Bounty For Development of Natural Resources?

The Herald, having been informed from a reliable source that coal exists in Minnesota, has been engaged in seeking definite knowledge to give the public, and to that end several interviews have been had with certain parties who are connected with the coal explorations and developments now being made, and while there is no doubt that coal exists, samples of which, it is said, are now in the city, it is impossible at this writing to give definite information as to the exact location.

The question was asked by The Herald of one who is evidently posted, if there is no doubt that we have coal in Minnesota, why would not a publication of the fact aid in influencing capital to invest in it, since you need money to secure the properties and develop them? His reply was:

"We do not need capital so much as protection of our rights. Let the state offer a bounty for the development of our natural resources, regulated so that something definite and substantial shall result, along with the present effort to give a bounty on manufactures, and you will not only mine coal but other important minerals which are not being mined in the state at present. It was said some days ago in The Herald that the poor man—explorer and prospector—in the early days on the present developed ranges does not share in the enormous wealth which his early struggles and indomitable energy discovered. That is true; yet, instead of encouraging the poor man who discovers and makes known our great natural resources, we are eager to give a bounty to the rich manufacturer of pig iron. Why not give a bounty on the production of the valuable minerals known to exist in our state? Why not amend the present iron bounty bill by giving a bounty to those who discover and are the means of producing coal and copper? I have personal knowledge of the existence of both coal and copper, and there are a number of men in Duluth and on the north shore who would be eager and glad to reveal localities containing coal and copper if they could be aided and protected in their rights. The encouraging of large capital to invest here is all right, but I cannot see the wisdom in beginning at the wrong end of the conditions and proposition which confronts us. The production of coal will solve the pig iron question, and the inducement offered by the state for the development of coal and copper will not compare for a moment with the ultimate cost of the pig iron bounty. Urge the legislature to give a bounty on our undeveloped natural resources, and you will soon find that coal and copper will be produced in the near future in Minnesota."

Mr. Inglis Replies.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Will you kindly allow me space in your valuable paper to reply to the communication tendered the city council by the board of fire commissioners in reply to a request made by the council, asking the fire board why I was not reinstated in the fire department upon my return with the Fourteenth Minnesota volunteers from the South.

I want to say that their report is utterly false and they know it; or at least they should, for if their memory was not so very fickle "especially on such things as this that they do not want to remember," they should remember a meeting held by that honorable body about March 5, 1898, when I was reported on favorably by Chief Black and was, upon his recommendation, appointed a regular member of the fire department. Now why they should report otherwise is a mystery to me, unless they find that is the only way that they can crawl out the unpleasant position they find themselves in. Not daring to reinstate me and thus displease Chief Black and yet afraid of what the public would say if the truth were but known, they take this way of squaring themselves and appearing to the public the straight, conscientious, patriotic men that they are supposed to be. And it might be well right here, to remind the honorable board that there are still several men "pets" that were appointed since the outbreak of the Spanish-American war still serving in the fire department, supposing the force has been reduced. Thanking you for past favors, I remain yours truly,

R. H. INGLIS.

Duluth, Feb. 14.

VALUE OF THE PULPIT.

Layman Discuss It From Their Point of View.

The Unity club last night discussed "The Value of the Pulpit from a Layman's Point of View," and the discussion was led by Shubael F. White and Henry F. Greene. There was a good attendance of the club and the discussion was spirited. Judge White was the first speaker. He said that the present pulpit and preacher are evolutions from the altar and priest. In the early history of the church there were preachers, but these lapsed into priests and priestcraft, to the neglect of pulpit and preaching. The evils resulting from this condition again gave birth to the pulpit in a newly-created form with new activity, and today it is a greatly influential force. Great reforms and revolutions against injustice and error have been led by the clergy who were preachers, while priests and priestcraft have been on the other side. The pulpit from a layman's point of view is a growing and valuable force in society. Men who have ceased to give attention to religious thought are losing the power to look on the spiritual side of life and receive the benefit of its broadening and uplifting influence. Clergymen are performing valuable and abiding service to humanity by calling the attention of these men to this side of existence.

Henry F. Greene spoke of the common problem of the non-attendance of men at church. He spoke of the percentage of falling off in the attendance of men in proportion to the number of women who attend church. Women and children, he said, constitute two-thirds of the population, and they are naturally churchgoers. Referring to the change in the styles of preaching, he said that the old style was to preach about future punishment and to hold out a hell as a club over men's heads. This has passed and it has been followed by a custom of preaching on current events. The proper preaching, he thought, should be about the fundamental principles of Christianity. The true object of preaching is not to induce popular interest and promote attendance merely, but to upbuild the church and broaden and uplift humanity.

The next meeting of the club will be held two weeks from last night, and an interesting topic will be considered, "Bismarck and the Geman Empire."

Yankee Investment In Cuba.

A syndicate of American capitalists has just concluded the purchase of a large tract of land near Santiago, and will open up many new iron mines, and inside of five years Yankee enterprise will transform the slow-going country into a place of business activity and push. In much the same manner Hostetter's Stomach Bitters will transform a run-down, debilitated, thin-blooded man into a type of health and strength. It will fill his veins with pure blood, drive away dyspepsia, and clear up his tired brain. It will make him eat and sleep well, and if his nerves are in bad shape, the Bitters will tone them up and restore their old-time form. Malaria is another disease that the Bitters are good for.

Mrs. John Norborne and Six Children Found Destitute In St. Paul.

HUSBAND IN DULUTH

For Forty-Eight Hours the Family Were Without Food or Fuel.

St. Paul, Feb. 14.—If it had not been for the kindliness of the police and several women there is no telling what might have been the fate of a destitute mother and her six young children living at 138 Concord street during the severe cold of the last few days. As it was, the poor woman, with four helpless children, spent nearly forty-eight hours last week without food or warmth, while last Thursday morning two new lives made their advent into the poverty-stricken home, when the mother gave birth to twins. With one of the babes yet unborn, the mother struggled from the coverless bed where she had lain so long in suffering, and tried to scrape together enough chips and particles of coal from the floor to make a blaze in the small stove in one corner of the room, so that she and her babe might not freeze to death. The crying of her children, her own weakened condition, and the fear that her new born infants might succumb to the extreme cold, almost crazed Mrs. John Norborne, and the pride that had kept her suffering a secret gave way.

The police learned of the case and rendered immediate assistance, while Mrs. M. L. McIntyre and Mrs. Robert N. Hare joined in the humane work, so that now the mother and her offspring are being comfortably cared for.

The Norborne family occupies one small room over a vacant store. John Norborne, the husband, is ill at Duluth, where he works as a day laborer, and is unable to aid his family. Mrs. Norborne and her little ones have been practically destitute all winter, but so long as the mother was able to be up and about, she managed to secure enough food to keep herself and babies from starving, although they suffered greatly from the cold, frequently being without fuel for several days. Almost isolated in their dreary little room, no one knew of the family's extremities, particularly as Mrs. Norborne cherished, perhaps, a natural indisposition to appeal for charity. When she was taken ill, several days before the birth of her twins, however, the situation became desperate. For two days she lay on a thin mattress, with her four children, shivering with cold, without fire or food, waiting and hoping that relief might come.

At last the privation told on the children. They cried for food, and only became quiet during a few hours of the night from the stupefying effects of the cold. The suffering mother could do nothing to relieve them. She sometimes stretched a benumbed hand across the bed to her little ones to see if they were dead, wondering if she too might not die before the ordeal which she knew was near at hand was over. Her predicament was torturing. At last another woman living in the block, whose own family of five children were not much better off than Mrs. Norborne's, notified the authorities.

Jailer Stadtfield of the Ducas station went at once to the dreary room, and realizing the sad plight of Mrs. Norborne and the children, at once procured food for the starving people, built a warm fire in the room and then set about securing permanent relief for the unfortunates. He informed Mrs. McIntyre and Mrs. Hare that clothing was needed for the new born twins, also for the sick mother, and that much could be done for the comfort of the family. Capt. Getchell also took an interest in the case, and while Mrs. McIntyre, Mrs. Hare and Mrs. Getchell collected articles of clothing and food for the suffering family, he visited the board of control and had more fuel and more food sent to the destitute room. There was but the one small bed in the room for the mother and her six children. At the Ducas station the police kept an extra bed. Jailer Stadtfield and Capt. Getchell took this down and removed it, with comfortable mattress and plenty of warm coverings for the other bed. By this time the women had secured plenty of clothing for the family, while food in abundance had already reached the house, so that within a few hours after the neighbors were aware that a case of such extreme destitution was in their midst Mrs. Norborne and her children were being comfortably cared for. Afterward those interested in the family sent for Assistant City Physician Weirick, who is now looking after Mrs. Norborne's health.

Two of the younger children are quite ill from the privation which they underwent, but medicine has been provided for them, and it is believed that they will soon be well, while Mrs. Norborne and the twin babes are doing nicely.

Since the case became generally known many proffers of assistance have been received by those looking after the family, and it is safe to say that the mother and her children will suffer no more for want of warmth and food. A nurse has been engaged to care for the sick woman and her babies until Mrs. Norborne is able to be about.

DULUTH RINKS DEFEATED.

They Both Lost With a Prize In Sight.

Winnipeg, Man., Feb. 14.—Yesterday's bonspiel games resulted in four finals being reached. Kelly of the Winnipeg Granites won the grand challenge. J. W. Smith, of Regina, won the Galt trophy. M. Lyall, of Portage la Prairie, won the veterans, and Baker and Kelly, of Winnipeg Granites won the Tuckett trophy.

Both Duluth rinks were defeated yesterday just within sight of a prize.

The finals in the Walkerville and International, Caledonian and Patterson events will be reached tomorrow.

PAVONIA REINSURED.

Liverpool, Feb. 14.—Reinsurance upon the Cunard line steamer Pavonia, from Queenstown, Jan. 25, for Boston, has been effected here at the rate of 10 guineas per cent. The following are the second cabin passengers on board the Pavonia: C. Carruthers, M. Carruthers, Mr. and Mrs. E. Fielding, two Misses Fielding, Miss Emma Dahl, Mrs. Graves, Miss M. C. Colling, T. Houston, George Stevens, J. McEwan, four McEwan children.

O'BRIEN BEATS GARDNER.

Youngstown, Ohio, Feb. 14.—Oscar Gardner lost the decision to Jack O'Brien, of New York, in a 20-round bout here last night for a purse of $1000. O'Brien was aggressive from the start and Gardner loafed for fifteen rounds. In the last three rounds O'Brien had decidedly the best of it and when the bout closed Gardner was groggy and one of his eyes was closed.

NOTICE OF MORTGAGE SALE.—

Whereas, default has been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage which was duly executed and delivered by William Harwood and Kate Harwood, his wife, mortgagors, to The Mutual Benefit Life Insurance Company, a corporation organized under the laws of the state of New Jersey, mortgagee, bearing date December first (1st), 1893, and which was duly recorded in the register of deeds' office for St. Louis County, Minnesota, on January third (3rd), 1894, at 1:20 o'clock p. m., in Book one hundred twenty-four (124) of mortgages, on page one hundred sixty-seven (167); such default consisting in the non-payment of the principal sum thereby secured, with interest thereon from June 1st, 1898, and exchange, no part of which has been paid;

And whereas, there is therefore claimed to be due, and there is actually due, upon said mortgage debt, at the date of this notice, the sum of ten thousand three hundred eighty-seven and 65-100 ($10,387.65) dollars, principal, interest and exchange;

And whereas, said mortgage contains a power of sale in due form, which has become operative by reason of the defaults above mentioned, and no action or proceeding, at law or otherwise, has been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof;

Now therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of said power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made, said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described therein, situate in St. Louis County, Minnesota, described as follows, to-wit: All of lot numbered twenty-three (23), West First street, Duluth Proper, First Division, according to the recorded plat thereof, on file of record, in the office of the register of deeds, in and for said St. Louis County, Minnesota; being a rectangular tract of ground fronting fifty (50) feet on the upper side of First street by one hundred forty (140) feet deep to an alley; which premises will be sold by the sheriff of said St. Louis County, Minnesota, at the front door of the court house, in the city of Duluth, in said county and state, on the sixteenth (16th) day of March, A. D. 1899, at ten (10) o'clock a. m., at public auction, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and two hundred dollars attorney's fee, stipulated for in said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Dated January 18th, 1899.

THE MUTUAL BENEFIT LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY,
Mortgagee.

FRANCIS W. SULLIVAN,
Attorney for Mortgagee.

TO GO OUT IN MARCH

W. B. Phelps Decides to Vacate Office of County Attorney Next Month.

TWO ARE MENTIONED

Capt. Teare and W. L. Windom Are Aspirants For the Place.

William B. Phelps, who was elected county attorney on the Republican ticket last fall, has tendered his resignation to the board of county commissioners, to take effect on the day of the board's first meeting in March.

The document was filed with the county auditor as clerk of the county board this morning, and it will be presented to the board at the March meeting, which will be the first meeting held. The letter of resignation is brief and to the point, and if Mr. Phelps has any string to his resignation it does not appear on the letter, which is as follows:

To the Board of County Commissioners, St. Louis County, Minn.: Gentlemen: I hereby tender to your honorable body my resignation of the office of county attorney, to take effect the day of your first meeting in March next. Respectfully yours,

WILLIAM B. PHELPS.

Last week Mr. Phelps told The Herald that he was seriously considering this move, but he stated that he would hold over until after the March term of district court, in order to finish up some criminal matters that he had in hand. If this resignation is accepted, however, his services will terminate before the March term of court begins and his successor will have to take up the duties of prosecuting attorney with the sitting of the March grand jury.

Mr. Phelps' reasons for resigning were stated by The Herald last week when it was announced that he thought of resigning. They were, in brief, that he found that he could not afford to keep the office, as it interfered with his private practice to a great extent and the salary, $2500 per year, is not sufficient to compensate him for this. At least two members of the county board are in favor of refusing to accept the resignation, and they are willing to pay him an additional sum for acting as the board's attorney rather than accept his resignation. It would be impossible for them to increase his salary directly, but these commissioners believed that it would be possible for them to continue to pay him a salary as attorney for the board. He has held this position for over two years and has been paid a compensation of $200 per month during that time for the service. There is now a bill before the state legislature providing for an increase in the county attorney's salary from $2500 to $3500.

Two names have been mentioned for the office if the resignation is accepted. It is said that C. C. Teare is a candidate, and that several members of the board have been approached in his behalf. W. L. Windom, brother of the political manager of the Rockefeller syndicate, is another who has been mentioned.

CULVER POST, G. A. R.

An open meeting of Culver Post will be held this evening at 8:15 p. m. at their hall in Masonic Temple. It will be a Lincoln memorial meeting with addresses from comrades. All G. A. R. members, veterans and their friends cordially invited.

JOHN H. LaVAQUE,
Commander.

W. W. ALLEN'S STATEMENT.

Furnished No Beer But Bought Some Campaign Cigars.

W. W. Allen, Republican candidate for alderman in the Sixth ward, and C. A. Olson, independent candidate in the Eighth ward, filed their affidavits of election expenses with the city clerk this morning. Mr. Allen's expenses were $52. "Precinct pushers" cost him $10.50, acording to his affidavit, and he spent $6.50 for "campaign cigars." It is estimated that if the cigars were the ordinary campaign variety he must have procured enough for $6.50 to give each man in the ward four. Mr. Allen contributed $25 to the Republican campaign committee, he states. He winds up with the statement, "no beer furnished."

Mr. Olson spent $20.50, less than Mr. Allen had to pay the Republican committee as a starter, which shows that running as an independent has its advantages. His expenses were all for printing and ballot fee. He does not confess that he supplied "campaign" cigars.

MAYOR COMES BACK

The mayor said this morning that the report of the police and license committee on the Resche matter as an attempt to injure him by striking at his son to gratify personal and partisan grudges.

"The last chapter in this matter is yet to come," said the mayor. "I shall send a communication to the council Monday evening. I will show that Capt. Resche misrepresented the boys and that he did not dare to ask an investigation from me. On the contrary, he virtually acknowledged the truth of the charge by his silence.

"Aldermen Tischer and Duren blame me for their defeat. I know that Alderman Tischer has been telling people since election that he would get even with the mayor. I did oppose them; not on personal grounds, but because they did not keep the pledges on which they were elected. And everybody knows what Alderman Cromwell has done; elected on a municipal ownership platform, he has always voted the other way. I am opposed to them as I am opposed to everybody who does not do what is right. If my son had disgraced himself at Chickamauga, as the committee asserts, I would certainly have made no distinction in his favor. I would not have reinstated him.

"The committee states in its report that the telegram published in the News Tribune, to the effect that the boys obtained signatures to their paper in favor of mustering out by force is not true. My son challenged them to name a man who had been compelled to sign by intimidation. They gave the name of one man, a cook, and it turned out that he had not signed at all. The vote taken by Lieut. Col. Johnson showed that 80 per cent of the men wanted to be mustered out. The committee has gone too far and overdone the thing in its anxiety to injure me.

"I see that the committee says that Capt. Resche has not a swelled head. Then it has gone down, and I congratulate Capt. Resche. The result proves the truth of my assertion that nothing is so good for a swelled head as cutting it off."

Henry Truelsen, Jr., at whom the report is directly aimed, has an honorable discharge from the army, signed by Capt. Resche. It bears the endorsement, "Faithful and Honorable Service."

"Did Capt. Resche lie when he signed that discharge, or does he lie now?" said the mayor.

Said Henry Truelsen, Jr.: "All I ask is that the whole company to a man be allowed to appear before the committee. I know who one of the privates the committee asked to testify before it is, and I am pretty well satisfied that I know who the others are. The man I am sure about has a personal grudge against me, and the other two are unfriendly to me on personal grounds also."

It is the general opinion among those versed in the game of politics that the report is a studied attempt to discredit the mayor and the administration. This opinion is entertained on account of the personnel of the committee as well as because of the one-sided manner in which the investigation seems to have been conducted, as evidenced by the statements made by Alderman Cromwell, the chairman of the committee, and other facts that have come to light.

As showing the animus of Alderman Cromwell, his assertion before the council last night that two saloons were running without a license and without a bond having been filed is referred to by the mayor. The statement was made in a way to reflect on the police department. It was found on examining the city treasurer's books this morning that the $1000 license fee had been paid for both the places referred to by Alderman Cromwell, viz., No. 926 Garfield avenue and No. 1605 West Michigan street. The fee was paid by A. S. Schmidt, agent for the Pabst Brewing company. The licenses had not been issued, Chief Hansen said, merely because Mr. Schmidt had omitted to pay the clerk's fee, $2.50 in each case.

Attorney Phelps Says Changing of County Boundary Was Unconstitutional.

LAKE COUNTY LINE

Still Begins at Knife River—Famous Section 30 In This County.

This morning County Attorney Phelps left in the county auditor's office a letter directed to County Auditor Halden bringing up an important matter. The letter directs the attention of the county auditor to the fact that certain lands have been omitted from the tax rolls for several years, and states that in Mr. Phelps' opinion it is the auditor's duty to at once place them on the tax rolls in order that they may be assessed for the year 1899 at least.

The land in question is that, which by an act of 1895, was cut off from St. Louis county and placed in Lake county. This act Mr. Phelps declares to be unconstitutional, and he presents authorities to prove his case. By section 574 of the general statutes of 1894 the boundary between Lake and St. Louis counties is fixed from the mouth of Knife river north to the boundary line between the United States and Canada. The act of 1895 removed the boundary from the mouth of Knife river and placed it three-quarters of a mile west into St. Louis county on the true meridian, the line between ranges 11 and 12.

Mr. Phelps believes that this measure was in opposition to the section of the constitution against special legislation. The most important point, however, is that it is unconstitutional because the constitution expressly forbids the legislature to alter the boundaries of any counties in the state without submitting the matter to a vote of the people of the counties concerned. There is no doubt that this was never done, and Mr. Phelps argues that therefore the act of 1895 was unconstitutional and void and that the true boundary today is still at the mouth of Knife river. If this should prove to be true, the courts will hold that all of territory removed by it from St. Louis county to Lake county, belongs back in St. Louis county, and is subject to taxation and legal jurisdiction there.

In his communication to Auditor Halden Mr. Phelps states that there are about 7000 acres in this tract, including valuable mineral lands and the famous section 30. He tells Mr. Halden that it is his duty as county auditor to restore this property to the St. Louis county tax rolls, so that it shall be assessed at least for 1899. The question whether it is to be assessed for the years during which it was omitted from the tax lists is a question to be considered at another time.

A Strange Freak.

John L. McCollum, a 16-year-old boy from Biwabik, was to be examined in probate court this afternoon as to his sanity. He is said to be very much out of order mentally. He imagines that he is married to a school girl in Biwabik, and one of his freaks is to approach everyone he meets with an attempt to borrow money on which to start housekeeping.

Notice M. W. of A.

All members of Imperial camp No. 2206, M. W. of A., are requested to meet at Elk's hall at 1:30 p. m. sharp, Wednesday, Feb. 15, to attend the funeral of our late neighbor, G. S. Phelps. Services will be held in the hall at 2 p. m.

F. A. NOBLE,

Want the Hall Reopened.

The residents of the East End are circulating a petition for fire protection. It will be presented to the council Monday night.

Chief Black said this morning that the losses in that district in the three months since No. 4 hall was closed amount to $15,500. The expense of maintaining the hall during the same period last year was $1680, he said, and he stated that had the hall been open during the last three months the losses would not have been over $5000 at the outside.

A Number of Duluth Young People Secure Remunerative Clerical Positions.

During the past two weeks Duluth firms have engaged the following young people as stenographers and accountants: Attorney J. A. Hanks has engaged Miss Sadie Carey as stenographer and bookkeeper. J. L. Wiggins, president Duluth Malleable Iron works, has engaged Miss Lizzie Jacoby as stenographer and typewritist. Clyde W. Stilson, attorney, has engaged Miss Williams as stenographer and bookkeeper. The New York Life Insurance company has engaged Miss Marie Fredrickson as stenographer and typewritist. The Richards Lumber company has engaged Ernest Grocheau as stenographer. West Duluth Iron company has engaged Miss Maud Fisher as bookkeeper. Attorney Whitely has engaged Miss Anna Farrell as stenographer and typewritist. The Zenith Elevator company has engaged Samuel Coultra as bookkeeper. The St. Louis hotel has engaged Miss Lydia Olsen as stenographer and typewritist. We learn that without one exception the above named young people left Duluth Business University to accept these positions, that not one of said young people attended this institution more than six months, some not more than three months, that in each and every case they are proving satisfactory to their employers and are found competent to do what is required of them, which speaks volumes for the thorough training received at this practical institution.

We also learn from Principal McCarter that he had not students or graduates to fill several equally good positions that were offered last week.

WHY IS ELECTRIC LIGHT BEST?

Because it is Healthy, Clean, Pure and Brilliant.

HEALTHY! It has no odor. Prof. Thomson states one cubic foot of gas consumes as much oxygen as four adults.
CLEAN It causes no discolorations of furnishings and decorations in homes.
SAFE As electric bell work, no danger of suffocation.
CHEAP! By using a little care in turning off lights when not in use it is cheaper than any other illuminant.

RED TAPE.

It Ties Up Postoffice Authorities In a Money Matter.

Persons who have dealings with the postoffice department, and who at times encounter trouble in having an apparently simple matter disposed of offhand, very seldom appreciate the so-called "red tape" that is used. First of all, the government protects itself, and then it thinks of its patron. However, at times an ordinary looking case will cause a serious entanglement, as the following curious incident which recently came to the notice of the postoffice department will show. A man employing a fictitious name forged checks and raised cash on them at two banks in a Northern city. That part of the money which he did not immediately need he placed in an envelope addressed presumably to another person, in care of a certain hotel in another city. The envelope was registered and mailed. About two days afterward he started for the latter town himsefl, but was arrested as he was boarding the train and taken to jail. The evidence being very strong against him, he confessed his crime and admitted to the officers that his real name was that which he had placed on the registered package, and that the alias under which he was arrested was adopted for plying his trade. The postmaster at the town to which the registered package had been addressed endeavored to deliver, and failing to do so, served the usual formal notice. The man, being in jail, did not receive the notice, and when the usual thirty days had expired, and the package being unclaimed, it was returned to the sender, as required by the postal regulations, but there was no one to receive it, as the sender had dropped his alias and resumed his proper name.

One of the cheated banks was enterprising enough to induce the prisoner to sign over to it an order for the package. The order, of course, was executed in his actual name, but when it was presented to the postmaster at the sending office his obvious answer was that he had no package for the person mentioned. The matter was referred to the authorities at Washington. They at first were disposed to order the postmaster to turn the package over to the assignee of the prisoner, although the sender's name was different, since there was good ground for recognizing the sender and the prisoner as the same person. But here another difficulty arose. The prisoner having confessed his guilt in obtaining the money, and there being nothing to show whether the money in the packet was wholly that of the bank making the claim, or belonged in part to the other defrauded bank, would not the government itself be a party to a very questionable proceeding if it should waive its own regulations in order to enable one of the forger's victims to seize the money of both? What recourse would the other victim have?

The next idea of the department was to prorate the contents of the package between the two banks on the basis of their respective losses. But that, plainly, would involve it in further trouble and at last in despair the postmaster at the mailing office was told to use his best judgment in disposing of the package.

IS THIS TRUE?

The first instance on record of an Indian killing his squaw comes from the Pine Tree agency, says a dispatch to the Chicago Times-Herald. The accused, who boasts of the name of Good Shot has been taken from Chadron, Neb., to Deadwood for trial. Such is the horror prevalent among the redskins over such a crime that the entire tribe is aroused and hopes for his speedy conviction and punishment. The evidence against Good Shot is entirely circumstantial, but the links in the chain, dating from the time the woman's horribly mutilated body was found to the arrest of her husband, are so complete that no doubt of his conviction is felt.

TALK FOR A BOUNTY

Members of the House Discuss the Pig Iron Measure.

OFFER AMENDMENTS

Public Hearing on Teachers' Pension Bill to Be Held Friday.

From a Staff Representative.

St. Paul, Feb. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The house committees were in evidence this morning with numerous reports, few of which were of general interest. Among the new bills were:

Deming—To amend laws relating to assessments and collection of taxes, to include overlooked property in assessment.

Deming—To facilitate purchase of lands for Itasca state park.

Pope—To provide for division of towns separated by natural obstacles.

Jacobson—To submit to popular election question of county option in liquor license.

Dwinnell—To provide for collection of debts due the state.

Donohue—To amend laws 1895 to establish municipal courts in towns under 5000.

Johnson, S. C. —Reimburse Chicago for expenses in trial of non-residents Johnson and Kelly for murder.

Cumming—For public highways.

Shurmann—For taxation of sleeping parlor and dining cars.

Two senate bills on the calendar were passed. One was Senator Lord's amendment to the probate code; the other, by Senator Johnson, amends the law relating to discharges from insane hospitals.

With Gutterson presiding, bills on general orders were then taken up. The Laybourn bill for a bounty of 50 cents a ton on pig iron was taken up, and Laybourn spoke at some length in its support. He called attention to the fact that Minnesota iron ore was all shipped East, argued that such a bounty would not only help the iron interests, but would quickly build up small manufactures throughout the state. Michigan was looking into this same proposition, and legislators in that state had sent for copies of this bill. An amendment seeking to prevent the principal benefits accruing to any trust was proposed by him.

Yale spoke in favor of the bill. He had voted for Red River drainage, and for beet sugar bounty, because both were in the interest of the whole state. For a like reason he advocated this iron bounty.

Mr. Mallory said he was, of course, interested because of the district he represented, but that he favored this proposition as in the interest of the whole state. Pig iron means a great deal for labor. Minnesota labor gets but about 50 cents a ton. For making this into pig iron labor gets from $6 to $10 a ton, all of which now goes East when it could be kept at home. He carried the manufacture of iron to some length, showing how much it meant to labor. He showed how every section of the state would receive direct as well as indirect benefits from such legislation.

Jacobson admitted that if the measure benefitted Duluth it would benefit the whole state, but thought taxation on iron ore and railroad rates in general should receive more favorable consideration from St. Louis county. He thought the bill somewhat indefinite and favored some reasonable limit on the aggregate amount to be expended in bounties.

Dwinnell offered an amendment limiting the bounty after four years to such product as has been made into a mercantile product.

Roberts presented an amendment to limit the aggregate bounties to $50,000.

Laybourn presented an amendment limiting the amount of pig iron on which bounties shal be paid to 150,000 tons per annum.

Fosnes offered an amendment eliminating the 10-year limit.

Without acting on any of the amendments, the committee arose and reported progress.

Wheaton presented a resolution, which was adopted, that the flag on the capitol building be placed at half mast in commemoration of the blowing up of the battleship Maine. Recess.

There will be a public hearing on the teachers' pension bill by the St. Louis, Ramsey and Hennepin delegations of the house on Friday evening.

FOR INSURANCE COMMISSIONER.

Governor Sends In the Name of John A. O'Shaughnessy.

St. Paul, Feb. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Among the new bills in the senate were three substitutes for binding twine sale regulation bills introduced by Young, Somerville and Benedict, the former bills having been lost by Senator Larson earlier in the session. Also:

McGowan—Providing for marking prison-made goods.

Lord—For taxation of freight lines.

Potter—To regulate the practice of dentistry.

Committee on banking—To provide for incorporation of savings associations.

Myron—To amend county drainage law.

Dickey—To repeal laws of 1885 relating to operation of traction engines.

Ryder—For the construction of a hard road.

Barker—To regulate dams and streams.

House bill to punish forgery in the third degree was substituted for the senate bill and passed.

The governor sent in the nomination of John A. O'Shaughnessy for insurance commissioner, vice Elmer H. Dearth, term expired.

DAMAGE IN FLORIDA.

Orange Buds Are Killed Except In Rare Instances.

Atlanta, Ga., Feb. 15.—The Associated Press, in response to a request for accurate information as to the damage done in Florida by the freeze on Monday night, today received the following from Jacksonville:

The snow covered all of Florida as far south as Tampa on the west coast and St. Augustine on the east.

Vegetables are generally killed.

It is difficult at this time to estimate the damage done to orange groves, but where protective measures were not taken it is considerable. The trees were in bloom and the blossoms were killed and the prospects for a crop next fall are destroyed in a large portion of the orange belt.

SNOWBOUND SENATORS.

Mr. Davis Arrives In Washington After a Long Siege.

Washington, Feb. 15.—Senator Davis of Minnesota reached Washington this morning at 2 o'clock, having been snowbound at Boyds, twenty miles from Washington, for thirty-six hours. Senator Foraker of Ohio is snowbound at Parkersburg, W. Va. These senators went to Dayton to be present at the meeting of the Ohio Republican league last Saturday.

FROM THE CAPITAL.

Patents to Duluth Men For Dredging and Placer Mining Apparatus.

FROM THE HERALD WASHINGTON BUREAU.

Washington, Feb. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Patents were issued today to Duluth inventors as follows: Alexander McDougall, dredging apparatus; George Wetherby, apparatus for placer mining.

• • •

Senator McMillan today presented an amendment to the sundry civil bill appropriating $165,000 for beginning the construction of two revenue cutters for service on the great lakes, at a cost not exceeding $165,000 each.

A FIERCE CONTEST.

House Considering the Nicaraguan Canal Matter.

Washington, Feb. 15.—One of the fiercest contests of the session was in progress when the house met today. The friends and opponents of the plan to attach the Nicaragua canal bill to the sunday civil bill was working assiduously and every argument which could influence members one way or the other was being brought to bear. The fate of the canal bill at this congress was in the balance.

Some time was spent at the opening of the session with routine matters. Just before the motion was made to go into committee of the whole Mr. Hepburn, of Iowa, who is conducting the fight on behalf of the Nicaragua canal amendment, asked unanimous consent that the canal bill be made a special order for Tuesday next, but objection was made.

The house then went into committee of the whole, Mr. Hopkins in the chair, on the sundry civil bill, the pending question being the point of order raised against the canal amendment.

WOULD RAISE THEIR PAY.

New Scheme to Tax Daily Newspapers In Wisconsin.

Madison, Wis. Feb. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—That the work in the session is well under way is shown by the number of committee reports coming in. The assembly received reports on a number of bills this morning and there will be a fair sized calendar tomorrow Many bills were introduced, among them these: Regulating the interchange of telephone messages, amending the laws relating to the assessment of franchises, limiting passenger rates to 2 cents, to prohibit the giving of prizes upon the sale of goods, authorizing the establishments of industrial schools by counties, appropriating $10,000 to the battleship commission for a gift to the Wisconsin, making county officers salaried, amending the laws relating to peddlers.

This is next to the last day for introducing bills and fifty were presented in the senate. One by Senator Withe provides for the taxation of daily newspapers on the sale plan, as in the express and sleeping car tax bill, proprietors being required to report their business and pay a graded license fee of 2 or 4 per cent on gross receipts, according to business done.

A bill by Woodworth proposes a constitutional amendment raising pay of members of the legislature from $500 to $1000 and allowing 5 cents a mile each way to and from home every time the legislature adjounrs 48 hours.

Other important bills were: Appropriating $75,000 to normal school income fund, amending corrupt practices act, making the same as the original introduced two years ago, requiring residence in election districts of thirty days before voting.

A memorial to congress for suppression of trusts was adopted in the senate.

Bills by Senator Mills: Relating to qualifications of jurors, relating to county board committees.

TO BE PROMOTED.

Man Who Took Iloilo Without Loss of a Man.

Washington, Feb. 15.—Col. Marcus P. Miller of the Third regiment of artillery will be nominated to be brigadier general in the regular army. Gen. Miller commanded the military forces which captured the city of Iloilo without the loss of a man or of an arm and his promotion is in recognition of his meritorious services on that occasion.

SKATERS RESCUED.

Chicago, Feb. 15.—The two Lake Forest students who were caught on the ice floe last Monday afternoon were rescude by the life saving crew at Rogers Park, twenty miles south of Lake Forset yesterday morning. They were very weak and exhausted by their long exposure. Thirteen were rescued at Highland Park.

A CONFIRMATION.

Washington, Feb. 15.—The senate in executive session today confirmed the nomination of Hon. Edwin R. Meek to be district judge for the northern district of Texas.

NO ACTION.

Boston, Feb. 15.—The regular meeting of the directors of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railroad company was held here today. Only routine business was transacted. It was stated that no action was taken as to the refunding plans.

VILLAGES SHELLED

Gunboat Worked Her Rapid-Fire Guns Effectively on the Jungle.

REBELS DRIVEN OUT

Insurgents Were Apparently Short of Ammunition But Fought Desperately.

Manilla, Feb. 15, 5:20 p. m.—Several rebels yesterday afternoon, having fired from houses bearing white flags on the American outposts, Col. Smith, with Companies L, D and M of the California volunteers proceeded to clean out the enemy along his front. The rebels opposed him from the brush and several skirmishes occurred, during which nine of the Californians were wounded before the rebels were driven out.

The work proceeded today in a systematic manner, a gunboat shelling the villages and working her rapid-fire guns very effectively on the jungle.

The entire California regiment, with the exception of two companies, four companies of the Washington regiment, two companies of Idaho and a battery of the Sixth artillery were engaged. The rebels were driven towards Lake Laguna de Bayo.

The rebels held their fire, apparently being short of ammunition, but they fought desperately.

The American outposts in this direction are now fully twelve miles out.

All is quiet along the rest of line with the exception that an occasional exchange of shots between the sharpshooters breaks the monotony of the day.

ABSOLUTE FABRICATION.

Agoncillo So Cables Concerning Charge of Gen. Otis.

London, Feb. 15.—The Filipino agents here have received a cablegram from Agoncillo, the agent of Aguinaldo, saying:

"The statement of Gen. Otis that he has a copy of a telegram from me, advising Aguinaldo to attack the Americans, is a n aboslute fabrication. I challenge Gen. Otis to produce the telegram."

UNDER A SEVERE FIRE.

Insurgents Driven Through Jaro to Open Country Beyond.

Manilla, Feb. 15, 11:55 a. m.—Col. Potter (Lieut. Col. C. L. Pooster of the signal corps?) arrived yesterday evening with dispatches from Brig. Gen. M. D. Miller to Maj. Gen. E. S. Otis, commanding the United States forces in the Philippine islands.

On Sunday afternoon Gen. Miller ordered a reconnoisance in force to ascertain the enemy's position. Maj. Cheatham's battalion of the Tennessee volunteer regiment marched beyond Molo without finding the enemy, and returned to Iloilo.

Keller's battalion of the Eighteenth United States infantry, with two Hotchkiss guns and one Gatling gun, marched towards Jaro. Midway between Iloilo and Jaro this battalion encountered a large body of the enemy, occupying both sides of the road, who met the advance of the American troops with a severe and well-directed fire. The Americans deployed and returned the fire with a number of volleys. The troops advanced steadily, supported by the Hotchkiss and Gatling guns, and drove the enemy through Jaro to the open country beyond. The town of Jaro was found to be deserted, and all portable property had been removed. When the Americans entered the place there were only a few Chinese there.

At 4:10 o'clock p. m. Capt. Griffith's raised the American flag over the Presidencia.

During the fighting outside of the town, Lieut. Frank Bowles of the Eighteenth infantry, while working the light battery, was shot in the leg. In addition, one private was seriously wounded and two were slightly injured. The rebels' loss was severe.

All was quiet on Monday when Col. Potter left Iloilo.

Two natives attempted to slip past the United States cruiser Olympia during the night in a boat. They failed to respond when hailed, but kept paddling along. After a warning shot a sentry fired at the boat and killed one of the occupants and wounded the other.

ADDITIONAL WOUNDED.

South Dakotan Drowned While Trying to Land a Gun.

Washington, Feb. 15.—The following report was received at the war department today:

First California: Wounded by desultory firing yesterday, Privates Allen Grant, severe; Albert Egger, slight; Ray Hursh, Company C, slight; William C Walsh, severe; Sergt. William F. Hinne, severe; Corporal Henry Ritter, Company H, slight; Lieut. Edwin A. Hartig, First South Dakota, drowned last night while attempting to land Hotchkiss gun at Pasig. OTIS.

TO THANK MISS GOULD.

Senate Committee on Military Affairs Reports a Bill.

Washington, Feb. 15.—At the opening of today's session of the senate the chaplain referred in feeling terms to the charity which had been brought out by the recent terrible storm.

A bill was reported from the military affairs committee and passed extending the appreciation of congress to Miss Helen Miller Gould for patriotic services during the late war and providing that a gold medal be presented to her by the president.

The postoffice appropriation bill was reported and Mr. Quay of Pennsylvania gave notice that he would call it up for consideration tomorrow.

A bill was passed providing for the admission to the naval academy as a cadet Oscar W. Deignan, one of the Merrimac heroes.

Senators Cullom, Sewell and Teller were named as conferees on the legislative appropriation bill.

THREE PERSONS PERISH.

A Chicago Mail Carrier and Family Burned to Death.

Chicago, Feb. 15.—There seems to be no doubt but that three persons were burned to death in the fire last night which destroyed the Arlington flats at Forty-first street and Grand Boulevard. Those who are supposed to have perished are:

Fred A. Marte, a mail carrier.

Mrs. Fred Marte, his wife, and their infant son.

Marte did not report for duty at the postoffice, and as every source of information in regard to the possible whereabouts of the family have been looked into without success, all hope for their escape has been given up.

NEW OIL INSPECTOR.

The Elder Towne Succeeds Marshall In the Duluth Deputyship.

St. Paul, Feb. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mr. Towne, father of Charles A. Towne, has been appointed a deputy oil inspector at Duluth, to succeed Bert Marshall. He was a caller at the governor's office this morning, and received personal notice of his appointment. He will not take charge of the office until March 1.

THE NEW MAINE.

The Cramps Begin Work on a Powerful New Naval Fighter.

Philadelphia, Feb. 15.—The anniversary of the blowing up of the battleship Maine in Havana harbor was marked here with the beginning of work on the powerful man-of-war which will bear the name of the historic battleship, the destruction of which did much to precipitate the war with Spain.

The new Maine will be built by the Cramp Shipbuilding company and at the company's yards at 11 o'clock today the first piece of the keel was laid. There was no formality in the proceeding, but the shipyard was thrown open to the public and a great cheer was given by the crowd as the group of workmen set in place the first steel piece of the keel. Other pieces of the steel keel were immediately hoisted and placed by the side of the first and thus was started what will be one of the most powerful fighters of the new navy.

The Maine will be a sister ship to the Ohio and Missouri, the contract price for each of which is $2,885,000. She is to have a speed of eighteen knots with a length on the water line of 388 feet and a beam of 72 feet 2½ inches. She will have a normal displacement of 12,500 tons and a draught of 23 feet 6 inches. Her bunkers will be large enough to carry 2000 tons of coal and her complement of officers, seamen and marines will be about 600 men.

The Maine's armament will consist of four 12-inch breach-loading rifles, sixteen 6-inch rapid-fire rifles, twenty 6-pounder and four 3-pounder guns and a few smaler pieces. The 12-inch guns will be of 40 caliber and of the new high powered type designed to use smokeless powder. With a muzzle velocity of 3000 feet per second and firing an 850-pound shell, each gun will have an energy of 48,000 foot-tons, equal to the penetration of four feet of solid iron at the muzzle.

The builders of the ship wil endeavor to have her ready for launching on Feb. 15 of next year and to have her ready for service on the third anniversary of the sinking of the Maine.

A WISCONSIN BOY.

Lieut. Edwin A. Harting, Who Was Drowned Near Manilla.

Fond du Lac, Wis., Feb. 15.—Lieut. Edwin A. Harting (not Hartig), who was drowned at Pasig, near Manilla, while attempting to land a Hotchkiss gun, was a former Fond du Lac boy. He studied telegraphy here and later was employed by the Western Union at Houghton and Marquette, Mich., and Pierre, S. D. In the latter city he became identified with the National Guard and in the course of time was made first lieutenant of Company A First regiment.

FOR LIBRARIAN.

Congressman Samuel J. Barrows of Boston Has Been Slated.

Washington, Feb. 15.—The president has definitely decided to nominate Representative Samuel J. Barrows, of Boston, for librarian of the congressional library.

MILITARY DEADLOCK.

Senate Committee Equally Divided on the Reorganization Bill.

Washington, Feb. 15.—The senate commitee on military affairs has reported a deadlock on the military reorganization bill. This is due to the absence of Senator Proctor, who holds the balance of power on the committee. He is in Cuba and went away without leaving authority to vote him on the bill. This leaves five Democrats and five Republicans. When an effort was made at the forenoon session to secure a favorable report on the bill the Democrats objected and were able to prevent action. A motion was then passed to meet again at 4 o'clock in the afternoon when it was stated that the Democrats would let the Republicans know what they were willing to do.

THE NORWEGIAN DERBY.

Chicago, Feb. 15.—A Christiania cable to the Record says: The ski race down a portion of Mount Holmenkol, known as the "Norwegian Derby," and an annual event, on the Holmenkol Shiren, had been arranged for Monday and promised much excitement, both from the number of contestants and the difficulty of the course. On account of rain, however, it has had to be postponed.

M'INTYRE HIS TRUST

He Sends Out a Prospectus Outlining His Plan to Brokers.

FOR LOWER PRICES

The Minneapolis Miller Says the Mills There Will Not Enter.

Minneapolis, Feb. 15.—The Northwestern Miller today prints the text of a prospectus issued for the United States Flour Milling company, supposedly by Thomas McIntyre, dated New York, Feb. 7, and marked "for private use only." It outlines the entire plan for organizing the spring wheat milling industry of the country into a trust. Thirty-one mills are enumerated, including all of those in Minneapolis, Milwaukee and Duluth, and comprising 80 per cent of the spring wheat capacity of the country. The property is valued at $37,800,000, and the claim is made that the trust would effect a saving of $1,500,000 annually in the cost of operation, "while the tendency and the policy of the company will result in equalizing, lowering and making more uniform the price of flour to the consumer."

The prospectus includes a tempting proposition to brokers for underwriting the stock. It is proposed to charge the underwriter 95 per cent of par, and he is to sell the stock to the public for 102½.

The document includes the Minneapolis mills, as if they were already secured by the trust, when the fact is that not a dollar of Minneapolis mill stock has been secured by Mr. McIntyre, nor any option thereon. There is no indication that he will be able to shake the determination of the owners of the Minneapolis mills not to go into the trust.

In the memorandum to the broker it is stated that in the event that some of the properties enumerated are not secured, a part of the proposed $2,000,000 cash working capital is to be set aside to remove "legal or other difficulties."

The proposition to the broker is that for every $100,000 the broker gets the public to invest in the stock he will receive $5000 cash and a bonus of $10,000 common stock.

The Miller makes some very caustic comments on this proposition, and adds that the Minneapolis companies cannot be induced to go into the trust on any basis.

ROAD AND BRIDGE FUND.

Bill For Granting State Aid For Building Roads.

St. Paul, Feb. 15.—In the senate yesterday afternoon, a bill for an enabling act based on the constitutional amendment creating a state road and bridge fund, was recommended for passage. It levies an annual tax on all the taxable property in the state of one-twentieth of a mill. No county, it is stipulated, shall receive more than 3 per cent nor less than ½ of 1 per cent of the total fund thus provided in any one year; not more than one-third of the fund shall be expended for bridges, and not more than one-third of the cost of constructing or improving any road or bridge shall be taken from such fund.

S. F. 221, substitute for S. F. 13, the Duluth refunding bill, was also sent to the calendar. The bill provides that cities over 50,000 may sell bonds for taking up floating general or special indebtedness. The issue shall be authorized by majority vote of the council. The bonds shall run fifteen years, bear 4½ per cent maximum interest, be sold for not less than par after three weeks' advertising, and at not more than 1½ per cent commission. The obligation-creating power thus conferred is limited to cities that now come under its provisions, which must act within six months.

The Baldwin bill (S. F. 44) to protect purchasers at judicial or foreclosure sales, was recommended, on motion of its author, for indefinite postponement. It was explained by Senator Baldwin that a statute covering the purpose sought now exists.

The judiciary committee recommended indefinite postponement of the Fosnes bill making two years' desertion the requirement of an action for divorce.

A bill was introduced by Senator McCarthy of Itasca settling all questions as to the right of the fish and game wardens to seize game wherever they find it. Game and fish are made state property and no individual can acquire the right to that property with the exceptions of the horns of the deer, elk, etc., killed in open season. The latter is fixed from Oct. 25 to Nov. 15. The bill is framed on the lines recommended by the interstate conference of game commissioners.

A local option bill was introduced by Senator Myron, providing that licenses shall be granted only as a result of county elections to be held on the second Tuesday in March of any even numbered year, commencing with 1900. It will require a petition of not less than one-tenth of the registered votes of the county to hold such an election. Druggists will be allowed to sell liquors on filing oaths to comply with the law.

Senator J. D. Jones introduced by request a bill allowing village councils to issue orders for the payment and repair of streets upon petition from the property owners along such streets.

Senator Sweningsen introduced by request a bill to prevent fraud in the sale of butter. It is aimed at the practice of taking butter from original packages, properly stamped, and mixing it with butter of inferior grades or worse.

A bill introduced by Senator Brower reduces the minimum sentence in the state reformatory by allowing the board of managers to discharge convicts at the expiration of reduced terms.

The house committee on taxes put the Mausten bill to sleep yesterday. This is the bill imposing a 1 per cent gross earnings tax upon electric light, gas, water, street railway and messenger companies. The committee took the view that all these companies are paying their taxes in the municipalities where they are doing business and there was no reason for the state to step in and put a further tax upon them. The committee also decided to favorably recommend Mr. Staples' bill to make the current tax upon timber and mineral land a lien upon the timber and mineral.

A SEVERE NORTHER.

Colon, Colombia, Feb. 15, via Galveston, Tex.—A norther is blowing, high seas are running, and all the steamers have left their wharves. The shipping business is temporarily suspended.

There are signs at present of terminating the strike at Panama.

BLOCKADE RAISED.

Pittsburg, Feb. 15.—The railroad blockade between Pittsburg and the seaboard cities is gradually being raised.

FRANCE IS WORRIED

Growth of Her Merchant Marine Not What It Should Be.

AN ARTIFICIAL SILK

An English Professor Invents a Process For Use of Gelatine.

Washington, Feb. 15.—Consul Skinner at Marseilles sends to the state department an abstract of the annual report of the Marseilles chamber of commerce to the minister of commerce on the state of French merchant marine. It appears from this report that the subject of the merchant marine is being considered in France with quite as much interest as is the same subject in the United States. The chamber reports a gain in the tonnage entered at Marseilles of 163,943 tons for 1897, but states that is far from reassuring. Comparison is made with the statistics of Genoa, Antwerp and Rotterdam, whence the following gains of 1897 over 1896 were reported: Genoa, 516,000 tons; Antwerp, 646,000 tons; Rotterdam, 731,000 tons.

The gradual disappearance of the French flag from commerce is declared to be "in spite of the law of 1893, which the public powers recognized to be absolutely inefficient."

Consul Thackeray writes from Havre on the same subject, giving the report of the parliamentary commission appointed by the French chamber of deputies to investigate the problem of upbuilding the French merchant marine.

This report says in part that the commission "recognizes the state of the merchant marine as critical, and especially in regard to its ability to successfully compete with that of other nations."

Further the report says: "Its relative inferiority, already demonstrated, becomes more and more apparent each day, and with each advancing stride made by the steamship lines of other countries.

"This state of affairs, if prolonged, would lead to the most disastrous social, political and military results; and it is but natural that the government should give its attention to the best methods of ameliorating such a serious condition of affairs, the remedy of which in the very nature of things cannot emanate from private sources."

The commission, after considering various plans, finally decided on a revision of the bounty laws, a section of the new law being quoted by the consul.

It is a very involved schedule of bounties given in francs and centimes, with their fractional English equivalents. The first article provides for a shipping bounty as a compensation for the charges imposed upon merchant vessels in training seamen who have been drafted into the national navy. The bounty is computed in centimes per ton for various classes of vessels ranging from 2000 tons to 4000 tons, and above. This bounty is for steamships. That on sailing vessels is half the amount in every case.

Article 2 provides a bounty "to develop the maritime industries of France as a compensation for the charges imposed upon the merchant navy, and for the excessive cost of vessels built in France." This bounty is calculated by the 1000 miles and by the gross tons, a distinction being made in favor of steam over sailing vessels, as in the previous bounty referred to.

THE SILK WORM'S SECRET.

Report That Silk Can Be Made From Gelatine.

Washington, Feb. 15.—A very curious report comes to the state department from Consul Frankenthal at Berne, Switzerland, on the manufacture of artificial silk from gelatine. The consul says that his information is from Professor Hummet of Yorkshire college, in Leeds, England, who is the inventor of the process, and who has submitted specimens of his product to Swiss silk manufacturers. The accuracy of the statements contained in the report must be gauged by this standard.

The gelatine to be turned into silk is heated at a certain temperature, which keeps it continually in liquid form. The reservoir containing this liquid has a cover with innumerable small openings, through which the gelatine oozes in very fine streams. These tiny threads are discharged on an endless strip of linen cloth, running over pulleys. When this strip has traveled far enough to dry the gelatine the threads are picked up automatically and wound upon spools.

The whole apparatus is said to require very little attention, a single workman overseeing enough machines to produce 470,000 yards of thread per day—equal to the production of 24,000 cocoons. To make the gelatine threads proof against being dissolved in warm water, or any other solution, they are lightly wound on drums and subjected to the fumes of formaldehyde in a close room for several hours. Coloring matter added in very small proportions to the liquid gelatine produces any shade of thread desired.

This artificial silk is said to be extremely brilliant and very uniform in thickness.

The greatest drawback to its usefulness is its low tensile strength. But this, it is said, can be overcome by mixing the gelatine fiber with real silk, fine linen or cotton. The statement is made that this silk can be produced at $1.15 per pound. Collodion silk now costs about $2.50 per pound, while natural silk is worth $6.25.

WOODMEN OF THE WORLD.

Convention of Jurisdiction D In Session at St. Paul.

St. Paul, Feb. 15.—The biennial convention of jurisdiction D of the Woodmen of the World convened yesterday at Sherman hall.

District D comprises the states of Michigan, Wisconsin, Iowa and Minnesota.

Councillor Commander L. V. Scott of Ottumwa, Iowa, presided. Sovereign Eugene S. LaFrance of St. Paul made the address of welcome.

Sovereign Chas. T. Cooper of Davenport, Iowa, replied.

The morning session was short, being devoted largely to the appointing of committees.

Head Clark Smyth presented his report, in which it was shown that the membership of the order had increased 6032 in the past two years.

Today the reports of the officers will be received, showing the exact condition of the different districts and the financial standing under the jurisdiction. The afternoon will be devoted to the election of officers, and it is expected that there will be a spirited contest for some of the places. Both Minnesota and Michigan will try for the place of head consul commander. The other officers will be apportioned among the states as evenly as possible.

Milwaukee is out for the next convention, and to that end its supporters have distributed a number of bright red badges, setting forth the advantages of their city. So far no opposition has been developed.

This is the picture of a man who is healthy, clear-headed, successful and impartial—Lord Herschell, the Ex-Lord Chancellor of England. You may be very sure his blood is pure. The man who suffers from impure blood isn't likely to achieve eminence in any walk of life. You cannot pump impure blood into the brain, and expect the brain to be active and keen. If you feed the brain cells on impure blood, you are sure to have weak, sluggish brain cells. If you pump bad blood into the lungs, you will have weak lungs. Pump bad blood into the liver, and the result is torpidity of the liver. Feed the heart on impure blood, and the consequence is a weak heart. Nourish the skin with impure blood, and the result is all manner of unsightly skin diseases.

The best of all known blood purifiers is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It makes the appetite hearty, the digestion perfect, the liver active and fills the arteries with the rich, red blood of health. It is the great blood-maker and flesh-builder. It cures all forms of eruptive skin diseases. It cures 98 per cent. of all cases of consumption. It cures bronchitis, weak lungs, spitting of blood, obstinate coughs and kindred ailments. It gives vigor and health to the muscles and activity to the brain. Thousands have testified to the benefits derived from the use of this wonderful medicine. All medicine stores sell it.

Mrs. Ella Howell, of Derby, Perry Co., Ind., writes: "In the year of 1894, I was taken with stomach trouble—nervous dyspepsia. There was a coldness in my stomach and a weight which seemed like a rock. Everything that I ate gave me great pain; I had a bearing down sensation; was swelled across my stomach; had a ridge around my right side, and in a short time I was bloated. I was treated by three of our best physicians but got no relief. I was so weak I could not walk across the room without assistance. I took Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and one bottle of the 'Pleasant Pellets.' I began to improve very fast after the use of a few bottles. It cured me and thank God my cure is permanent."

BOTH LEGS CUT OFF.

Serious Accident to a Brakeman Near Bemidji.

Bemidji, Minn., Feb. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—A. T. Winner had both legs cut off, near Smith's station, thirty miles south of here, by a car running over him. He was braking on a logging and switch train, and went out this time for special work with an extra. Winner was taken to the Northern Pacific hospital at Brainerd. He had been stopping here over Sundays and was quite popular.

Winner died before reaching the hospital at Brainerd. His relatives live at Chippewa Falls.

THE JENNY COUPLER.

Patentees Will Secure Damages Against a St. Louis Firm.

St. Louis, Feb. 15.—Judge Adams in the circuit court has handed down an opinion in the patent suit of McConway & Torley against the Shickle, Harrison & Howard Iron company. The plaintiffs alleged that the St. Louis company infringed their patent on the Jenny freight car coupler, on which the complainants claim a patent granted Feb. 21, 1882.

Judge Adams ruled that the complainant had a clear patent on this novelty and that it has been infringed. The opinion stated that a decree will be entered granting a perpetual injunction against any further infringement and referring the case to Judge James A. Seddon for an accounting of the damage sustained by the complainants from the infringement.

OFFICERS RETURN.

Some of the Men Who Didn't Fight at Manilla.

San Francisco, Feb. 15.—The United States transport Valencia has arrived here, thirty-three days from Manilla, with sixty-five soldiers on board, of whom thirteen were sent home on sick leave and the remainder on furlough, or whose terms of enlistment had expired.

Surgeon W. O. Taylor is in command of the soldiers and the officers with him are Maj. DeMerritt, acting as paymaster; Lieut. Yole, Nebraska; Lieut. Gove, Utah battery; Lieut. Murray, South Dakota; Lieut. Gallop, Wyoming; Lieut. Sternbeck, Idaho; Capt. Gardner, Lieut. McGrath, Lieut. Keppner and Lieut. Sullivan, Montana.

ANOTHER FIRE LOSS.

Several Dry Goods Concerns Burned Out at New York.

New York, Feb. 15.—Fire today at 117 and 119 Prince street, this city, destroyed the establishment of Joachim & Finklestein, cloaks and suits; Gustav Mendelssohn, infants' wear; Gustav Reno, laces; Adolph Miller, dress skirts, and the Novelty Tea Gown company; VanKeuren & Thornton, white goods, suffered considerable loss from water. Several firms in an adjoining building suffered from damage by water. The total loss is about $75,000.

NEPHEW OF A NAVAL HERO.

Battle Creek, Mich., Feb. 15.—John Eye Nelson, great nephew of Lord Nelson, the famous English naval hero, was married here last night to Miss Katherine Kell, a school teacher of this city. They left for New York, from where they sail on Feb. 21 for Nelson's home at New Bury, England, where they will reside.

GRAIN-O BRINGS RELIEF

To the coffee drinker. Coffee drinking is a habit that is universally indulged in and almost as universally injurious. Have you tried Grain-O? It is almost like coffee, but the effects are just the opposite. Coffee upsets the stomach, ruins the digestion, affects the heart and disturbs the whole nervous system. Grain-O tones up the stomach, aids digestion and strengthens the nerves. There is nothing but nourishment in Grain-O. It can't be otherwise. 15 and 25 cents per package.

RAILROAD ORE RATE

A New Plan to Work Up Sentiment For a Reduction.

TO CUT IT IN TWO

Members of the Security Company Will Make a Big Effort.

St. Paul, Feb. 15.—Col. E. C. Gridley, whose stock in the Security Land and Exploration company was not disposed of in the recent sale of the company's property to the Oliver people, will today announce an innovation in the way of a movement for a reduction of freights on Mesaba iron ore from mine to dock to 40 cents a ton. It is his purpose to jointly with J. T. Hale and Alfred Merritt, whom, it is said, are similarly situated, to obtain the enactment by the legislature of a law providing that the maximum freight rate shall not be more than 40 cents. It is hoped to accomplish this through the influence of state, school and university officials. In order to bring the matter about, Gridley, Hale and Merritt have succeeded in having called for Feb. 21, in this city, a meeting of educators of the state. This call is signed by Superintendent Denfeld, President Salter and County Superintendent Wheeler, of Duluth; Superintendent A. J. Smith, of St. Paul; Normal Director W. F. Phelps; Superintendent C. M. Jordan, of Minneapolis, and President J. S. Pillsbury, of the board of university regents. The call for the meeting is based on representations made in a report made by Gridley, Hale and Merritt, who sign themselves as a "committee to which was referred the work of reporting on the reasons or causes that prevent independent mine owners on the Mesaba range from mining and shipping ore. This report recites that there is 400,000,000 tons of ore on the Mesaba range, of which the state owns one-fourth, the Consolidated, Federal and Oliver companies about 150,000,000 and private persons and companies the rest; that railroads owned by the Federal and Consolidated companies haul all but 500,000 tons and charge 80 cents a ton; that these two companies own or control all Vermilion range mines and a majority of those on the south shore ranges and consume nearly all the ore they produce; that they have arbitrarily fixed the sale value of Mesaba ore low by selling cheaply the little they sell in open market; that this has prevented all independent mining except of exceptionally high grade ore; that the companies make no profit on ore, but net from 45 to 50 cents on rail carriage.

The conclusions are drawn that 40 cents a ton would pay the roads more than any other road earns; that the 80-cent charge prevents independent mining, stops income to the state and private owners and that it is the roads' purpose to force state royalties to 10 cents a ton and compel private owners to sell at nominal prices. The belief is expressed that another year of present freights will place all independent mines in one of the companies' hands, or cause leases to be made to them at 10 cents royalty. The result will be, it is urged, that no state ore will be mined for twenty-five or thirty years, or until all the rest has been mined, unless the state by reducing the royalty to 10 cents accept a loss of $15,000,000 to the state school fund. The committee therefore urges that educational interests be aroused to the great wrong.

Tables giving gross earnings, operating expenses and net earnings are cited to indicate allegedly exorbitant profits at 80 cents a ton freight.

The call signed by the educators is as follows:

"We, the undersigned, having considered the following report and believing that the said report is a true statement of facts and that prompt action is imperatively necessary to save the educational interests of the state from many millions of dollars of loss, hereby call on all county superintendents of independent districts and a representation of all school boards in the state to meet in the city of St. Paul on Feb. 21, 1899, at 1 p. m. at a hall to be announced later to consider the subject and take such action as may then be thought advisable."

WOULD POISON HIS BROTHER.

A Well-to-Do Young Man Arrested on This Charge.

Uniontown, Pa., Feb. 15.—Karl Norcross, a well-known and well-to-do young man of this place, is in jail on a charge of endeavoring to secure the murder of his little brother, Alan, aged 10 years. A few hours after his arrest, Norcross swallowed poison and as he is still unconscious very little hope of his recovery is entertained. Norcross and his brother inherited a fortune of $25,000 and a large part of the former's share, it is said, has been dissipated. The arrest was made upon the confession of John Devlin and Sylvester Hatterman, who alleged that they were hired by Norcross to give poisoned candy to the boy. The men say they were to receive $500 for delivering the package to the lad.

Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup is reliable. Why try some new medicine when this old reliable remedy can be had for only 25 cents.

WAR WILL GO ON.

Halifax, N. S., Feb. 15.—J. Luna, a member of the Filipino junta, arrived yesterday from Montreal to take passage for England on the steamer Nunidian, now due from St. John. When shown the Associated Press despatch regarding Gen. Rio Dios' arrival at San Francisco, he refused to say what the Filipinos would do, whether seek peace or continue hostilities. Later he said the war would go on while the Americans remained on the islands. The natives wanted nothing to do with either Americans or Spaniards.

WAR EXPECTED.

London, Feb. 15.—The Toulon correspondent of the Daily Mail, remarking upon the extraordinary activity at the arsenal there, and generally in the French naval works, says:

"It is believed M. Lockroy, minister of marine, expects war with Great Britain within two years, and it is a notorious fact that a war with England is being preached in official circles.

"Troops are being poured into Tunis and Algeria, and war material is being dispatched to all the colonies. French officers openly boast that they will sweep the British fleet out of the Mediterranean."

It's a mistake to imagine that itching piles can't be cured; a mistake to suffer a day longer than you can help. Doan's ointment brings instant relief and permanent cure. At any drug store, 50 cents.

GUEST OF HONOR.

Col. Bryan Addresses the Democrats and Populists In St. Paul.

St. Paul, Feb. 15.—Col. W. J. Bryan, of Nebraska, was the guest of honor at a banquet given by Minnesota Democratic and Populist politicians at the Ryan hotel last night. Over 500 guests sat down to the banquet at 9 o'clock. Preceding the banquet, a great crowd attended a general reception to Col. Bryan in the hotel parlors. After the tables were cleared, Judge John W. Willis introduced the toastmaster, Humphrey Barton. Each of the eleven wards of the city were represented on the toasts. Gov. John Lind spoke to "The State of Minnesota." Maj. Bowler, of Bird Island, who was the fusion candidate for lieutenant governor, responded to the toast "Recent Phases of Misgovernment."

Col. Bryan had been given the general subject of "Democracy," and his appearance and remarks called forth hearty applause. He said, in part:

"The ratification of the treaty, instead of committing the United States to a colonial policy really clears the way for the recognition of a Philippine republic. Lincoln, in his first inaugural message, condensed an unanswerable argument into a brief question when he asked: 'Can aliens make treaties easier than friends can make laws?' The same argument is presented in the question, could the independence of the Filipinos be secured more easily by diplomacy from a foreign and hostile nation than it can through laws passed by congress and voicing the sentiments of the American people alone? If independence is more desirable to our people than a colonial policy, who is there and what is there to prevent the recognition of Philippine independence? It is absurd to say that the United States can be transformed from a republic into an empire without consulting the voters.

"The imperialists may be willing to deny to the Filipinos the right to govern themselves, but they cannot deny to the American people the right to determine the policy to be pursued by the United States in the settlement of the Philippine question.

"Until the people express themselves, we can only guess at their views, but is it not safer to suppose that they will adhere to the ideas and policy of a century than to assume that they will go back to the creed of kings and to the gospel of force?

"In commemoration of the fact that France was our ally in securing independence, the citizens of that nation joined with the citizens of the United States in placing in New York harbor an heroic statue representing Liberty enlightening the world. What course shall our nation pursue? Send the statue of Liberty back to France, and borrow from England a statue of William the Conqueror? Or shall our nation so act as to enable the American people to join with the Filipinos in placing in the harbor of Manilla a statue of Liberty enlightening the Orient?"

Mayor Harrison of Chicago and Mayor Rose of Milwaukee had been expected, but were obliged to send regrets.

NEWS BOILED DOWN.

Papers of Santiago had long cable dispatches from Havana describing the trouble at Gen. Garcia's funeral. Some of the papers blame the Cuban assembly, but all criticise Gen. Brooke sharply, agreeing that he has shown lamentable want of tact. Under the circumstances, however, some of the papers say, the assembly should have remained, making a formal protest afterward.

At Knoxville, Tenn., fire destroyed the plant of the Greer Machinery company and the Whittle Trunk company. Loss $75,000 to $100,000, well covered by insurance.

WINE OF CARDUI

Anxious Moments.

—:o:—

Globe, I. T., Dec. 2.

I used two bottles of Wine of Cardui, with Thedford's Black-Draught, before confinement last summer, and got along better than ever before. I used one bottle after childbirth and recovered quickly, and am in better health than for years. This is my fourth child.

MRS. ORA PAGE.

McELREE'S Wine of Cardui

The new-born babe largely inherits the disposition of the mother during pregnancy. Too often she is needlessly anxious and nervous. She permits her system to "run down", and she becomes irritable and peevish. If women only knew it, there need be little discomfort during this trying period. Morning sickness can be largely overcome by a faithful use of Wine of Cardui. This great woman's remedy tones up the whole system, makes the nerves strong and stimulates the heart's action. It greatly reduces the pangs of confinement. It keeps women in good spirits, and this condition, in turn, is imparted to the child. It shortens labor and helps to effect a rapid recovery. Wine of Cardui does the most good if taken during the entire time of gestation. Its benefits are marked upon both mother and child. Women who take it all declare they "never got along so well before".

ROW AT A DANCE.

Wisconsin Feaud Results In a Serious Cutting Affray.

Diamond Bluff, Wis., Feb. 15.—About a dozen men were wounded, some seriously, at this place last night. There are two factions in the neighborhood and each bears an undying hatred towards the other. Last night both factions met at a dance and an altercation started. Knives were used, revolvers flourished and clubs brandished. Frightened women jumped from the second story of the building and a number were injured.

When the riot ended a horrible scene was presented. Lying unconscious in pools of blood were nearly a dozen men. One man had one arm literally carved to pieces; another had several ugly cuts in the scalp, another had his face struck with clubs until it looked like a mass of jelly. Others escaped with broken limbs and minor cuts and bruises.

FROM FOREIGN LANDS.

The Washington correspondent of the Daily Chronicle expresses the belief that yesterday's session of the Anglo-American high commission will be the last and that the negotiations will result in complete failure, the "American commissioners refusing the concessions asked by the Canadians."

According to the Madrid correspondent of the Daily Mail, the question of selling the Carolines and the Ladrones is still undecided, because no power has yet made a definite offer and the idea of abandoning them altogether may be considered if no offer is forthcoming.

A dispatch from Brest says that many fishing boats and coasters have been lost along that section of the French coast, and that twenty-six fishermen belonging to Audierene, in Finisterre, on the bay of Aude, have been drowned.

In spite of numerous obstacles, chief among them being the want of telegraphic communication and roads, President Zelaya, of Nicaragua, is actively organizing to suppress the revolution that has broken out in the Atlantic coast provinces.

The Navio Gracio Generale Italiana, the largest steamship company in Italy, has decided to establish a passenger service between Italy and the United States.

The Right Hon. Joseph Chamberlain, secretary of state for the colonies, announced in the house of commons that no decision had been arrived at by the ministry regarding the proposed Pacific cable.

William Turneur Thomas Poulett, the organ-grinder claimant to the earldom of Poulett, says that he has received offers of money with which to further his claims from a gentleman in Massachusetts. He also states that similar offers have come to him from Montreal and elsewhere in America.

Both in amusement and financial circles there is much speculation over the announcement that Barnum & Bailey's circus will remain in England, instead of returning, as was originally announced, to the United States.

The budget committee of the reichstag, by a vote of 20 to 8, adopted that part of the military bill which deals with reorganization of the army corps.

THE NATIONAL CAPITAL.

NOTICE OF MORTGAGE SALE.—

Whereas, default has been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage which was duly executed and delivered by Charles McCabe, and Minnie McCabe, his wife, mortgagors, to Alexander Macrae, mortgagee, bearing date July twelfth (12th), 1892, and which was duly recorded in the register of deeds' office for St. Louis County, Minnesota, on July thirteenth (13th), 1892, at eight (8) o'clock a. m., in Book one hundred three (103) of mortgages, on page eighty (80); which mortgage, with the debt thereby secured, was thereafter duly assigned by said Alexander Macrae to W. J. Young, by an instrument of assignment bearing date July twenty-second (22nd), 1892, and which was duly recorded in said register of deeds' office on July twenty-third (23rd), 1892, at eight (8) o'clock a. m., in Book ninety-seven (97) of mortgages, on page two hundred thirty (230), such default consisting in the non-payment of the principal sum of four thousand ($4000) dollars thereby secured, with interest thereon at the rate of eight per cent per annum from January 1st, 1899, and exchange, no part of which has been paid;

And whereas, there is therefore claimed to be due, and there is actually due, upon said mortgage debt, at the date of this notice, the sum of four thousand twenty-nine and 33-100 ($4029.33) dollars, principal, interest and exchange;

And whereas, said mortgage contains a power of sale in due form, which has become operative by reason of the defaults above mentioned, and no action or proceeding, at law or otherwise, has been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof;

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of said power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made, said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described therein, situate in St. Louis County, Minnesota, described as follows, to-wit: Lot numbered one hundred four (104), in block numbered twenty-one (21), Duluth Proper, Third Division, according to the recorded plat thereof in said register of deeds' office; which premises will be sold by the sheriff of said St. Louis County, at the front door of the court house, in the city of Duluth, in said county and state, on the twenty-third (23rd) day of March, A. D. 1899, at ten (10) o'clock a. m., at public auction, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and seventy-five dollars attorney's fee, stipulated in said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

MORTGAGE SALE.—

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of forty-seven hundred thirty and 00-100 dollars ($4730.00) which is claimed to be due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by Melvin R. Baldwin and Nettie Baldwin, mortgagors, to Alexander Macrae, mortgagee, bearing date the 22nd day of August, A. D. 1892, and duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds for the county of St. Louis and state of Minnesota, on the 8th day of September, A. D. 1892, at 8 o'clock a. m. in Book 103 of mortgages, on page 130, which mortgage was assigned by the mortgagee, Alexander Macrae, to Margaret A. Skinner by written instrument dated the 2nd day of September, 1892, and which was recorded in the office of the register of deeds for said county of St. Louis on the 8th day of September, 1892, at 8 o'clock a. m. in Book 83 of mortgages on page 220; and no action or proceeding, at law or otherwise, having been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of a power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed and the premises described in and covered by said mortgage, and which are situated in St. Louis County, Minnesota, viz: The easterly fifty (50) feet of lots seven (7) and eight (8), in Scoville's rearrangement of block twenty-five (25) Duluth Proper, Third Division, according to the recorded plat thereof, with the hereditaments and appurtenances, will be sold at public auction to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt and interest, and fifty dollars attorneys' fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said St. Louis County, at the front door of the court house, in the city of Duluth, in said county and state, on the 23rd day of February, A. D. 1899, at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

WHEAT WAS WEAK

Market Started Easier, Declined a Cent But Rallied Near the Close.

THE CABLES LOWER

Claim That Damage to the Winter Wheat Crop Was Exaggerated.

Duluth Board of Trade, Feb 15.—The wheat market opened weak and lower today owing to the cables being easier, the receipts larger and the export inquiry very slack. It was also said the crop damage reports had been exaggerated and this was accompanied by numerous orders to sell short with the result that prices steadily declined. Later it was said that foreigners were buying the March delivery at New York and this caused a rally. May rose at Chicago to 73c, which was 1c above the low point, but it eased off again and closed the same as yesterday. It finished ⅛c lower for the day on the Duluth board.

Trading in futures was dull on the Duluth board. May wheat opened ⅛c off, at 71⅝c, sold down to 71⅛c at 10 o'clock, advanced to 71⅝c at 10:30, and held at that figure until near the close, which was at 71⅝c, or ⅛c below yesterday. Cash business was dull, only 40,000 bus being sold, at 1½c under May for wheat to arrive and 2½c under for spot stuff. Rye declined ½c, flax fell off ½c. Cash corn closed ½c lower and May corn lost ¼c. Following were the closing prices:

Wheat—No. 1 hard, cash, 71⅜c; February, 71⅜c; May, 73⅝c; July, 74⅛c. No. 1 northern, cash, 69⅜c; February, 69⅜c; May, 71⅝c; July, 72⅛c. No. 2 northern, 67⅜c. No. 3 spring, 62c. To arrive—No. 1 hard, 72⅜c; No. 1 northern, 70⅜c. Oats, 27½@28½c. Rye, 55½c. Barley, 40@45c. Flax, $1.17½; May, $1.20. Corn, 31c; May, 34⅛c.

Car inspection—Wheat, 142; corn, 48; oats, 1, barley, 2; flax, 8. Receipts—Wheat, 17,219 bus; corn, 18,842 bus; oats, 32,175 bus; rye, 2354 bus; barley, 892 bus; flax, 2199 bus. Shipments—Wheat, 1650 bus; barley, 890 bus.

Bradstreet's statement: Wheat east of the Rockies, increase, 678,000 bus; Europe and afloat, increase, 1,200,000 bus; total increase, 1,878,000; corn, increase, 3,098,000 bus; oats, decrease, 7000 bus.

Corn was easy today with out special incident. The seaboard yesterday confirmed only one load for export.

B. E. Baker said at 10 a. m.: Cables came about as I expected and I still expect a moderate decline in the price of wheat, so far as the effect of recent cold weather goes it is not likely that it will continue to advance the price, as it is too long before anyone can tell what the real facts are.

ON THE CHICAGO BOARD.

Wheat Is Weaker on Many Bear Reports.

Chicago, Feb. 15.—Mild weather and easier cables today gave wheat a weak start. May opened ⅜c lower at 72⅜@⅝c and as there were more sellers than buyers at the bottom figure, the price gradually declined until 72¼c was reached. Everything was apparently against the market; receipts showed a decided increase, while the export inquiry was reported amounting to practically nothing and orders came tumbling in from St. Louis and the Northwest to sell short as it was claimed that the crop damage reports had been exaggerated. Receipts here were 162 cars of which 21 graded contract. Minneapolis and Duluth received 320 carloads, as compared with 261 for the same day a year ago. Reports from New York of considerable foreign buying of the March delivery had a steadying influence and May rallied slowly to 72⅞c, but without much individuality to the buying.

As the session advanced liquidation by commission houses set in and May was forced off to 72c. At the decline, however, shorts covered and there was considerable buying for long account by people who believed reports of crop damage. Under this buying May rallied quickly and rose to 73c and closed unchanged at 72⅞@73c.

Liquidation of long property on account of the heavy receipts and lower cables weakened corn. Receipts were [illegible]. May opened ⅛@¼c lower at 35⅝@⅞c, sold off to 35⅝@¾c, then firmed up to 36⅛@⅜c, on commission house buying at the decline.

Oats ruled weak with the other grains. Receipts 458 cars. May began ⅛@¼c down at 28⅛@¼c and declined to 28⅛@⅝c.

A lack of speculative demand together with lower prices at the yards depressed provisions. May pork opened 2½@5c lower at $9.95@10.00 and sold at $9.97@10.00. May lard started a shade lower at $5.62 and declined to $5.60. May ribs began a shade lower at $5.00 and sold off to $4.97.

Close: Wheat, May, 72⅞@72¾c; July, 71⅝c. Corn, February, 35¼c; May, 36⅜c; July, 37⅜c; September, 37⅞c. Oats, February, 27⅝c; May, 28⅝c; July, 26⅝c. Pork, February, $9.75; May, $10.02½@10.05. Lard, February, $5.47; May, $5.62½@5.65; July, $5.75@5.77½. Ribs, February, $4.87½; May, $5.02½; July, $5.15; September, $5.25. Cash wheat: No. 2 red, 71½c; No. 3, 66@70c; No. 2 hard winter, 66c; No. 3 hard winter, 64@65c; No. 1 new, spring, 70@71¼c; No. 2, 67@70c. No. 2 corn, 35¼@35⅜c; No. 3, 32¾@33c. No. 2 oats, 28c; No. 3, 27½c. Barley, cash, 42@51c. Timothy, March, $2.45 bid; $2.47½ asked. Rye, cash, 55¾c; May, 57¼c. Flax, cash Northwestern, $1.20¼; cash Southwestern, $1.16; May, $1.19½. Clover, $6.75. Estimated receipts for tomorrow: Wheat, 80 cars; corn, 500; oats, 235.

GOSSIP.

Received over private wire of B. E. Baker, grain and stock broker, room 107 Chamber of Commerce, and 307 Board of Trade.

Chicago, Feb. 15.—Foreign wheat markets were lower all around. Broomhall cabled us that Australian advices say that chartering has been suspended. Also estimates that Australian colonies will have at least 16,000,000 bus for export which is a larger quantity by far than any other year. It is possible that these figures may be exaggerated for effect for it is a well known fact that a very large amount of gold has been imported into this country from Australian cities. Minneapolis and Duluth report fair sized receipts, 430 cars, with cash wheat in fair demand at Minneapolis at the May price to ⅛c under. Seaboard clearances were light and may continue so for a few days on account of impediments to navigation by ice. Some of the New York exporters have been buyers of May wheat which may be for export when the time comes. Sentiment has been more bearish than otherwise but the selling pressure that developed seemed to be absorbed by commission houses and as the trade well knows stocks of wheat here are not excessive and consequently it is an easy matter for the market to become congested. This was the main reason for the advance near the close. It is a scalping market, more or less, and values may recede somewhat but on hard spots selling ought to prove profitable and on weak spots to the contrary.

It would seem as if the old bull crowd was disposed to the selling side in corn as their houses were in the market on that side. We would not be surprised to see values fall down to a lower level.

There has been a good deal of selling of May oats and buying of July which has narrowed the difference from 2½c to 2⅛c. We think it is a good spread, selling May and buying July, as we expect to see July come up close to May, if it does not cross over in fact.

This is Ash Wednesday, the commencement of Lent, when, as a general thing the consumption of provisions is restricted for the forty days intervening. Pork broke under $10 a bbl but the market shows strength and stubbornness. On weak spots we advise purchases.

Puts, May wheat, 72¼@72⅛c.

THE COTTON MARKET.

Early Gains Firmly Held In Spite of Weak Cables.

New York, Feb. 15.—The cotton market opened steady with prices 2 to 4 points higher on generally favorable news, buying orders from the South and outside speculative public, and demand from shorts. During the forenoon the early gain was firmly held in spite of weak late English cables and selling pressure from abroad. The trading was on moderate lines with May and August contracts absorbing the greater part of attention. The crop movement made but a sorry showing in contrast with that of Wednesday of last week and last year. Although telegraphic advices from the cotton belt were more or less crippled, the reports received indicate hardening of spot markets and exceptionally light offerings even at materially higher prices. The weather was again bad in many localities. The temperature, however, was much higher.

Spot cotton closed quiet at an advance of 1 1-16c; middling uplands, 6⅝c; middling gulf, 6⅞c; sales, 435 bales.

NEW YORK STOCKS.

New York, Feb. 15.—Except for New York Central and Pennsylvania, prices of standard and international shares were generally below last night's figures at the opening. Burlington and Manhattan were forced off ¾ each, but recessions elsewhere were unimportant. The stock market speedily shook off the opening depression and developed considerable activity with attendant sharp gains in the Pacifics. Immense blocks of stocks were met in Northern Pacific around 53⅜, but the offerings were well taken and decided gains were established in Pennsylvania, Rubber, Chicago Great Western and preferred, and New York Central. Burlington lagged, but the other grangers sold at or above last night. Toward 11 o'clock the market lapsed into dullness, but the improvements were well maintained.

There was a more general disposition than for some time to advance the middle and low-priced shares. The Pacifics were the features, but a sprinkling of the minor industrials, including American Spirits and International Silver received effective support. The coalers were rather neglected and were under slight pressure. New York Central and Pennsylvania fell off from the best and trading in the grangers was small pending more tangible developments regarding the rumored refunding scheme in Burlington. Sales of stock to noon were 308,611 shares. There was little doing in bonds but prices were well maintained.

MINNESOTA DEMOCRATS.

State Central Committee Reaffirms the Chicago Platform.

St. Paul, Feb. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Democratic state central committee held a meeting today at the Merchants hotel. Among those present were G. F. Chester, of Duluth, J. R. McKinnon, of Crookston, and Judge Jaques, of Duluth. A committee was appointed to wait on Mr. Bryan at the Ryan hotel and invite him to meet the committee. Judge Willis and Col. Thornton were appointed. Mr. Bryan soon appeared and was warmly welcomed.

The resolutions were passed:

Be it resolved, that the Democratic state central committee do hereby reaffirm and endorse the national Democratic platform adopted by the national Democratic convention at Chicago in 1896, and the principles of the Democratic party as therein enunciated.

Resolved, further, that this committee unanimously extends its thanks to Hon. William J. Bryan for his visit to the state of Minnesota, and for his appearance and remarks before this committee.

The resolutions were passed on the belief of many of the members that the persistent attempts that had been made by the Republican press to minimize the issues of the campaign of 1896 might have the effect of leading the reform forces, especially in the country districts, to have some anxiety about the steadfastness of purpose and unswerving fealty of the party and state central committee to the principles of the Chicago platform. The resolutions were intended to inform such forces of the position of the state central committee in this behalf.

A TRUST OPPOSED.

Chicago, Feb. 15.—The ice cream trust is likely to have a formidable competitor in the trade in frozen confections, Judge Dunne of the circuit court today having refused to issue the injunction petitioned by the United company to restrain the incorporation of the Collins Brothers Ice Cream company.

ORDERED TO MANILLA.

Washington, Feb. 15.—Secretary Alger has ordered the Ninth regiment of regular infantry now at Madison barracks, N. Y., to go to San Francisco and to be held in readiness to go to Manilla.

NO RESULT IN UTAH.

Salt Lake, Feb. 15.—Two ballots were taken for United States senator today without result.

FAMOUS FRENCH OMELETTE.

Lilian Bell Initiated Into the Mysteries of a Chef's Art.

Madame Poularde can cook so marvelously that she is one of the wonders of Normandy, says Lilian Bell in the February Woman's Home Companion. Her kitchen faces the main street; you simply step over the threshold as you hear the beating of eggs, and there, over an immense open fire, which roars gloriously up the chimney, are the fowls twirling on their strings and dripping deliciously into the pans which sizzle complainingly on the coals beneath.

Presently the roaring ceases, the fresh coals are flattened down, and into a skillet, with a handle five feet long, is dropped the butter—which melts almost instantly. A fat little red-faced boy pushes the skillet back and forth to keep the butter from burning. The frantic beating of eggs comes nearer and nearer. The shrill voice of Madame Poularde screams voluble French at her assistants. She boxes somebody's ears, snatches the eggs, gives them one finally puffy beating, which causes them to foam up and overflow, and at that exciting moment out they bubble into the smoking skillet, the handle of which she seizes at the identical moment that she lets go of the empty bowl with one hand and pushes the red-faced boy over backward with the other. It is legerdemain! But then, how she manages that skillet! How her red cheeks flush, her black eyes sparkle and her plump hands guide that ship of state!

We were all so excited that we got horribly in her way, and almost fell into the fire in our anxiety. She stirs and coaxes and coquettes with the lovely foamy mass until it becomes as light as the yellow down on a fledgeling's wings. She calls it an omelette, but she is scrambling those eggs! Then when it is almost done she screams at us to take our places. The red-faced boy rings a huge bell, and we all tumble madly at the narrow stairs to the dining room, where the maids give us bread and bring our wine and get our plates all ready.

WOMAN'S CARRIAGE.

Of all the things that go toward obtaining satisfactory dressmaking, we must not lose sight of the carriage of a woman, which has a wonderful voice in the hang and swirl of her garments. A woman who throws her shoulders forward brings about a mass of wrinkles in the front of her bodice, gives a rounded effect across her back, and throws the abdomen up and out, making the dress-skirt short in front as well as detracting from the length of her waist in front. If in walking you will hold your chin well in, with the head slightly thrown back, the shoulders and abdomen will take care of themselves, and recede to a natural position, says Mary Katherine Howard in the February Woman's Home Companion.

HE DID NOT HAVE IT.

William Lightfoot Visscher in the February Woman's Home Companion tells this characteristic story of the Honorable Isaac Parker, famous as the terrible judge at Fort Smith, Arkansas, who probably sentenced more men to be executed than any other judge that ever lived. This was not, however, because he was so unrelentingly severe, but because he had the hardest and most numerous lot of criminals to deal with that ever came within the jurisdiction of such an official. One day when there was an unusually large batch of culprits to be sentenced, the judge looked compassionately over his spectacles at one young scamp, and said:

"'In consideration of the youth and inexperience of this prisoner I shall let him off with a fine of $50—'

"Before the judge had done speaking the very fresh young man coolly stretched his right leg and ran his hand into his trousers' pocket on the side, remarking nonchalantly as he did so:

"'That's all hunky, judge; I've got that much right here in my jeans.'

"'And one year in the penitentiary,' continued the judge. Then looking over at the convict in a quizzical sort of way, he added, 'do you happen to have that in your jeans?'"

THE WEATHER.

United States Agricultural Department, Weather Bureau, Duluth. Synopsis of weather conditions for the twenty-four hours ending at 7 a. m. (Central time), Feb. 15.—It is slightly colder this morning in South Dakota but in all other districts from which reports are received it is somewhat warmer. Seasonable temperatures are the rule this morning in the region west of the Mississippi river and in the lake region. The worst part of the cold wave is over in Eastern and Southeastern states, but temperatures continue moderately low in those sections. A storm of considerable energy is developing in Northwest Canada, and barometric pressures continue high in Southeastern states. Light snows fell yesterday and last night in the lake region.

Minimum temperatures last night:

NO PERMANENT OCCUPATION.

The United States senate on Tuesday put itself on record as opposed to the permanent annexation of the Philippine islands to this country. It declared that it is the purpose to prepare the people of the islands for self-government and, inferentially, to then withdraw our troops and let the Filipinos work out their own destiny. This statement of policy was made in the McEnery resolution, which was adopted by a vote of 26 to 22. The resolution reads as follows:

"That by the ratification of the treaty of peace with Spain it is not intended to incorporate the inhabitants of the Philippine islands into citizenship of the United States, nor is it intended to permanently annex these islands as an integral part of the territory of the United States; but it is the intention of the United States to establish on said islands a government suitable to the wants and conditions of the inhabitants of said islands, to prepare them for local self-government, and in due time to make such disposition of said islands as will best promote the interests of the citizens of the United States and the inhabitants of said islands."

It is true that this resolution is not binding on the administration, but it is hardly likely that President McKinley will go counter to it, especially as it is backed up strongly by public sentiment throughout the United States.

There is not a single valid reason why the policy respecting the Philippines should differ from that regarding Cuba.

GEN. BROOKE'S UNFITNESS.

The Kansas City Star suggests that if the president cares to read between the lines of the investigation commission's report he may find a broad hint. The abstract of the report says: "The report is to the effect that Chickamauga park is not adapted to the accommodation of more than 20,000 at a time. On June 30 there were 58,548 men in the camp. The water supply was unsatisfactory, the water itself repugnant. Some of the wells became contaminated. The sanitation of the camp 'was very imperfect and at times decidedly bad.' The troops were not well located, many being permitted to camp in the woods. Sinks were not deep enough or sufficiently removed from the men's quarters. Six hundred licenses to peddlers and hucksters were issued by the commanding general in the early days, and the grounds swarmed with venders of unwholesome trash. Passes to Chattanooga were issued at the rate of from two to six men per day per company. This was a fruitful source of injury to the men. On the whole the camp was unsatisfactory."

No severer criticism of mismanagement and incompetency can be found in the entire report, and yet the officer who was most to blame for these things was taken from Chickamauga and given the great and responsible honor of being military governor of Porto Rico. After he had succeeded in mixing things up there so as to create great dissatisfaction with American rule, he was given the still more honorable and responsible position of military governor of Cuba. In that capacity he has kept things stirred up ever since he landed until the diplomatic affairs of the island are in a bad muddle. The Star says: "His latest exhibition of unfitness for the position he occupies is the outrageous treatment of the Cubans who had come to mourn and do honor to their dead soldier and statesman, the late Gen. Garcia. Gen. Brooke was put in command of Porto Rico and Cuba when he was on trial for his conduct at Chickamauga. He has been convicted by the president's own whitewashing commission, and still he escapes even a reprimand." True, every word of it, and instead of being merely reprimanded he should be removed without delay from the position of military governor of Cuba. He does not possess the qualities that fit a man for such a responsible place.

DRAWING PARTY LINES.

It is not surprising to learn that party lines are likely to be drawn tighter in the common council during the coming year than during the past twelve months. The Herald regrets the probability, because it believes that national politics should be kept out of municipal affairs as much as possible, and that the city's interests are better conserved by its municipal government being conducted independent of partisan considerations. However, the outlook is that the large fusion majority in the council will fill all the offices with men who are known to be of their political faith.

For this state of affairs the credit belongs to the News Tribune, which has pursued a policy that has made it practically impossible for the fusion aldermen to adopt any other course. It has endeavored to create the impression that "Duluth went Republican" on Tuesday of last week. In its issue of last Wednesday it falsely proclaimed that the election was "a defeat of the fusion forces in Duluth." It quoted Chairman Crandall of the Republican city committee as saying: "We are ready to begin a campaign tomorrow morning that will carry every ward in the city by a Republican majority," and it added on its own account: "Yesterday's victory is only a foretaste of the Republican wrath that is to come." At the same time false dispatches were sent to outside newspapers regarding the result of the election. It was claimed in dispatches sent from the News Tribune office that the Republicans had elected the city treasurer, comptroller and a majority of the aldermen, the idea evidently being to create the unfounded impression in other cities that the fusion forces have lost ground in Duluth. Why the false claim of a Republican victory was made in the News Tribune itself, when every person in Duluth knew the contrary was true, cannot be explained. It is like its crass and incomprehensible policy in other matters.

These tactics of the News Tribune, however, have had the natural result of arousing a partisan feeling that is likely to manifest itself in organizing the council and filling the other offices. It is said the members of the fusion majority feel that it is absolutely necessary to take action that will effectually give the lie to the false claim made by the News Tribune that the city went Republican, and, though they would like to fill the offices regardless of politics, they are said to believe that the only way to answer the News Tribune's falsehoods is to put none but fusionists on guard.

THE RIGHTS OF WITNESSES.

A few days ago in the United States district court for New York city, Edward P. Sholl, a New York importer, was a witness in a certain case and was cross-examined by a lawyer named Bullows in a manner that was insulting and exasperating. Mr. Sholl, while undergoing this treatment, showed that he was very indignant, but restrained himself. After the court had adjourned, however, he met his tormentor in a corridor of the court house and demanded an apology. This Mr. Bullows refused to give, whereupon Sholl seized him and bumped his head against the wall with great severity.

Bullows made little resistance, but as soon as the bumping exercise was over he ran to Judge Brown with his tale of woe. The honorable judge promptly summoned Sholl to appear before him and answer a charge of contempt of court. Sholl was there on time and brought with him the affidavits of several jurymen that he had been grossly insulted by Bullows in his cross-examination. These he pleaded in justification for bumping the head of the saucy Bullows. Judge Brown refused to accept the affidavits and fined Sholl $250. Sholl says he is willing to pay the amount for the satisfaction he had in making Bullows see stars in daytime, but he considers himself an injured man.

Is he, or is he not?

How far, asks the Atlanta Journal, may a lawyer go in cross-examining a witness? There are some things which no decent man will allow to be said to him on the street or in any ordinary gathering place without resenting them emphatically and physically. Is there no limit to the insults which may be heaped upon a man when he is on the witness stand in court?

Lawyers often abuse their privileges, or their supposed privileges, in this matter and the wonder is that more of them do not get their heads bumped by men whom they have insulted in the court room. Judges are often to blame in cases of this sort. It is the duty of a judge to protect a witness from wanton abuse. From what has been published regarding the Sholl-Bullows incident it appears that Judge Brown should have interfered in the cross-examination. It is safe to say that Bullows will be more careful in the future when he feels inclined to villify a witness. Judge Brown ought to be more careful to prevent such abuses.

The law makers in Austria and France are paid $5 a day; in Greece the senators get $100 a month and the deputies $50; in Germany members of both houses receive about $2.50 a day; in Denmark the members of the "landsthing" each receive about $3 a day; in Belgium each member of the chamber of representatives gets $85 a month; in Portugal the peers and commons are paid the same sum, which is about $355 a year; in Spain the members of the cortes are not paid for their services, but enjoy many advantages and immunities; in Switzerland the members of the national council get $2.50 a day, and the council of states, the lower house, $1.50; in Italy the senators and deputies are not paid at all, but are allowed traveling expenses and certain other privileges. England is the only country where members of the parliament are not only unpaid, but have no special rights or privileges.

During the progress of the of Zola trial twenty-five patients suffering from insanity engendered by the excitement of the trial were admitted to a single Parisian lunatic asylum. Other establishments, says Dr. Michant, a well known French criminologist, received patients from the same cause in equal proportion, and since then the malady has been steadily gaining. "It is no wonder," says the Criterion, in commenting on this fact, "that the phrase makers in France have been calling 1898 'the sad year—the year of death.'"

A classical writer in the New York Times defends "autobat" as the best name for any one of the new vehicles carrying its own motive machinery. Why not, asks the Boston Transcript, call it "autobus" and done with it? That would join the old and the new and suggest the connecting link. Something new has been created and it is perfectly legitimate to make a word to fit it.

Col. Robert G. Ingersoll favors expansion because we now have a Niagara Falls and we should have a real live volcano to go with it. If we get the Philippines we shall doubtless have volcanoes ad nauseum, social, political and otherwise. Still, Col. Ingersoll's reason is as good as any that has yet been given.

There can be no doubt that the two weeks of severe weather must have done considerable damage to the winter wheat crop, because snow covered only a small portion of the fields. What damage has been done, however, cannot be learned until warm weather comes.

What would be thought of that employer who would say, "I discharge you for insubordination. Your full pay, however, will continue for six years, at the end of which time you can retire on half pay." That was President McKinley's way of discharging Eagan.

The Omaha World-Herald makes the following cautious admission: "At any rate, it will be admitted that the American Book concern has a happy knack of making friends right where friends are needed in the matter of selecting school text books."

Just to convince some politicians that he is not dead, John Sherman is writing a new volume of recollections, and it is whispered that Secretary Alger will be handled even less gently than he was in the senator's former autobiography.

"Do we get any China?" asks the Chicago Chronicle. The Chronicle should not embarrass the imperialists at present with such delicate questions.

A NEW DECORATIVE ART.

As an art pyrography, in its modern form, is of comparatively recent origin. It is practically the production of ornamental designs and pictorial effects with a red hot point upon wood, ivory, leather and fabrics. Formerly the tools used were of wrought-iron, and were heated in the glow of a charcoal fire by the operator, who took them up one by one and used them much in the same manner as an artist handles a pencil. But Pacquelin's appliances have done away with this tedious process. His apparatus consists of a glass vessel into which must be poured some alcohol, wood spirit or benzine. This vessel is fitted with a rubber stopper that seals it hermetically, and two metal tubes bent at right angles, to which are attached two rubber pipes. These pipes are connected, the one to a syringe-like bulb and bellows, the other to the graver or pencil, which is screwed onto a wooden handle. This graver has a hollow curved point, or beak, made of platinum, which is first slightly heated over a spirit-lamp. Pressure on the bulb forces a current of the liquid contained in the glass vessel along the rubber pipe to the platinum beak, where it immediately ignites, and bringing the beak up to a white heat makes it ready for use, says Frank H. Vezetelly in Woman's Home Companion.

INNOVATION IN SOCIETY.

The present ministerial representative of the sultan, Ali Ferrough Bey, is a recent comer to Washington official circles, says Mary Nimmo Balentine in the Woman's Home Companion. Minister Ferrough is a young man of handsome and commanding presence, and is quite a good judge of pictures. He is not accompanied by Madame Ferrough, who expects to come on to Washington this year; but it is expected she will preserve in a measure the customs of her own country and only receive the visits of ladies, always appearing veiled, after the manner of Turkish women. Much interest and expectancy await her coming, as she will be the first Turkish lady who has ever been here, and will also be the first woman from the Orient to maintain the social customs peculiar to her native land.

MRS. BILLTOPS' WAYS.

New York Sun: "I suppose," said Mr. Billtops, "that we all have our peculiarities; even Mrs. Billtops has some. But she has only one that is disturbing; she will insist on calling up the subject of our expenses at night, the last thing at night, and this I hold to be bad, because it keeps me awake thinking about it. My idea is that nothing of that sort should be discussed after dinner. With that meal ample, let us hope, if not sumptuous, we should put up a barrier against the cares of the day and devote ourselves thereafter to comfort and tranquility, so as to insure that calmness of mind that is essential to sleeping well. I don't know of anything that breaks all this up more than a discussion of ways and means, as called up by Mrs. Billtops.

"She says that there's no other time to speak of it; that I am away all day, to begin with, and she doesn't want to speak to me immediately after dinner; she wants to give me time to smoke my cigar and then, she says, she has things to look after herself, and she wants to read the evening paper, and all that, and what else can she do? I don't know; but I do know that when, at about a quarter to 10 I see her lay the paper down on the table and look across at me and say:

"'Now, what are you going to do about—'

"I know that we're in for it, sure. And then follows the usual list of things, gradually piling up till it becomes so mountainous that, honest, it makes me laugh; I can't help it. But it's only a temporary relief, for when Mrs. Billtops breaks in with this, 'Well, I must say I don't see anything to laugh at,' of course I instantly become very sober and pay strict attention.

"And then she goes through the solemn details and I listen; and when she is all through I say that we shall have to do the best we can about it, of course.

"'That's what you always say,' she says, and then she gives up for the time her efforts to make me understand. She gets up with a resigned expression upon her face and folds up the newspaper, which means, I know, that the conference is ended; and I keep very dark then and say nothing. And she thinks that I mean all right, but that it's hopeless to talk to me about business matters. And I wish that she wouldn't insist on always bringing up that subject just at that hour of the day, but it's her only disturbing peculiarity, and even that's for the common good."

LAUGHING GAS.

Chicago Tribune: "So she doesn't sing in that choir any more?"

"No, she was getting more encores than the minister."

Indianapolis Journal: "Alas!" exclaimed the heathen warrior, as the Christian soldier's bayonet made its reappearance alongside his spine, "I am sorely pushed!"

Chicago Record: "Have you locked all the windows, Clara?"

"No, I haven't. I wouldn't lock out even a burglar on such a cold night as this."

Detroit Free Press: "Size is diminished by distance."

"I don't know; some of our army officers looked bigger in Cuba than they have since they came home."

Cleveland Plain Dealer: "Don't you think Mr. Buffer is awfully witty?"

"I hadn't noticed it."

"How funny! Why, I think he works his mouth the wittiest I ever saw."

Washington Star: "I wonder," said the man whose language is more terse than elegant, "if Aguinaldo's behavior is not caused by a swelled head."

"No," answered the friend who always suspects people's motives; "I am inclined to think it is merely a swelled pocket-book."

Chicago Tribune: "All I insist on," said the legislator from Sweet Potato county, "is my rights!"

"Well," cautiously asked the Watchdog of the state treasury, "which do you claim as your right—your mileage or your railway passes?"

"Both!" roared the Sweet Potato statesman.

Pittsburg Chronicle: "I wonder why an attempt is being made to canonize Joan of Arc," said Mrs. Frankstown.

"She was a big gun," explained Mr. Frankstown.

Somerville Journal: Only a cold-blooded punster, seeing a man in evening dress thrust a handkerchief between his waistcoat and his shirt bosom, would suggest that the full-dressed gentleman was nursing a wiper in his bosom.

Indianapolis Journal: "Legislative dead-locks," said the Cornfed Philosopher, "may be burning disgraces, subversive of our boasted institutions, but it should be remembered that while they are deadlocking they are not making any more fool laws."

Somerville Journal: "In my judgment," said Mr. Waggles, "that young man has a great future before him."

"He couldn't very well have it behind him, could he?" asked Mrs. Waggles coldly.

SIX YEARS' VACATION, FULL PAY.

New York World: First—On Jan. 28, 1898, Mr. McKinley and Alger took Charles P. Eagan, then sixty-eighth in the list of lieutenant colonels, jumped him about 125 numbers, made him a brigadier general, and put him in full charge of the subsistence department of the army.

Second—On Feb. 25, 1898, Mr. McKinley and Alger took Henry C. Corbin, then forty-fourth in the list of colonels, jumped him about forty numbers, made him a brigadier general, put him in full charge of the adjutant general's office and exalted that office above the office of commanding general of the army.

Third—Alger and Corbin, through Eagan, gave enormous beef contracts to contributors to Mr. McKinley's campaign fund of 1896. These beef contracts were filled in a large measure with "embalmed beef."

Fourth—Maj. Gen. Miles, pursuing his duties as commanding general, discovered that this "embalmed beef" was not only useless as food, but positively poisonous, causing disease wherever it was used. He was sustained in this view by Col. Roosevelt and by several score officers of the regular army.

Fifth—Brig. Gen. Eagan, infuriated by the exposures of himself and Alger and Corbin and their friends the embalmers, gave way to one of his frequent attacks of indecent vituperation. He publicly denounced Gen. Miles. Every word that he uttered against Miles was false, and not only deliberately false, but destructive of good order and discipline in the army.

Sixth—For this over-zealous defense of himself, Alger, Corbin and their friend and shield, Mr. McKinley, the president, has given Eagan six years' vacation with full pay.

Is this an exhibition of bad courage or of the instinct of self-preservation, or both?

THE DODGE REPORT.

Detroit News: The report of the Dodge commission to investigate the conduct of the war recalls the celebrated verdict of the Irish jury: "We, the jury, find the man who stole the hog not guilty." When the commission began work it was freely charged that it had set out to accomplish two things, whitewash the war department and destroy Gen. Miles. Its proceedings indicated that it held tenaciously to these two purposes, and its report shows that it has been consistent throughout.

While it is true it declares that there was lacking in the administration of the war department "that complete grasp of the situation which was essential to the highest efficiency and discipline of the army," it finds nobody responsible for this failure. It is significant that no attempt is made to censure anybody except Gen. Miles, Gen. Breckenridge and Dr. Daly. It was Dr. Daly who exposed the rotten beef scandal, and the commission charges him with "concealing the commission of a crime affecting the men under his charge" by failing to state that at Tampa, Jacksonville, Chickamauga and other places he found the beef apparently to have been preserved with secret chemicals; although in its next breath the commission declares that no chemicals were used and the beef was wholesome and nutritious. The commission gloats because Gen. Miles commended the camp at Miami, which was afterwards found to be unsuitable, but has nothing to say about persons who selected other unsuitable camps.

Of all the bureau chiefs Gen. Breckenridge, who is not on good terms with Gen. Corbin and Secretary Alger, is the only one censured. The others did their duty, and when they didn't they were prevented from so doing by visitations of providence and other circumstances over which they had no control.

The system in the war department might be improved; but the opinion of the commission seems to be that the American people ought to feel gratified because during the war with Spain the war department of the wealthiest nation in the world accomplished almost as much in three months as did bankrupt Turkey in two months during the war with Greece.

If the report dealt with a less serious question, it might be dismissed as a contribution to the humorous literature of the day, not so clever or so wise or so sensible as Mr. Dooley's "meditations;" but good enough for amateur work. As it is the report is merely another blot on the national honor, a brazen attempt to whitewash incompetency and ruin the reputation of men who have tried to better the service by telling the truth as they saw it. It might have been written before a word of testimony was taken, and is of such a character that it is impossible for one not to believe that this is practically what the commission did. Mr. McKinley would have shown wisdom and good judgment if he had suppressed the report.

THE WHITE MAN'S SHAME.

I.

"Take up the white man's burden"—
And do as he has done,
In the far-off southern desert,
Under the southern sun.
Rob and murder and pillage,
For the love of bloodshed slay;
Fight for the itch of an ancient wound,
For the shame of a distant day!

II.

"Take up the white man's burden"—
His heavy load of shame,
Red with the blood of a million lives,
Cursed with an empty name.
Go, and harry the poorest,
Nor thought of mercy have!
Go, and take from the richest,
His all and make him slave.

III.

"Take up the white man's burden"—
The lie to duty give,
And say to your heathen brother,
"We die, that you may live."
Teach him as ye fought him
With ruin and with death,
His freedom and life will wither,
At the touch of the white man's breath.

IV.

"Take up the white man's burden"—
And do as he has done,
Point to your fame and glory
And the victories you have won.
Say that you did it in mercy,
To lead them to the light;
Cheat and kill and destroy them
With the power of your might.

V.

"Take up the white man's burden"—
But do not claim it due
That word or look or meed of praise
Should ever come to you.
With the sword of flame you conquer
Through all the coming years.
Will you not feel the silence—
"The judgment of your peers?"
—C. H. G., in Chicago Times-Herald.

A CHRISTMAS LEGEND.

Beneath an ancient oake one daye
A holye frier kneeled to praye;
Scarce hadde he mumbled aves three,
When lo! a voice within the tree,
Straighte to the friar's hearte it wente,
A voice as of some spirit pente
Within the hollow of the tree,
That cried, "Good father, sette me free."

Quoth he, "This hath an evil sounde."
Ande bente him lower to the grounde.
But ever tho' he prayed, the more
the voice hys pytie didde implore,
Untyl he raised hys eyes ande there
Beheide a mayden ghostlie faire,
Thus to the holy manne she spoke:

"Within the hollow of this oak,
Enchanted for a hundred yeares,
Have I been bounde—yet vain my teares;
Notie any thing can breake the banne
Till I be kiss'ed by holye manne."
"Woe's me!" thenne sayed the friar; "if thou
Be sente to tempt me breake my vowe;
I'll stake my soul to sette thee free."
The holy manne then crossed hym thrice,
And kissed the mayde—when in a trice
She vanished—
'Heaven forgive me now!"
Exclaimed the friar—"my broken vowe.

"If I have sinned, I sinned to save Another fromme a living grave."
Thenne down upon the earthe he felle,
And prayed some sign that he might telle
If he were doomed for evermore;
When lo! the oake, alle bare before,
Put forth a branch of palest greene,
And fruited everywhere betweene
With waxen berries, pearlie white,
A miracle before hys sight.

* * * * * *

The holye friar wente hys waye
And told hys tale—
And from thatte daye
It hath been writ that anye manne
May blameless kiss what mayde he canne,
Nor any one shall say him "no"
Beneath the holy mistleto.
—By OLIVER HERFORD in "The Bashful Earthquake."

EXIT THE CANNIBAL.

Oh, the blithe and eager cannibal has seen his brightest days;
They are fading out forever in Old Glory's coming rays,
And the happy missionary will not drea the fatal broth,
As he drops that ragout feeling which was common to the cloth.

Oh, no more the paunchy savage will set up his steaming pot
Out of which the fragrant parson will be forked or ladled hot;
And no more will grinning henchmen squat beside the chief while he
With a nice discrimination hands around the late D.D.

For the Yankee sweeps the ocean, and the polishers of bones
In the Philippines and Sandwiches and far away Ladrones,
Must resign their meaty diet and come down to plainer things,
For there'll be no more man eating 'neath the eagle's sheltering wings.
—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

A GUARANTEE

To Every Person Suffering

From Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Constipation or Any Disease of the Digestive Organs.

Hyomei Dyspepsia Cure

The Only Guaranteed Cure, the First Rational Treatment for these Diseases.

Ever since the medical profession discovered that food was not digested in the stomach at all, but only prepared in this organ for digestion by the intestines, they were enabled to partially understand why the number of persons afflicted with this disease has so steadily increased in spite of all their efforts and the thousand and one cures on the market. They were further enlightened some time later when it was found that in treating this disease in its two most prevalent forms, acid dyspepsia and indigestion (one requiring an acid and the other an alkaline treatment) they, and every manufacturer, had been giving both remedies in the same dose and that one counteracted the effect of the other. These two serious blunders very readily account for the fact that 94 per cent of the grown population of this country are now suffering from dyspepsia, for how could a cure designed to assist the stomach digest the food be of any use when the food is not digested by the stomach at all, or what effect could an acid or an alkaline treatment have when taken together if one neutralized the effect of the other? Of course, the last mentioned mistake could be rectified by prescribing these remedies separately, but to obtain a remedy by which intestinal indigestion could be cured was another thing. This disease, the most dangerous form of dyspepsia known, and the true cause of appendicitis, was found to come from bacilli, which lodged in the intestines, creating inflammation and causing fermentation, thus rendering the food unfit for assimilation. These bacilli could only be destroyed by some powerful germicide, and as there was none such known which could be used internally without injury to the patient, the profession were obliged to resort to physic, and by carrying off this decayed matter attempt to prevent ptomain poison, but as physic will soon weaken the strongest it could only be used occasionally, and even then it did not destroy the cause of the trouble. The result has been thousands of cases of appendicitis, inflammation of the bowels, diarrhoea, etc. The medical profession were at their wits' ends, surgery was resorted to and hundreds have died under operation. This was the exact state of affairs when the New Australian Germicide, "HYOMEI," was discovered. In a very few months it was proven that this new remedy would destroy the germs of catarrh, bronchitis, pneumonia and consumption by simply inhaling it in the air we breathe. In other words, it is the first germ destroyer ever found which could be given internally without danger to the patient, and as dyspepsia was known to be a germ disease, the profession naturally agreed that whatever could be taken into the delicate air passages of the head, throat and lungs without injury might also be used in the stomach. The experiments were made, and to the great joy of all "Hyomei" was found just as effective as in diseases of the air passages. Intestinal indigestion can now be cured with

HYOMEI DYSPEPSIA CURE.

This remedy is entirely different from any ever placed on the market. It treats each phase of dyspepsia separately. Three distinct treatments in each package, and unlike any other is guaranteed to cure or your money refunded.

THE DAKOTAS.

Insane Patient Jumps From a Window and Is Instantly Killed.

NORTH DAKOTA.

Jamestown—Matt Peterka, a patient at the state hospital for the insane, jumped through a third story window in one of the asylum buildings to the pavement below. He died twelve hours after taking the fatal leap. Peterka was a very violent patient and was incurably insane. He was sent to the asylum from Wahpeton to which place the remains were sent for burial.

Attorney John Knauf went to Bismarck, where he will represent Judge Glaspell during the taking of testimony by the investigating committee. Judge Glaspell is well pleased over the selection of the committee to investigate the charges made against him and seems not at all doubtful of the outcome.

Senator Cashel of Grafton, Walsh county, spent Monday at the state hospital for the insane at this place. He has now before the legislature at Bismarck a bill for the establishment of a home for the feeble-minded at Grafton. As one-third of the patients at the asylum belong to that class, this would create more room at that institution. It is argued, however, that an addition could be built to the present buildings at the asylum for the use of the feeble-minded and the state would be saved the expense of maintaining a separate institution.

Grand Forks—The reception tendered to Bishop and Mrs. Edsall will be a largely attended affair. St. Paul's church was crowded to the doors Sunday by those wishing to hear the bishop's first sermon and witness the confirmation of a class of nine.

Judge Fisk gave his decision in the Nelson county contest yesterday. The contest involved the office of the clerk of court. The decision is in favor of the defendant, Mr. Pepper.

Mrs. L. O. Fiset is not expected to live. She is the wife of Dr. Fiset.

Fire broke out at 6:30 Sunday morning in the photograph gallery of Mrs. J. Berg, destroying considerable supplies and a number of household supplies. The supplies were insured.

John Dorgan reached Grand Forks yesterday from Walker, Minn., and is now under the doctor's care. He was on his way to the pineries when his guide deserted him. In his wanderings to find shelter was badly frozen.

Dickinson—The Press says: The hotels of Dickinson alone burn 700 tons annually of lignite coal and burning of one kiln of brick here last fall necessitated the use of 300 tons of this coal. Yet the commissioner of agriculture and labor's report of 1897 gives the total output of coal in Stark county at 728 tons and two men employed in mines. Fifty thousand tons would be nearer it and we trust that our commissioner will look this matter up carefully before he makes his report for 1898-99. We want proper credit for our immense coal output, which is being exported to all parts of the state.

SOUTH DAKOTA.

Deadwood—A sensation was sprung in the federal court during the trial of Otto Webber, charged with making and passing counterfeit money. He escaped jail in Sioux Falls and when the prosecuting attorney asked the prisoner why he had broken jail, he replied that he had not broken jail, but had walked out, finding all of the doors opened for him. Close questioning revealed the fact that a stranger had handed a letter to Webber in the afternoon of the day he escaped, through the grates of the cell door. The letter contained $200 and a note from some one, telling him that the cell door would be open at a certain time in the evening and that no obstruction would be placed for his escape. The prisoner pleaded ignorance as to the identity of the person who was bribed, but thought it was the deputy sheriff. Webber escaped at about 9 in the evening and he states that he walked up the principal street and passed the sheriff and a policeman, who took no notice of him, but let him pass by.

Supervisor Hamaker of the Black Hills forest reserve issued an order yesterday prohibiting any wood to be hauled from the timber into the cities for sale, and no more wood can be cut either from green or dead timber.

Dell Rapids—Edward Hanson and wife were found dead on their farm several miles north of here, by neighbors. They were probably asphyxiated Friday night.

Yankton—The coroner's inquest on the insane asylum fire, by which seventeen women inmates lost their lives, is still in session. No new developments have come to light. Apparently no blame can attach to any one for the fire. That the building burned should not have been used for occupancy as a hospital ward is an acknowledged fact, as it was never intended as such, but for laundry purposes solely.

Miller—Last fall a party from Ohio came here and took back with him a couple of carloads of horses. Now he writes that he will soon be here again after four more carloads. He paid as high as $100 for horses last fall. A few years ago range horses here could not be sold at any price.

AMUSEMENTS.

"A DOLL'S HOUSE."

Miss Clara Thropp appeared at the Lyceum last night with a small company in Henrik Ibsen's "A Doll's House," and she was greeted by a large audience that was fairly appreciative. The "Doll's House," which was Ibsen's most pronounced success, is nearer to the conventional lines of the drama than most of his other plays, yet it is still widely separated from conventionality. It is strong, clear-cut and powerful, yet its tragedy is mostly suppressed and implied rather than expressed, and its most powerful scenes are characterized by a lack of action that repels those whose taste for the conventional is pronounced. The story is simple. A wife of eight years is still an undeveloped child, with the petty deceits of a child and the amusing tricks of one. Without a thought of harm, she forges her father's name to a note of hand. The money is necessary to save the life of her husband, and her father is on his deathbed. When convinced of the gravity of her offense she cannot believe that it is wrong to shield her father on his deathbed and to save the life of her husband. When her husband becomes acquainted with the forgery his rage shows her her position, and from a child she suddenly becomes a woman. She sees that she has never known her husband and that he has never known her. She has been living in a doll house for eight years, and has borne children to a stranger. Her old ideas shaken, she withdraws to learn the world anew, telling her husband that she can live no longer with a stranger. Even religion she has taken for granted. When she was confirmed, she says, she was told that certain things were true, and she took them for granted. She does not know whether they are true or not, and she proposes to study them and see.

Miss Thropp is good in the part, but not great. She succeeds in picturing the part of Nora in an interesting manner, and in the stronger scenes of the third act she rises to nearly the full height of the development of her part. She is plainly more accustomed to the sort of parts she gives in her after-piece, which is a simple vehicle for the introduction of some songs and a little bright dialogue. She was good in this part, and she gave Kipling's "On the Road to Mandelay" and several other songs in good voice. The remainder of the company is ordinary. Mr. Ryan was good as Dr. Rank, and Mr. Folsom was fair as Torvbald Helmer, Nora's husband. There are no parts of prominence beyond these.

PERHAPS FATALLY INJURED.

James Manning Shot By William Brotherton at Cloquet.

Cloquet, Minn., Feb. 15.—James Manning, was shot in the breast Monday night by William Brotherton at the latter's saloon on the island. Manning was under the influence of liquor, and attempting to force his way into the saloon, when Brotherton became exasperated and fired three shots at Manning through the partially broken door of the saloon. One shot took effect in the left breast of Manning, but the wound is not thought to be fatal. A warrant has been sworn out for the arrest of Brotherton. Manning has been in town for about three or four months, working for O'Donnell, manager of the Northern Lumber company's boarding house. He is 35 years of age.

Hundreds of lives saved every year by having Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil in the house just when it is needed. Cures croup, heals burns, cuts, wounds of every sort.

The Maine's Anniversary.

Today was the day to "remember the Maine," for it was a year ago today that the battleship Maine was blown up in Havana harbor and 266 American sailors killed. While it can be said that to a large certainty it has not been determined that the blame is to be laid at the door of Spain, it is generally believed that Uncle Sam was, as it were, murderously set upon in the house of his friends. The belief is strengthened by the course pursued by Spain in connection with the affair, which did not square with the Anglo-Saxon idea of fair and square dealing.

Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup is recommended by many physcians. It cures the worst cough or cold and it is always reliable.

If carried out, one of the very remarkable feats of recent American railroad enterprise will be the exhibition at the Paris exposition in 1900 of a fac simile of the Milwaukee's celebrated Pioneer Limited train. The transportation department at Paris, it is said, will compare very favorably, if not surpass, that of the Chicago fair, and all Europe will be represented with its best railroad equipment. It will be interesting to visiting Americans to note the difference between what in Europe is considered sumptuous passenger accommodations and this wonderful train of the C., M. & St. P.

Lake County Will Be Displeased at Losing Part of Its Territory.

HIS POSITION GOOD

Generally Conceded That Attorney Phelps' Stand Is a Correct One.

County Attorney Phelps' communication to County Auditor Halden in reference to the boundary line between Lake and St. Louis counties has aroused considerable interest. There is little doubt in the minds of those who have expressed themselves as to the truth of Mr. Phelps' arguments, and it is conceded that the legislature had no right to alter existing boundaries without referring the matter to the people for their decision. The boundary was originally established at the mouth of Knife river as a convenient point, but it was subsequently discovered that the mouth of Knife river is not nearly as stable a point as is considered necessary for the beginning of a boundary line. After it was established as the beginning of the line, it is said that Knife river cut its way east, so that in the course of not very many years the mouth was a considerable distance from where it was when the line was established. Of course it carried the boundary line with it, and this was the reason the legislature adopted the true meridian as the boundary instead of the shifting and unstable mouth of the river.

If Auditor Halden carried out Mr. Phelps' suggestions, as it would seem he was bound to do, it will naturally give rise to considerable litigation, as Lake county will probably protest against losing the 7000 acres that were given it by the act establishing the boundary at the true meridian. It is said, also, that there is something back of the proposition. Section 30 and other valuable property is included in the disputed tract, and there have been some complications since the act of 1895. For instance, it is said that a judgment was obtained in St. Louis county against the owner of a piece of land in the disputed tract. Of course the lien of the judgment continued against the land after the transfer, but there was no record of it in Lake county, where the property was after the boundary was fixed. It is said that this land was sold in Lake county, and there may be some difficulty in getting the matter settled owing to the fact that it has passed into the hands of innocent purchasers.

CHARMING WEDDING

Miss Ella E. Fitzgerald and Richard M. Sellwood Are Quietly Married.

At 7:45 o'clock last evening Miss Ella Eugene Fitzgerald, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Fitzgerald, and Richard M. Sellwood were married at the Episcopal residence of Rt. Rev. James McGolrick. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Father Corbett in the presence of relatives and a number of the young friends of the bridal couple. The wedding was a very quiet and informal one, only verbal invitations being issued, but it was as pretty as any Duluth has ever seen.

The ceremony was performed in the parlors of the Episcopal residence. These had been beautifuly decorated. It was a pink and green wedding. The walls, doorways and chandeliers were hung with maiden hair ferns and smilax. A pretty bower banked with a solid mass of palms and arched overhead with smilax, maiden hair fern and pink roses and carnations was arranged and in this the ceremony was performed. As the bridal party entered Masters Charles and George Fitzgerald drew heavy white satin ribbons from the entrance along the bridal pathway. Robinson's mandolin orchestra played the "Lohengrin" wedding march. Mr. Sellwood and his best man, B. Murray Peyton, entered first, followed by Miss Blanche Howe, who was the bride's only attendant, and then came the bride with her father. Rev. Father Corbett awaited them at the marriage bower. The ceremony was a simple one, but very impressive. The orchestra played softly during the ceremony and as the bridal party moved out of the parlors played the Mendelssohn "Wedding March." Miss Julia Donovan sang the beautiful "Salve Regina" immediately after the ceremony.

The bride's gown was an exquisite creation of ivory duchess satin, with a long train, surplice waist, trimmed with white chiffon and duchess point lace. The veil was of tulle and was caught back with sprays of maiden hair fern. She carried lilies of the valley. Miss Howe wore a very pretty gown of white organdie over pink silk, with dainty lace trimmings and carried pink carnations.

An informal reception was held afterward at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fitzgerald, 1815 East Superior street, and as at the wedding a number of the young friends of Mr. and Mrs. Sellwood were present. Congratulations were showered upon them. The house was handsomely decorated with smilax, maiden hair fern and pink carnations and roses. The diningroom, where refreshments were served, was especially beautiful. The table was exquisite.

They've imitated everything else, but they've never been able to imitate the quality of

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

The chandelier above was covered with smilax with a bunch of pink carnations at the bottom, from the center of which broad white satin ribbons were suspended running to the corners of the table and culminating in large white bows. At each corner candles shaded in pink threw a softened light on the table. The centerpiece was a magnificent bunch of carnations and the snowy white table cloth was covered with pink carnations and maiden hair fern arranged in an artistic and dainty fashion. All the lights in the house were shaded with pink. Robinson's mandolin orchestra played throughout the evening.

Mrs. Sellwood observed the pretty custom of tossing her bridal bouquet from the stairway to the young maidens just before her departure. The coveted prize was jointly captured by Miss Howe and Miss Crowley.

Mr. and Mrs. Sellwood left on the night train for the Twin Cities and from there will go to Chicago, returning after a short trip.

PECULIAR POISONS.

Generated In the Human Body.

The Result of Imperfect Digestion of Food.

Every living thing, plant or animal, contains within itself the germs of certain decay and death.

In the human body these germs of death (called by scientists ptomaines), are usually the result of imperfect digestion of food; the result of indigestion or dyspepsia.

The stomach, from abuse, weakens, does not promptly and thoroughly digest the food. The result is a heavy, sodden mass which ferments (the first process of decay) poisoning the blood, making it thin, weak and lacking in red corpuscles; poisoning the brain causing headaches, pain in the eyes.

Bad digestion weakens the heart, causing palpitation and finally bringing on disease of this very important organ.

Poor digestion poisons the kidneys, causing Bright's disease and diabetes.

And this is so because every organ, every nerve depends upon the stomach alone for nourishment and renewal, and weak digestion shows itself not only in loss of appetite and flesh, but in weak nerves and muddy complexion.

The great English scientist, Huxley, said the best start in life is a sound stomach. Weak stomachs fail to digest food properly, because they lack the proper quantity of digestive acids (lactic and hydrochloric) and peptogenic products. The most sensible remedy in all cases of indigestion is to take after each meal one or two of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, because they supply in a pleasant, harmless form all the elements that weak stomachs lack.

The regular use of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will cure any form of stomach trouble, except cancer of the stomach.

They increase flesh, insure pure blood, strong nerves, bright eye and clear complexion, because all these result only from wholesome food well digested.

Nearly all druggists sell Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets at 50 cents full-sized package or by mail by enclosing price to Stuart company, Marshall, Mich., but ask your druggist first. A little book on "Stomach Diseases" mailed free. Addres Stuart company, Marshall, Mich.

CAPT. RESCHE TO THE MAYOR.

Would Be Greatly Pleased With an Investigation.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Please allow me space in your paper to give Mayor Truelsen information he is looking for. First I would like to say that whenever he gets a dose of his own medicine he calls "liar, liar," and it seems to hurt him to be treated the way he treats others. He says I did not dare ask for an investigation. Why, it was not my place to call for it; it was the mayor's place and his duty to give it without being asked for, but it always looked to me as if he was afraid that I might not be found guilty, and therefore never had an investigation.

He further says: "On the contrary, he virtually acknowledged the truth of the charge by his silence." Yes, I did keep silent, because I knew the mayor too well, I know whenever he has his mind made up on anything that nothing in this world can change it, and further I am not looking for newspaper notoriety and I am not of the Truelsen type, desiring to blow my own horn.

Now in regards to the word honest and faithful, not faithful and honorable service, on the back of the discharge will say that I had one man who was courtmartialed three times and still got the same indorsement. Why? Because I had to follow army regulations. In order to make any other remarks it was necessary to give thirty days' notice, and if I had done that he would have been unable to be mustered out, and I know he wanted to go home, because that was all he was talking about at Chickamauga. I hold today that the telegram to the News Tribune contained the truth, but it must be read as it is and not changed to suit one's fancy. The mayor seems to lay much weight on the vote taken by Col. Johnson. I would like to ask him if he knows where and when said vote was taken, and if he remembers the date the telegram appeared in the News Tribune.

In regard to an investigation will say, should be greatly pleased if one could be had, also I am working at present, but am willing to appear at any time. But what if I should be found "not guilty?" Would he not then claim it was onesided or done for political reasons? Respectfully,

F. E. RESCHE.

THEY MAY CAUCUS

Fusion Aldermen Are Getting Angry With Republican Tactics Since Election.

CAN MAKE TROUBLE

Have Sufficient Majority to Do as They Please—Mayoralty Candidate.

The Republicans who are actively interested in city politics and the News Tribune may have cause to regret the tactics they have employed since the recent election. A number of fusion aldermen are getting provoked and enough so to make trouble for any Republicans who may seek office under the new administration and may even go so far as to disturb some who are now in places if all that is heard is true. Prior to the election the Republicans were making all kinds of claims as to what they were going to do with their majority in the new city council. Chairman Crandall laid his plans to be city attorney among other things. The fusionists viewed all this assurance with amusement. Since the election, however, although the council is fusion by a good margin, the Republicans have claimed everything. Dispatches sent out claimed the election of both a Republican comptroller and treasurer. The News Tribune has announced that the Republican council would clean the fusionists out. All this has caused the feeling of amusement to give way to one of anger and the "wrath to come," of which the News Tribune talked, is likely to come on the Republicans themselves, some of the aldermen say.

Several of the fusion aldermen have believed in ignoring party lines in municipal affairs as far as possible and to consider the man rather than his politics in making appointments to city places, but the most liberal of these are changing their minds. One of these said yesterday:

"I would like very much to see politics eliminated from our city affairs, but the Republicans will not have it that way. Their conduct since election makes it impossible for me to act in other than a partisan manner. They are driving us to it. One would think that with their minority they would act in a conciliatory manner, but it seems they do not choose to do so. They need not be at all surprised to see the fusion aldermen go into a cast iron caucus. In fact there is strong talk of doing this. It would not have been thought of for a moment if the Republicans had acted decently, but if it is done they can thank themselves for it."

In connection with this Republican bluff it may be interesting to know that although the appointment of a member of the board of public works rests with the mayor, the Republicans will have a candidate for the position. It was, in fact, rumored yesterday that there are two or three in embryo.

Walter Thompson, one of the Republican candidates for city clerk, is so uncompromising a partisan—being even more so than Alderman Cromwell, it was stated yesterday—that wonder is expressed how he can reconcile himself to the thought that if elected it must necessarily be by fusion votes. Surprise is expressed that under these circumstances he should be a candidate. However, the prospect of his election is considered to be so remote that these speculations are indulged in merely as a pastime for the curious.

The opinion that was generally expressed yesterday that the report of the police and license committee in the Resche matter was the opening gun of the Republicans' mayoralty campaign was considered today to have received confirmation from the editorial comment of the News Tribune this morning. And a candidate for the office in the person of Alderman Jefferson has developed also. It was stated by excellent authority yesterday that Alderman Jefferson had said that after all he was perfectly satisfied that he had not been re-elected to the council because now he could devote himself exclusively to setting up his pins for the mayoralty. There were heard yesterday expressions of pleasure from quite a good many fusionists as well as Republicans on hearing that Alderman Jefferson intended to run.

The opinion is expressed that the Republicans have shown wisdom in starting it early in view of the size of the job before them.

For Frost Bites.

An Iron River, Wis., reader of The Herald writes as follows:

"Seeing in your paper stories of so many persons being frozen in this northern country, I thought I would give you a recipe for frost bites. Never use cold water or snow, but apply hot water with a cloth and bathe until all of the frost is drawn out of the frozen parts. The writer has used it for twenty years and finds it the best remedy known, as it thins the frozen blood and starts it flowing though the veins almost instantly, never turning the skin black."

In Lincoln's Memory.

The members of J. B. Culver post and their friends celebrated the ninetieth anniversary of the birth of Abraham Lincoln last evening. The affair was impromptu, and when decided on it was too late to notify all of the comrades in time for them to be present. Some of the talks will probably be published later for their benefit. Addresses were delivered by Capt. C. P. Bragg, M. W. Bates, J. G. McGew and Rev. Kimball.

A PLAGUE PANIC.

Bombay, Feb. 15.—A plague panic has occurred in the Southern Kolar gold fields of Mysore. About 2500 coolies have bolted, and it is feared this will lead to a suspension of the work. There have been sixty cases of plague in Southern Kolar, and forty-five deaths from that disease have been reported.

WILL BE SCARCE.

An Employment Agent Says Laborers Will Be Hard to Get Later on.

"If laborers are scarce now," said an employment agent yesterday, "they will be scarcer still in the spring, for they are moving away as rapidly as they can, mostly toward the West. During most of this winter there has been considerable trouble in getting the men actually needed for work in the woods. A greater number of men are in use in the woods in this vicinity than in any previous season, and still more could be used if they could be found. But in spite of the fact that I have orders waiting all the time I can only pick up a few men every day, and the logging contractors are constantly sending in kicks on the slow manner in which the men are supplied."

Employment agents say that the men, most of whom are single and foot-free, are either going West or inquiring about rates for that purpose. Idaho is the destination of most of them, for there seems to be plenty of work in railroads and mines out there. Men in the camps about Duluth now are sending in inquiries, and lots of them, as fast as they get a little money ahead, are pulling out of the camps and taking trains for the West. If the process continues there will be a scarcity of labor here next spring and the prospects now are that there will be a big demand for men. The feeling in every direction is that the coming season is going to mark the opening of a better era for this section. The sawmills will be busy day and night during most of the season, and they will probably employ more men than ever before. In addition to this there are numerous promises of enterprises that should employ many men, and altogether the outlook is bright for labor. In spite of that the men are pulling out, and in all probability those who remain will see better times than they have seen for some time.

THE WRESTLING MATCH.

McMillan and Lundin Match Sure to Draw Heavily.

Tonight at the Lyceum Duncan McMillan, the champion mixed style wrestler of the world, and Hjalmar Lundin, the strong man, will wrestle, and the match is expected to be a lively one. A great deal of interest has been manifested in the affair, and it is assured that there will be a large crowd in attendance tonight. McMillan is to throw Lundin three times in an hour, and if he does it he gets the gate receipts. If he does not they go to Lundin. Quite a number of women are expected to be at the match, as they desire to see the exhibition of strength that will be given. William Allen, the wrestler, has been agreed upon for referee, and he will undoubtedly make a good one.

SALE OF RARE STAMPS.

Postoffice Department Loosens Up on a Particular Brand.

The local postoffice officials have announced a sale of stamps that will be of interest to collectors. For many years the postoffice department has used on newspapers and periodicals, which pay second class rates, a stamp that the public never sees because it has no occasion to either use or see it. Owing to numerous requests the postmaster-general has decided to sell some of these to collectors, and 50,000 complete sets are offered at $5 per set at all first class postoffices after today. Each set consists of twelve denominations ranging from 1 cent to $100, and not less than one set will be sold. The stamps may not be used in any way, except in collections. The sale will continue to Dec. 31, unless the stamps are all disposed of sooner. The plates will be destroyed as soon as the issue is complete.

UPPER MICHIGAN.

Menominee—Miss Belle Aiken Willard, niece of ex-Congressman Sam Stephenson, was granted a divorce Saturday from her actor husband, Joe Willard, who is a comedian in the Frank E. Long company. The sensational elopement with the ex-congressman's niece filled columns in the papers about a year and a half ago. Incompatibility and cruelty were the grounds on which the divorce was obtained. Mrs. Willard alleges that her husband deceived her, representing himself as a man of wealth. The actor engaged a Marinette attorney to defend him, but when the case came to trial put up no fight whatever.

Ontonagon—F. H. Begole, of Marquette, and ex-Lieutenant Governor Dunstan, of Hancock, have about completed the organization of a national bank for Ontonagon county, to provide that county with banking facilities commensurate with the tremendous development of its copper properties now well under way.

Marquette—Nellie Howard, an unmarried middle-aged woman boarding with Mrs. "Jack" Adams at No. 124 West Bluff street, was burned to a crisp in a fire which occurred there about 12:30 Sunday morning.

THEY WILL REORGANIZE.

Militia Companies Take Steps In That Direction.

Steps are being taken to reorganize Companies A, C and G, and it is thought that reorganization will be effected within the next two weeks. A majority of the enlisted men, which includes the non-commissioned officers, will re-enlist, but there will be several changes in the commissioned officers. Several of the old officers have expressed an intention to resign on account of business.

It is the intention that the companies, when reorganized, shall go in for athletics and social affairs to a greater extent than heretofore in order to stimulate and maintain interest in the Guards.

Henry Harris, formerly a corporal in Company G, was unanimously elected, at the meeting of volunteers held last night at the city hall, to go to St. Paul and lobby for the $30,000 appropriation to pay the men the difference between the pay they are entitled to by the state law and the pay of regulars which they received for the time they were at Camp Ramsey before being mustered into the United States service.

There will be an important meeting of enlisted men of Company C Sunday at 3 p. m. in the municipal court room at the city hall, to consider matters in connection with the proposed investigation of the company's accounts.

COUNTY ATTORNEY EXPLAINS.

Mr. Phelps Shows Why Salary Should Be Increased.

County Attorney Phelps has written a letter for publication anent his resignation. He says it was promised when he accepted the nomination for the office that the salary would be increased at this session of the legislature. Mr. Phelps says in reference to the report that the legislative delegation favors a bill for an advance in the salary of the county attorney in 1901:

"If the salary is inadequate, why was it proposed that I should suffer thereby and why is it proposed that the county attorney in 1901 shall be more fairly treated? In 1897 the county attorney and his assistants were paid as follows: Mr. Arbury, $2500; Mr. McPherrin, $1000; C. O. Baldwin, something over $1500; myself $200 per month. In 1898 Mr. Arbury and Mr. McPherrin were paid the same as the preceding year and I was paid $250 per month. If my salary and that of my assistants were increased to the limits of the proposed bill, the total expenses of the county attorney's office would be over $1500 less than in the years 1897 and 1898, and less than it is proposed they shall be in 1901 and succeeding years.

"After paying the legitimate expenses of my office—above what the county can properly pay—I have left of my salary less than $150 a month. This is about one-half the amount paid the county auditor, treasurer, register of deeds and clerk of court. I have spent twenty-five years in learning to perform the duties of my office; some of the officers above mentioned have had no previous experience whatever in their respective duties. Few of them gave up private business to accept office. I am expected to throw away a business it has taken me twelve years to build up. In the foregoing, I have made no attempt to correct the numerous reckless statements published, such as that of the office rent allowed me, is $600 per annum, when as a matter of fact, the county pays less than half that sum for the office rent of the county attorney and assistant county attorney."

AT WEST DULUTH

Dynamite Club Will Send Expressions of Opinion to Mr. Mallory.

ON MANY SUBJECTS

Declaration Will Not Be Backward In the Choice of Topics.

Representative Mallory having expressed the opinion that the people of West Duluth are somewhat backward about expressing themselves as to desired legislation, it is the purpose of his constituents to get up and forward to him an immense petition expressing in detail the numerous laws desired. And judging from indications at Dynamite club headquarters yesterday the requests will not be at all modest. The laws desired range all the way from a prohibitory liquor law to a declaration of war against the savage inhabitants of the North Pole who may dare to dispute our right to their country when we get ready to go after it. There will be a request for an immense tank to store and make useful the gas given off by our honest legislators and for a reservoir wherein to store the briny tears of regret they shed over the fact that they are unable to pass measures which will permit the people of the state to do as they desire with their own affairs. The petition will be accompanied by a choice wisp of West Duluth hay, as a sort of trade mark of the locality. There is no doubt that the prayers of Mr. Mallory's constituents will cause a commotion when they are read to the house.

THE GOPHERS WIN.

One of the closest polo contests ever seen in West Duluth took place last evening between the Marinettes and the Gophers at the Marinette rink. The excitement was intense and the spectators applauded the brilliant plays liberally. Although the Gophers won by the close score of 4 to 3 they had to exert every effort to do it as the West Duluth boys have greatly improved by practice.

Gifford of the Marinettes made the first goal in three minutes. Wood scored for the Gophers in three and a half minutes and the third was made for the Duluth team by C. Wilson in four minutes. In the second half the Marinettes won a goal through the good efforts of Lemieux in six minutes. Wood won the next point for the Gophers in two minutes when the score was again tied by Lemieux in five minutes. The tie was broken within thirty seconds of the end of the game by C. Wilson, and all hands received hearty congratulations for the brilliant plays.

WEST DULUTH BRIEFS.

Owing to illness of the leader, Mrs. Thompson, the W. C. T. U. meeting scheduled for tomorrow at the Congregational church, has been postponed.

Fred Wentworth, a member of the fire department for four years, has resigned. He will move his family soon to the copper country of Michigan, where they will live in future. Mr. Wentworths' place at the fire hall is supplied at present by Thomas H. Miller.

The funeral ceremonies for the late W. C. Edwards will be held at the house in Smithville on Thursday. The remains will be interred in the Oneota cemetery. Mr. Edwards was a member of the West Duluth lodge I. O. F., under whose auspices the funeral will be held.

M. A. Tangen, of the West End, will take the place recently vacated by W. E. Lawrence at the City drug store.

A skating party from Duluth, headed by Messrs Messer and Wahl, will be present at the Marinette rink tomorrow evening.

The Ladies L. O. A. will give a masquerade ball at Great Eastern hall on April 6. Prizes will be given for the most comical and the prettiest costumes.

A masquerade dance will be given at Isaacson & Kauppi's hall on Saturday evening, Feb. 18.

A Philippine Railway.

An entertaining letter from one of the Minnesota boys at Manilla tells about the Manilla and Dagupan railroad, the only railroad in the Philippine islands. It runs from Manilla to Dagupan; distance 196 kilometers, or 120 miles. He recently covered the line on its one daily through train and, in measuring the difference between the civilization and enlightenment of the people of the Philippines and those of the United States he points to the difference between this train with its primitive and meager accommodations and the Milwaukee's splendid Pioneer Limited, running between the Twin Cities and Chicago. One raw and crude and unpromising, and the other the perfection of modern progress.

A sleigh load of members of Duluth lodge No. 28, I. O. O. F., went to Superior last evening and were entertained by the Superior Odd Fellows.

Progress lodge, Degree of Honor, No. 6, held a masque ball last evening at Sloan hall, West End. Everybody had a good time, although the floor was rather small for the number who danced.

The marine engineers gave their annual dance last evening in Odd Fellows' hall. There was a large attendance and the affair was a great success.

There will be union memorial services by the different W. C. T. U.'s in honor of Frances E. Willard at the First M. E church Friday, commencing at 2:30 p. m. sharp.

The Garfield Social club had a very enjoyable masquerade party at Hendrickson's hall last night.

Dr. F. C. Drenning now occupies the elegant suite of rooms 502-503-504 Providence building.

The new china and silver service at the Spalding is in keeping with the excellent menu provided.

The following births have been reported to the health department: A son to Frank and Mary Draema, of 505 East Fourth street; a son to Peter and Ida Larson, of Woodland.

Patrick Sullivan was arraigned before Judge Edson this morning on the charge of drunkenness. Sullivan pleaded not guilty. He said he had a bad leg and it went back on him last night and made it hard for him to navigate. He was to have his trial this afternoon.

Kelly's hat hospital. Expert hat work.

Progress lodge A. O. U. W. closed the social season last evening with a masquerade ball. Sloan hall was hardly large enough for the crowd in attendance but all had a merry time.

Marriage licenses have been issued to John G. Ross and Nellie J. Mackinnon, and to Richard M. Sellwood and Ella Eugene Fitzgerald.

E. C. Regli, the jewler, made a voluntary assignment under the state laws yesterday afternoon to R. H. Harris. T. A. Gall is the attorney.

All of this morning and up to noon today arguments to the court were in progress in the case of the Northern Pacific against the city of Duluth. The testimony was all in yesterday afternoon. The argument lasted to this afternoon, and it was expected that Judge Cant would take the case under advisement this afternoon.

The case of Ole Nicholson against the Northern Pacific railway has been transferred from the district court to the United States circuit court.

Last night the annual masuerade of the Duluth Turners was held at Turner hall and it was a great success. There was a large crowd present, and the costumes were very handsome.

Tomorrow Maj. Sears will open bids for setting in place the footing blocks and building the concrete superstructure of the south canal pier and building the concrete footing blocks of the north pier. It is likely that there will be a good many bids.

The funeral of George L. Phelps, of 1327 London road, who died Monday of pneumonia, took place this afternoon under the auspices of the Order of Elks. Services were held in Elks' hall, Kalamazoo block, at 2 o'clock. Interment was at Forset Hill.

William Sennett, a woodsman, who was brought in yesterday from Herbster, Wis., with a fractured skull, died at 6 o'clock this morning at St. Mary's hospital. He did not recover consciousness. It is not known here where his home was. He was struck by a falling tree.

A SWORD AND BIBLE.

Texas Sunday Schools Make a Present to Commodore Philip.

Galveston, Tex., Feb. 15.—This afternoon a beautiful sword and Bible, purchased by the Sunday school children of Texas, was presented to Commodore John W. Philip, who commanded the battleship Texas during the war with Spain. The sword was made by the same firm who designed the Dewey sword, and cost $3500. The presentation was in approval of Commodore Philips' public utterances after the Santiago engagement, acknowledging the sovereignt of Almighty God. The battleship Texas is here, commanded by Capt. Sigsbee, and all officers and men attended the ceremony.

STEVENS A QUITTER.

Leaves the Race Track Although In Good Condition.

San Francisco, Feb. 15.—The sensation of the day in the 6-day race was the rank quitting of Earl D. Stevens, the Buffalo boy. Stevens withdrew in the early morning hours. His trainer whipped him back to the track once, but he sneaked out again and when examined by competent men and found perfectly sound and in excellent shape to go on actually lay down on the floor and would not be carried out.

Another feature of the early morning was the superb riding of Barnaby, who is rapidly becoming a factor in the contest. Hannant also quit because his stomach would not hold food.

The score at 10 a. m., the thirty-fifth hour, follows. The former record was held by Waller. It was 622 miles, 141 yards: Gimm, 646 miles 6 laps; Pierce, 641 miles 1 lap; Miller, 632 miles 6 laps; Nawn, 627 miles 1 lap; Barnaby, 619 miles 6 laps; Hale, 613 miles 7 laps; Fredericks, 612 miles 5 laps; Lawson, 611 miles 3 laps; Alberts, 606 miles; Aaronson, 592 miles 3 laps; Ashinger, 576 miles 2 laps; Julius, 562 miles 7 laps; Pilkington, 560 miles 5 laps.

Score at noon, thirty-seventh hour: Gimm, 682 miles 2 laps; Miller, 667 miles 7 laps; Pierce, 662 miles 7 laps; Nawn, 662 miles 5 laps; Barnaby, 655 miles; Fredericks, 648 miles. The record was 649 miles 158 yards.

THE DUKE'S RANK TOO LOW.

The duke of Connaught, son of Queen Victoria, is an exceedingly genial, kindly disposed man, and was a great favorite with the children of the regiment in which he served. He would chat with the children of the privates with as pleasant a freedom as those of the officers. Taking the hand of a tiny child of a private one day, the duke merrily asked him:

"Are you going to be a soldier, my boy?"

"Yes," came the answer, "me's to be a soldier."

"An officer, perhaps, Freddy?" said the duke. "You know I am an officer."

"Yes," replied the little urchin, "but you are only a captain. Me's to be a general. Dot any money for me this morning?"

It need scarcely be added that the expected coin was forthcoming, and the future general toddled away perfectly happy.

CARRIES HUMAN VOICES.

The Megaphone to Make Words Audible Over Space.

Provisional protection has just been granted for an invention that is said to carry the voice loudly and clearly for a distance of miles, says the London Daily Mail.

It is claimed by the inventor that the fitting of his apparatus in the house of commons, and connecting it to Hyde Park, would allow of thousands of peopeople hearing in clear tones every word spoken in the parliamentary chamber.

This discovery of the power to magnify all sounds, both vocal and instrumental, has been made by Horace L. Short, consulting mechanical engineer of New Malden, Surrey. The inventor has had a varied and world-wide experience, although only a young man. Educated at the Risley grammar school, Derby, he was afterward employed at the Stanton iron works in the Midlands, at Messrs. Cromption & Co.'s electricians, and ultimately at the Chatham dockyard. He resigned this last position to go to Mexico as chief engineer of the Compagnie Minerale de Panuco. It was there that he brought his experiments, with what is really a phonographic voice-trumpet of great distance-covering capacity, to the pitch of what he regards as practical success.

A Daily Mail representative saw the instrument working indoors, and had an interview with Mr. Short, who took the apparatus to pieces in his presence. The simplicity of the discovery is, perhaps, the most important part of the invention. Without divulging any details which it is necessary to keep secret until the patents now applied for in different parts of the world have been granted, it may be stated that the apparatus consists of a phonograph with special cylinders and bearing a funnel-shaped mouthpiece.

Most persons have heard with tubes in their ears the records of the phonograph. The new instrument gives forth the musical and vocal sounds in such volume as to be almost deafening in an ordinary-sized room, and, as Mr. Short showed, he could increase this volume at will.

"My instrument," he said, "will work distinctly and with satisfaction over two miles, and this I have actually proved. It is only six months since I returned to England, but the experiments made in that time convince me that the voice can be conveyed over treble that distance with ease. My first idea for its use was for ship captains when in a heavy fog at sea, or for ships passing each other at night at a distance, when their lights only were visible. Now, however, I realize that telephones can be made by the new sound magnifier to amplify a speaker's voice so that it will fill the largest hall. This will allow of a political speaker or professional vocalist entertaining three or four audiences seated in halls wide apart at one and the same time.

"In time of war the admiral in command will by means of my invention be able to issue his own orders by word of mouth to the different ships of his squadron. Lighthouses may speak to ships in dangerous positions, and the vessels themselves communicate in the same way with the coast by aid of this invention. Orderlies will no longer risk their lives, except where absolute secrecy is required in carrying orders under fire from a commanding general to the battalions of his army.

"Just as the power of the eye has been increased, so that the distance between the heavens and the earth has been considerably decreased, so has this discovery intensified the space over which the human voice, and sound generally, will travel."

A VAST RICE FIELD.

"There is a vast stretch of fine prairie country between Lake Charles and Crowley," said A. V. Eastman, of Lake Charles, at the St. Charles hotel, to the New Orleans Picayune, "that is very fast being converted into a fertile rice belt. Pumping plants are being put in all through that section, which are converting the place into one of the richest and most productive countries in the South. This has been a big rice year. The crop was damaged by the September storm, but not so very much. All through the Lake Arthur region the irrigating system is being adopted. The planters are not depending upon Providence rice any more. They found that it was too uncertain. And they could not afford to get only one crop out of every three or four. But with canals of water penetrating the prairies and powerful pumping plants scattered here and there for raising water, the Louisiana rice belt is assuming new proportions and new possibilities."

A BANK OF BRIDES.

Simla, the summer capital of the Indian empire, is a pretty pine-treed place well up in the foothills of the Himalayas, says Edward Page Gaston in the Woman's Home Companion. A feature of Simla life is the annual fair held by the native hills people, an attractive item of which is a "Bank of Brides" in an amphitheater, where sit numbers of young women who thus calmly announce that they are candidates for hymeneal honors. Some of these aspirants to matrimony so patiently awaiting a choosing are quite pretty, and have intelligent faces; but those of Mongol caste must needs linger long for a partner, if personal beauty enters into the equation.

Tell them you saw it in The Herald.

VOTING MACHINES.

Congress Has Passed Bill Permitting Their Use at National Elections.

Chicago, Feb. 15.—A Washington special to the Record says: Both branches of congress have passed a bill to amend the law so that voting machines may be used at national elections. The president will sign the bill. Voting machines have already been legalized in several states, and their successful use at the recent election in New York and elsewhere has proved their accuracy and convenience. About six years ago the legislature of New York passed a bill permitting the use of machines at town elections, and later it was amended to apply to all elections. Rochester was the first city to use them, and in 1896 purchased a sufficient number for all its precincts under a contract which provided that they should not be paid for until they were demonstrated to be successful. Owing to a large number of mishaps the trial was unsatisfactory, and the machines were returned to the manufacturers, who made an assignment and closed out their business. The same year Worcester, Mass., tried the experiment with another apparatus, which was equally unsuccessful. A third invention was tried at Hornellsville, N. Y., with better results, so that the complete returns were telegraphed by the Associated Press seven minutes and a half after the polls were closed. These machines, which were manufactured by the United States company of Jamestown, N. Y., were purchased by the city of Hornellsville, and have since been used at all elections with full satisfaction. The city of Jamestown has adopted them for every precinct, and they were used in Detroit in 1897 with equally good results.

The Abbot voting machine, manufactured at Hudson, Mich., has also been used successfully, but is regarded as insufficient for long tickets. At the last November election the Standard voting machine, manufactured at Rochester, was used in that city and in Utica with success, but the patent is contested.

A United States voting machine is now on exhibition at a hotel in this city. The ballots are arranged on its face, with the names of the parties in horizontal rows, and the candidates of each in columns below them. A voter who wishes to vote the straight ticket pushes a large button over the name of the party to which he belongs. If he wishes to split his ticket he presses a button at the side of the name of each candidate for whom he desires to vote. The machine is about six feet high by twelve inches wide, and can be placed in a booth three or four feet square. The mechanism will not operate until the voter enters the booth and closes the door behind him, and his vote will not be recorded until he leaves the booth and closes the door. If he makes a mistake or changes his mind he can amend his vote by pulling out the button he has pressed and pushing in another. Like in a cash register, little disks show the total number of votes that have been cast for each candidate. There is an attachment which makes it impossible for any one to vote for two candidates for the same office. If he attempts to do so his vote will not be registered. On the closing of the polls the judges of election by examining the disks can ascertain at a glance the total number of votes cast and the number for each candidate. Unless he takes time to think a voter need not occupy the booth more than a minute. The machine has been examined by a large number of people since it has been on exhibition and has attracted much interest.

A DIFFERENT ROUTE.

Omaha, Feb. 15.—It is learned in local railway circles that the Minneapolis & St. Louis railway will surely come to Omaha, but over a somewhat different route from that outlined in a St. Paul dispatch a few weeks ago. Interest at this end of the line was as great as at the Twin Cities and it is generally understood here that the route will be south over the Albert Lea route to Waterville, thence west over an extension of the Waterville branch to Spirit Lake and then on to Omaha independent of the Illinois Central, Rock Island or any other road. The original plan was to run over the Waterville line to Winthrop and New Ulm.

NO SIGNS OF THEM

The Majestic Reports Being Unable to Sight Missing Steamers.

PASSENGERS LANDED

They Report That the Cargo of the Bulgaria Was Shifted.

Queenstown, Feb. 15.—The White Star line steamer Majestic, Capt. Smith, from New York on Feb. 8 for Liverpool, via this port, arrived here today and reported having experienced stormy weather during her passage across the Atlantic. A sharp lookout was kept for the disabled Hamburg-American line steamer Bulgaria, last seen during a severe storm 800 miles from the Azore islands, and for the overdue Cunard line steamer Pavonia, from Queenstown on Jan. 25 for Boston, last reported about 300 miles from the Azores in a disabled condition. No signs of the two steamers were seen.

London, Feb. 15.—A dispatch from Lloyd's agents at St. Michaels, Azores islands, announces that the twenty-five women and children taken off the disabled Hamburg-American steamer Bulgaria by the American tank steamer Weehawken, were landed at St. Michael's yesterday. The rescued passengers report that the cargo of the Bulgaria shifted, throwing the steamer on her beam ends. Although a quantity of her cargo was jettisoned the crew were unable to right her. During the gale 150 horses were lost, and a boat with five men on her went adrift.

The Weehawken, which met the Bulgaria 800 miles from the Azores on Feb. 5, stood by until noon of the 6th, but at that time the disabled steamer had been lost sight of and the Weehawken proceeded.

The German consul at St. Michael's adds that the quartermaster of the Bulgaria says that only one of her compartments was partly filled, which, considering that she had eleven water-tight compartments, would not mean that she was in imminent danger. But, in view of the severe weather and the situation on board the steamer being so critical, Capt. Schmidt thought it right to attempt to put the passengers on board of other steamers. It is not known whether he succeeded in transferring all his passengers.

London, Feb. 15.—The German consul at Ponta del Gada, Azores islands, which port was reached on Saturday by the American tank steamer Weehawken with twenty-five women and children taken from the Hamburg-American liner Bulgaria during a severe storm, 800 miles from the Azores islands, on Feb. 5, cabled to this city today that, owing to the high seas, neither the passengers from the Bulgaria, nor the crew of the Weehawken have as yet come ashore. The consul reports that it is not believed at Ponta del Gada that the Bulgaria has sunk. Another boat from the Bulgaria is said to have been picked up by an unknown steamer.

St. Michaels, Azores, Feb. 15.—The captain of the American tank steamer Weehawken, which vessel arrived here on Sunday with twenty-five women and children whom she took from the Hamburg-American steamer Bulgaria, which latter ship was met 800 miles from the Azore islands on Feb. 5 disabled and in a severe storm, now reports that two other steamers, the names of which are not known, were standing by the Bulgaria when he met her. The crew of the Weehawken, the captain says, were obliged to abandon further efforts to rescue those on board the Bulgaria, it being impossible to return to the Hamburg-American liner after the passengers had been saved owing to the Weehawken's boats being wrecked. The crew of the Weehawken reports that there is a possibility that the steamer Bulgaria did not founder.

A FISHING TRUST.

Nearly All Traps of Puget Sound Bought By a Syndicate.

Seattle, Wash., Feb. 15.—A large Chicago syndicate is about to close a deal by which it will secure all, or most all, of the fish traps of Puget Sound. If a payment of $60,000 is made tomorrow the business will be settled and the traps will very soon pass into the hands of the Chicago people.

The organization has secured options on traps which catch seven-tenths of the fish found in Puget Sound. It is believed it will continue to purchase other traps until it will have control of the total output.

In addition to the fish traps there are options held on two canneries out of the six, and it is understood an effort will be made to secure others. In fact the ultimate purpose of the syndicate is said to be the absolute control of both salmon catching and salmon canning. The syndicate was organized in Chicago by R. Ouffroy, who had the Franco-American cannery at Fairhaven, which is now in control of E. M. Wilson as receiver. They have organized with a capital of $3,000,000, which is to be expended, or so much of it as is necessary, in the purchase of traps and canneries. It is not known who these Chicago people are, but to some persons with whom Mr. Ouffroy was dealing, he made the statement that they are worth many millions of dollars.

It is understood that the first investment in the purchase of traps alone will be about $1,500,000, providing, of course, that the deal shall be concluded.

Already $12,000 has been paid on the scheme. This was to secure options on traps, as it operates as a first payment.

BICYCLE FACTORY BURNS.

Chicago, Feb. 15.—The bicycle factory and machine shop of I. Silverman & Bros., at 109 West Fourteenth street, was partly destroyed by fire at 4:30 o'clock this morning, causing a loss of about $75,000.

A CHANGE OF TIME.

The Kansas City-Omaha Service to Be Improved.

Kansas City, Feb. 15.—The Chicago, Burlington & Quincy railroad announces a change in time for its Chicago and Denver connections, effective Feb. 19. Kansas City-Omaha train, now leaving here at 9:15 p. m., will leave at 9:45, and will carry sleeper and chair car for Lincoln, Neb., direct, arriving at Lincoln at 6 a. m. This additional service is a new train from St. Joseph to Lincoln, where it will make connections with the B. & M. fast train from Chicago to Denver, and also with regular morning trains out of Lincoln for B. & M. territory. Returning, the service will be the same, leaving Lincoln at 11:20 p. m., arriving in Kansas City at 7 a. m. This train will make close connection at Denver with evening trains leaving there.

LEGISLATURE WITH NERVE.

Colorado Body Demands Removal of State Asylum Superintendent.

Denver, Feb. 15.—The house of representatives rejected the majority report of the special committee appointed to investigate the condition of affairs at the state insane asylum, which exonerated the superintendent, Dr. P. R. Thombs, and by a vote of 45 to 10 adopted the minority report demanding the superintendent's removal.

RECORDS BROKEN.

Great Feats of Endurance In the San Francisco Bicycle Race.

San Francisco, Feb. 15.—All night long the riders in the six-day bicycle race at Mechanics' pavilion continued to make the rounds of the eight-lap track. As the hours wore on the attendance dwindled but the interest of the people who remained never flagged and at intervals the leaders were heartily applauded. Burns Pierce and Charles Ashinger were the heroes of the first day. After twenty-four hours the former had ridden seven and a quarter miles farther than the previous record for that length of time, which was established by himself in the recent race at Madison Square Garden, New York.

The twenty-four-hour record for endurance was beaten by Ashinger, who remained on his wheel for twenty-four hours and twenty-one minutes without dismounting, covering in that time 469 miles and seven laps. Gimm and Miller also exceeded Pierce's former record, Gimm covering 459⅞ and Miller 458⅜ miles. During the first twenty-four hours Pierce was off his wheel one minute and this was the result of a collision with Lawson.

During the night Fournier rode a mile on his motorcycle in 1:54, Michael made a mile in 1:59 and Elkes a mile in 1:55 1-5. Eddie Bald covered a half mile in 56 2-5.

Betting on the men for first place is as follows: Miller, 3 to 2; Pierce, 2 to 1; Gimm and Ashinger, 3 to 1; Lawson, 5 to 1; Hale, 7 to 1; Alberts, 10 to 1; Nawn, Aaronson, Fredericks and Barnaby, each 20 to 1; Stevens, 25 to 1; Julius, 30 to 1; Hannant and Pilkington, each 50 to 1.

The score at 3:54 a. m., the twenty-ninth hour of the contest was as follows: Gimm, 547 miles 1 lap; Pierce, 545 miles 3 laps; Miller, 539 miles 2 laps; Nawn, 530 miles 5 laps; Barnaby, 529 miles 2 laps; Ashinger, 514 miles; Stevens, 528 miles 2 laps; Lawson, 520 miles 3 laps; Hale, 523 miles 4 laps; Alberts, 516 miles 1 lap; Fredericks, 512 miles 4 laps; Julius, 503 miles, Aaronson, 505 miles 6 laps; Pilkington, 458 miles 3 laps.

TRAINS ARE STARTED.

The Day Opens Clear and Sunny in Washington.

Washington, Feb. 15.—A clear, sunny sky, a temperature above zero at 10.30 a. m., and a light breeze were the weather conditions in Washington today. In the main business streets large gangs of men were at work carting away the snow. The principal street railroads were again in operation, blockaded householders reappeared on the streets and business in many lines was resumed.

The steam railroads are making efforts to clear their lines, and to a limited extent traffic has been resumed North, and today will be in nearly full operation to the South.

The Pennsylvania railroad started its first train out at 9:50 this morning, the Colonial express. Its tracks east have been cleared through to Jersey City, but the lines west are not yet in shape to resume travel. Closely following the Colonial were several other trains, and the company hopes now to maintain its schedule for the East.

The Southern started at 11:15 a. m. its limited out on time. No train got in, however, from the South during the morning hours. On the Baltimore & Ohio the tracks have been cleared, and trains from Jersey City and intermediate points began coming in hours late last night. Several trains also were started out this morning with the expectation of maintaining schedule. The St. Louis limited, which had been stalled in a snow bank, near Boyds, Mo., for two days, arrived here today, and it is thought trains westbound will be sent through regularly very soon, though there were immense drifts in cuts all along the line.

The Potomac river is still covered with a 12-inch coating of ice, and all river navigation has been suspended. No immediate resumption of water traffic is in sight, the big Norfolk and Washington steamers having suspended operations.

FIRST IN TWO DAYS.

A Passenger Train Leaves New York For Pittsburg.

New York, Feb. 15.—There was somewhat of an improvement in the outlook for resuming travel on the Pennsylvania system today. The first train for Pittsburg in two days left the Pennsylvania depot in Jersey City at 9:25 a. m. The Chicago limited was started for the West at 10:14. This forenoon the agent of the Pennsylvania road in Jersey City was selling tickets for Washington, but would not guarantee anything beyond Philadelphia. There was but little improvement today on the Erie road. None of the roads will do much with freight until passenger traffic has been generally resumed.

BELATED TRAINS.

Buffalo, Feb. 15.—Seven through trains on the New York Central from the East arrived last night and this morning. Passenger trains for the East are leaving about on schedule time. The Pennsylvania railroad has resumed the sale of tickets as far as Harrisburg. Lehigh Valley trains are coming through about four hours late.

LINES OPENED UP.

Boston, Feb. 15.—The railroads have succeeded well in opening up their blockaded lines, and this forenoon all systems had trains moving with some approach to regularity.

ALL LINES OPEN.

Philadelphia, Feb. 15.—The railroad companies have succeeded in opening travel over all lines and the officials are of the opinion that by tomorrow the full schedule of passenger trains can be resumed, and that freight and coal trains may also be set in motion.

CONFIDE IN A WOMAN.

Women may write about their troubles to Mrs. Pinkham and avoid the questions of a male physician.

The questions asked of a woman by a male physician are embarrassing and frequently revolting to a sensitive nature. In consequence the whole truth is not told! This makes it difficult for female troubles to be successfully treated, and is the reason so many women grow worse rather than better.

Mrs. LUCY A. LOUGHERY of New Lebanon, Ind., describes how wretched she was until she received Mrs. Pinkham's help:

DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I propped myself in a chair and wrote to you, and as soon as I commenced to take your Vegetable Compound I began to improve. I had suffered with severe pains in my hips, back and head. The doctor said I had bladder trouble and falling of the womb. I had spells when, if I did not sit down, I would fall. I was sleepy all the time. I was also troubled with leucorrhœa and itching piles. People thought that my end was near. Had it not been for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and advice, I would have been dead and buried long ago. I hope that this letter may be the means of helping all women who suffer as I did.

Women understand women better than men can. The whole truth is freely told to Mrs. Pinkham, and women only see the letters received by her at Lynn, Mass. Her advice is freely offered.

Here is a convincing letter from a woman in Bethlehem, Pa.:

DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—Words cannot express my gratitude for the good that your Vegetable Compound has done me. I have taken five bottles, and feel better in every respect. Menses heretofore lasted too long and were very profuse, and made me very weak. Your Compound is a miracle. Before writing to you I had tried doctor's medicine, but of no avail. I would not give up your Compound for female complaints for all the doctor's medicine in the world. My friends want to know what makes me look so well. I do not hesitate one minute in telling them what has brought about this wonderful change. I cannot sing its praises enough. I hope every one who suffers as I have will give Lydia E. Pinkham's Compound a trial; and I know that, if taken according to directions, it will cure.—Mrs. EDWIN EHRIG, 413 Church Street, Bethlehem, Pa.

All women who suffer should secure Mrs. Pinkham's counsel. Female troubles are real troubles, and must be treated understandingly. For a quarter of a century Mrs. Pinkham's advice and Lydia E Pinkham's Vegetable Compound have been helping women to be strong and well, more than a million women have been benefited by it.

AT CRITICAL STAGE.

Negotiations of the High Joint Commission May Come to Naught.

Washington, Feb. 15.—The negotiations of the high joint commission are at a critical stage and this fact has caused rumors of ultimatums and of failure of negotiations which are unwarranted. Up to date the Americans have made a number of concessions on important points, to such an extent they say as to imperil ratification should a treaty be framed. On important points the two sides have reached agreements but on others they have wholly failed to agree and matters now are about at a pass where it must be decided soon whether to report a treaty embracing points agreed on or to disagree on all points because unable to agree on some items.

PRESIDENT TO TRAVEL.

The Home Market Club of Boston Will Entertain Him.

Washington, Feb. 15.—President McKinley and party will leave here at 5 o'clock this afternoon on a Pennsylvania special train for Boston, where they will be entertained by the Home Market club. The party will consist of the president, Secretaries Alger and Long, Postmaster General Smith, Secretaries Bliss, Porter and Cortelyou.

TO REDUCE EXPENSES.

Lehigh Valley Lake and Rail Lines Management Consolidated.

Buffalo, Feb. 15.—Capt. Henry, superintendent of the Lehigh Valley's lake steamship line, has resigned. T. H. Van Alen, division superintendent of the Lehigh Valley, will also act as superintendent of the steamship line. The office of the rail and lake lines are consolidated by this change.

THOMAS BURNSIDE DEAD.

Paris, Feb. 15.—Thomas Burnside, a grandson of the late Senator Cameron of Pennsylvania died here last evening. He had been prominent in social and newspaper circles in Chicago, came to Europe ten years ago and married an English actress. The deceased lived in London for several years, where he was a leading spirit in the Savage club, but he had latterly resided in Paris.

THE MAINE REMEMBERED.

Flags Flying at Half Mast in New York and Harbor.

New York, Feb. 15.—A year ago today the United States battleship Maine was blown up in the harbor of Havana and 216 American seamen lost their lives. The event is being remembered in this city today. Flags are flying at half mast on the city hall, the public schools and all other public buildings, national, state and municipal.

Nearly all the vessels coming in the harbor, those going out and those at the piers have flags at half mast. This is not only confined to any class or order of shipping.

Besides the public buildings, many of the stores have pictures of the ill-fated battleship, with the phrase, "Remember the Maine."

SHERMAN AT GIBRALTAR.

Washington, Feb. 15.—The state department today received the following cablegram:

Gibraltar—The Sherman is coaling here. All well. Please inform adjutant general. The Sherman is on her way to Manila with the Third United States infantry and four companies of the Seventeenth United States infantry on board.

NO QUORUM.

Harrisbur, Feb. 15.—The twenty-fifth ballot for United States senator resulted: Quay, 50; Jenks, 4; Dalzell, 1. No quorum. The Democrats and anti-Quay Republicans absented themselves from the joint assembly to break a quorum and prevent a possible election.

NEVER FADING BLACK DYES

Diamond Dyes Make Colors That Never Crock.

Clothing of All Kinds Easily Dyed at Home.

There are three kinds of fast black Diamond Dyes, one for wool, one for cotton and mixed goods, and a third for silk and feathers. All of these dyes are specially prepared for home use, and are guaranteed to make colors that will never fade or crock and that cannot be washed out in strong soapsuds.

The reliability of the fast black Diamond Dyes have given them the largest sale of all dyes. Be sure to get the Diamond if you wish to color black, for no other dyes equal them in simplicity of use and fastness of color.

NOTICE OF MORTGAGE SALE—

Whereas default has been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by John Beckman and Martha Beckman, his wife, mortgagors, to Granite Savings Bank & Trust Co., a corporation duly incorporated under the laws of the state of Vermont, mortgagee, bearing date the 15th day of May, 1893, with a power of sale therein contained, which said mortgage was duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds of St. Louis County, Minnesota, on the 18th day of May, 1893, at 9 o'clock a. m., in Book 125 of mortgages, and at page 125 thereof; and,

Whereas, default has been made in the payment of said mortgage debt and the sum of $32.82 semi-annual interest due thereon on May 15, 1898, and insurance in the sum of $29.46 paid by the said mortgagee in maintaining insurance on the buildings on said premises and taxes in the sum of $26.51, and city assessments in the sum of $34.55 paid by the said mortgagee pursuant to covenants contained in said mortgage; and whereas, there is claimed to be due, and there is actually due, on said mortgage at the date of this notice the sum of $1379.83 principal, interest, insurance and taxes as aforesaid, and $50.00 attorneys' fees stipulated for in said mortgage in case of foreclosure thereof; and,

Whereas, no action at law or otherwise has been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof.

Therefore notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage and by reason of the defaults in payments as aforesaid and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by the sale of the premises described in said mortgage and situate in St. Louis County, Minnesota, and described as follows, towit:

The most northernly one-half (½) of the most southernly one-half (½) of lots numbered three hundred and twenty-two (322) and three hundred twenty-four (324), also an undivided one-half (½) interest in 10 feet by 35 feet, described as follows, towit: Beginning at the most southwesterly corner of lot 324 thence easterly along the line of the alley 10 feet, thence in a northrnly direction 35 feet, on a line parallel to the westerly side of said lot 324, thence at right angles ten feet westerly to said westerly line of said lot 324, thence southerly on westerly line of said lot to a point of beginning. All in block one hundred twenty-five (125), Second Division, Duluth Proper, according to the recorded plat thereof. Which said premises, with the hereditaments and appurtenances thereunto belonging, will be sold at public auction to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said mortgage debt, insurance, taxes and assessments paid as aforesaid, and $50.00 attorneys' fees stipulated for in said mortgage and disbursements allowed by law, which sale will be made by the sheriff of St. Louis County, at the front door of the court house in the city of Duluth, in said county and state, on the 25th day of February, 1899, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of said day, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the date of sale as provided by law.

Municipal Court Cases.

In the case of A. A. Larson vs. Charles Schell et al, on trial in Judge Edson's court, the jury this morning returned a verdict for $35.75 for the plaintiff.

The trial of the case of D. M. De Vore vs. Osborne & Co., to recover $54.65, attorney's fees, was begun in Judge Edson's court this morning.

The case of M. Christopherson vs. E. G. Chapman, to recover $300 damages alleged to have been caused the plaintiff's little girl by running into her with a bicycle at First street and Second avenue east, July 28, was on trial in Judge Gearhart's court this morning.

Candidate For Health Officer.

The friends of Dr. H. E. Webster are making an energetic canvass for him for the position of health officer. The aldermen have all been buttonholed in his behalf. It is rumored that Dr. Webster's boom is not receiving much encouragement from them.

Health Officer Murray's re-election is generally regarded as assured.

Among other "sure things" predicted is the re-election of City Attorney Richards.

States His Objections to the Gross Earnings Tax Division Bill.

SUGGESTS CHANGES

Deputy Auditor Wasgatt Replies to Complaints Made By Mr. Baldwin.

A letter was received from Senator Baldwin, directed to the board of county commissioners, in reference to the resolution passed by that body at its last meeting endorsing the gross earnings tax apportionment bill as prepared by A. A. Harris and John H. Norton. In his letter he agrees with the board that the matter is of great importance to the citizens and taxpayers of St. Louis county and the city of Duluth, but he does not agree with the board that the bill is drawn in such a manner as to make it practicable and comprehensive. The bill provides that after the state has retained its 10 per cent of the taxes the balance shall be turned over to the counties, and the balance is to be apportioned among the incorporated cities and villages in the counties.

This is the first point to which Mr. Baldwin objects. He believes the bill would be unconstitutional. He instances the case of Beltrami country. It has two small villages and fifty miles of railroad running through several organized towns. Under the bill the villages would receive all of the tax apportioned to the county, so much they would not need to levy any tax at all, while the towns would get nothing, and would have to pay an additional tax to the state because of the state's giving up the gross earnings tax receipts.

Senator Baldwin believes, also, that the tax should be divided among the subdivisions of the county in proportion to the amount of railroad property in each. He states that there are no provisions in the bill for placing values on property for the purpose of the division, and that it seems to provide that the auditor shall make the division arbitrarily. There is no appeal from his division, Mr. Baldwin says.

In reference to this matter, Deputy Auditor Wasgatt said this morning: "The bill distinctly provides that the distribution shall be made on the basis of the assessed valuation of the property in each subdivision. There is no discretion for the auditor whatever in the bill. He must divide the taxes in proportion to the amount of the railroad property in each subdivision. It might be better, as Mr. Baldwin says, to include the towns as well as the cities and villages, but that is another question. Mr. Baldwin also believes that the basis of the division should be the valuation of the railroad property rather than the assessed valuation. This would be a very difficult thing to do, if it is not impossible, and one of the ideas in framing the bill was to get it as simple as possible. If it is encumbered with difficult measures it will arouse opposition, and that is what we do not want. But Senator Baldwin is mistaken as to his remarks about the auditor. The auditor is given no discretion at all, and there is nothing to appeal from if he obeys the law."

Asks a Divorce.

Leah Hanna White, aged 18, this morning applied to the district court for a divorce from Merritt White, aged 24, on the ground of desertion. They were married in Gladstone, Mich., Oct. 15, 1894, and the alleged desertion must have taken place shortly after, because the plaintiff alleges that her husband has been away from her for more than three years. F. R. Briggs is her attorney.

A jury in probate court yesterday afternoon found John L. McHolland, aged 16, of Biwabik, insane and ordered him committed to the hospital for the insane at Fergus Falls. He believes he is married to a girl at Biwabik, and that he is compelled to keep her in barns and outhouses for a year until he can get to housekeeping. Dr. Salter, Dr. Lynam and J. B. Middlecoff composed the jury.

WISCONSIN LAWYERS.

Madison, Wis., Feb. 15.—The annual meeting of the State Bar association was addressed this morning by Justice Winslow of the supreme court and ex-Judge E. W. Keyes, the latter giving personal sketches of legal authorities of territorial days. He ranked them as intellectual giants, superior to machine-made lawyers of the present day. Addresses were given this afternoon by several leading attorneys. The university law school suspended to give members a chance to attend the session. This evening the meeting closes with a banquet at the Presbyterian church, at which ex-Congressman Burr W. Jones will be toastmaster.

Henry Truelsen, Jr., Claims Right to Know Who His Accusers Are.

HAS DONE ITS WORST

Says the Committee Has Caused All Kinds of Surmises About Him.

The fact that the police and license committee did not file all of the evidence taken by it in the Resche matter is creating considerable unfavorable comment, and is said to be strengthening the general impression that the committee was actuated by ulterior motives. The committee only filed the testimony of Capt. Resche and the letter from Col. Van Duzee. According to the statement of the committee, four other witnesses were examined.

Henry Truelsen, Jr., said yesterday that he had not been given a chance to see the evidence, if there was any, that is withheld. The committee stated that it withheld the evidence out of consideration for his family. That this was not the true reason, Mr. Truelsen thinks, is indicated in statements made by Alderman Cromwell, chairman of the committee. Even if it were, he argues that it was mistaken charity, as the explanation in the report is so worded as to open the door to all sorts of surmises, and that having filed the testimony of Capt. Resche, the rest of it might as well be. Furthermore, it is the contention of Mr. Truelsen, Jr., and his friends that he should be given an opportunity to see the testimony against him, and be informed who were the witnesses against him. It is not improbable that he will demand this.

He said yesterday that it might prove unfortunate for Capt. Resche that the committee had conducted the inquiry along the lines that that it had.

To Aid St. Luke's Hospital.

St. Luke's guild was organized last month by sixteen girls. Their object is to work for St. Luke's hospital. In the few weeks they have been working they have earned enough to buy a child's iron bed and material for baby clothes which the girls are to make up during Lent. They are fortunate in having the help of Mrs. Thomas Dowse in starting a cooking school for girls. The course is to consist of twelve illustrated lessons on the most necessary part of the house mothers' duties—plain practical cooking. Tickets for the course are $3 and may be obtained from Mrs. J. R. McGiffert, 15 East Third street. The lessons are to be in the guild room of St. Paul's church every Saturday morning at 10 o'clock, beginning Feb. 25.

CLAIMS IT IS NEEDED.

Deputy Williamson Explains Request For Additional Clerk Hire.

In reference to the county treasurer's recent request for $2000 additional clerk hire for the coming year Deputy Treasurer Williamson said this morning: "During the past year this office has worked from two to seven hours' overtime each day for about seven months. Changes made by Mr. Whipple have reduced the work considerably, and we have had large taxpayers do a part of the work of making out receipts. In spite of this, we came out $500 over our appropriation of $6000 for last year. Up to last year we kept within it, but last year, on account of the new system of half-payments of taxes, we could not do it. The last increase in the allowance for this office was made in 1891. At that time there were two cities, three villages, twenty organized towns and fourteen school districts. Now there are four cities, ten villages, thirty-eight towns and thirty-four school districts. In 1891 there were 90,000 descriptions of real estate, in 1899 there are 140,000. In 1891 there were 3500 personal property assessments; in 1899 there are 5000."

BOUNTY MEASURE

T[illegible] Pig Iron Bill to Come Up Late In the Afternoon.

GAMBLING IN GRAIN

Mr. Olsen Would Prevent Sale of Grain Before It Is Threshed.

From a Staff Representative.

St. Paul, Feb. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Among the committee reports in the house today were several Hennepin county measures from the senate that went through under suspension of the rules. One provided for a bridge at Excelsior, another fixed salaries of Hennepin county commissioners at $1200 per annum, a third related to fixing tax levies by county commissioners in Hennepin county.

Grondahl's bill providing for clerk hire for probate judge in Goodhue county was passed under suspension of the rules.

Nearly an hour was devoted to parliamentary discussion arising over an attempt by Jacobson to correct the journal of yesterday which he thought was not clear as to adjournment of the afternoon session. He was voted down.

Among the new bills were:

Elwell—For crushing rock for roads by prison laborers.

Grondahl—For care of insane in county hospitals.

Olsen—To prevent gambling in grain, prohibiting its sale before threshing.

Babcock—To prohibit sale of milk, butter or cheese with which preservatives have been mixed.

Feeney—To prevent acquiring title to streets or wharves by adverse possession.

Yale—To abolish bills of discovery.

McNeill—Defining public stock yards and governing management thereof. This is almost a duplicate of a bill heretofore killed, and a roll call was required before the house would permit its introduction.

The pig iron bounty will probably be considered late this afternoon. Recess.

DULUTH REFUNDING BILL.

It Is Taken Up by the Senate and Passed.

St. Paul, Feb. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Greer bill for a tax commission occupied the entire time of the senate in committee of the whole today.

Senator McKusick had two amendments adopted, one increasing the appropriation to $5000 and the other instructing the members to report a complete real estate tax law to the next legislature.

Senator Schellback secured the adoption of an amendment to include personal property.

The bill was recommended to pass.

The senate confirmed the appointment of John O'Shaughnessy, of Stillwater, as insurance commissioner.

The senate took up one bill on the calendar today, the Duluth refunding bill, authorizing the city of Duluth to issue bonds for the purpose of taking up its floating indebtedness. It was passed.

FOR ARBOR AND BIRD DAY.

Senate Passes the Bill Under Suspension of Rules.

St. Paul, Feb. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Among the new senate bills were:

Myron—Authorizing condemnation of land for Itasca state park and providing a tax levy for the erection of a sanitarium.

Young—Authorizing governor to designate an arbor and bird day. Passed under suspension of the rules.

McKusick—Appropriating $2500 for a monument to the victims of the Hinckley fire of 1895.

Barker—Allowing persons suffering damage from overflowing lands to compel the repair or removal of the dam.

Wilson—To subject the wages of city and county employes to garnishment.

Wilson—To fix the amount of wages exempted from execution at $8 per week.

Fitzpatrick—To amend law of 1878 relating to time of commencing action for libel, etc.

Fitzpatrick—Exempting earnings of married men and minor children to the amount of $100 per month from execution.

Miller—To provide for a committee of three to visit state institutions and report on management and appropriations needed.

Halvorson—To provide for a state temperance commissioner.

PAY FOR THE VOLUNTEERS.

Henry E. Harris Is In St. Paul Working For the Bill.

St. Paul, Feb. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Henry E. Harris is at the capitol in the interest of the bill providing for the payment of the balance claimed by the militiamen from the time they assembled at Camp Ramsey until they were mustered into the service of the United States. The bill was introduced in the house by Mr. Pugh and was prepared by Mr. Harris, who will appear before the committee on appropriations today or tomorrow and advocate its passage.

A SERIOUS CONDITION.

People Leaving Colorado Towns For Fear of Famine.

Denver, Col., Feb. 16.—Although most of the railway lines in Colorado are now open and trains running on time, reports from Kokomo, Robinson and other towns on the South Park line above Como, show a serious state of affairs. Some of the citizens, women as well as men, are leaving the towns, making their way to Leadville on snow shoes. Snow is twelve feet deep on the level. There is nothing but flour, potatoes and some canned goods in Kokomo to eat, and only a few days' supply of these. The fuel supply is also almost exhausted. The railroad companies have begun to arrange for the floods and snow slides that are sure to ensue when the weather becomes warm in the mountains. Large gangs of men are at work clearing out obstructions in the canons, and as soon as the great mass of snow begins to soften they will be dislodged by the use of dynamite so as to slide into the canons when no trains are in the way.

AN EXCHANGE OF VOLLEYS.

Large Body of the Enemy Retreats to the Jungle.

Manilla, Feb. 16, 3:35 p. m.—A large body of the enemy, presumably reconnoitering, was discovered on the right of Brig. Gen. King's position, near San Pedro Macati, this morning. The entire brigade turned out and, after an exchange of volleys, the rebels retreated into the jungle and disappeared.

BOTH EYES SHOT AAWY.

The Terrible Wound Received By a Montana Soldier.

Washington, Feb. 16.—The war department today received the following:

Manilla, Feb. 16.—Adjutant General, Washington: Harvey H. Harris, Company B, Twentieth Kansas, flesh wound, left leg, doing well; John Sorensen, First Montana, reported probably dead, is alive, but both eyes shot away, condition fair. Cable of Feb. 7 reporting William J. Hayes, First Washington, wounded slightly, is error. Oval F. Gibson, Company E, First Washington, reported missing, was found with sprained leg. Corporal Hayes, First Montana, cabled on Feb. 6 missing, is with his company. OTIS.

SEVERELY INJURED.

Otto Winstrom of Two Harbors Badly Hurt By Dynamite Explosion.

Two Harbors, Minn., Feb. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Otto Winstrom, foreman for Contractor Runquist, and a pioneer of Two Harbors, was badly injured by the explosion of a charge of dynamite in a mist hole yesterday. It was slow in action, and he stepped forward to find the cause, when it exploded, and he received a large portion of the charge in the face. Dr. Titcomb, of Duluth, an eye specialist, has been called, but it is believed his eyes cannot be saved. He is in Dr. Budd's hospital, and his face and hands are badly mutilated.

FROM THE CAPITAL.

Chippewa Indians Called on Senator Davis and Told Their Troubles.

FROM THE HERALD WASHINGTON BUREAU.

Washington, Feb. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Senator Davis today received a call from the Chippewa Indian delegation, who presented their grievances. Senator Davis listened patiently and, addressing the delegation, said he hoped none had been participants in the Bear island rising.

SNOW IN MARYLAND.

Fears That the Railroads Will Again Be Blocked.

Cumberland, Md., Feb. 16.—A heavy snow began falling here at noon today, and advices from the surrounding towns indicate that it is general in this section of the state. The fall is as great as that of Sunday and Monday, and if it continues during the night, as it promises to do, there are grave fears that the railroads in this neighborhood will be again completely blocked.

Y. M. C. A. SECRETARIES.

The Annual Convention of the Iowa Societies In Session.

Dubuque, Iowa, Feb. 16.—The conference of general secretaries and physical directors of the Young Men's Christian association of Iowa, continued this morning, George J. Ross, of Muscatine, presiding. The following papers were read: "How Can the Secretary Assist in the Physical Department?" by C. D. Clapp, of Sioux City; "Hints to a Secretary From a Business Man," by William Schneider, Garner; "The Field for the Association Camera Club," by F. A. Garrison, Davenport; "Association Rocks," by F. E. Anderson, Wisconsin.

The twenty-ninth annual state convention of the Y. M. C. A. met this afternoon. Welcoming addresses were delivered by Mayor Berg, Rev. W. O. Ruston and Dr. J. V. Consett. Responses were by prominent members of the association. There were about 200 delegates at the opening session, and the number will be increased to 300 by later arrivals.

FIRE AT PHILADELPHIA.

Philadelphia, Feb. 16.—Fire early this morning at 211, 213 and 215 Church street, caused an aggregate loss of building and contents of about $60,000. E. K. Plumley, paper box manufacturer, loses about $30,000, and the other losses are divided between M. Moyer & Son, tailors trimmings; L. Needles & Brother, shirt manufacturers; the American Glue company and the Levering estate, which owns the buildings. The losses are covered by insurance.

THE MEAT INQUIRY.

Washington, Feb. 16.—The court of inquiry into the charges made by Gen. Miles will hold no open session today, but may have a meeting in secret for organization and discussion of methods of procedure.

FLOODS IN JAMAICA.

Kingston, Jamaica, Feb. 16.—A terrific norther accompanied by an incessant rain storm has been causing numerous local floods. The storm swept the northern coast of the island from Annotto bay to Montego bay from Monday to Wednesday, doing widespread damage to shipping, wharves, the railroads, cattle and cultivation, etc. No fatalities have been reported.

MATERIAL SCARCITY

The Iron Trade Getting Somewhat Excited Over This Possible Danger.

PRICES ARE RAISED

National Steel Company Buying Coke Lands In the Connellsville Region.

New York, Feb. 16.—In its review of trade conditions the Iron Age says today:

The iron trade is getting somewhat excited over the danger of scarcity of material, which is reflected in quite a rapid advance in prices all along the line. Of course it is only the belated requirements, relatively moderate in volume, which are being covered. The real test of the situation will come when pending low-priced contracts expire and the tonnage for the second half of the year is to be covered.

There has been little that is new as to the further operations of the consolidations, although some important negotiations are said to have been started. The National Steel company has been buying coke lands in the Connellsville region, and also has taken the old Columbia mill, which once figured in the beam business. Sheets displayed a sharp upward tendency, in view of the movement toward consolidation of this interest.

The latest statistics of the pig iron industry show that capacity at works among the coke furnaces declined 4890 tons per week during January, which is somewhat of a surprise. Stocks show a further decline of about 37,000 tons during January. However, preparations now being made will soon develop productive capacity.

The Eastern pig iron makers are now in session in Philadelphia, but nothing has been reported as to the result of their deliberations.

Steel is getting scarce for prompt delivery, and those who must buy are required to pay as high as $18.50 in the Central West and $21 at Philadelphia.

Plates continue to be the banner line and the demand is very urgent. Shipbuilders at Baltimore, at Newport News and on the Delaware have contracted for an additional number of vessels, and orders for bridges and other structures are pouring in. Chicago sold about 10,000 tons, turning down a much larger quantity. The leading mill in Pittsburg cannot sell anything before July delivery.

It is interesting to note that a group of four German plate mills have taken the second half of the famous Coolgardie order which our mills, which secured the first half, would not touch.

There has been a further advance in Western markets on steel rails.

A good deal of activity is characterizing the markets for structural material. An Eastern mill has taken over 8000 tons for the Boston elevated. In New York two buildings calling for about 5000 tons have been contracted for, with additional work pending. Chicago notes sales for two structures of about 4000 tons. On the top of this is the large tonnage required for the towers and shore spans of the new East river bridge, to be awarded in a few days. A good deal of bridge work for railroads is also being placed.

The manufacturers of merchant pipe have advanced prices 5 per cent and are rushing business. Two of the Western mills have divided an order for 150 miles of 10-inch pipe for an Indiana gas line and another order for forty-five miles is pending.

In the cast iron pipe trade there is some uneasiness as to the possibility of a struggle between the new consolidation and the outside shops. In the event of a fight the Atlantic coast territory would be the battle ground.

The manufacturers of cut nails have advanced their prices. Wire nails are unchanged, but gossip has it that the market will be advanced in the near future until $1.75 is reached.

In the metal trade the star performer has been spelter, which has recorded a further advance.

A TELEPHONE FRANCHISE.

Chicago Council Grants One to Run Thirty Years.

Chicago, Feb. 16.—The ordinance of the Illinois Telephone and Telegraph company, after being amended to meet some requirements of the mayor, has been passed by the city council by a vote of 53 to 4. The ordinance as amended provides for a franchise for thirty years, covering all the territory inside the limits of the city of Chicago.

The compensation to be paid the city is nothing for the first ten years, 3 per cent of the gross receipts for the second ten years, 5 per cent for the next five years and 7 per cent for the remaining five years. On all conduits one duct shall be given to the city, and the city can use all the company's poles.

The cost of a telephone shall not be more than $85 a year for business instruments, $50 for residences and $125 for public telephones. The city is given a number of telephones free and can rent instruments for fire and police use for $50 a year.

An option is given the city to purchase the plant at the expiration of the franchise.

THE PRESIDENT IN BOSTON.

The Program of Entertainment During the Executive's Stay.

Boston, Feb. 16.—President McKinley, four members of his cabinet and other associates, arrived in Boston at 10:02 o'clock today. They came as the guests of the Home Market club, a national organization of Republicans. The members of the cabinet who came with the president were John D. Long, secretary of the navy; Gen. R. A. Alger, secretary of war; Cornelius N. Bliss, secretary of the interior, and Postmaster General Smith.

Lyman J. Gage, secretary of the treasury, met the party on their arrival here, having come direct from Chicago.

The stay of the visitors will be brief, lasting until tomorrow afternoon, but it promises to be a memorable one in the history of the club and for the citizens of Boston in general. A reception will precede the banquet at Mechanics hall this evening. Tomorrow forenoon the visitors will visit the legislature, where the president probably will deliver a short address, and at 10 o'clock they will breakfast at the Algonquin club house as the guests of the Commercial club, the membership of which includes many of the prominent business and professional men of the city.

Immediately after the breakfast the party will leave for Washington.

It seemed as if all Boston had turned out to bid the president and his cabinet welcome. Great crowds filled the cold train shed and pushed and jostled each other in an effort to get a view of the president, while the iron rafters rang with their cheers. Still larger was the throng which filled the streets around the station where the carriages which were to bear the party to the Hotel Touraine were stationed. Governor Wolcott and his military staff were at the station to meet the president, and as soon as the introductions and greetings were concluded the carriages were entered, and, under escort of the First battalion of cavalry, the visitors started for the hotel.

As the procession passed cheer upon cheer was given by the crowd, and upon all sides there were manifestations of cordial welcome.

MET SUDDEN DEATH.

George Gowan Caught By Logs on St. Louis River and Killed.

Virginia, Minn., Feb. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Yesterday, while attending to some logs on the St. Louis river, George Gowan, a foreman for the Northern Lumber company, met a sudden death while at the landing. He was fixing the logs so that they might run straight to the river and they took a roll and caught him. Deputy Coroner Prince of Virginia was called and visited the scene of the accident, but decided that no inquest was necessary. The deceased man was a brother to Andy and William Gowan. He leaves a widow at Stillwater, Minn. William, his brother, took the body to that place this morning, where he will be buried by the A. O. H., of which he was a respected member.

THE BEEF INQUIRY.

All the Snowbound Members of the Court Arrive In Washington.

Washington, Feb. 16.—All the members of the court of inquiry, convened by order of the president to investigate the charges of Maj. Gen. Miles concerning the food furnished the army, have arrived in Washington with the expectation of organizing the court today.

Maj. Gen. Wade, president of the court, finally got through the snow blockade between here and Pittsburg late last night. Brig. Gen. George W. Davis also reached here from Cuba late last night. Col. George L. Gillespie came over from New York, where he is stationed, and Lieut. Col. Davis, the recorder of the court, also turned up this morning. The court was ordered to meet yesterday, but the snow blockade prevented a literal compliance as to time of meeting.

Gen. Miles, whose charges led to the court of inquiry, was back today after being snowbound at New York. The quarters for the court are those recently used by the war commission.

Col. Gillespie was the first member of the court to put in an appearance today, and was followed by Gen. Wade, who was in civilian dress, not being sure that the court would begin its sessions today. Gen. Wade said the court probably would organize today and clear the way for the inquiry proper to proceed tomorrow. The court is directed "to investigate certain allegations of the major general commanding the army regarding the unfitness for issue of certain articles of food furnished by the subsistence department to the troops in the field during the recent operations in Cuba and Porto Rico. In addition to the findings of fact the court will submit an opinion upon the merits of the case, together with such recommendations as to further proceedings as may seem to be warranted by the facts developed in the course of the inquiry."

The members of the court held an informal session conference, and on its conclusion Col. Davis, the recorder, announced that the formal meeting of the court would be deferred until tomorrow morning. It had not been determined, Col. Davis said, who would be the first witness.

RIOS HAS RESIGNED.

Compelled to Do So Owing to the Popular Outcry.

Madrid, Feb. 16.—Senor Montero Rios, who was president of the Spanish peace commission, has resigned the presidency of the senate owing to the popular outcry against his defense of the commission.

TEN FIREMEN INJURED.

Collapse of a Wall at a Small Fire.

Baltimore, Feb. 16.—By the collapse of a wall during the progress of a small fire today at the building of the Baltimore Barrel company, No. 213 McElderry wharf, ten firemen were injured. The wall carried down with it a ladder upon which the men were standing playing a line of hose upon the flames. It is thought that none of the men were dangerously injured. The money losses will not exceed a few thousands of dollars.

A BRITISH ULTIMATUM.

One Is Presented to the Sultan of Oman.

Bombay, Feb. 16.—The Persian mail steamer, which has just arrived here, brings news that a British ultimatum was presented to the sultan of Oman on Saturday, owing to his having leased to France a coaling station on the coast of Oman, which is a semi-independent state in Southeast Arabia. Oman is considered to be under British protection, as the sultan has been receiving a subsidy from Great Britain.

LACK OF A TREATY

This Somewhat of a Handicap In Our Trade With Spain.

DESIRE OUR WHEAT

Although Additional Twenty Per Cent Is Imposed Upon Our Products.

Washington, Feb. 16.—The lack of a commercial treaty with Spain, the former treaty having been terminated by the war, is not altogether preventing trade between the two countries, although American products are handicapped by an additional 20 per cent duty in Spanish ports, owing to the lack of a treaty. Still, even under these conditions, United States Consular Agent Mertens at Valencia reports to the state department that there is a great demand for American wheat. A cargo of 4000 tons of red winter wheat, which had just arrived there, proved entirely satisfactory, and importers were willing to receive more.

The consular agent says: "The price seems to compare favorably with that of Russian wheat (the kind generally imported here when there is a demand for foreign wheat), although American wheat pays 20 per cent higher duties than grain from countries which have a commercial treaty with Spain. This is the first direct shipment from the United States to this port since the war."

The consular agent above quoted remained at his post throughout the entire war, and even continued in the discharge of his official functions as far as possible without molestation.

HIS NECK BROKEN.

William Getty, a Teamster, Killed at Howe Lumber Company's Camp.

Tower, Minn., Feb. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—William Getty, a teamster, while walking beside his load of logs yesterday morning at the Howe Lumber company's camp, slipped and fell under the forerunner of the sleigh. His chest was crushed badly and his neck was broken, causing instant death. He was a former resident of Stillwater, Minn.

THE SAMOAN QUESTION.

An Australian Newspaper Correspondent Offers a Solution.

London, Feb. 16.—The Melbourne correspondent of the Times says:

"The Samoan correspondent of the Melbourne Argus writes that the only solution of the difficulties there lies in an immediate annexation of the islands by Great Britain. He says the natives throughout the entire group are almost unanimously in favor of such a step and it is also ardently desired by the British and American residents.

"Failing annexation the complete disarming of the whole population is imperative, and in the opinion of the correspondent the abolition of the kingship is absolutely necessary to prevent constant disturbances. The rival chiefs, he believes, would be satisfied if appointed to rule their own districts with small salaries."

TO REMODEL THE HOUSE.

Congressman Heatwole Would Take Away the Members' Desks.

Washington, Feb. 16.—Several plans for remodeling the house of representatives will be considered today by the house committee on ventilation and acoustics. Mr. Heatwole of Minnesota, recently renewed attention to the subject by offering a resolution for the expenditure of $100,000 for remodeling the hall and putting in a complete system of ventilation. Mr. Heatwole's plan contemplates taking out the desks of members, so that attention of members will be centered to the work of the house rather than to letter-writing, etc. It will be the purpose to have much more retiring room both for leisure, writing, and the private work usually done at the member's desk.

Another plan by Mr. Beech of Ohio embraces the idea of a forum, to be placed in front of the speaker's desk, from which members will speak in addressing the house. Some time since Speaker Reed suggested a remodeling in line with the chamber of the house of commons. These several plans and suggestions will be considered and an effort made to have the remodeling accomplished during the coming recess of congress.

JACK THE CLIPPER.

He Is Caught In the Act of Stealing Hair.

Chicago, Feb. 16.—J. W. Jorgenson, or "Jack the Clipper," as he has been known for the last four years, was arrested last night while in the act of cutting a braid from the head of Erna Fransky. When seized Jorgenson severely cut one of the police officers with his shears. A long braid of hair was found in Jorgenson's pocket when he was searched and he confessed that he had cut the hair from the heads of 38 girls and women. Jorgenson says his strange mania took hold of him four years ago after an illness of several months.

A SENTENCE COMMUTED.

Washington, Feb. 16.—Private John Noffsit, Company H, Seventh U. S. V. Infantry, having been tried and found guilty of murder by a general court-martial convened at Camp Haskell, Macon, Ga., was sentenced "to suffer death by being shot at such time and place as may be designated by the reviewing authority." The record of the general court-martial having been submitted to the president for his action, he commuted the sentence of death to dishonorable discharge from the service, forfeiting all pay and allowances and to imprisonment for life. The United States penitentiary at Ft. Leavenworth, Kan., was designated as the place of confinement.

PURE COPPER BULLION.

Tucson, Ariz., Feb. 16.—The first carload of pure copper bullion ever produced in Pima county has been shipped to New York.

NATIONAL STATUTES

The Commission Codifying the Penal Laws Make a Partial Report.

NO PRIVATE BOXES

Postmasters Not to Sell Stamps Outside of Their Jurisdiction.

Washington, Feb. 16.—The report of the commission on the codification of the United States criminal and penal laws is about completed and the portion of it covering offenses against the postal laws has been submitted as a special report to congress. The postmaster general has communicated with both houses of congress asking for immediate enactment of the entire report on this subject, pointing out its urgent needs.

The commission pays special tribute to Acting Assistant Attorney General Barrett for the postoffice department for the benefit of his advice during its labors. The laws revised embrace all up to and including the first session of the fifty-fifth congress. The report, in brief, follows:

"In numerous instances where penalties have been recovered by civil process in the nature of actions for debt, provisions for criminal prosecutions have been substituted as more efficacious. Other changes are reported having in view a more proportionate adjustment of penalties to the gravity of the offenses respectively defined in which the present laws having been adopted from time to time are faulty. Occasional amendments have been made in the verbiage of the present laws, designed to secure precision and succinctness in the definitions of offenses. A provision has been inserted inhibiting the maintenance of private postoffice and letter boxes.

"This is in conformity," the commission says, "with the general policy of this government and it is further recommended by considerations of great weight, it being found that in the larger cities these institutions are made the instrumentality of practices partaking of fraud and immorality. In a recent instance at New York they were employed as the means by which two human lives were sacrificed under circumstances of grave criminality."

Another section forbids the unlawful exercise of the office of postmaster or other employment in the postal service to prevent a practice more or less common. Section 348 revised statutes has been amended to meet the question whether United States protection can be extended over depredation offenses against other property by reason of a postoffice location in the same building, the provision added being "with intent to commit therein any offense defined in this title or to steal or purloin any money or other property of the United States."

Sections 3890, 3891, 3892, 5467, 5469 and 5470 deal with a large but substantially the same class of mail depredations and have been embraced in one section, an added provision giving a liberal elasticity to the penalties. Punishment for depredators on the mails in transit who frequently heretofore have found immunity through difficulty of procuring evidence as to the particular district in which the offense was committed, is provided for in two new sections, making it an offense for an employe to fail to deliver the mail or any part of it to the required person and to carry into any district any letter or contents thereof unlawfully abstracted from the mail in any other district, knowing it to have been so abstracted.

Sections 3922-25 inclusive and amendatory acts prohibiting removal and re-use of stamps have been consolidated into a single section with a maximum and minimum penalty. Postmasters selling stamps to persons outside their respective jurisdiction to increase their compensation are to be subject to penal punishment.

To meet supreme court rulings in constructing the act of Sept. 26, 1888, amendatory of section 3893, as to obscenity, etc., these have been revised with an addition of the words "indecent, filthy or vulgar."

The postal transmission of poisonous, infectious and explosive matter is also prohibited in a new section, with a certain discretion as to admissibility vested in postmaster general.

The language of section 4053 R. S. respecting misappropriation of postal funds or property is so amplified that its protection may be extended to money or property which shall have come into the possession or under the control of any officer or employe of the postoffice department in execution of such office or employment or under color or claim of authority as such.

THE McENERY RESOLUTION.

The House Is In No Hurry to Act on It.

Washington, Feb. 16.—House leaders familiar with foreign questions say no program has been matured or even outlined thus far as to what will be done with the McEnery resolution relating to the Philippines, passed by the senate. It will probably go to the foreign affairs committee, although the point has been made that with the ratification of the treaty the Philippines are no longer foreign territory. This view is held by Chairman Knox of the committee on territories.

The foreign affairs committee meets on the call of Chairman Hitt and no notice of a meeting has been given. Mr. Hitt said he would talk with his committee associates before determining on any plan.

Mr. Dinsmore of Arkansas, the ranking minority member of the committee, says the minority has not matured any line of action, although it may propose an amendment designed to eliminate any suggestion of a colonial system, which the resolution may now convey. Some of the members of the committee stated privately that they would not vote for the resolution if it could be construed as objectionable to the administration. Owing to the absence of all exact plans, the impression prevails in some quarters that there will be no haste toward considering the subject.

POLICE INTERFERED.

Peter Maher Gets the Best of "Stockings" Conroy.

Hartford, Conn., Feb. 16.—Peter Maher, of Ireland, and "Stockings" Conroy, of Troy, fought two minutes and forty seconds of the seventh round last night in the Colliseum when Chief of Police Bill jumped upon the platform and ordered Charley White, the referee, to stop the fight. He did not act quickly and the chief stepped between the two men while several policemen mounted the stage. Maher had Conroy in the latter's corner and was hitting him with both hands. Conroy tried to run away and held his hands to his face. He was apparently helpless. Conroy was in good condition at the close of the fight. There was no blood spilled. The bout was for ten rounds for $1200, the loser to take $400. Maher rushed Conroy in the first and the Troy man showed to poor advantage. He improved in the following rounds and landed several hard ones upon Maher's face and got in the only upper-cut of the fight. In the fifth round Conroy was knocked down, but was up quickly. He showed little skill.

AN AUTHORITY ON FINANCE.

St. Louis, Feb. 16.—Lucien M. Chipley, aged 55 years, for years one of the best known financiers of St. Louis, is dead from cancer of the liver. His son, Dean, recently died of fever contracted while in the army at Chickamauga and this sorrow so weighed on the father's mind as to rapidly hasten his own death. Mr. Chipley was one of the most potent factors in the construction of the Illinois Central railroad and was an authority on questions of finance.

The most critical period in a woman's life may be properly called "Blossoming Time." It is the period when she blossoms from girlhood into womanhood.

At this momentous time the best medicine for a woman to take is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It acts directly upon the delicate and important organs that are to bear the burdens of wifehood and motherhood. It makes them strong, healthy and vigorous. It corrects all irregularities and displacements and stops exhausting drains. Taken during the period of expectant maternity, it banishes the usual annoyances and makes baby's coming easy and almost painless. It insures the new-comer's health and an ample supply of nourishment. It transforms weak, sickly, nervous, complaining women into happy, healthy wives. Thousands of women have told over their own signatures, the story of the marvelous merits of this great medicine. An honest dealer will not try to persuade you to take something different from what you ask for, for the sake of a few pennies added profit.

Mrs. Anna Ulrich, of Elm Creek, Buffalo Co., Neb., writes: "I was under doctors' care for two years with uterine disease. I was so weak that I could sit up in bed only a few moments. I commenced taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and when I had taken one-half dozen bottles I was up and going wherever I pleased, and have been very strong ever since —that was two years and a half ago."

The only constipation-cure that never causes discomfort—Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. At all medicine stores.

BERG'S NARROW ESCAPE.

A Close Call For Minnesota's Secretary of State.

Washington, Feb. 16.—A heavy overdose of a proprietary preparation containing chloral nearly resulted fatally to Mr. Albert Berg, secretary of state of Minnesota, here today. Mr. Berg had been ill yesterday and today his physicians prescribed the chloral compound for the secretary's highly nervous condition. Mr. Berg took two ounces of the prescription under the impression that it was a harmless effervescent nerve tonic. It was only with a great deal of effort that he was relieved, and he suffered agonies that made the application of stomach pump and other remedies necessary.

Secretary Berg came here to see ex-Governor Merriam on business.

THE MERCHANTS.

The Grocers Pass Several Resolutions and Listen to Papers.

St. Paul, Feb. 16.—Yesterday's session of the Minnesota State Grocers' and General Merchants' association was given mostly to the reading of papers. The first was on the subject of "Schemes vs. Honest Methods in Selling Goods." Simon Clark, of Duluth, presented it, and his listeners applauded. His conclusion was that the coupon schemes and trading checks and the like all cost money to run, and that the money came out of the retailers. In the large centers the grocers should organize to put out such measures, the public helping.

A. G. Kingston, of Tower, told about "Transportation; Freight and Express Rates," and this was followed by a paper by James T. Robb, of Winona. "Competition Against Co-operation" was the latter's subject.

A batch of resolutions was adopted toward the close of the day's work. The gist of them was as follows:

Suggestions to the state fair society that hereafter it plan to give an extensive exhibit of pure food products and invite a display of practical labor-saving devices of particular interest to the mercantile trade.

Opposed to the proposed reduction in rates of postage on articles of merchandise to a limit below what it can be carried without loss to the government. (A reduction, it was claimed, would react only in favor of the supply and catalogue houses, "recognized enemies of legitimate merchandising.")

Commercial Bulletin and Northwest Trade was made the official organ of the association.

The association condemned the practice of certain jobbers in drumming trade of lumbermen, sending agents into the timber and selling articles outside their legitimate line.

Decided to favor union made goods as far as possible.

Requested that wholesalers be asked to refrain from dealing with retailers who habitually "cut" prices.

Condemned gift and trading check schemes.

Condemned the practice of wholesalers dealing with hotels and boarding houses unless sanctioned by the local retail associations.

Favored the proposed bill now in the legislature calling for a license for peddling.

One of the talks made during the session was by Simon Clark, of Duluth, who poetic on the unpoetic theme, "Fake Schemes." The tendency of the times was to work in all manner of schemes in the retail business. A radical departure had come about from the time-honored custom of selling goods on their merits. Mr. Clark enumerated many firms who resorted to schemes in disposing of their goods. They gave premiums with their purchases. About 25 per cent of the people took advantage of the premium plan, that percentage of business drifting into illegitimate channels. The aim of many people was to get something for nothing, and it was this disposition that served to foster the schemer, the premium and trading-check fiend. Even some churches encouraged premium giving, and some of the eminent divines exhorted their flocks to purify their souls with soap which floats and wash away the church indebtedness.

THE STATE IMPOTENT.

San Francisco, Feb. 16.—Attorney General Ford has filed an opinion with the railway commissioners in which he states that they have no authority over the Pullman Palace Car company. Ford contends that the company simply rents and furnishes cars to railway companies and the board has not the power to regulate the charges of the baggage, express or coach companies.

Discovered By a Woman.

Another great discovery has been made, and that too, by a lady in this country. "Disease fastened its clutches upon her and for seven years she withstood its severest tests, but her vital organs were undermined and death seemed imminent. For three months she coughed incessantly, and could not sleep. She finally discovered a way to recovery, by purchasing of us a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, and was so much relieved on taking first dose, that she slept all night; and with two bottles, has been absolutely cured. Her name is Mrs. Luther Lutz. Thus writes W. C. Hamnick & Co., of Shelby, N. C. Trial bottles free at Duluth Drug company's drug store. Regular size 50 cents and $1. Every bottle guaranteed.

American Troops Are Resting In the Natural Defences of Manilla.

HIS ANSWER TO OTIS

Aguinaldo Maintains That He Was Promised Independence For His Country.

Manilla, Feb. 16, 11:20 a. m.—Since the American line reached the natural defences of Manilla they have made no further advance, and the troops are now encamped along the line. Many places have been temporarily entrenched.

Occasional brushes with small bodies of the enemy by scouting parties have been the only cause of excitement.

Troops K and I of the Fourth cavalry encountered the enemy's scouts yesterday, near Paranaque, and excahnged a few volleys with them. During the firing, Trooper Wiltnock was wounded in the right arm.

The cruiser Buffalo fired four shells at a party of the enemy which the cruiser's searchlight showed to be mounting a battery, near Paranaque, last night. The enemy made no reply, and withdrew their guns to Paranaque.

The steamers Brutus and Romlus have arrived from Iloilo, but brought no later news, except that the Americans are clearing vessels thence, assuming control of the port. The rebels had all the records burned before vacating the town.

It is rumored that the Filipinos in the interior are in sore straits, and are now quarreling among themselves, but it is impossible to confirm these reports, as all communication is cut off.

WHAT CAUSED THE WAR.

It Was Aguinaldo's Reply to Gen. Otis' Proclamation.

San Francisco, Feb. 16.—Advices from Manilla, dated Jan. 12, say:

The issuance of Gen. Otis' proclamation regarding the intentions of the Americans in the Philippines gave Aguinaldo the opportunity desired, and in less than twelve hours after the former was published the Filipino response was posted upon the walls of the city. Its effect was instantaneous upon the natives generally and their attitude was such that it was deemed advisable to keep the entire army of occupation in quarters and under arms in order that it might be ready if an emergency arose.

Aguinaldo's official manifesto says:

"Gen. Otis calls himself in the proclamation referred to 'military governor of the Philippine Islands,' and I protest once and a thousand times and with all the energy of my soul against such authority. I solemnly proclaim that I have never had, either in Singapore or in Hong Kong or here in the Philippines any understanding or agreement either by word or by writing to recognize the sovereignty of America in this my loved country. On the contrary, I say that I returned to these islands on board an American warship on May 19 of last year to reconquer our liberty and our independence.

"In the proclamation of Gen. Otis he alludes to instructions written for him by his excellency the president of the United States, referring to the administration of affairs in the Philippine islands. I solemnly protest, in the name of God, the root and foundation of all justice and of all right, and who has given me power to direct my dear brothers in the difficult work of our regeneration against this intrusion of the government of the United States in the sovereignty of these islands. Equally I protest in the name of all the Philippine people against this intrusion, because when they gave their vote of confidence, electing me, though unworthy, as president of the nation, when they did this they imposed on me the duty to sustain to the death their liberty and independence.

"Lastly, I protest against this act, so little expected, of the sovereignty of America in these islands, in the name of all that has passed, of which I have proofs in my possession referring to my relations with American authorities, which prove in the most unequivocal manner that the United States did not bring me from Hong Kong to make war against the Spaniards to benefit the Americans, but to help us to gain our liberty and independence, for the attainment of which object the American authorities promised me verbally their decided and efficacious co-operation. And so you must understand, my dear brothers, that, united by bonds which it will be impossible to break, such is the idea of our liberty and our absolute independence which have been our noble aspirations, all must work together to arrive at this happy end with the force which gives conviction, already so generally felt among all the people, to never turn back in the road of glory on which we have already so far advanced. EMILIO AGUINALDO."

On Jan. 9 a second proclamation purporting to have been issued by Aguinaldo was published. It contained the statement that if the Americans attempted to move from Manilla into the interior or attempted to occupy the Visayas by force, their act would be considered as a declaration of war and the Filipinos would immediately begin their fight for independence.

The publication of this proclamation was prohibited as far as possible in Manilla on account of its incendiary nature.

MEANS A BIG DEAL.

If Seattle People Give Away Their Streets For Fifty Years.

Seattle, Wash., Feb. 16.—The Post Intelligencer says:

An application of a number of Seattle's prominent men to the city council that a new consolidation 50-year franchise be made out to them to include all the street railways of the city, in place of the present franchises held by the various lines separately, apparently means one of the biggest deals that has ever taken place in the Northwest.

It is known that the six petitioners for the new arrangement are either directly representing a syndicate of Eastern men, or are working with the understanding that as soon as the franchise is secured it shall be turned over to them. This is understood to be the last move in securing control by one firm of all the Tacoma and Seattle street car systems and the Seattle Power company, a combination that would handle, or at least control, all the electric lighting and power in the vicinity of Puget sound.

It is believed that the General Electric company is behind the new enterprise.

WOULD FORGET THE PAST.

Gen. Gomez Exhibits His Noble Nature to Former Enemies.

Havana, Feb. 16.—Gen. Maximo Gomez, in answering an address of welcome tendered to him by the Spaniards at Santa Clara, said: "I realize that the Spaniards of this city, like those of other cities which I have visited, understand me and have full confidence in the policy of peace, unity and concord which I am advocating. The commonweal and our mutual interests demand that we should forget the past. Cubans, knowing the need of the policy of independence, will gratefully accept your co-operation."

MINNESOTA REFORM PRESS.

St. Paul, Feb. 16.—The Reform Press Association of Minnesota, embracing twenty-one representatives of the country press, was organized at the Merchants hotel yesterday after the greater part of the day had been spent in discussing minor details and a declaration of principles was adopted.

The following officers were elected to serve for one year: President, George N. Lanphere, of the Moorhead News; vice president, D. C. Anderson, of the Carlton County Vidette; secretary, George S. Canfield, of St. Paul; treasurer, C. W. Stanton, of the Appleton Press; members of the executive committee to serve with the president, the secretary and treasurer, E. Barnum, of the Sauk Center Avalanche, and H. E. Hoard, of the Montevideo Leader.

IT WAS ILLEGAL.

London, Feb. 16.—The Paris correspondent of the Daily News says: "It turns out that Gen. Mercier, in his evidence before the court of cassation, admitted that as minister for war he communicated secret documents to the Dreyfus court-martial sitting in private without the knowledge of Dreyfus or his counsel. He said that he was ignorant that this was an illegal action, adding that in his official experience it had been often done before. Mercier also stated that M. Dupuy, M. Faure and M. Barthour were all aware at the time of the use to be made of the secret documents, but all agreed that it was to be carefully concealed from Cassimir Perier, then president of France."

TO DEVELOP FISHING.

New Whatcom, Wash., Feb. 16.—The Pacific American Fish company, a Chicago concern, made contracts last night with a dozen locally organized fish companies owning trap locations from Anacortes to Point Roberts to take all the fish they can produce. The president of the company is Henry B. Steele; vice president, John Cudahy; secretary, E. B. Deming. A majority of the stock is held by Chicago's best known business men. The capital stock is $5,000,000. The object of the company is to develop the fishing industry of Puget sound.

THE MYSTERY UNSOLVED.

Marlboro, Mass., Feb. 16.—The cause of the death of four persons and the serious illness of three others in the Underwood house this week still remains unsolved. Credit, however, is given to the theory of accidental poisoning with wood alcohol. It is thought that there was a carousal at the house on Saturday night, and the police are searching for others who participated.

WITH SHIPWRECKED SAILORS.

Philadelphia, Pa., Feb. 16.—The powerful sea going tug Eureka, the first vessel to force her way up the Delaware through the ice blockade, arrived here last evening with nineteen shipwrecked marines, eight of whom had been taken from the barge Newport, which was cut through by the ice and sunk in the Swash channel, and the others from the barge Gibson, which was driven ashore on the Delaware beach. The Eureka also picked up the crews of several abandoned oyster boats.

JUMPED THE TRACK.

Sherbrooke, Que., Feb. 16.—The locomotive on the Grand Trunk express, which left Portland, Me., at 8:10 yesterday morning, jumped the track two and a half miles east of Lennoxville and the train followed. No one was killed, but three trainmen and four passengers were injured. Of these the only serious case is that of Fred Bellufille, news agent, who is badly injured internally.

RED CROSS WILL STAY.

San Francisco, Feb. 16.—Acting on advices received from Manilla by cable, the California Red Cross society has decided to continue the maintenance at its hospital station in that city as long as the California volunteers remain in the Orient.

LOSS TO THE NAVY.

Over a Million Worth of Property Burned In Brooklyn Yard.

New York, Feb. 16.—Over $1,000,000 worth of government property was destroyed by fire which started in the large machine shop of the Brooklyn navy yard, known as machine shop No. 28, last night, and the workings of the navy yard have received a serious set back. Many fine models and patterns of battleships, their parts and plans, have been destroyed, and some of them cannot be obtained again except by going over the work mapped out in the beginning. The steam engineering department of the Brooklyn yard is practically wiped out and the work done in that building will have to be thrown temporarily upon the department of yards and docks and that of construction and repair.

The fire was first discovered at 6:30 o'clock last night by the man on watch on the battleship Massachusetts. He immediately notified Lieut. R. T. Mulligan, in charge of the watch, and a call to fire quarters was made. The building was about 100 feet in width and 325 feet long. It was four stories in height and built of stone and brick. The wood of the inside was thoroughly saturated with oil and the flames rapidly gained headway. An alarm was turned in and all the engines in the neighborhood of the navy yard responded.

The fire made such rapid progress in the machine shop that by 8:30 o'clock the officials of the navy pronounced it an entire loss. About 11 o'clock the fire had spent itself. In the machine shop very little work was on hand. A number of small orders were being filled for the torpedo boats McKee, Rogers, Foote, Porter and some engine fittings were being turned out for the Newark, Scorpion and Indiana.

The records and models of the battleship Maine, which was blown up in Havana harbor on Feb. 15, 1898, were also destroyed.

The loss to the building is placed at $350,000; that on the machinery and lathes in the building, $400,000.

The cost of the models and patterns is variously estimated, but the officials in the yard put the total loss at a little over $1,000,000.

The cause of the fire is unknown as yet. The two watchmen claim the fire started in the southeast corner of the building. The cause of the fire will be the subject of an inquiry within the next few days.

WISCONSIN PIONEER.

Sevier Forcier Dies at Chippewa Falls Aged 100.

Chippewa Falls, Wis., Feb. 16.—Sevier Forcier, 100 years of age, and the pioneer settler of Northern Wisconsin, died here tonight. He was closely identified with the settlement of the entire northern section of the Badger state, coming here seventy years ago. Mr. Forcier has engaged in lumbering for a number of years on the Chippewa and Wisconsin rivers and conducted the first hotel erected in the northern half of the state. He was born in Montreal in 1798.

THE NATIONAL CAPITAL.

In the house the sundry civil bill for the deep waterways commission was increased from $60,000 to $80,000 on motion of the appropriations committee.

After the defeat of the amendment adding the Hepburn Nicaraguan canal bill to the sundry civil bill Mr. Grosvenor of Ohio presented a resolution fixing Feb. 20 and 25 for the consideration of the Hepburn bill with a vote Feb. 21 at 4 p. m.

The senate confirmed these nominations of postmasters in Minnesota: C. A. Rasmussen, Red Wing; W. Kaiser, Faribault; W. C. King, Hastings; P. L. Ring, Appleton; S. Sweingsen, Austin. Wisconsin—C. H. Maynard, Sheboygan; F. H. Marshall, Kilbourn; F. W. Griswold, Lake Mills; B. Fairbanks, West Bend.

The president has conveyed assurances to some of the party leaders in congress, in addition to those given last week that he will certainly call congress together in extra session if it fails to pass the army reorganization bill at the present session.

The senate has disposed of the house census bill by submitting the senate bill for it and asking a conference with the house.

ADVANCE IN WHEAT

Market Started Weak and Lower But Firmed Up Near Noon.

THE CABLES HIGHER

Report That Severe Cold Has Not Damaged the Winter Wheat.

Duluth Board of Trade, Feb. 16.—The wheat market opened weak and lower this morning, with a decidedly bearish feeling among the traders, produced by the warmer weather and reports that the severe cold snap has done practically no damage to the winter wheat crop. Of course these reports are largely founded upon guesswork, because the extent of the damage, if any, can only be ascertained after the warm weather has come sufficiently to start vegetation. However, the stories of no damage obtained sufficient believers to produce a very weak market and there was a rush to sell under which the price broke. A reaction was caused later by shorts covering at Chicago on the decline. Another bearish influence was the dullness of the export business at the seaboard, it being stated that there was absolutely nothing doing in that line. The Liverpool market was quoted quiet and a shade higher. Later in the morning a firmer feeling developed and the strength of the Liverpool market and buying by foreigners at New York caused a small-sized bulge that sent prices above yesterday's quotations, the May option closing with a net gain for the day of ⅛c in Duluth and ⅜@½c in Chicago.

Trading in futures was very dull on the Duluth board. May wheat opened ¼c lower at 71⅝c, sold up to 71⅞c at 11:10, advanced to 72⅛c at 12 and sold at 72⅜c at 12:10. The close was at 72¼c, or ⅛c above yesterday. Cash business was quiet, 50,000 bus being sold, at 1½c under May for wheat to arrive and 2½c under for spot stuff. Cash oats declined ½c and May oats advanced ¼c. Flax sold off ¼c. Following were the closing prices:

BOARD NOTES.

Total clearances: Wheat, 101,044 bus; flour, 11,856 bbls. Four days, 471,799 bus.

Patten, of Chicago, has been a large seller of oats today.

Modern Miller: Little life in the flour market. Export demand dormant and domestic trade but moderate. Prices firmly held and the production is not greatly in excess of sales, few mills running to anything like their capacity. Bitterly cold weather in the winter wheat belt has caused serious apprehension of damage to the plant, but it is too early to predict its extent. Snow covering has afforded protection in many sections.

John Barrett, of Chicago, said at 10 a. m.: Wheat lower, some shorts bought but believe in much lower prices.

Puts and calls in Chicago May wheat and corn sold today at: Wheat, puts, 69c; calls, 77c. Corn, puts, 35¾c; calls, 37¾c.

New York wires: Foreign trade in wheat at opening small and on both sides.

Today's weather: Fargo, 36 above; Grand Forks, 30 above; Jamestown, 31 above; Valley City, 25 above; Fergus Falls, mild; Minneapolis, 45 above.

The Price Current says: Nothing disclosed to essentially change winter crop conditions which justify promises of good results. Grain offerings less free if any change.

B. E. Baker: It is getting the time of year when we must expect crop scares. Conditions this year especially favor them as I consider with the percentage of 100 on winter and have now had phenomenally cold weather. This is going to give us a choppy market.

ON THE CHICAGO BOARD.

Wheat Drops Again on Account of Good Weather.

Chicago, Feb. 16.—There was a good deal of bearish sentiment in the wheat pit today at the start, owing to mild weather everywhere and indications that the winter wheat had sustained very little injury from the recent severe weather. May opened ⅛c lower at 72¾@72⅝c and as everything tended against the price holders became despondent while there was a general movement to get rid of long wheat. Under this selling pressure May gradually declined until 72⅛c was reached, where some covering by shorts on the break caused a reaction to 72⅜c. The Price Current's weekly statement reported no material change in the winter wheat situation. Chicago received 99 cars of which 11 graded contract, and Minneapolis and Duluth got 350 cars as compared with 250 for the corresponding day a year ago. The export business at the seaboard was reported at a standstill.

Heavy offerings by elevator people and large accumulation of stocks in store weakened corn. Considerable liquidation carried on through commission houses and a gradual decline resulted. Receipts were moderate, 461 cars. May opened ⅛c lower at 36⅝@36¾c and sold off to 36⅜@36½c.

Oats sold off early under free offerings by commission houses and scalpers. Later in the session a slight reaction set in on covering by shorts. Receipts, 300 cars. May began a shade lower at 28⅜@28⅝c, declined to 28c, then firmed up to 28¼c.

Liberal receipts of hogs and a light speculative demand depressed provisions. May pork started 2½@5c down at $10.00, and declined to $9.92½. May lard began unchanged at $5.62½@5.65 and sold off to $5.57½. May ribs opened 2½c lower at $5.00 and weakened to $4.92½.

Close: Wheat, May, 73⅛c; July, 72c. Corn, February, 35⅛c; May, 36⅜@36⅝c; July, 37⅛@37¼c; September, 37⅜c. Oats, February, 27⅛@27¼c; May, 28⅛@28¼c; July, 26⅞@26¾c. Pork, February, $9.72½; May, $9.92½@9.95. Lard, February, $5.42½; May, $5.60, July, $5.72½; September, $5.82½. Ribs, February, $4.82½; May, $4.97½; July, $5.10; September, $5.22½. Cash wheat: No. 2 red, 72⅜c; No. 3, 65@70c; No. 2 hard winter, 66@67c; No. 3 hard winter, 64@66c; No. 1 northern spring, 70@71½c; No. 2 northern spring, 67@70c; No. 3 spring, 67@70c. No. 2 corn, 35¼@35⅝c; No. 3, 32¼@32⅝c. Oats, No. 2, 27¾c; No. 3, 27½c. Barley, cash, 42@52c. Rye, cash, 55⅛c; May, 57¼@57⅜c. Timothy, March, $2.45 bid; $2.47½ asked. Clover, March, $6.75. Flax, cash Northwestern, $1.20; cash Southwestern, $1.16; May, $1.19½. Estimated cars for tomorrow: Wheat, 79; corn, 450; oats, 250.

LIVERPOOL GRAIN.

Liverpool, Feb. 16.—Close: Wheat, quiet, ¼d higher; March, 5s 7¾d; May, 5s 7⅛d. Corn quiet, ¼d higher; March, 3s 5⅛d; May, 3s 5⅜d.

THE COTTON MARKET.

Disappointing English Cables Cause a Slight Decline Here.

New York, Feb. 16.—The cotton market started off steady in tone with prices unchanged to two points lower, this slight decline being in response to disappointing English cables. Shortly after the call a firmer undertone developed and prices steadily advanced on demand from shorts, light foreign buying and scattered purchases for Wall street account induced by late favorable Liverpool cables, indicates that receipts would fall below early estimates, discouraging weather map and most unsatisfactory advices from the cotton belt relating to farm work and the situation in general. Operations were on comparatively small lines, the professional element waiting for the outside public to take hold while the latter was inclined to hold off for a more definite idea of the damaged crops in the South by the recent abnormal weather, and some inkling as to the probable acreage.

Cotton futures closed steady; February $6.26; March, $6.28; April, $6.32; May, $6.33; June, $6.31; July, $6.32; August, $6.34; September, $6.24; October and November, $6.25; December, $6.27; January, $6.30. Spot cotton, closed firm, unchanged; sales, 255 bales.

GOSSIP.

Received over private wire of B. E. Baker, grain and stock broker, room 107 Chamber of Commerce, and 307 Board of Trade.

Chicago, Feb. 16.—Wheat opened lower owing to cables only coming ⅛c higher in the face of our strength here yesterday. Yesterday's buyers were the principal sellers and the early market declined under their offerings to 72⅛c. At this point shorts were free buyers and later the market started to advance, while the pit crowd started to buy. Sentiment still continues bullish in wheat notwithstanding European markets are much below ours. Can't see anything to advance wheat on and believe it a sale on all rallies.

Our corn market still has the help of a very large majority of people who trade in it. This feeling and advance in wheat steadied the corn market which closes just where it did yesterday. Demand is moderate, supply is accumulating. Prices seem high enough. We advise selling on all strong markets for the time being.

The feature in oats was the selling of 750,000 bus by an elevator concern, being the placing of a hedge against oats in the country. These oats were sold at 28c. The market closes at 28⅛-¼c.

Provisions sold today and closed tonight lower than for a long while. Receipts of hogs large again. Prices 5c lower. There is but little news. Speculation in provisions just now dull. Prices are low enough. We consider provisions a purchase.

Puts, May wheat, 72⅜@72⅝c asked.
Calls, May wheat, 74@74⅛c.
Curb, May wheat, 73⅜c asked.
Puts, May corn, 36⅝c bid.
Calls, May corn, 36⅞-37c.

THE COPPER STOCKS.

Boston and Montana Jumps Seventeen Points—Others Stiffen.

Boston & Montana was the eye opener in copper stocks today. It bulged like a sky rocket, scoring an advance of 17 points and closing at 375. Calumet & Hecla stiffened up 5 points also. Arcadian climbed 2 points, Old Dominion 1¼ points and Centennial 2 points. Quincy closed 1 point off and Tamarack was unchanged. Following are the closing prices furnished by Paine, Webber & Co., Hotel St. Louis:

Boston, Feb. 16.—Closing prices on copper mining shares: Adventure, 14⅞; Arcadian, 75; Ashbed, 2¼; Allouez, 10; Arnold, 11⅛, Atlantic, 41; Baltic, 32; Boston & Montana, 375; Butte & Boston, 93½; Calumet & Hecla, 785; Centennial, 48; Franklin, 27½; Humboldt, 2½; Old Dominion, 39; Osceola, 90; Mohawk, 31; Rhode Island, 11½; Tamarack, 241; Tecumseh, 9½; Union Land, 19½; Wolverine, 48½; Washington, 3½; Winona, 15⅛; Quincy, 178; Isle Royale, 58⅛, Old Colony, 19½.

NEW YORK STOCKS.

Realization In Some Stocks Brings About Severe Losses.

New York, Feb. 16.—Opening prices in the stock market favored both accounts, but the variations did not exceed half a point either way. St. Paul and Northern Pacific were foremost in the declines, while Central Pacific, Atchison, preferred, and New York Central were conspicuous in the opposite course. A variety of independent movements were noted in the stock market, resulting in conspicuous displays of strength and weakness in prominent shares. Realizations in Sugar, Northern Pacific and Southern Pacific brought about severe losses. Tobacco lost 3¼ on liquidation, but showed some steadiness at the low level. Central Pacific improved on the reported practical arrangements of the government obligation. Burlington, which was dealt in, ex-dividend sold at an equivalent of 141¼ on traders' purchases. Union Pacific, common and preferred, were carried up over a point each on enormous purchases.

Purchases of coalers imparted a considerable degree of strength to the properties, but the general market was sluggish with an easier tendency. London purchased moderate amounts of the prominent shares but the commission house business was rather smaller. Trading thus far is largely professional. The bond market showed a good tone, with the inquiry light. Sales of stocks to noon, 352,819 shares.

JEERS FOR ALGER.

The Secretary of War Gets the Opinion of Boston People.

Boston, Feb. 16.—Several times during the parade today, and amid the general cheering, yells of derision and hisses were heard for Secretary of War Alger. This was particularly noticeable at the corner of Park and Beacon streets.

"What's the matter with Long?" frequently was the cry.

"What's the matter with Alger?" was shouted as the procession passed along Summer street. "Yah, yah, yah, Beef a beef," jeered the crowd.

It took Mr. Alger some time to grasp the situation. At last, however, he caught the drift of the shouting, and his gracious smiles stiffened into a look of cold impassiveness.

At the corner of Beacon and Charles street a group of young militia men established themselves with the deliberate intention of giving Secretary of War Alger a snub when he passed, as was apparent from their conversation, and when Secretary Alger's carriage was abreast of them they shouted in unison "Three cheers for Gen. Miles!"

At several other points attempts were made to start a hiss as Secretary Alger passed, but cheers for President McKinley drowned them.

THE BANNER OF PEACE.

Women In Council Pray For Its Speedy Restoration.

Washington, Feb. 16.—There was only a small attendance at the National Council of Women today owing to continued inclement weather. Mrs. Sewell, the retiring president, in opening the session, hoped for a speedy entwining of the banner of peace with the flags of the country.

The feature of the forenoon session was an informal report of the committee on education in citizenship presented by Mrs. Fanny Humphreys Gaffney, of New York city, the president-elect of the national council.

The president-elect insisted that the Filipinos in their way were just as good citizens in their intention as citizens of the United States, but "wherein," she asked, "do we display our more cultivated and educated brains except in mowing the Filipinos down with surer aim and more certain destruction of larger numbers?"

COMMITTED SUICIDE.

Chicago, Feb. 16.—Augustus Wagner, 55 years of age, a former inmate of the Soldiers' home in Milwaukee, committed suicide today by jumping into the river at the south end of the Clark street bridge. His body was recovered.

FIRE AT OWATONNA.

St. Paul, Feb. 16.—A special to the Dispatch from Owatonna, Minn., says: H. W. Vinton's grocery store was destroyed by fire. Loss, $5000; insurance, $3000. The Elk Bicycle club rooms were damaged.

SESSION WAS LEGAL.

Topeka, Kan., Feb. 16.—The state supreme court today decided that the extra session of the legislature called by ex-Governor Leedy in December was legal.

MINNESOTA EDITORS.

St. Paul, Feb. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Minnesota editors assembled in St. Paul today for their thirty-third annual convention. About 150 papers throughout the state were represented at the Commercial club rooms. The morning session was taken up with addresses of welcome and general discussion. The special formal papers by prominent members of the press gave the convention an intellectual tone.

St. Paul Man Lowest.

Maj. Sears opened bids today for setting in place the footing blocks and building the concrete superstructure of the south canal pier, and building the concrete footing blocks of the north pier. The lowest bidder was Charles Stone, of St. Paul, his figure being $38,313.70. The other bids were as follows: King & Steele, of Duluth, $65,897.90; Frank Campbell, of Duluth, $42,926.70; MacLeod, Campbell & Smith, of Duluth, $60,008.50; Engle & Osman, of Duluth, $41,363.94; Butler-Ryan company, of St. Paul, $46,911.50; P. McDonnell, of Duluth, $51,877. Maj. Sears will probably recommend Mr. Stone for the job.

BANQUET TO BRYAN.

Brilliant Gathering of Democrats at Minneapolis—Much Enthusiasm.

Minneapolis, Feb. 16.—The Democracy of the state of Minnesota tendered a banquet at the West hotel last night to the governor of the state and the mayor of Minneapolis. Between these two leaders of the party sat a distinguished guest, who was the recipient of equal honor—William J. Bryan. In the presence of such a trio, 600 more men, of the same political faith, assembled together for the purpose of doing them honor, succeeded in imparting a degree of enthusiasm to the gathering that words cannot measure. A more spontaneous, hearty and emphatic testimonial of confidence and esteem no men have ever received from their most ardent admirers. Certain it is that the state of Minnesota never before witnessed such an enthusiastic gathering of Democrats who, so far as the politics of this state are concerned, have spent forty years in the wilderness.

The speakers and guests were assigned seats in this order: At the right of Toastmaster William Baldwin, the president of the Minnesota League of Democratic Clubs, sat Col. William J. Bryan, Mayor Gray, T. D. O'Brien, of St. Paul; Rev. J. M. Cleary, Labor Commissioner Martin, F. McHale, sheriff; Fred Schilplin, of Stearns county, and E. S. Corser. At the toastmaster's left sat Governor Lind, Senator C. O. Baldwin of Duluth, L. A. Rosing, T. R. Kane, of St. Paul; P. B. Winston, William H. Daniel, chairman of the reception committee, and R. J. Mendenhall.

Toastmaster Baldwin, in the course of his address of welcome to the distinguished guests, on behalf of the League of Democratic Clubs of Minnesota, announced that ex-Congressman Charles A. Towne, who was on the program for an address, was absent, being unable to reach here, as he was detained in Washington owing to the snow blockade in the East. Mr. Baldwin thereupon read the following dispatch which he had received from Mr. Towne:

"To William Baldwin, President, and Members of the Democratic Club: The snow blockade unfortunately keeps me from your board. The party in power daily adds proof of subserviency to forces threatening the perpetuity of the republic. The tyranny of the money power and the despotism of the trusts are to be supplemented and perpetuated by military absolutism made plausible by a corrupt and extravagant colonial establishment. The Democratic party and its allies remain true to the high principles of 1896, to the sublime guaranties of the Declaration of Independence and to the steadfast faith of the fathers, all of which will be gloriously vindicated by the American people in 1900."

Thomas R. Kane, of St. Paul, was the first speaker, responding to the toast "The Young Democracy." Mayor James Gray then spoke on "The City of Minneapolis." Fred Schilplin, of St. Cloud, spoke on "The League of Democratic Clubs."

Senator C. O. Baldwin, of Duluth, speaking on "The Mission of Young Men in Politics," said that he thought all men, young or old, should engage in politics enough to insure their proper administration. Young men should study the form of their government and the needs of the country and see that the right men were placed in power. Young men had always had a prominent place in history. Young men drafted the constitution of the United States. In '96, when trusts and monopolies were threatening the country, it was a young man who rallied the forces of Democracy and made a gallant though vain charge against the enemy. In 1900 Democrats hoped that the same young man who led the party in '96 would make another gallant charge and rout the enemy. Then peace, plenty and prosperity would reign throughout the land.

Senator S. A. Stockwell responded to the toast, "The People and Politics," and T. D. O'Brien, of St. Paul, spoke on "The Democratic Party."

Governor Lind discussed "Politics—Ideal and Practical." The political ideal, he said, was never better expressed than in the words of Jefferson in the declaration of independence, beginning "All men are born equal." He referred to the first victory for practical politics in the striking out of the original draft of the declaration the passage condemning slavery a costly victory. On the whole, Governor Lind said the political ideal expressed by Jefferson had been, in the main, followed in the administration of the United States government until recently. Now it was evident that the failure to keep to these ideals had cost the country more in blood and money than any other political mistake. Governor Lind then condemned expansion as contrary to these political ideals, saying the Americans should not claim a silent partnership with the Almighty and attack the God-given right of the Filipinos to self-government. The latter action would be a confession that the American principles of liberty were strictly for home consumption on July 4 and not to be taken into account where franchises were in question.

As Governor Lind concluded his speech, saying that the right man, either Bryan or some other, was needed to deal with the problems of the hour, the toastmaster rose and introduced the principal speaker of the evening, with the words, "Ladies and gentlemen, I now introduce to you the right man, William J. Bryan."

A tremendous burst of cheering followed: Had the magnificent applause provoked by the very mention of Mr. Bryan's name throughout the program left any doubt as to his place in the hearts of the Democrats present, the prolonged and tumultuous shouts which filled the hall as he rose to begin his address would have dispelled them.

Not only at the beginning of Mr. Bryan's speech, but at more and more frequent intervals during his remarks was this frantic applause accorded him. Again and again was the orator forced to pause in his address and wait for the cheering to subside. In the course of his speech, Mr. Bryan said:

"When I was here a year ago I told you I was glad that the Democratic party had taken the position it had upon the great questions before the people. My friends, every day is proving that we acted wisely. There were timid ones among us who said that they were afraid that we had driven away some Democrats by being radical. But, my friends, count the Democrats of Minnesota, the leading Democrats of Minnesota, who were driven away by the Chicago platform, write down their names, and I challenge you to find among those names of recreant Democrats a single Democrat who was as good a Democrat, measured by a broad definition of Democracy, as is John Lind, a Silver Republican. We did lose some Democrats, but, my friends, if every Democratic leader in Minnesota who left us in 1896 was willing to come back on condition that we would give up Lind and Towne, I would tell them to stay out forever and not come back." (Cheers and applause.)

MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE—

Whereas, default has been made in the payment of the sum of five hundred two and 50-100 ($502.50) dollars, which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Isaac Mittenthal, mortgagor, to Hector McPhaden, mortgagee, bearing date the ninth day of April, 1892, and with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for the county of St. Louis and state of Minnesota, on the 9th day of April, A. D. 1892, at 2 o'clock p. m., in book 91 of mortgages, on page 27.

And whereas, on the 5th day of May, 1894, said Hector McPhaden, died in said St. Louis County, and on the 16th day of June, 1894, Norman H. Murray was duly appointed administrator of the estate of said Hector McPhaden, deceased, by the probate court of said county, and on said date said Norman H. Murray duly accepted said appointment and qualified as such administrator, and whereas, on the 28th day of August, 1894, in his capacity as such administrator, said Norman H. Murray commenced an action at law in the district court of said county to collect said debt secured by said mortgage which said action has been discontinued and execution upon the judgment rendered therein has been returned wholly unsatisfied.

And, whereas, said mortgage, together with the debt secured thereby was duly sold and assigned by said Norman H. Murray, as administrator of the estate of Hector McPhaden, deceased, to A. L. McKee, by written assignment dated the 21st day of December, 1898, and recorded in the office of the said register of deeds on the 21st day of December, 1898, at 3:20 o'clock p. m., in book 108 of mortgages, on page 598, which said sale and assignment was duly confirmed by said probate court of said county.

Now therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz.: All those tracts or parcels of land lying and being in the county of St. Louis and state of Minnesota, described as follows, to-wit: The east half of the southeast quarter (e½ of se¼) of section six (6), and the east half of the northeast quarter (e½ of the ne¼) of section seven (7), all in township sixty-two (62) north of range twelve (12) west of the fourth P. M., according to the government survey thereof, containing 160 acres, more or less, together with the hereditaments and appurtenances thereunto belonging; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said St. Louis County, at the front door of the court house, in the city of Duluth, in said county and state, on Monday, the 3rd day of April, 1899, at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt of $502.50, and interest, and taxes, if any, on said premises, and twenty-five dollars attorneys' fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Dated February 16, 1899.

A. L. McKEE.
Assignee of Said Mortgagee by His Administrator.
JOHN M. McCLINTOCK,
Attorney for Assignee.
Duluth Evening Herald—Feb-16-23-Mar-2-9-16-23—1899.

Grip drove a Philadelphia druggist insane, and he walked all the way to Washington, where he was taken in charge by the police and sent to the Freedman's hospital. At the end of a week he had sufficiently recovered his reason to be able to give his name, and his friends were informed of his whereabouts. The seeds of disease and death which are left in the system by the poisonous grip germs make the after effects of grip its worst feature, and the death rates are being swelled by nervous prostration, heart, lung, stomach and bowel troubles, which are directly traceable to this source. If any of our readers are suffering from grip's terrible after effects they can have medical advice from a great specialist absolutely free, providing this paper is mentioned in the letter. Write to the Dr. Miles Medical company, Elkhart, Ind., briefly describing your symptoms, and your case will receive careful consideration.

NOTICE OF MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE.—

Whereas default has been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage, made, executed and delivered by Andrew Swordling and Claudina E. Swordling, his wife, and John Schulene (or Shulene) and Christina Schulene (or Shulene), his wife, of the county of St. Louis and state of Minnesota, mortgagors, to Charles A. Kent, mortgagee, dated the tenth (10th) day of April, one thousand eight hundred and ninety-one (1891), and recorded in the office of the register of deeds for the county of St. Louis and state of Minnesota, on the seventh (7th) day of May, A. D. 1891, at the hour of four (4) o'clock in the afternoon of said day, in Book forty-nine (49) of mortgages, on page four hundred and seventy-seven (477).

And whereas there is claimed to be due and is now due on said mortgage, at the date of this notice, the sum of eight hundred and thirty-three and 63-100 dollars ($833.63) for principal and interest and the sum of sixteen and 81-100 dollars ($16.81) for taxes paid by the mortgagee at the date of this notice, and no proceeding or action has been instituted at law or otherwise to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and of the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by the sale of the premises therein described, at public vendue by the sheriff of the county of St. Louis and state of Minnesota, at the front door of the district court house of said county, in the city of Duluth, St. Louis County, Minnesota, on Saturday, the first (1st) day of April, A. D. 1899, at ten (10) o'clock in the forenoon of said day, to satisfy the amount which shall then be due on said mortgage, with interest thereon and the costs and disbursements of the sale, and fifty and 00-100 dollars ($50.00) attorneys' fees as stipulated in said mortgage in case of foreclosure.

The premises described in said mortgage and so to be sold is the tract and parcel of land lying and being in the county of St. Louis and state of Minnesota, known and described as follows, to-wit: Lot number ten (10), in block number six (6), of Harrington's Addition to Duluth, according to the recorded plat thereof.

Dated Duluth, Minn., Feb. 15th, 1899.

THE NEW LIBRARIAN.

The president has sent to the senate the nomination of Rev. Samuel J. Barrows to be librarian of the congressional library. Mr. Barrows represents the Tenth Massachusetts district in congress, and is highly esteemed by his colleagues. That he will ably fill the place vacated by the death of John Russell Young there is no reason to doubt. Mr. Barrows has had an eventful life. At the age of 9 he was an office boy in the establishment of Hoe, the newspaper press inventor; at 20 a newspaper correspondent, and towards the close of the war private secretary to Secretary of State Seward; at 30 a theological student at Cambridge, at 32 correspondent of the New York Tribune with Indian expeditions in the Yellowstone and Black Hills, at 35 pastor in the Congregational church at Dorchester, Mass.; at 40 editor of the Christian Register, and at 55 congressman to the Fiftieth national assembly representing the Tenth Massachusetts district.

Mr. Barrows makes modest claims as to library experience, but he is a scholar and his associations for many years have been with libraries and literary workers, and from this experience and companionship he knows what features are most desired in a library by persons who have to use it continually. For the work of preparing the exhaustive catalogues and ready reference bibliographies of the thousand and one topics that are likely to come up in connection with the work of congress, and for marshaling the data in accessible and usable form Mr. Barrows is said to have probably no superior. He has a naturally alert mind, trained in the examination of public questions by contact and experience of many years, and unquestionably is well able to assist the seekers after knowledge among the nation's legislators at the capital. Consequently he should be a success in his new position.

IT MAKES CHEAP MEN.

John Gilmer Speed, the well-known lecturer, speaking of trusts and the decadence of village life, says: "This concentration of capital has resulted in a cheapness of production which has enabled us to compete in the markets of the world, but it has also taken away from our people the variety of their employments. The effect on the small artisans, the individual workers of the country villages, is entirely definite. They have been cheapened off the face of the earth. What does it profit a man to have white bread to eat instead of corn meal mush, what good is it to him to wear shoddy tweeds instead of home-made jeans, if the independent spirit of him be crushed and his ambitions circumscribed by ever-narrowing limitations of opportunity? I believe it has resulted in the making of a few very rich men and multitudes of very cheap ones."

Mr. Speed has stated a fact, belief in which is steadily growing, and unless the signs are astray public sentiment is rapidly preparing to deal with the trusts and crush them, so that individual effort and individual enterprise may again have opportunity.

NOT A PARTY VICTORY.

The result of the city elections has never been claimed by The Herald as a "fusion victory," and there was no good reason why the News Tribune should have falsely stated that it was a "Republican victory," and talk about "the Republican wrath to come," and much other nonsense of the same sort. The fact is, as everyone knows, that the great majority of the people of Duluth do not believe in mixing up national politics with municipal affairs, and they vote for those they consider the best men regardless of their political beliefs. This is the wise course. Naturally it does not please the ward politicians, nor the little political gang that controls the uncertain destinies of the News Tribune, who would turn the city offices over to the spoilsmen, if they had the power. The knowledge that this is their purpose undoubtedly defeated some of the Republican candidates, personally all right, who went down to defeat. Had they not been handicapped by the support of the malodorous News Tribune and the gang it represents, they might have won out.

NOT A FULL FLEDGED CITIZEN.

A reader of The Herald has written from Eveleth asking the following question:

"If a man has what is commonly called first papers, when his son comes to this country at the age of 8 years, can the said son—on reaching his majority—vote in the state of Minnesota, providing he is an habitual resident? In other words, is the son a full-fledged citizen at the age of 21?"

No. He may, upon showing to the court that he arrived in the United States before the age of 18, receive second papers immediately, and he then may vote, providing his second papers are secured more than three months prior to the election at which he exercises his franchise.

THE ATTACK ON GEN. MILES.

"There are many people of the United States," says the Kansas City Star, "who have not been ardent admirers in the past of the personality of Gen. Miles. He has so conducted himself, however, during his present controversy with the administration as to win the respect of even his enemies. His charges have not been proved untrue, and though there has been considerable bluster on the part of his enemies, they have not succeeded in making a case against him. The persistent effort to ignore Miles and the apparent method in the fight against him give rise to a strong suspicion that there is a deliberate scheme on foot to force him from his present position in the army, even to the point of resignation. This would be an easy way out of it all for the administration, but the American people are fair, and a fight like this, even if apparently successful, would be likely to cause a reaction so overwhelmingly in favor of Gen. Miles as to work disaster to his enemies. Just censure and punishment is one thing. Persecution is another. One is believed in by the people of a republic, but the other is obnoxious to all, regardless of party affiliations."

Reliable advices from Washington state that the commanding general still occupies the humiliating position he was forced into by Secretary Alger during the Cuban campaign, and instead of being the channel of communication between the secretary and the army, as by right he should be, he is unaware of military operations until they are matters of public information. As the Star says, the entire situation is unfavorable to good military discipline and is disgraceful to the nation. If Gen. Miles is not fit for command he should be removed by the president. If he is fit he is entitled to all the courtesies, responsibilities and duties of his office. The secretary of war is still violating military procedure, and while he naturally escaped censure from his own commission, he is not strengthening his case with the people. The real blame, of course, lies with the administration, which is apparently pursuing its well-known policy of living its critics down and wearing them out, a policy which has so far been admirably successful, but, unfortunately for the success of this policy in this particular case, the storm center, Gen. Miles, refuses to abate. And public opinion is with Gen. Miles.

There was an amusing incident in the senate the other day. "Ohio should be satisfied," said Mr. Cockrell, "with the distinguished honors she has had and with the numerous appointments which she has received in all branches of the public service, from copyists and messengers up to the highest office in the gift of the people." "That argument," suggested Mr. Foraker, "does not apply to this senator from Ohio." "Then," replied Mr. Cockrell, "the other senator has more patronage than ought to belong to any one senator."

---

The Kansas City Star says: "Here is one example of national economy. It has so far cost $18,500 to collect the war revenue tax on mixed flour, and the gross collection amounts to a trifle over $5000." The Star is in error when it calls the tax on adulterated flour a war revenue tax. It was imposed with the idea of regulating the sale of adulterated flour and preventing its sale as genuine wheat flour.

---

Ex-Governor Merriam, after protesting that he was not seeking the position of superintendent of the census rushed down to Washington and induced the Minnesota delegation in the house to indorse him for the place. Previously he had thought the president would give him the job as a "personal appointment," but he received a tip from Mark Hanna that this would not be done and he must hustle if he wanted it. So the haughty William went down on his knees to the Minnesota congressmen and begged for their indorsement.

---

The Chicago Journal says: "The war board seems to find fault with Gen. Miles not so much for making charges about the beef as for failing to make his charges early enough. Thus it relieves itself of a great burden, and, so to speak, eases its mind by taking one last fling at the major-general supposed to be commanding before it goes out of existence. As an interesting relic of the war it is a pity the board can't be preserved." Why not embalm it?

The Washington Post, which was in favor of the ratification of the peace treaty, says: "It has never occurred to us to suspect such senators as Hoar, Hale and Caffrey of treason because we disagreed with them on a question of public policy." ### VOLUNTEERS AT MANILLA.

Detroit Free Press: If our Western soldiers now in the Philippines find the climate uncomfortably hot, they can console themselves by thinking of the folks at home who are enjoying the invigorating temperature of 20 degrees below zero.

Chicago Times-Herald: All reports of the second battle of Manilla comment upon the bravery and efficiency of the volunteer troops. Their conduct seems to have made a particularly deep impression upon the British correspondents, who would take the steady work of the regulars as a matter of course.

Milwaukee Wisconsin: The bravery and the dash of the volunteers in the engagement around Manilla have aroused the highest admiration among all the officers in the army. They fought with the steadiness of regular trained soldiers, and with even more enthusiasm, because their heart was in the conflict. To them war seemed a pastime when they could engage in a battle.

New York Times: The story of the fight at Manilla points a moral that had been pointed already in the capture of the city from the Spaniards. It is that the volunteers are immensely more efficient in the Philippines than they were in the Antilles. Luckily for us, it was the regular army that had all the fighting to do in Cuba. No volunteer troops, excepting the Rough Riders, a very picked body of fighting men, got any credit out of the Santiago campaign. In the Philippines, on the other hand, the great majority of the troops were volunteers. No misbehavior is reported among them, and in action they have appeared to excellent advantage. Most of them are from the far West, but there is no geological moral to be drawn, because the one Eastern regiment, the Tenth Pennsylvania, was conspicuous for its gallantry at the capture of Manilla.

WHY COUNTY AUDITORS?

Albert Lea Tribune: Senator Sheehan, of Ramsey county, has introduced a bill to extend the term of county auditors to four years, the extension to begin with the terms of the present incumbents in office. If the auditors had asked an extension to begin after the next general election, it would have relieved that trust of office-holders from a heap of odium they have taken upon themselves by making such an openhanded grab. But that is another question.

The office of county auditor is not the most important in the county. It is merely a clerical position with very little call for the exercise of talents that class of office-holders are supposed to possess. The offices of county commissioner, judge of probate, county attorney and register of deeds are all more important, and if the term of any single office is to be extended it is one of these. People generally have an idea that the county auditor does half of the county business, but that is an erroneous idea. The work in that particular office is largely of a clerical nature.

But while this matter is being discussed it is well enough to assert right here that there is a growing sentiment in favor of the 4-year term in all county offices. It would be the proper thing. It would save the state the enormous expense of separate state elections every fourth year. But there is no reasonable ground upon which the county auditors of the state should ask that their term of office—two years—be separately extended beyond the time for which the people elected them, and it is conceded that the people know what they want. The people are not clamoring to have the terms of county auditors extended, but those in favor of the 4-year term for all county officers, to be elected at a presidential election, are steadily growing in numbers.

THE ISSUE OF IMPERIALISM.

Washington Star: With the treaty disposed of, we have now the real question of expansion to deal with. What shall the harvest be? Or, rather, what shall be done with what has been harvested? The initiative is with congress.

Chicago Post: How about the white man's burden in relieving poverty and misery at home, in purifying politics, in solving the labor question, in establishing peace among civilized nations? Are these mean and parochial questions unworthy of the white man? Are not the victories of industry and science and art greater than those of war in remote lands? Is the world at the end of this century to witness a recrudescence of militarism?

St. Louis Republic: Public opinion is free to reflect upon the future and to establish a policy. It is not the president who has "the free hand" in dealing with the Philippines; it is the American people. What is our duty, in the light of our assertion of manhood liberty as a right? Have we a counter duty from a standpoint of universal education and civilization? Is the "white man's burden" enough for us at home, or must we go out and accept another share in the Orient? The American voter will decide these doubts. The ratification of the treaty decides nothing except that the war with Spain is over.

Boston Transcript: At the opening of the twentieth century with its finer, deeper sense of humanity and its new conception of the brotherhood of nations, to lurch the public school-taught masses of the United States of America back to the British squirearchy of the eighteenth century, with its allopathic prescription of periodical blood-lettings to keep the people quiet and consolidate rule for the privilege and caste through the systematic crushing down of the unfortunate—this complete reversal of Abraham Lincoln's policy should require more than the single vote beyond the necessary number obtained with all the resources of the administration brought to bear. There are other tests of public opinion yet to be had, other consents that must be obtained before such a revolution can be considered established and embedded in our institutions.

SAID IN FUN.

Boston Traveler: "Pa, did you know ma long before you married her?"

"No, my boy, I didn't know her until long after I married her!"

---

Detroit Journal: "Certainly you won't pretend that going to the church sewing circle every meeting makes a woman good!"

"No, but it keeps her from being talked about."

---

Chicago Record: "What are you doing, Henry?"

"I knocked a chair over, and it fell against the piano."

"Well, do be more careful. Remember we are not living in furnished rooms now."

---

Indianapolis Journal: She—I am getting tired of staying awake of nights waiting for you to come home.

He—My dear, when I was courting you I could not sleep at all.

---

Chicago Tribune: "This makes the tenth morning, ma'am, that I have tried to collect this milk bill."

"I've tried more mornings than that, sir, to collect a little cream from your milk, and I have never had any better success than you're going to have this time. Don't step on the cat when you go out, please."

---

Washington Star: "There's one thing," said the misanthropic wife, "that I must say about that man you dislike so much. He always gets up early in the morning and cleans the snow off in a public-spirited way."

"Yes," was the answer. "He couldn't miss the satisfaction of annoying people by the noise the shovel makes."

---

Chicago News: "You seem to be happy over something?"

"I am. I am feeling as gay as a lark."

"What's up?"

"My wife has gone away for three weeks, and I shall not have to take any medicine to keep off the grip until she gets back."

---

Cleveland Plaindealer: "What did you do when you had the grip?"

"I put in the first two days trying to decide which one of the sure cures to take for it, next two trying a few of them, and by that time I was so weak my wife was able to put me to bed and call a doctor."

---

Chicago Post: "Speaking of ground hogs," said the clerk, and then he went wearily on with his work of figuring up the frontage of a big owner of real estate.

There was really no necessity of adding anything to his remark, for it was evident that he was devoting his attention to one of them.

THE DEAD LINE.

"Don't monkey with your Uncle Sam,"
the stalwart sentry said,
"You make another break like that and
I will shoot you dead."
But the bandy-legged native, thick-lipped and ivory-eyed,
Took up the white man's burden when he crossed the lines and died.
—DAVID RITTER.

Taking the Burden.

We've taken the White Man's burden,
We've sent forth the best we breed;
Our sons are bound to exile
To feed our selfish greed.
They fought in heavy harness,
In foreign lands and wild:
We beat those sullen people,
Half devil and half child.

We've taken the White Man's burden,
And reaped his old reward;
The death of those who love us,
The death of those who guard.
The cry of hosts we humor,
(Ah, slowly!) toward light—
"Why bought ye us of the Spaniards,
The people we could fight?"

We've taken the White Man's burden,
And now we have to fight:
We've got to kill the heathen
To put them in the right.
We have to lose our heroes,
Who give their lives and time
To raise that sullen people
Above ignorance and crime.

We've taken the White Man's burden,
We've done with childish days;
They scorned our proffered laurel,
They did not like our ways;
And so we had to kill them,
For we had to have that land;
No matter how much life it takes,
Our empire must expand.
—Detroit Free Press.

LOVER'S DAY.

old rain sweeps the glistening pane,
Winds are sobbing in the vines;
Yet today birds mate again,
And sweethearts send valentines.

Oh that I were but a bird!
And a bird, oh that she were!
Sweeter song was never heard
Than I'd gaily sing to her.

Saying, "Dear come share my nest!"
Neither shy nor 'shamed I'd be,
Were I robin with red breast,
And fair Jenny Redbreast she.

What? Should not a man be brave
As these feathered swains? As free
With strong heart, to seek, and have?
Nay, alas! For look at me—

Hailing here, with yearnings vain,
O'er these lame half-finished lines!
Though today birds mate again,
And sweethearts send valentines.

La Grippe

Leaves the Nervous System Shattered, Causing Sleeplessness, Weakness and Depression of Spirits. Cured by

Dr. Miles' Nervine.

Have you had la grippe? If you have not, doubtless some of your friends have, and you know what it is. You have seen it suddenly, without any warning, seize the victim in its relentless grasp and wrench asunder the fibres of the nervous system. That terrible pain in the back of the head, the aching back and legs, the soreness in the muscles and bones as if bruised or beaten, the feeble pulse—all these are familiar to you. But have you noticed the after effects? Do you know that it weakens the lungs, enfeebles the heart, deranges the stomach and bowels, and seriously interferes with all the functional operations of the body? And even after the disease is apparently dead, the physical weakness, mental apathy and the depression of spirits remain. You also know that hundreds of men and women with "run down" feeling written all over their faces, unable to work, without courage, have recovered health, heart and ambition through the remarkable healing and strengthening qualities of Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine. It goes straight to the cause of the mischief resulting from la grippe. It feeds and cures.

"Two years ago I came down with la grippe, resulting in nervous prostration, heart trouble and nervous dyspepsia. I became so low that I lost all control of my organs, and could neither speak nor be spoken to. Our doctor failed to restore my health. I could retain nothing on my stomach; could not lie down to sleep; could not bear any noise, and was on the very verge of insanity, when my wife began giving me Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine. She could see an improvement after the first bottle, and determined to continue the treatment. Being 60 years of age my recovery was slow, but my health steadily improved, my head became clear and my mind as strong as they ever were. My recovery was almost like a miracle, and all due to Dr. Miles' Nervine."

GEORGE A. ANDREWS,
Great Barrington, Mass.

Mr. John S. Pool, Princeton, Ky., says: "I would gladly proclaim the high estimate I place on the real merit of Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine. I had long been a sufferer from the effects of la grippe, enduring much pain and misery. My nerves were completely prostrated. I could neither work nor rest. At night it was impossible for me to get my natural sleep, and only by the use of powerful drugs could I rest at all. I spent large sums of money for physicians' service and for treatments that were recommended to me, but they did me no good. From the first dose I took of Dr. Miles' Nervine I began to improve, and now am enjoying the very best of health. That great remedy does much more than is claimed for it."

SAMPLE TREATMENT FREE.

A trial package of Dr. Miles' favorite treatment for la grippe, consisting of Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine, Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills and Dr. Miles' Nerve and Liver Pills, will be sent absolutely free of cost to any person who will send name and address on a postal card, requesting the samples, and mentioning the name of this paper. ## THE DAKOTAS.

Senator Marshall Thinks Inspection Appeal Boards Should Be Established.

NORTH DAKOTA.

Bismarck—In speaking of the result of his trip to points in Minnesota for the purpose of inquiring into the question of grain inspection, Senator Marshall said:

"It is a subject of great importance to our people and we endeavored to take a broad view of it—with the principal object in view of securing as speedy and effective action as possible. The Minnesota law and the rules of the board of railroad and warehouse commissioners are just and equitable, we believe—and any irregularities in inspection come from errors in judgment on, or possible manipulation of grades.

"To secure an equitable and uniform execution of this law and the public—after a careful consideration of the subject, we agree that the creation of an appeal board at Duluth and Superior and another at Minneapolis—made up each of three expert grain men representing the interests of the producer, seller and buyer—would be altogether advisable."

The question of taxation is the most serious confronting the people of North Dakota today. The duties imposed through constitutional provisions adds to the perplexing aspect. The debt limit of the state having been placed at the ridiculously low figure of $200,000, it has not been in a position to borrow funds sufficient to help maintain those institutions or permanent improvements.

Fargo—Fred Douglass eloped and married at Hudson, Wis., in 1892. A year later he deserted his wife and baby. His wife married C. H. Stinson after being informed of Douglass' death by his mother. Three children are the result of the second marriage and recently Mrs. Stinson was shocked at receiving a letter from Douglass, who was very much alive and demanded money to keep her secret. She secured a divorce from him and at once remarried Stinson, who is an elevator agent at Arthur in this county.

In Judge Roberts' court, there is a contest over the will of Gustina Fieugel. The will had been probated, leaving the estate to two sons. Some grandchildren are contesting the will and succeeded in having all probate proceedings revoked on the ground that they had been served with no notice of legal action.

Mrs. C. A. Lounsberry has gone to Washington to represent North Dakota in the convention of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

SOUTH DAKOTA.

Yankton—The coroner's jury on the asylum fire continues taking testimony. It is making a most thorough examination. W. L. Dow, architect of Sioux Falls, constructor of the building, was on the stand yesterday and gave expert testimony, as did also engineers and assistants. Nothing has yet developed which gives the exact origin. Coroner Gross is of the opinion that several days will elapse before a verdict will be reached. The verdict and stenographic report of the testimony will be given to the legislature.

---

Sioux Falls—The story from Deadwood to the effect that Otto Webber, charged with making and passing counterfeit money, had made charges against officials of the county jail in this city, created nothing but amusement in this city. Webber escaped while the wooden and cell doors were temporarily open during the supper hour.

Aberdeen—The city council has made a proposal for the purchase of the electric light and gas plant, which has been accepted by the owners of the property. The plant is bonded for $35,000. The city will assume this debt and in addition pay the owners the sum of $3500. The deal is not yet finished, but will probably be carried through.

HERE AND THERE.

Joseph Votraba, a Bohemian in the employ of the Ludington, Wells & Van Schaick company at Gus Haggerman's Chalk Hill camp, had his leg broken at the ankle Tuesday morning, and word was sent down to the company's office that the injured man would be taken down on the night passenger from the north, which program was carried out. Through some misunderstanding, the wife, who resides at 119 Eveland court, Menominee, was not notified of the accident. She retired for the night as usual with her two little children, and this particular night she dreamed that her husband had been accidentally killed in the woods. About this time the delivery rig which had been secured to convey the injured man to his home arrived at the door and after gaining admission, four robust men proceeded to carry Votraba upstairs to the apartments occupied by the family. One glance was enough for the wife who had dreamed of her husband's death, and the scene which followed can better be imagined than described. Several of the near neighbors were aroused by the frantic woman's cries, and it was some time before she could be brought to believe that her dream was only a myth, and that her liege lord had only suffered a fracture of the leg by getting it jammed between two trees.

H. Harold entertains the guests of the Gladstone at Jamestown with a Swiss toy of wonderfully delicate mechanism, imitating the singing of a canary bird. The cover of the box flies open, a little canary bird hardly an inch long but a perfect imitation, appears and with fluttering wings and opening beak gives an exact imitation of the whistling and singing of a bird. The toy is said to have cost 500 francs—$100—and has been in use for many years.

The Crookston Tribune tells this: It is not very often that saloonkeepers kick because of a disturbance created by a clergyman in their place of business. Bergquist Bros. register a vigorous kick today because Rev. N. C. Hanson of the Scandinavian Methodist church entered their saloon this afternoon and entered into a controversy with Albert Hanson of the Farmers' hotel. It seems that the latter went into the saloon to collect for some cordwood and the reverend gentleman followed him in and asked for a reason why he found him in such a place. A little argument following in which both parties exhibited some indignation and Mr. Bergquist says the peace was restored by his gently leading the pastor to the door and telling him to settle the matter in his church but not in the saloon.

The suicide of the poor fellow at Fort Yates because the lady whom he loved refused to marry him has furnished the text for a whole lot of rot about "woman's wiles," "inconstancy," "duplicity," etc. The occurrence was certainly sad enough in itself, but why the lady in the case should be blamed is not clear. From all that has appeared to the contrary, she liked and respected the young soldier, but didn't want to marry him. That being the case, she certainly exhibited both good sense and good taste in rejecting him.

Active Preparations For the Building of the Copper Range Railway.

Houghton—General Manager Charles A. Wright of the new Copper Range railroad has ben busy gathering up loose ends since his recent return from Boston and his appointment as chief official of the new line. Mr. Wright is an experienced railroad manager, having up to 1893 been the manager of the Mineral Range and Hancock & Calumet roads, and his appointment gives universal satisfaction throughout the copper country. In an interview with the Mining Journal Mr. Wright stated that it is the intention of the Copper Range company to build its line from Calumet to Greenland, fifty-five miles, during the coming summer or before Jan. 1, 1900, and that the rails have already been ordered from the Illinois Steel company. Rails weighing seventy-five pounds to the yard will be used, and in roadbed and equipment the new line will be planned for heavy traffic and will be built throughout in first-class shape. The road is now negotiating for its equipment. Baldwin engines will be used and will consist of two types, for passenger service and for freight service, those for the latter purpose having seventy-five tons weight on the drivers, probably being compounds. Thirty-ton rock cars will be used, while the passenger equipment will be of the very best. The road will advertise for ties to be delivered along the right-of-way, hemlock, cedar and tamarack being used, within a few days.

The Wahnita Copper Mining company, which was organized at the company's office, 60 Grand street, Jersey City, N. J., on Saturday by the election of Henry F. Whitney, James B. Fuller and Frederick H. Clark, all of Boston, and J. F. Hambitzer, of Houghton, and Kenneth K. McLaren, of East Orange, N. J., as the first board of directors, takes over the old Plutus property west of Lake Gogebic. Subscriptions for the stock of the new company, 100,000 shares, with $350,000 placed in the treasury as working capital, will be opened at the Boston office of the company, 342 Exchange building, Thursday at 10 o'clock a. m.

Escanaba—It is evident that the Chicago & Northwestern company has taken a lively interest in the Escanaba summer hotel project and is desirous of seeing the scheme reach consummation. One of the officials of that road was approached concerning the Tilden house grounds as a site for the Normal school, and gave the surprising answer that the grounds in question would have built thereon inside of two years a large summer hotel. He said if the people of Escanaba would not build it some one else would.

Fully four weeks must elapse before the big plant of the United States Woodenware company will be ready for operation. Five pail machines are making syrup kits, and a few sawslashers are running, but it is only for the purpose of filling some rush spring orders. Each of the pail machines has a capacity of from 500 to 800 per day, so it will be seen that "some" kits are being turned out. There is a large amount of machinery yet to be placed in position and this will take some weeks.

Sault Ste. Marie—A big deal in Chippewa county standing timber was consummated last week, when the John Spry Lumber company, of Chicago, sold to the Calumet & Hecla Mining company, several valuable tracts of pine and hemlock, the consideration being $100,000, as shown by the deed, which was placed on record last week. Some of the lands included in the sale are situated in the eastern portion of Luce county, the rest being in Whitefish township. The tracts are in townships 48, 49 and 50, range 6 west; 48 and 49 north, range 8 west.

TALKED IT OVER

The Telephone Question Discussed at Length Before Chamber of Commerce.

COL. GRAVES SPEAKS

The First Statement So Far Made By the Present Company.

The chamber of commerce tackled the telephone question yesterday afternoon and wrestled with it for a couple of hours. Mayor Truelsen was there and opened the matter, and there was spice enough in the talk of all the speakers to make the meeting a very interesting one. Previous to the taking up of the question Ray T. Lewis was elected president and M. M. Gasser vice president. Hanson E. Smith resigned the office of vice president because of the pressure of private business.

Mayor Truelsen presented his proposed bill empowering the city to construct a telephone system, and argued in favor of it. He followed much the same line that he did in his speech before the Trades and Labor assembly. He said a telephone system could be operated with a profit by the city with charges of $24 and $18 for 'phones. He cited Fort Wayne, Ind., a city about the size of Duluth, which allowed a company to go in and oppose the Bell system. The latter had about 1000 'phones on its lines. Now the new company has about 2500 and the Bell company from 300 to 400. The same thing would result in Duluth if the city went into the business, he said. The system in Duluth now is not modern and up-to-date. The metallic circuit is necessary for good results. It costs much to put in, but once in there is little expense afterward, very much less than with the old system. He read a letter from a construction firm which said that a system of 1000 'phones could be put in for $125,000 and operated at an annual cost of $10 per 'phone, or $10,000. The firm would furnish a superintendent who would guarantee to run the system for $10 a 'phone or forfeit his salary. The mayor said municipal ownership is the correct solution of all these problems. The telephone is a public necessity and is as much a tax as a real estate tax is. He was not trying to tear down the local company, but it had enjoyed a franchise for twenty years and had been allowed to rest peacefully in possession of the situation. It is now time for the city to act. If the present company offered as good terms as any other, he would favor giving the contract to it, provided municipal ownership is not feasible.

Col. Graves, on behalf of the Duluth company, followed the mayor. He was rather sarcastic and expressed the opinion that the mayor was actuated in his zeal by political motives. "I think the mayor is making his next campaign and that this makes a pretty good subject." He characterized it as a hue and cry on which the mayor seeks re-election. He said the mayor had pictured himself as fighting a hydra-headed monster which is seeking to take away the liberties of the people.

He opened his argument by saying that the mayor had presented the idea of municipal ownership in its most favorable light, and produces a letter from a concern which wants to construct a plant for the city. He said:

"Now you will notice, at the outset, that up to this moment not one word has been said by any person interested in the telephone company about the matter. We have not been candidates for office, or running a political campaign, or trying in any way to influence city politics or elections, and therefore have not had any occasion to make stump speeches, or do anything except manage our little business in a business way, and try to get its relations with the city considered and adjusted in a reasonable way, by consultation and negotiation, whenever the authorities were ready to take them up in that spirit. The controversy so far has been all on one side, and the noise all made by the mayor and his followers. When the city election was coming on it was announced by them that a desperate telephone fight was on. Every candidate hastened to declare himself as a Truelsen telephone man, and not a peep was heard from anyone else. I say now, and challenge contradiction, that our company had nothing to do with the election in any way and never thought of it. Now, usually when so much of a fuss is made about a matter connected with city affairs, it is found that someone has an interested motive in pushing the agitation; someone 'on the make' wanting to pave the way for his own purpose; but of course that cannot be the case with the mayor; it may be that W. C. Sherwood and the couple of attorneys of this city who represent the Detroit man that wants a franchise here have been the moving causes of this uproar, and have fooled the mayor into helping them; but I prefer to believe that the mayor is sincere in wanting the city to own and run everything on a socialistic basis, or at the most that he only wants a good political cry for his next campaign.

"Let us look into this telephone question from a business standpoint, not a political one. Out of 60,000 people in Duluth 746 rent telephones; they pay in rent for them a total of $33,197 for the year. It costs the telephone company to operate the system alone, without general expenses, $26,711, leaving the gross profits on this business a little over $6000 a year. This is the monster whose extermination is said to be the great duty of the hour. Figures have been published to mislead the people by gentlemen who can not know anything about telephone plants and their expenses, showing that a telephone system can be run for $10 a year per 'phone. He offers as a guarantee the forfeiture of a man's salary if he does not do as he agrees—a very light guarantee on a $125,000 contract.

"The Bell Telephone company owns half the stock in the Duluth company, the rest is owned by some of your fellow-citizens. The Bell company owns interests in lots of other telephone exchanges around the country, and every month it gets a report from each exchange, showing all the expenses. They have things figured down to a perfect system and know how much it ought to cost for every item of expense: how much for operators and batteries, material and supplies; how much for linemen, inspectors, collectors, etc., etc. Do you suppose that if the Duluth exchange was not run as economically as others generally were or could be, they would fail to call the management to account and make them economize? The fact that they approve this expense account shows that those men of ability and full and accurate knowledge of the business in every way know it is about as low as an efficient service in this city, situated as it is, can be maintained. That service cost last year $26,711, or $35.81 per telephone; and men come out and make speeches and write to the papers saying the service will cost but $10 per telephone. What do they actually know about it? If these men do not run this plant as cheap as they ought to, would not the Bell company bounce them at once?"

Col. Graves argued further that users of telephones will get just such service as they pay for. If they pay $24 they will get $24 service. Business men want all the latest appliances and improvements, and no company can give these as can the Bell. There is only one long-distance telephone company worthy of the name, and that will only connect with Bell 'phones. Hence Duluth cannot get the benefit of long-distance service if it puts in cheap service.

Col. Graves took issue with a statement made by the mayor to the effect that the city can operate plants as cheaply as private corporations. The mayor asserted that the water plant was being operated for less money now than when in the hands of a company. Col. Graves said the city had paid $140,000 for engines, while another city had put in an engine pumping four times as much at a cost of $90,000. He also referred to the Tischer creek bridge.

"The Duluth Telephone company," he continued, "is now and always has been ready to meet the city fairly and have an amicable business arrangement perfected, and for this purpose to show its affairs to a fair and impartial committee. We have invited the mayor time and again to come to the office and see what a telephone plant and its working is, but he never comes, and takes all his ideas and information from non-resident parties who are interested in getting a franchise her to speculate on.

"Now, I ask honest-minded business men of Duluth, is this decent treatment, or a wise policy? Is it not a part and parcel of the policy that is killing Duluth today; keeping away capital, manufacturing and prosperity; advertising the town broadcast as the particular place in this broad land where every hand is ready to tear down and none to build up. The time was when Duluthians were friends to their fellow-citizens and wished them well, and the city had the reputation of enterprise and liberality, and that it was a good place to come to and to live and work in. May it come back."

R. C. Mitchell asked Col. Graves why, when the city called for bids, his company made no offer. Col. Graves replied that the city mapped out an offer which his company could not meet. He said further that the company seeking to come in here will get contracts from subscribers and then seek to have them take stock.

Col. Harris said that some oil was necessary on the troubled waters. He commended the mayor's general course, but said he could not follow him in this instance. He could not agree to the proposition to have the city to build a system, but would say to Col. Graves on the other hand that he must fight another company, he must give telephones as cheap as a rival company will. The question is not how much the local company has invested, but will it give the same service that somebody else will and for the same money. Municipal ownership of a telephone plant, he declared to be impossible. The legislature cannot confer such a right on the city. It is wrong in principle and not fair nor just. People can only be taxed for a public purpose. The operation of a telephone is a private purpose. It would be as reasonable to say that the city can go into the bakery business and furnish the people with bread. The city today is terribly in debt. It has an indebtedness of six or seven millions on a valuation of about $26,000,000. "We have bonds for breakfast, bonds for dinner, bonds for supper and we dream about bonds," he said. "I will say another thing to this local company," he continued. "You cannot operate here without the consent of the authorities. I know the court's decision in the Richmond case intimates that you can, but the same court has held that you can be forced to put your wires into conduits and that the city can chop down your poles if you don't and I know Mayor Truelsen well enough to know that he has the courage to chop them down.

"You must get down to competition and must furnish us service as cheap as anyone else will."

L. E. Lum said Col. Graves' statement as to the cost of operation of this plant was a surprise to him. He had always thought that the company was robbing the people. He felt that there is something wrong in the system. It would not cost much more to run ten telephones where two are now operated. Water can be obtained in a little house not using much as low as $6 a year and yet though the city has millions invested it pays interest all right because while the small user pays little the heavy consumer pays much more. It ought to be the same with the telephone. The residence using a telephone very little ought to get it as low as $6 a month. "I have a 'phone in my office at $50 a year," he said. "I use it moderately. Down there is a wholesale house using its 'phone 1000 times as much as I and yet paying no more." Mr. Lum thought a committee should be appointed to investigate the figures given by Col. Graves. He thought the same expenses ought to run a system of 3000 'phones. He said he knew there were better systems being run at less cost.

P. C. Schmidt favored a committee to investigate the question.

Mayor Truelsen spoke again. He said that if the present company cannot operate 'phones at less than $35 apiece it simply is not in it. He had never been invited to the telephone company's office but once, and that was when the line to Cloquet was opened. "What good would it do me to go there, anyway?" he said. "I know nothing about telephone systems. I get my information from people who know the business. Now I ask has the present company met us in any way? Was it not our duty to get competitive bids or was it rather our duty to go to this company and say we will help you to stay here? I am not trying to drive out capital, but when corporations cannot give the best and cheapest service, they must expect to fight. I am not going to be actuated in this matter by sympathy. I have a duty to perform and I am going to do it. If the home company will give us as cheap 'phones as any other I am in favor of letting it continue. This is my stand and why should they come in here and accuse me of political trickery for that view?"

S. F. Snively said the letter the mayor quoted is from the Western Telephone Construction company, a thoroughly responsible and reliable firm.

M. M. Gasser said Saginaw had a similar experience with the telephone question and had allowed a second company to come in. A few days ago a Saginaw merchant told him that he was obliged to take both 'phones and pay more and get poorer service than he did before.

After some discussion the appointment of a committee of five was decided on. The committee is to investigate all phases of the question and report in one week's time.

Davidson Fleet of Lake Vessels Will Hail From Duluth Hereafter.

Before the opening of navigation all of the vessels of the Davidson line will be registered from Duluth, and when they come out in the spring one and all will display the name of the Zenith City as their port of hail. This is done, of course, because of the methods of taxation of vessel property in this state, which are so lenient that vessels are taxed much lighter than they are anywhere else. Already the big Bessemer fleet hail from Duluth, and it is only a question of time before most of the large fleets bear on the sterns of their vessels the name of Duluth.

In order to do this it was necessary for James Davidson, the owner of the fleet, to transfer his vessels to a corporation, with officers in Minnesota. Had he not done so it would have been necessary for him to remove here. Yesterday afternoon the corporation was organized in a temporary form by electing George A. Tomlinson president; Fred N. LaSalle, vice president; D. W. Stocking, treasurer, and H. R. Spencer, secretary. The company will be known as the Davidson Steamship company. When James Davidson gets back from his Cuban trip the permanent organization will be made as follows: James Davidson, president; George A. Tomlinson, vice president; James E. Davidson, secretary and treasurer. The board of directors will include the officers of the corporation and Mrs. George A. Tomlinson.

The Defendant Wins.

In the case of Martin Christopherson vs. E. G. Chapman, to recover damages for injuries alleged to have been inflicted on plaintiff's little girl by the defendant running into her with his bicycle, Judge Gearhart yesterday afternoon ordered judgment for the defendant, with costs and disbursements. The evidence showed that the defendant was riding in the street at a moderate gait, and that at a corner the child ran out on the crossing in front of the machine and was run down. The defense contended that the child's mother, who was present and in charge of the child did not exercise proper care, and the judgment was awarded on this ground. The accident occurred at First street and Second avenue east, July 28.

David Cruikshank Is Back From Skaguay For a Visit.

David Cruikshank, formerly of the head of the lakes, and well known in Duluth and Superior, now one of the leading citizens of Skaguay, has been here for a couple of weeks on business. He is very enthusiastic about the Atlin country, which is about eighty miles from Skaguay over the White pass. That is the place to go now instead of the Klondike, he says. There is gold in plenty in all the streams, but it takes work to get it out, of course. A man and his wife panned twelve pounds of gold in two weeks from one of the streams last summer.

Louis Ratty, an ex-member of the Duluth police force and John Chambers, of Fond du Lac, were in Skaguay when Mr. Cruikshank left there, he says, and Tom Hayden had recently left there for Dawson. Ratty had been to Dawson and had struck nothing. Mr. Cruikshank spent some tieme at Dawson.

Mr. Cruikshank said that 2 below zero was the coldest weather in Skaguay this winter up to the time he left there, which was early in January. Wages were ranging over $3 per day in Skaguay for common labor and men were hard to get at that. A rush to Skaguay in the spring was expected, though.

INTOLERABLE ITCHING

Eczema All Over Head and Face. Two Doctors, No Benefit.

Tried CUTICURA REMEDIES with Rapid Cure.

I was troubled several years with cutaneous diseases which developed into chronic Eczema, which spread all over my head, and down on my face. I took medical treatment from two doctors and received but little relief. Then I tried several lotions, etc., which we had in the store, but only received little relief from them. At times, the dreadful itching became almost intolerable. When I was heated, the Eczema became painful, and almost distracted me. I was advised to try CUTICURA REMEDIES and did so, and found them all that is claimed for them. The Eczema rapidly disappeared, and I am well, with no trace of any cutaneous disease. Shall always recommend CUTICURA to all.

Baby Scratched Continually

Our babe, two months old, broke out in sores over her face and ears. She seemed to be in great misery, and would scratch continually. I noticed your advertisement in our home paper, and supposed it would be a good thing for our Sadie. I used the CUTICURA (ointment) and CUTICURA SOAP, and they were a great benefit to her. I did not like to give medicine inwardly to a child so young, but saw that she must have something to drive the disease out, so I got a bottle of CUTICURA RESOLVENT, to purify her blood, and gave her about one third of the bottle, and your medicines have done wonders for her.

When the Proof Comes From People We Know in Duluth.

There is something always associated with the emphasized opinions of people we known in Duluth which is lacking when the expressed views of a resident of another city are contrasted or compared. If we do not agree with the former they can be hunted up and contradicted, or there can be gathered from them "the reason for the hope that is in them." We can't do this with an outsider, except by a cumbersome, roundabout method, which has every chance in the world to end dissatisfactorily. In the realm of advertising patent medicines this is very apparent, for there are two kinds of evidence appearing side by side in Duluth papers. One from local endorsers, the other from far away testators. It ought to be a simple thing to decide which can be depended upon the more. Read this case and make a decision:

Mr. James McKeag, of 1804 Piedmont avenue, miner, says: "I have no hesitation in recommending Doan's Kidney Pills to the people of Duluth for I have used them myself and found them to be all they were represented to be. For the past two years I was troubled with pains through my loins and kidneys, and last winter the pain became much worse. If I sat long in one position my back became lame and sore. I tired easily and if I overworked myself I was always much worse. Seeing Doan's Kidney Pills highly recommended for such troubles I procured a box at the Duluth Drug company's store and used it. The remedy acted splendidly and effectively. Doan's Kidney Pills are pleasant to take, have no disagreeable effects and are permanent in their results."

SCHIVEREA'S MEETING.

Big Crowd at the Armory—Homes to Be Visited.

There was another big meeting at the Armory last night, nearly every seat being taken. Mr. Schiverea gave an interesting talk, founded upon the parable of the rich man with overflowing granaries who decided to eat drink and be merry. For years, the evangelist said, he could not understand why God called that man a fool. Now he saw it. It was because the man ignored God's blessings, and thought to drive Him out of the world. He thought he could satisfy the cravings of his immortal soul by eating and drinking, but it takes two worlds to satisfy a man's soul. He planned for many years, and forgot that he might live but a few minutes. Mr. Schiverea saw many counterparts of this man in the world today, men who are debasing their nature by trying to force it to live upon things of this world alone. No man's being is complete without God, and the man who tries to live without Him is a fool.

"Why must we have judges and policemen and jails," said Mr. Schiverea. "Because so many men in this world of sin and temptation undertake to go it alone, and thus make of themselves targets for satan and the power of sin. What is the cause of the suicides recorded in every daily paper? They are the finish of lives which started without God in them. These soon reach the place in life where they see only failure. This man was called a fool because he said to his soul, 'Eat, drink and be merry.' The idea of a man trying to satisfy his immortal soul with eating or drinking, or with money and prosperity. It can't be done.

"I have stood behind the footlights and had the audience convulsed in laughter, and been followed with applause, but where was I? In the green room in sobbing and tears. Why? Because the immortal soul in me was calling for what that life could not give. The idea of trying to satisfy a soul with the music of the dance, or the shake of the dice. It takes two worlds to satisfy an immortal soul.

"Again, this man was a fool because he attempts to fix up for many days for this life. It is all right to look out for the future by insurance and other precautions. But how many men carefully insure the body, the tenement, and have given no thought to insuring the soul, the tenant which inhabits it. These men God calls fools. An engineer got up from a noon meeting at Denver and jumped in his cab for his trip. The train rushed on to accident, and the engineer was picked up only just before he breathed his last. His companion, who helped to pick him up, heard these last words: 'Tom, I've made many trips on the U. P. railway, but I've made my last. Now I must go on a trip I haven't made before. I'm glad I'm ready. I'm glad I didn't leave it till now to get ready.' "

In the afternoon there was a large attendance at the Bible reading at the First Methodist church. A big crowd was expected again this afternoon. Tonight there will be the usual meeting at the Armory. There was to be a meeting for workers at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon. Tomorrow every home in the city will be visited with a personal invitation to attend the Armory meetings. The meetings already begin to bear fruit, and it is said that many conversions have been made.

TOO BIG A CONTRAST

Duncan McMillan Fails to Score Three Falls Over Hjalmar Lundin.

OBTAINED BUT TWO

Lundin's Enormous Strength Was Too Much For the Scotchman.

Duncan McMillan undertook too large a contract when he agreed to throw Hjalmar Lundin three times in one hour. There might have been a time when he could do it, but that time has evidently passed. Not that McMillan has lost any of his power or knowledge of the science of wrestling, but that Lundin has gained perceptibly in both since he first began wrestling. After the first fall last night McMillan acknowledged to his seconds that his antagonist was a stronger man than himself, "and you know," said the champion mixed style wrestler, "that he has to be pretty strong to merit that distinction."

There was a most gratifying attendance at the Lyceum last night to witness the match, which is an evidence that the proper place will bring out many sport lovers in Duluth when men of reputation are pitted against each other on the mat.

William Allen, the well-known wrestler, acted efficiently and fairly as referee and waited for an actual fall before declaring it. In the second bout he was repeatedly urged to declare a fall while Lundin was bridged, but he knew his business and waited until the fall had been accomplished. Tom Madden was timekeeper for McMillan and M. Matheson was selected as timekeeper for Lundin, while Frank Hayes was appointed official timekeeper by the referee. There was a dispute as to the time required for the second fall, which gave several officious gentlemen an opportunity to exhibit themselves and get hissed at by the audience.

The wrestling began shortly after 9 o'clock, and most of the work was done down on the mat with the burly Scotchman on top. McMillan constantly worked for a hammer lock but was unable to get it, and the only way he succeeded in throwing Lundin at all was by an imitation of the Turk's trick of stretching his man by the use of both arms and legs after getting him on his side by a roll. Lundin repeatedly broke with apparent ease half Nelsons, full Nelsons, half Nelsons with crotch hold and all sorts of combinations of that character. His bridging and head spins were marvelous for a man of his small practice, and the strength he exhibited in both neck and legs was something remarkable. Once or twice he held McMillan's hand with such a vice-like grip between his legs that it was only after several strong pulls that the Scotchman could extricate it. This tickled the crowd immensely, as did also the fact that Mac would tug away at Hjalmar's arms for a hammer lock without visible effect.

McMillan secured two falls and both were won by practically the same tactics. The first was done in eighteen minutes, but the second required twenty-eight and a half minutes (according to the official timekeeper), and at the conclusion of the bout both men were visibly distressed. Both came up fresh for the third bout, however, and McMillan worked hard and bravely, but he had a "whale" to pull against and the remaining time in the hour had elapsed before he was able to get his former successful combination in operation.

The match was a game one on the part of both men and will do much to encourage patronage of the sport in future should either be engaged as a contestant.

Cold Weather Brings Catarrh.

The Severity of this Disease Increases Each Winter.

Though the disagreeable effects of Catarrh are felt all the year round, cold and unpleasant weather aggravates the disease and it is during the winter season that its severest form is felt. Each succeeding year seems to intensify the disease, so that it gradually fastens its hold upon the sufferer with a grasp that becomes firmer each season.

Catarrh often appears as only a cold at first, and is hardly noticed. But gradually the cold returns, and it is more difficult to cure, and stays longer than formerly. These symptoms cannot be mistaken; they mark the first appearance of a disease that will develop in severity and stubbornness, and which it is impossible to cure with the local treatment of sprays, washes, and similar applications. Being a disease of the blood, only a blood remedy can have the slightest effect upon it. S.S.S. (Swift's Specific) is the only cure for Catarrh, because it is the only blood remedy which goes to the seat of all obstinate cases, and forces out the disease.

Mr. T. A. Williams, a leading merchant of Spartanburg, S. C., writes:

"For four years I had nasal catarrh, and though the case was a mild one at first, it was not long until I noticed that it was gradually growing worse. Of course I was under treatment of first-class physicians, but their remedies were applied locally, and the Catarrh seemed to be getting a firmer hold on me all the while.

"After spending so much money for treatment which proved to be all in vain, I was urged to try S. S. S. This remedy proved to be the right one, for it got at the disease, and a few bottles cured me perfectly. The cure was a permanent one, and I have not had a touch of the disease for many years. Swift's Specific is the only remedy that will have the slightest effect upon Catarrh."

Sufferers from Catarrh should get a start on the disease before the cold weather aggravates it. Those who have been relying upon local treatment will find winter weather is all that is needed to show that the disease is still with them. A course of S. S. S. (Swift's Specific) will prove all assertions made that it is the only cure for Catarrh; it goes to the cause of the trouble—the blood—and forces out all traces of the disease.

Swift's Specific is the only remedy which reaches real obstinate blood diseases; it cures Catarrh, Rheumatism, Cancer, Contagious Blood Poison, Eczema, Scrofula, and every other disease of the blood. It is guaranteed and is the only blood remedy containing no potash, mercury or other mineral.

A PLAGUE OF THE NIGHT.

Itching Piles and Other Rectal Troubles Easily Cured By a New and Safe Method.

A Remarkable Number of Cures Made By the Pyramid Pile Cure.

About one person in every four suffers from some form of rectal disease. The most common and annoying is itching piles, indicated by warmth, slight moisture and intense, uncontrollable itching in the parts affected.

The usual treatment has been some simple ointment or salve which sometimes give temporary relief, but nothing like a permanent cure can be expected from such superficial treatment.

The only permanent cure for itching piles yet discovered is the Pyramid Pile Cure, not only for itching piles, but for every other form of piles, blind, bleeding or protruding. The first application gives instant relief and the continued use for a short time causes a permanent removal of the tumors or the small parasites which cause the intense itching and discomfort of itching piles.

Many physicians for a long time supposed that the remarkable relief afforded by the Pyramid Pile Cure was because it was supposed to contain cocaine, opium or similar drugs, but such is not the case. A recent careful analysis of the remedy showed it to be absolutely free from any cocaine, opium, or in fact any poisonous, injurious drugs whatever.

For this reason the Pyramid Pile Cure is probably the only pile cure extensively recommended by physicians, because it is so safe, so prompt in the relief afforded and so far as known the only positive cure for piles except a surgical operation.

In one year the Pyramid Pile Cure has become the best known, the safest and the most extensively sold of any pile cure before the public.

Nearly all druggists now sell it at 50 sents and $1 per package.

Address the Pyramid company, Marshall, Mich., for book on "Cause and Cure of Piles" and also hundreds of testimonials from all parts of the United States.

If suffering from any form of piles ask your druggist for a package of Pyramid Pile Cure and try it tonight.

FOR BARCLAY'S MURDER.

Louis Bebault and Joseph Sejerald Arraigned at Walker.

Walker, Minn., Feb. 16.—Louis Bebault and Joseph Sejerald were brought before the municipal judge here to answer the charge of murdering George Barclay, of Pine River. They pleaded not guilty. The accused were arrested by Sheriff Hardy and Deputy Frank Breeze. The case has been postponed to Feb. 24. The prisoners were taken to the Brainerd jail. They are both farmers at Pine River and they deny the charge.

AMONG THE PUGS.

At Springfield, Ill., there was no decision in the boxing contest between Johnny Connors, of Springfield, and Steve Flannigan, of Philadelphia, before the Springfield Athletic club last night. It had been agreed that if both men were on their feet at the end of the sixth round the match would be declared a draw. Flannigan had the best of it.

At Springfield, Ohio, last night, Australian Billy Murphy proved a perfect whirlwind and defeated Walter Burbeck, of Springfield, in the second round before the Springfield Athletic club. Murphy following the match, issued a challenge aimed at Casper Leon and Teddy McGovern.

A Mortgage Is Filed.

The Franklin Iron Mining company yesterday afternoon filed a trust deed running to James H. Hoyt for the purpose of raising money to pay off its floating indebtedness. The deed covers all of the holdings of the company, which are mortgaged for $185,000, and the mortgage is to run for five years at 6 per cent. It is given for the purpose of paying off two mortgages given to John D. Rockefeller, and to repay M. A. Hanna & Co. certain advances made by them. Satisfactions of the Rockefeller mortgages were filed.

THE INDIANS QUIET.

Walker, Minn., Feb. 16.—Agent Sutherland from the White Earth agency has been at the Leech Lake agency for the past two days paying the Indians their annuities, amounting to $5.40 for each man, woman and papoose. Everything in connection with this payment has passed off very quietly. They do not get their whisky from the saloon, but it is suspected that they are supplied by half and quarterbreeds. Previous to the payments the boarding house keepers on the reservation would not purchase any supplies for fear that the Pillagers would come and raid their boarding places, but not a raid has been made by a red.

Henry Clay Clark of Alice A. Mine Here Arranging For Machinery.

ON A LARGE SCALE

Mine Will Be Operated With Fifty Stamps and Double Later.

Henry Clay Clark, of Chicago, secretary of the company and one of the largest shareholders in the Alice A gold mine on Seine river, arrived here yesterday and is a guest at the home of Dr. Corson. Mr. Clark was briefly interviewed by The Herald. He said he came up to complete arrangements as to machinery. When that is done he will proceed to Seine river to visit the mine. He says it is the purpose to install fifty stamps at once, and to double this number in a short time. When this is done he will consider the mine equipped with a mill commensurate with its needs and importance as a bullion producer, but not before.

J. S. Hillyer, who is interested with Dr. Corson and other Duluthians in the Lucky Coon mine as well as the Alice A, has finally succeeded in undoing the legal tangle which has tied up the former for two or three years past, and departed yesterday for Seine river to direct the resumption of operations on the property. The Lucky Coon is considered one of the richest mines in the region, and now that it is to work again, may be expected to produce considerable of the yellow metal.

STEALING STAKES

Lumber Company Has Trouble Over Removal of Logging Car Stakes.

LOSS QUITE HEAVY

Ninety-Six Cars Stripped In One Day—Thieves Are Defiant.

A gang of boys has been engaged in stripping log cars at Merrill & Ring's yard, at the West End, of the stakes used to keep the logs on the cars. The marauders carry off the stakes as fast as they can be put in by the force of men employed for the purpose. They not only take the stakes from the unloaded cars, but pull them out while the logs are on the cars, exposing themselves to the danger of injury by the logs rolling off upon them. Lately the boys have grown bolder and have thrown missles at the men who drove them off. Merrill & Ring say that it costs $5 to stake a car, and so it can be seen that the loss must be considerable. On Monday ninety-six cars were completely stripped. The stakes are taken to be used for firewood, and it is stated that the boys are openly encouraged by people who profit by their thieving. Both the railroad company and Merrill & Ring are determined to make an example of some of the boys. The names of some of them have been given to the police and a number of arrests may follow soon.

THE WORK OF CONGRESS.

Washington, Feb. 16.—Soon after the senate convened today a house joint resolution authorizing the secretary of the navy to pay certain laborers, workmen and mechanics at the United States navy yards and naval stations 50 per cent additional for work performed in excess of eight hours per diem was called up. Mr. Hawley, of Connecticut, inquired of Mr. Burrows, of Michigan, who had the measure in charge, if it applied to existing contracts. He said if it applied to existing contracts it might bankrupt some contractors. Mr. Burrows explained that it applied only to regular employes of the naval establishment. The resolution was adopted.

Mr. Hawley, of Connecticut, reported the army reorganization bill to the senate, and made a statement as to the necessity of passing the bill very soon.

The military academy appropriation bill was passed without debate and consideration of the naval personnel bill begun.

Mr. Cockrell of Missouri made a statement for the Democrats of the military affairs committee criticising the army bill, and presenting the counter proposition of the Democrats.

The proposition of the Democratic members of the military committee is to continue the present standing army of the United States to a maximum of 62,000 men for two years and the enlistment of natives of the several islands to the number of 35,000 men.

Mr. Morgan of Alabama offered the Nicaragua canal bill as an amendment to the river and harbor bill and had it referred to the committee on commerce now considering that measure. The bill offered by Senator Morgan is substantially the Hepburn bill offered in the house, with some modifications.

The modifications of the bill relate to the method of acquirement of right-of-way. The provision in the Hepburn bill requiring purchase of Costa Rica and Nicaragua is stricken out and the first section is changed, the remaining language of the amendment being substantially that of the Hepburn bill.

IN THE HOUSE.

Washington, Feb. 16.—In the house today the senate amendments to the agricultural bill were non-concurred in and the bill was sent to conference. Messrs. Wadsworth (Rep.), of New York; Warner (Rep.), of Illinois, and Williams (Dem.), of Mississippi, were appointed conferees. Without further preliminary business the house went into committee of the whole and resumed consideration of the sundry civil bill.

The chair sustained the point of order against the $20,000,000 appropriation. Mr. Williams (Dem.), of Massachusetts, appealed from the decision.

PINGREE DEFEATED.

No Hope of Getting the Atkinson Bill Away From Committee.

Lansing, Mich., Feb. 16.—Governor Pingree's legislative following has relinquished hope of getting the Atkinson railroad taxation bill out of the hands of the house committee, to which it was referred on Tuesday by vote of a narrow majority. The latter committee today decided to appoint two sub-committees, one to frame a bill that will take in railroad, telephone, telegraph, express, vessel and such other property as they may see fit to include, the other to frame a general taxation bill.

In the senate the Republicans have decided to draft an entirely new bill, which levies specific taxes to the amount of $946,000, which will nearly if not quite double this sum. A canvass of the senate seems to ensure the latter bill's passage.

NOT DISCOURAGED.

Washington, Feb. 16.—The joint American-Canadian commission was in session today as usual. The members express themselves as not discouraged by the outlook.

NAVAL ENGINEERS.

Washington, Feb. 16.—The president today nominated Ernest P. Goodrich, of Michigan; Leonard M. Cox, of Kentucky, and Alfred C. Lewerenz, of Michigan, to be civil engineers in the navy.

THE BICYCLE RACE.

Gimm Is Twenty Miles Ahead of Champion Miller.

San Francisco, Feb. 16.—The score at 3:54 a. m., the end of the fifty-third hour, was as follows:

Gimm, 963 miles; Miller, 947 miles; Fredericks, 900 miles, 6 laps; Aaronson, 889 miles 2 laps; Nawn, 888 miles, 5 laps; Hale, 886 miles 5 laps; Barnaby, 874 miles 7 laps; Pierce, 870 miles 1 lap; Albert, 856 miles 3 laps; Pilkington 817 miles 6 laps; Lawson, 813 miles 2 laps; Julius, 753 miles 5 laps; Ashinger, 729 miles 4 laps.

At 10 a. m., fifty-ninth hour, score: Gimm, 1056 miles 4 laps; Miller, 1036 miles 4 laps; Aaronson, 992 miles 7 laps; Fredericks, 989 miles 4 laps; Nawn, 974 miles 2 laps; Hale, 970 miles 6 laps; Pierce, 951 miles; Alberts 950 miles 5 laps; Barnaby, 946 miles; Pilkington, 893 miles; Lawson, 864 miles; Julius, 822 miles; Ashinger, 806 miles.

Previous record, 979 miles 830 yards, held by Miller.

Aaronson, the giant Swede, is waking up the field so frequently and carrying it along so swiftly that there is danger of collapse in the line but not in the pacer. Aaronson, who was taken in hand yesterday afternoon by Frank Waller and fitted out with wheel and clothes, has placed to his credit within the last eight hours no less than 139 miles and a half.

Space between the riders is becoming more pronounced as they continue to mow the records down hour after hour. From 70 to 80 miles is the usual addition to the best previous record at each hour and at the 100-mile marks the field now is six hours ahead of time with five and six men beating the mark.

TO PREVENT TIGHT LACING.

Assemblyman Maggett of Wisconsin Distinguishes Himself Easily.

Madison, Wis., Feb. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Assemblyman Maggett refuses to be kept in the background of the legislature and this morning drew attention to himself by introducing a bill to prevent tight lacing by women. The measure went to the committee on public health and sanitation.

Important bills introduced were: Relating to the manufacture and sale of pure beer; an engineer's license bill; to license peddlers; requiring oil inspectors to make monthly report.

The anti-pass resolution came into the assembly from the senate and was referred to the committee on railroads. A dozen bills were passed and as many more killed.

A joint committee was appointed to invite W. J. Bryan, who speaks here tonight, to address the legislature.

Thirty-nine new bills were introduced in the senate this morning, making a total of 219. Tomorrow is the last day for new bills. One of the most important was by Welton to reorganize the Wisconsin National Guard on the plan of the regular army; it provides for forty companies as now divided into three 12-company regiments with one independent battalion, and reduces the old number of officers and men by nineteen.

Other bills: Prohibiting commitment of vagrants to county poorhouse; authorizing cities of third class to levy special tax for school purposes; to legalize all corporate bonds heretofore issued by cities of 10,000 or less; requiring city school superintendents to pass examination. Bill providing contingent fund of $50,000 for prevention of cholera ordered to engrossment and third reading.

Catlin's bill for the protection of purchasers of county orders was passed by the assembly. The same house killed people's bill relating to foreclosure of mortgages by advertisement.

TRULY A SPECIFIC.

Dr. Burchmore, of Boston, Prescribes Warner's Safe Cure.

Physicians are notoriously cautious in recommending anything, and they rarely use language direct and positive. Yet Dr. Burchmore, one of the leading physicians of Boston, has written the following letter which is unmistakable in tone. He says:

Boston, Oct 1, 1898.

"Gentlemen—I take great pleasure in sending to you my endorsement of your excellent remedy, as there is no question regarding its remarkable therapeutic value. I speak from my experience of its use in the Suffolk hospital and dispensary, during my term of service. It has cured Bright's disease, diabetes insipidus, chronic interstitial nephritis, cystitis and pyelitis. I have watched very carefully the results of this great remedy, Warner's Safe Cure, upon patients afflicted with any of the many diseases of the kidneys and urinary organs. From the benefit derived I feel it is most assuredly a specific of great value.

Very truly, C. F. B. BURCHMORE, M.D. Suffolk Dispensary.

The Suffolk dispensary is one of the most active and useful charities of Boston. Dr. Burchmore has a large private practice, and is a specialist in women's diseases.

The termination "itis" means inflammation. Cystitis is inflammation of the bladder. Nephritis and pyelitis are dangerous inflammatory conditions of the kidneys.

Physicians with their usual caution rarely use language so direct and positive as that employed by Dr. Burchmore, but they rarely have such a remedial agent as Warner's Safe Cure to talk about. Dr. Burchmore declares with that feeling of responsibility which never deserts a conscientious physician, "It has cured acute Bright's disease." He credits Warner's Safe Cure with greater power than is possessed by any other medicinal product known to man. Notice, please, that it calls Safe Cure a specific, meaning that it has a positive effect in the cure of certain diseases. There are only a handful of specifics. Other remedies are more or less uncertain in their action. In putting Warner's Safe Cure upon the scientific roll of honor, the eminent physician pays it a compliment which his fellow practitioners agree is richly merited.

Not from the observation of one case, nor of a thousand, have Dr. Burchmore's conclusions been drawn. At the dispensary he has seen every form of kidney trouble, including all variations of Bright's disease, and he is himself a noted specialist in women's diseases. Warner's Safe Cure has stood a severe test of the general and hospital practice of so eminent a man. No man or woman should for a moment feel despondent, even if troubled with any form of female or kidney and liver diseases, when so great a remedy is within their grasp.

How to Get the Good of Wool Soap.

When you find that Wool Soap won't shrink woolens, don't use it alone on wool. Why be more careful of wool than you are of your face?

Wool Soap is made on purpose to cleanse woolens without shrinking or injuring. The same ingredients that make it best for this purpose make it best also for the human skin. No roughness or redness follows its use. That shows that it's pure.

Wool Soap is always best wherever purity is necessary. Wool Soap is so pure that it is white—so pure that it swims. But some other soaps are that pure. Wool Soap is the only soap so pure that it won't shrink wool. That's the supreme test, and only Wool Soap stands it.

NOTICE OF MORTGAGE SALE—

Whereas default has been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage which was duly executed and delivered by Henri Holmbo and Kathrina W. Holmbo, his wife, mortgagors, to Emily J. R. Deal, mortgagee, bearing date February first (1st), 1892, and which was duly recorded in the register of deeds' office for St. Louis County, Minnesota, on February fifteenth (15th), 1892, at one (1) o'clock p. m. in Book one hundred one (101) of mortgages, on page two hundred twenty-nine (229); and which said mortgage was also duly recorded in the register of deeds' office for Carlton County, Minnesota, on February twenty-seventh (27th), 1892, at eleven (11) o'clock a. m., in Book "D" of mortgages, on page two hundred fifty-two (252),; such default consisting in the non-payment of the principal sum of four hundred ($400) dollars thereby secured, together with interest thereon, at the rate specified in said mortgage, from January first (1st), 1898, no part of any of which has been paid;

And, whereas, there is therefore claimed to be due, and there is actually due, upon said mortgage debt, at the date of this notice, the sum of four hundred thirty-six and 80-100 ($436.80) dollars, principal, interest and exchange;

And, whereas, said mortgage contains a power of sale in due form, which has become operative by reason of the defaults above mentioned, and no action or proceeding, at law or otherwise, has been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof;

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of said power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made, said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described therein situate in St Louis County and in Carlton County, Minnesota, described as follows, towit: The northeast one-quarter (N. E. ¼) of the northeast one-quarter (N. E. ¼) of section twelve (12), in township forty-nine (49) north of range sixteen (16) west of the Fourth principal meridian, containing forty (40) acres, more or less, according to the government survey thereof, the same lying and being situate in the said county of Carlton; also the west one-half (W. ½) of the west one-half (W. ½) of the southeast one-quarter (S. E. ¼) of the southeast one-quarter (S. E. ¼) of section nineteen (19), in township forty-nine (49) north of range fifteen (15) west of the Fourth principal meridian, containing ten (10) acres, more or less, according to the government survey thereof, the same lying and being situate in said county of St. Louis; which premises will be sold by the sheriff of said St. Louis County, at the front door of the court house, in the city of Duluth, in said St. Louis County, Minnesota, on the twenty-fifth (25th) day of February, A. D. 1899, at ten (10) o'clock a. m., at public auction, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and twenty-five dollars attorney's fee, stipulated for in said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

NOTICE OF MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE.—

Default has been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage, made and delivered by August J. Tallakson and Hansine Tallakson, his wife, mortgagors, to Richard A. Taussig, mortgagee, dated September 23rd, 1891, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds for St. Louis County, Minnesota, on September 25th, 1891, at 8 o'clock A. M. in Book ninety-eight (98) of Mortgages on page eighty-eight (88).

Said mortgage and the debt thereby secured were assigned by the said Richard A. Taussig to Charles M. McCloud by an instrument, dated September 28th, 1891, and recorded in said Register of Deeds' office October 3rd, 1891, at 4 o'clock P. M., in Book seventy-three (73) of Mortgages on page five hundred forty-five (545).

The default aforesaid consists in the non-payment of the principal sum secured by said mortgage and interest thereon from March 1st, 1898. There is claimed to be due and is due upon said mortgage and the debt secured thereby at the date of this notice the sum of Eight Hundred and 83-100 ($800.83) Dollars, and no action or proceeding, at law or otherwise, has been instituted to recover said mortgage debt or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of a power of sale and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises therein described, viz:

All those tracts or parcels of land lying and being in the County of St. Louis and State of Minnesota, described as follows, to-wit:

Lots numbered fifteen (15) and sixteen (16), in Block numbered ten (10), in Merchant's Park Division to Duluth, according to the recorded plat thereof on file in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for St. Louis County, Minnesota.

Which said premises with the hereditaments and appurtenances will be sold at public auction for cash to the highest bidder to pay said mortgage debt and interest and taxes, if any, and the sum of Fifty Dollars ($50.00) attorneys' fees, stipulated for in said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law, by the sheriff of said St. Louis County, at the front door of the court house, in the city of Duluth, in said county, on the 18th day of February, 1899, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of that day, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the date of sale as provided by law.

NOTICE OF MORTGAGE SALE.—

Whereas, default has been made in the payment of the sum of one thousand one hundred fifty-eight and 56-100 dollars ($1158.56), which amount is claimed to be due and is due, owing and unpaid at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage and note secured thereby, duly executed and delivered by Anna Brandt (an unmarried woman) mortgagor, to Lela Daggett, mortgagee, dated the 28th day of August, A. D. 1894, and which said mortgage was duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds, in and for St. Louis County, Minnesota, on the 4th day of September, A. D. 1894, at 3 o'clock and thirty minutes p. m., in Book 106 of mortgages, on page 57 thereof.

And whereas, default has been made in the payment of twenty-two dollars ($22.00) premium for insurance upon the premises covered by said mortgage, which said mortgagor neglected to pay, and which said mortgagee was compelled to pay and did pay on the 16th day of September, A. D. 1898, in accordance with the provisions of said mortgage, for the protection of said premises.

And whereas, there is therefore claimed to be due and there is actually due upon said mortgage debt, at the date of this notice, the sum of one thousand one hundred eighty and 56-100 dollars ($1180.56), principal, interest and insurance premium paid.

And whereas, said mortgage contains a power of sale in due form, which became operative by reason of said default, and no action or proceeding, at law or otherwise, has been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof;

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of said power of sale in said mortgage contained, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described therein, lying and being in the county of St. Louis, state of Minnesota, described as follows, to-wit: Lot numbered eleven (11), in block twenty (20), in the Endion Division of Duluth, according to the recorded plat thereof, in the office of said register of deeds; which premises with the hereditaments and appurtenances thereunto belonging, will be sold by the sheriff of said St. Louis County, Minnesota, at the front door of the court house, in the city of Duluth, in St. Louis County, Minnesota, on the 20th day of March, A. D. 1899, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day, at public auction, to the highest bidder for cash, to satisfy the amount then due upon said mortgage debt including insurance so paid as aforesaid, together with the sum of fifty dollars ($50.00) attorney's fees, stipulated for in said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the costs and disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as by law provided.

OHIO'S NEW CAPITOL

Laying the Corner Stone of the New Building at Columbus.

SPEECH BY MONNETT

Attorney General Urges Resistance to Attacks on the People's Rights.

Columbus, Ohio, Feb. 16.—Attorney General Monnett was the orator at the laying of the corner stone of the new state capitol today, and in his address devoted considerable time to corporations. He said in part:

"In our constitution of 1851 we made a departure from the constitution of 1802 by delegating the power, with certain constitutional limitations, to the legislature to enact general laws creating corporations. This was an innovation that fifty years experience in this and other states shows is yet an experiment. There are Titanic tasks to be performed for which the human arm is not long enough and man's life not enduring enough. His mind is not powerful enough to carry on the great work of a continental railroad and other great enterprises, and therefore we felt justified in creating these fictitious entities called corporations.

"We have loaned to them some of the functions of the government: we have given them the right to take private property for public purposes; we have permitted them to usurp our franchises in the highways, in the rivers, and over the bridges; we have permitted them, for public purposes, to string wires across the country. The beneficent results from this modern system of developing our country and embellishing our cities has been, on every hand, applauded, and yet, on the other hand, many of the guardians of this great sacred trust, these agents of the governmental functions bequeathed to them, have too often forgotten that these potent functions of government so loaned to them, if used, must be justly and fairly and legally exercised. If they have governmental functions granted to them by a state, they must exercise them for the public and the general welfare of the states the same as the sovereign itself would use them.

"For many purposes the income of these corporations is but another name for taxation; to the extent that they represent the government, to that extent is their income an excise tax. To the extent they represent the government, their demeanor must be as a government. They can no more discriminate against one citizen as against another than the state could impose its taxes upon one to the exemption of another.

"If they exercise the right of eminent domain, they must also subject themselves to the principles of a common carrier. If they occupy our streets they must be amenable to the rules and regulations of the municipality wherein they exist.

"If they run their pipe lines across private property, all parties desiring to avail themselves of this public carrier must be afforded equal opportunities, or, in a word, to make myself understood, this judiciary building that we erect today, in the near future will be called upon to dispense justice, to right the wrongs, to reinstate the liberties of the individual citizen as usurped powers and rights of certain monopolies. It is just as tyrannical and offensive for one of the governmental creatures, having governmental powers delegated to it for public purposes, to suppress public sentiment and subvert truth; to mislead the populace, as it would be for the governor of this state, or the president of the United States, to issue an edict from the executive chamber that only certain matter could be published in the morning dailies, and that favorable to some unholy policy or nefarious scheme that such executive had planned for subverting the rights of the people.

"It is as much a violation of the bill of rights that our forefathers demanded be preserved unto them and their posterity to permit special franchises and special immunities, and these public franchises to be perpetually granted, as it would be if the government itself would repeat the deeds of Queen Elizabeth in the palmy days of English monarchs, wherein she granted to her court favorites the exclusive privileges to deal in coal, iron, salt, tin and sulphur, that she and her sycophants might exact from her subjects at their pleasure an unnatural profit.

"We need but leaf back the pages of history a few centuries and see what our fathers meant when they demanded and exacted that special privileges should be granted to none; for we are told that the English monarchs not only granted to patentees these franchises to deal exclusively in such commodities, but clothed them with the high and arbitrary powers by which they could exterminate all competitors, oppress the people as they thought proper in the nature of a penalty visited upon all that interfered with their patent.

"It will be observed that privileges of this character were created, not by combinations of individuals or of companies, but by royal grants, authorized from the sovereign state to exercise these diabolical functions.

"Let us be mindful of the true relationship of our state to this great sisterhood of states, and while it may be true and is an accomplished fact that we have granted and ceded certain rights and powers to a common and central government to form our great and glorious nation, yet we should also be mindful that the state is sovereign and that she has reserved many valuable rights and powers unto herself; that however pleasant, alluring and almost enchanting may be the halo of war and the clangor of arms and the cry of national greatness and the longing for new fields to conquer, we must also remember that the great body of our citizens must remain at home and pursue the even tenor of their ways and perform the plain duties devolving upon the father, or mother, or dutiful son. The shop, the mine and the farm, and the household gods of our hearthstone cannot be abandoned for military and naval glory; we must be mindful of each. However much we love our nation, and, when duty calls, yield to her commands, at most these periods are but for a moment. The development of our minds and morals and physical comforts in our homes and in our shops are perennial and forever, whether we will or not.

"Therefore, my countrymen, on this memorable occasion, along with our rejoicing in the glorious victories abroad, let us also turn our attentions to the serious problems that affect our homes, affect our property, and affect our liberties, to determine in a legal, constitutional way the destiny of the citizen at home.

"Shall we forget the precepts, examples, the sacrifices and blood spilled upon this soil for the inheritance that we have entered into and are today enjoying? Patriotism was not alone confined to fighting a King George or resisting a Tudor.

"If you love your country, if you love the oppressed, if you are patriotic, you will not submit to aggressions and the subverting of the rights of common man, either by bribery for position or for the emoluments of office, but whenever and wherever you see tyranny in any form, oppression under any guise, the using of the forms of government to unlawfully build up private estates at the expense of the common welfare, be men and rise above the baneful influences that would work your own destruction."

A DOUBLE ATTRACTION.

Corner Stone Laying Supplemented By a Legislative Reunion.

Columbus, Ohio, Feb. 16.—The city is filled with strangers today, there being a double attraction of general public interest—the laying of the cornerstone of the new $200,000 addition to the state house being of first importance, and the reunion of the members of the Seventy-third general assembly the secondary consideration. The reunion takes the place of the adjourned session of the legislature, since the adoption of the biennial session idea.

The cornerstone exercises took place at 2 p. m., when Governor Bushnell, after an invocation by Rev. H. H. Barbour, laid the stone. The vast assemblage then adjourned to the board of trade auditorium, where the program was concluded.

Besides that by Attorney General Monnett, addresses were made by Chief Justice J. P. Bradbury of the Ohio supreme court, Hon. Charles D. Wightman, Hon. A. J. Hazlett and Hon. William G. Deshler.

Bessemer Steamship Company Gives Orders For Four Large Freighters.

Cleveland, Feb. 16.—The Marine Review tomorrow will say: Orders for four large steel freighters, two steamers of 6250 tons each, and two barges of 7250 tons each—gross tons capacity in both cases—just placed by the Bessemer Steamship company (Rockefeller interest) bring the number of contracts for new vessels of all kinds on the great lakes up to thirty-six, and the total valuation of $5,109,000. With two other vessels for the Bessemer fleet—one at Cleveland and one at West Superior—already well under way, the aggregate value of Rockefeller orders is fully $1,250,000. Of these four latest ships, none of which are to be delivered until April, 1900, three will be built by the American Steel Barge company, of West Superior, and one by F. W. Wheeler, of West Bay City, Mich. The West Superior company gets a steamer and two tow barges and F. W. Wheeler a steamer.

The new steamers will be 486 feet long over all, and the barges 466 feet.

To the President and Common Council:

Your committee on police and license to whom was referred the communication of the mayor, giving his reasons for not reinstating Capt. F. E. Resche to his position in the police department, respectfully report as follows:

We did not enter upon this investigation with any hope of securing the reinstatement of Officer Resche, as that matter was in the mayor's hands, but to give the captain a chance to prove himself innocent of the charges made by the mayor, and upon which the mayor claims to have acted.

The loss of his position as policeman was of little consequence to Capt. Resche, but the injury to his reputation as a man and a soldier was of the greatest moment and for the purpose of finding out the facts, your committee made the inquiry.

Only part of the testimony taken by us is printed and attached hereto, because of the injury that would be done to innocent parties were some of the facts to become public.

With respect to the mayor's reasons, we find

1st. That Capt. Resche did not "misrepresent the boys at Chickamauga," but that the trouble rose from a misunderstanding by the men of the action taken by the officers.

2nd. That the statement in the telegram sent to the News Tribune was true.

3rd. That the conversation said to have taken place between Capt. Resche and first sergeant of Company A and cited by the mayor as proof of the captain having a "swelled head," did not take place as stated. That Capt. Resche did not make the statement in the manner attributed to him.

We also find that the captain's conduct, both as a police officer and a soldier was above reproach, and that the greater part of the trouble in Company C was caused by one member of the company who was at once reinstated by the mayor on his return, but whose conduct as a soldier was disgraceful to himself, the company, regiment, city and state.

For the sake of the family of this disturber, all of the testimony taken by the committee is not made a part of this report. If our city employes are to be judged by their war record, we cannot too strongly denounce the action of the mayor in putting a premium on misconduct by condemning and dismissing a first-class officer without investigation and reinstating one whose record is one of dishonor.

While the mayor has the right to discharge police officers without the consent of the common council, we believe that for the "good of the service" good reasons should be given for every discharge.

Capt. Resche having been greatly wronged by the mayor's action, your committee recommend that this report and the letter from Col. Van Duzee hereto attached be printed in the record and the remainder of the testimony filed in the office of the city clerk.

Respectfully submitted,

J. L. CROMWELL,
G. E. DUREN,
GEORGE TISCHER,
Committee.

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 4, 1899.

J. L. Cromwell, Esq.,
Chairman Police and License Committee, Duluth Minn.

Dear Sir—Your letter in the matter of Capt. Resche is at hand, and I am sorry to note the tone of the enclosed letter.

In order to prevent, if possible, what seems to me the greatest injustice, I will state what I believe to be the absolute truth, briefly and clearly. I believe the honorable mayor is sincere in what he says, but I also am quite sure that he is terribly mistaken. The whole matter between the officers and men at Chickamauga was the result of a misunderstanding which was very natural, but not discovered until the harm had all been done.

The facts are these: At about the time hostilities ceased it was given out in the press that the president had decided to allow the enlisted men of the volunteer forces to say whether they would remain in the service or not. The officers of the Fourteenth, at a meeting NOT called for that purpose, decided to notify the war department that the OFFICERS of the Fourteenth Minnesota volunteer infantry wished to remain in the service.

I wrote the telegram myself and did not mention the regiment as a whole, or the enlisted men, as I fully expected that the men would be allowed to decide for themselves when the time came, and knew that many of them would choose to go home and that we should have no difficulty in filling the ranks with recruits. This meeting was held in front of my quarters, within hearing of the sentinel and orderlies, and I believe the simple fact that the men thought we were trying to force THEM to stay in the service was responsible for all the trouble.

The officers did not object to the MEN wanting to go home, but to the fact that they were afraid the regiment would have to go home and be disbanded if petitions and such things were sent out of camp, and they also were afraid that the fair name of Minnesota and of the regiment would be very apt to suffer.

I called the men together and tried to explain matters, but I was ill and fear they did not understand me, but I remember how I repeated over and over again these words: "Wait until the proper time comes." There is a great deal more which might be said along these lines, but I trust the above will help you to see the truth.

I do not care to discuss the mayor's personal opinions or assertions. Looking at it from my standpoint, the telegram to the News Tribune does explain itself and was sent after being approved by myself. The vote ordered by Col. Johnson was at my request and no attempt was made to conceal the result and if the regiment could have staid with 80 per cent of the officers and 20 per cent of the men, I think we could have made a record that the people of Duluth and others might have been proud of.

Now, as to Capt. Resche. He is one of the most soldierly, gentlemanly and honorable men I ever knew. He was untiring in his labors, always prompt and never behind time—an ideal officer and man, and I was very proud of him. He has yet to do the first thing of which I would disapprove in a subordinate officer. If his head was swelled, I never knew it and wish some others might be affected that way if it is like what Capt. Resche has. If being unable to promote all the enlisted men in his company to be officers, as many fond parents would seem to think possible, was a fault, or if allowing merit to count instead of pull, was a crime, he had it.

I shall be greatly pleased to answer further questions or to do anything I can to help place Capt. Resche right before his friends. Sincerely yours,

CHAS. A. VAN DUZEE.
Late Colonel Fourteenth Minnesota Volunteer Infantry.

Alderman Cromwell moved that the report with the letter from Col. Van Duzee attached thereto be received and entered in the proceedings of the council, and that the report of the examination of Capt. Resche be placed on file in the office of the city clerk, and the motion was declared carried upon a vote by acclamation.

To the President and Common Council

Your committee on officers and elections to whom was referred returns of the annual municipal election, held Feb. 7, 1899, having considered the same, recommend the adoption of the following resolution:

FRANK CRASSWELLER,
J. L. CROMWELL,
Committee.

Resolved by the common council of the city of Duluth that

Whereas, there was held in the city of Duluth, pursuant to chapter 2 of the charter of said city a municipal election for the purpose of electing for the term of two years, a treasurer, a comptroller and one alderman from each of the eight wards of the said city, to represent said wards in said council; and

Whereas, said election has been duly held, to-wit: On the 7th day of February, 1899, and the judges and clerks of election for the several precincts in the said city have duly made their returns of said election; and

Whereas, this council has duly canvassed said returns according to law and ascertained the number of votes cast at said election; now, therefore,

The common council of the city of Duluth hereby declares that at said election there were cast 4534 votes; that for the office of treasurer Frederick J. Voss received 3774 votes; that H. P. Huss, received 6 votes; that Charles A. Olson, Fred Harris and Ole Olson, each received 2 votes; that E. Benham, Ben. Howard, P. Johnson, George Schulenburg, William H. Chapman, William M. Prindle, Charles Lutes, L. Wanwick, Tom Brian, Sandy McDonald, Charles P. Murphy, John Hibbard, John R. Sutphin, A. J. Miller, A. E. McManus, Charles Nelson, Frank Wyman, Jacob Zimmerman, C. W. Wilson, John Gordon and James Brotherton, each received 1 vote; that the returns as made by the judges show 4 votes cast for treasurer, which were simply returned as "scattering."

That for the office of comptroller, William S. McCormick received 2262 votes, Charles E. Lovett received 2136 votes, and F. A. Patrick and A. C. Barlow each received 1 vote;

That for the office of alderman for the first ward, J. P. Johnson received 308 votes, and Marcus B. Cullom received 308 votes;

That for the office of alderman for the Second ward George Tischer received 261 votes, Henry W. Moeller received 115 votes, John R. Carey received 276 votes, and A. J. Harker received 6 votes;

That for the office of alderman for the Third ward Daniel W. Scott received 163 votes, John A. Watterworth received 304 votes, W. D. Gordon received 59 votes, and E. R. Jefferson received 21 votes;

That for the office of alderman for the Fourth ward, Aquilla G. Osman received 186 votes, Porter J. Neff received 230 votes and M. Salburg received 1 vote;

That for the office of alderman for the Fifth ward, Harvey A. Wing received 321 votes, and Charles M. Simpson received 265 votes;

That for the office of alderman for the Sixth ward William W. Allen received 255 votes, and Frank E. Schaffer received 310 votes;

That for the office of alderman for the Seventh ward, Lucien A. Barnes received 293 votes, Swan J. Nygren 134 votes, Francis P. Tims received 118 votes and I. Pierce received 1 vote;

That for the office of alderman for the Eighth ward, Edward Swenson received 233 votes, Frank E. Bradley received 119 votes, Charles A. Olson received 51 votes, and Stephen C. Murphy received 141 votes.

Be it further resolved by the common council of the city of Duluth, that Frederick J. Voss is duly elected treasurer of the city of Duluth, that William S. McCormick is duly elected comptroller of the city of Duluth, that John R. Carey is declared duly elected alderman from the Second ward; that John A. Watterworth is declared duly elected alderman from the Third ward; that Porter J. Neff is declared duly elected alderman from the Fourth ward; that Harvey A. Wing is declared duly elected alderman from the Fifth ward; that Frank E. Schaffer is declared duly elected alderman from the Sixth ward; that Lucien A. Barnes is declared duly elected alderman from the Seventh ward; that Edward Swenson is declared duly elected alderman from the Eighth ward; and, that for the office of alderman from the First ward John P. Johnson and Marcus B. Cullum each received the same number of votes, therefore pursuant to the provision of section 15 of chapter 2 of the charter of the city of Duluth, it is hereby directed that the selection of alderman from the First ward for the term of two years be determined by casting lots forthwith in the presence of said Johnson, said Cullum and this council in the following manner, viz: That ten slips of paper each approximately one inch by three inches in size, one of which shall have written on it the name of John P. Johnson, and another of which shall have written on it the name of Marcus B. Cullum, be placed in a cylindrical box mounted on a frame, which, after being closed shall be turned for a sufficient length of time to thoroughly mix the aforesaid pieces of paper after which the city clerk of the city of Duluth shall be blindfolded and draw from the box one slip of paper at a time which he shall hand to the president of the council and repeat the operation until a slip containing the name of one of the candidates shall be drawn, and the candidate whose name shall be first drawn shall be declared as elected to the office of alderman from the said First ward of the city of Duluth.

Alderman Crassweller moved the adoption of the resolution, and it was declared adopted upon the following vote:

Yeas—Aldermen Burg, Crassweller, Cromwell, Duren, Griffin, Jefferson, Johnson, Krumsieg, Nelson, Sang, Simpson, Tischer, Trevillion, Mr. President—14.

Nays—None.

Passed Feb. 13, 1899.

Approved Feb. 14, 1899.

HENRY TRUELSEN,
Mayor.

In acordance with the provisions of the foregoing resolution the city clerk was blindfolded and the other conditions prescribed by the said resolution were complied with and the name of Marcus B. Cullum was the first to be drawn from the box, it being on the sixth card drawn.

By Alderman Crassweller:

Whereas, in the canvass of the returns of the judges and clerks of election of the votes cast for alderman of the First ward, it was found and determined that both John P. Johnson and Marcus B. Cullum, each received the same number of votes; and

Whereas, according to provisions of section 15 of chapter 2 of the city charter, this council decided that that candidate shall be declared elected whose name should be first drawn from a cylindrical box, under certain provisions as recited in the resolution declaring the result of said election; and

Whereas, inaccordance with the provisions of said resolution the name of Marcus B. Cullum was the first to be drawn

Therefore, be it resolved, that the said Marcus B. Cullum is declared duly elected alderman from the First ward of the city of Duluth for the term of two years.

Alderman Cromwell moved the adoption of the resolution, and it was declared adopted upon the following vote:

Yeas—Aldermen Burg, Crassweller, Cromwell, Duren, Griffin, Jefferson, Johnson, Krumsieg, Nelson, Sang, Simpson, Tischer, Trevillion, Mr. President—14.

Nays—None.

Passed Feb. 13, 1899.

Approved Feb. 14, 1899.

HENRY TRUELSEN,
Mayor.

INTRODUCTION AND CONSIDERATION OF ORDINANCES.

The following ordinances were introduced, took their first reading and were referred to the committee on ordinances and resolutions:

By Alderman Nelson:

The Common Council of the City of Duluth do Ordain:

Section 1. There is hereby granted to R. H. Evans, on the conditions hereinafter set forth, the right to erect, operate and maintain lines of telephone in the city of Duluth, Minnesota, including such necessary poles, wires, fixtures and electrical conductors upon, under and over and sub-ways for electrical conductors under public roads, streets, alleys, public grounds and highways of said city, as may be required in said business. All such poles shall be neat and symmetrical and well painted in colors and no electrical conductor shall be placed thereon less than twenty-five (25) feet above the surface of the ground.

Section 2. The work of erecting poles and constructing sub-ways by virtue of the franchise hereby granted, shall be done under the supervision of the board of public works, or such other official representatives of said city as the common council may by resolution designate; and the said R. H. Evans, or his assigns, shall replace and properly relay any sidewalk, pavement or street that may be displaced by reason of the erection or construction of such poles or sub-ways, and upon his or their failure so to do after five (5) days' notice in writing shall have been given by the proper authorities of said city to said Evans or his assigns, said city of Duluth may repair such portion of the sidewalk, pavement or streets as may have been disturbed by the said Evans or his assigns, and charge the cost thereof so incurred to said Evans or his assigns, and collect the same therefrom.

Section 3. Said Evans or his assigns shall provide one cross-arm on each pole and space not exceeding the capacity for one cable in any sub-way constructed by virtue hereof for the free use of police and fire alarm telegraph system owned by the said city of Duluth, or which may be owned or operated by it at any time hereafter.

Section 4. The rights and privileges hereby granted are and shall be subject to the provisions of all ordinances now in force or which may be hereafter enacted by the common council of the said city in the exercise of its police powers regulating and controlling the manner of using the streets and other public grounds thereof by telegraph and telephone companies.

Section 5. Said Evans or his assigns shall indemnify said city of Duluth from and assume all liabilities for damages which may arise or accrue to said city from the injury of any person or persons, or to any property from the doing of any work herein authorized to be done or from the operation of said plant, or from the neglect of said Evans or his assigns, or any of his or their employes, to comply with any ordinance relative to the manner of the use of the highways of said city.

Section 6. The rates to be charged for telephones shall at all times be reasonable.

Section 7. At any time during the term of such franchise after the expiration of the period of five years from the granting of this franchise, the city of Duluth may (in the event of the city so determining) take over the telephone exchange constructed, maintained and operated by said Evans or his assigns under this franchise, together with all appliances, wires, telephones and all personal property of whatsoever nature used by said Evans or his assigns in connection with the operation of said telephone business, at a value to be determined, if the city and said Evans or his assigns cannot agree on same, by arbitrators, one to be appointed by said city and one by said Evans, or his assigns, and in the event of said arbitrators not being able to agree upon such value, they shall appoint a third arbitrator, and the decision of the majority of said arbitrators upon the question of such value shall be final; such value, however, shall not exceed the cost of duplicating the said telephone exchange plant and appliances together with ten per cent of said cost of duplication added thereto; six months' written notice shall be given to the party or company holding such franchise by the city of Duluth, of the determination of said city to so take over such telephone exchange and property, and thereupon if the city and said Evans or his assigns cannot agree upon such value, arbitrators shall be forthwith appointed, and such arbitrators shall render their decision at least two months prior to the expiration of the said six months' written notice aforesaid. Every facility for the examination of the plant and every part thereof shall be given by said Evans, or his assigns, under a penalty of a forfeiture of the franchise at the option of the common council.

Section 8. Said Evans or his assigns shall furnish to the city council a full and complete statement of his or their plants and appliances and of the cost and value of the same, verified by said Evans or his assigns, if the same shall be a person, or by the president and secretary, if the same be an incorporated company, within sixty (60) days after the completion of said plant; and thereafter annually not later than the first day of February, in each year, shall file a verified statement of like character, showing the plant and appliances of such party or company, and the cost and value of the same as it existed on the first day of January in such year; and all books, accounts and vouchers kept by the party or company holding such franchise, shall be subject to semi-annual audit by auditors to be appointed by the city council of said city, and all reasonable facilities for such audit shall be afforded by such party or company, and vouchers shall be kept by said party or company for all expenditures in the construction and operation of said plant.

Section 9. A deposit of a certified check for $2500, payable to the order of the city treasurer, has been deposited by the said Evans, conditioned upon his accepting this franchise, and the same shall be forfeited to the city if he fails to accept the same. Said check will be retained until this ordinance shall have been duly published and accepted by the purchaser. The said Evans is allowed twenty days after the publication of this ordinance within which to accept the same. At the time of filing such acceptance, the said Evans shall file with the city clerk, a bond to be approved by the common council, in the sum of ten thousand dollars ($10,000.00) conditioned on the completion of the plant herein provided for according to the terms of this ordinance. Upon the filing of such bond so approved the check herein mentioned shall be returned to said Evans.

Section 10. Public telephones shall be placed at central parts of Lakewood, Duluth Heights, Fond du Lac and New Duluth, at which a uniform rate of 10 cents for five minutes or any fraction thereof, use of the same shall be charged, and telephones shall be placed and kept in any business office, store or residence or other place desired within the limits of the city of Duluth, upon the request of the party desiring the same, and no greater rate shall be charged therefor than the maximum rate, to be fixed for telephones under this franchise in the manner herein set forth.

Section 11. No assignment shall be made of the franchise herein provided for to any party or company without the consent duly expressed by ordinance of said city of Duluth and in the event of any such assignment being made without such consent as aforesaid, or making any assignment for the benefit of creditors or allowing a judgment to remain unsatisfied of record against it for the period of two months without any appeal being taken therefrom or if an appeal shall be taken and such judgment affirmed allowing such judgment to remain unsatisfied for the period of two months from the date of such affirmance then and in the event of the happening of any or either of such above named things the franchise to be granted shall terminate and become void at the option of said common council.

Section 12. The franchise hereby granted shall commence on the 9th day of March, 1899, and the said Evans or his assigns agrees to begin operation on the construction of said plant on or before April 1st, 1899, and have the plant in full operation on or before January 1st, 1900.

Section 13. The time of the continuance of this franchise shall be twenty-five (25) years, subject to the right of the city to purchase the said plant as specified in section 7 of this ordinance.

The maximum rate to be charged by said Evans or his assigns shall be twenty dollars ($20.00) per year for residence telephones and for telephones in business houses or offices, thirty-five ($35.00) for the first year and thirty dollars ($30) thereafter, all payable quarterly in advance.

Said Evans or his assigns by acceptance hereof, agree to maintain and operate free of charge to said city in its public offices, fire halls and public schools during the period of this franchise, fifteen (15) telephones, the city in no case, however, to require the said Evans or his assigns to put in a free telephone at a greater distance from the telephone line of said Evans or his assigns than one thousand feet.

The said Evans and his assigns further agree in consideration of the granting of this franchise, to pay the said city one-half per cent of the gross earnings of said telephone system that may be derived from the exercise of this franchise, the said one-half per cent of gross earnings to be paid the city semi-annually during the term of this franchise, on the first days of January and July in each year.

The telephone plant to be put in by the said Evans of his assigns shall be what is known as the "long distance metallic system," and all of the appliances, wires and fixtures shall be of the latest and most approved design and method.

Section 14. The said Evans and his assigns agree and bind themselves to connect the lines with the telephone system to be constructed hereunder, with the line or lines operated by any and all other telephone companies doing business outside the city of Duluth desiring such connection making application therefor, and constructing its or their said line or lines to the corporate limits of said city, which said connections shall be made on reasonable terms and without discrimination, provided, that the owners of such outside lines, desiring and applying for such connection as aforesaid, shall agree as a condition of such connection; to receive and transmit on like terms all messages in which the owner of this franchise shall be interested. In case there shall be any disagreement between the owner of this franchise and the owner or owners of any such outside telephone line or lines as to the terms and conditions upon which any such connection shall be made, such as to hinder or delay the same, then such difference and disagreement shall be promptly submitted to an arbitration committee to be composed of three freeholders and voters of the state of Minnesota, one of whom shall be named by the owner of this franchise, one by the owner or owners of said outside line desiring connection and the third by the mayor of the city of Duluth; and the decision of the majority of said committee as to terms and conditions upon which such connection ought to be made shall be final and conclusive upon the parties. Provided further, that the said Evans or his assigns, by the acceptance hereof agrees to provide and shall provide a free connection between the lines of telephone in the city of Duluth and the lines of some person or company operating a telephone system in the city of Superior, Wisconsin.

Section 15. The city of Duluth shall have a preferred lien upon all plants and property of said Evans or his assigns constructed, maintained or operated hereunder paramount to all rights of the said Evans, his assigns, or any mortgagee or incumbrancer thereof to secure payment to the city of Duluth of the money and dues which shall accrue to it by the terms of this ordinance and franchise.

Section 16. In case the said Evans or his assigns shall neglect or refuse to substantially carry out and perform each and all of the conditions of this franchise, the said Evans or his assigns at the option of the common council of the city of Duluth shall forfeit this franchise and all rights to operate the said plant in the said city and to collect revenue therefor and shall cease so to do.

Section 17. This ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage and publication.

By Alderman Duren:

AN ORDINANCE REGULATING THE BUSINESS OF HAWKING, PEDDLING AND VENDING WOOD UPON AND ALONG THE PUBLIC STREETS WITHIN THE LIMITS OF THE CITY OF DULUTH.

The Common Council of the City of Duluth do Ordain:

Section 1.—It shall be unlawful within the city limits of the city of Duluth for any person to engage in the business of hawking, peddling or vending wood upon or along any public street in the city of Duluth without first being licensed to carry on said business in accordance with the provisions of this ordinance.

Sec. 2.—Any person wishing to engage in the business of hawking, peddling or vending wood upon or along any street within said city shall pay to the city treasurer a license fee of five (5) dollars, and upon filing the treasurer's receipt therefor with the city clerk, the city clerk shall issue to such person a license for the term of one year from the date of the payment of said sum.

Sec. 3.—The terms hawking, peddling and vending as used herein are intended to include and shall include all persons who upon and along or stand upon any of the public streets within the city of Duluth with loads of wood for the purpose of hawking, peddling, vending, selling or offering the same for sale.

Sec. 4.—Nor shall any person licensed by this ordinance or any other person, for the purpose of hawking, peddling or vending wood, stop or stand upon any of the streets, avenues or alleys in said city between Seventh avenue west and Fourth avenue east in said city, excepting upon First street between Second avenue and Third avenue east and upon Third avenue east between Superior street and Second street.

Sec. 5.—The city clerk shall furnish each person licensed under this ordinance, a badge containing the number of the license issued to such person, and it shall be the duty of the person receiving the same to wear said badge in a conspicuous place on his hat or coat while engaged in his business; and it shall be the duty of each person licensed under this ordinance to have with him while engaged in his business the license received by him from the city clerk.

Sec. 6.—Any person violating any of the provisions of this ordinance shall be subject to a fine not exceeding fifty (50) dollars or to imprisonment not exceeding sixty (60) days.

Sec. 7.—All ordinances of the city of Duluth inconsistent with this ordinance are hereby repealed.

Sec. 8.—This ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage and publication.

UNFINISHED BUSINESS.

Under this head the city attorney submitted a report on the proposed bill providing for the distribution of the gross earnings tax received from the railroads of the state and the committee on ordinances and resolutions submitted the following report:

To the President and Common Council:

Your committee on ordinances and resolutions to whom was referred proposed act providing for the distribution of receipts from gross earnings tax of railroads, having considered the same, recommend the adoption of the following resolution:

J. P. JOHNSON,
Committee.

Resolved, by the common council of the city of Duluth that it heartily endorses the provisions of the proposed bill for introduction and passage at the present session of the legislature providing for the distribution between the state and the several counties, cities and villages, of the taxes paid on the gross earnings by railroad companies operating within the state;

Resolved further, that it is the sense of this council that the bill be amended by striking out the words first day of March where they occur in said bill in the second section and sixth section thereof and by substituting in lieu thereof the words first day of May.

Further resolved, that a copy of this resolution and the city attorney's report be transmitted by the city clerk to one member each of the delegation from St. Louis county in the senate and house of representatives.

Alderman Cromwell moved the adoption of the resolution, and it was declared adopted upon the following vote:

Yeas—Aldermen Burg, Crassweller, Cromwell, Duren, Griffin, Jefferson, Johnson, Krumsieg, Nelson, Sang, Simpson, Tischer, Trevillion, Mr. President—14.

Nays—None.

Passed Feb. 13, 1899.

Approved Feb. 14, 1899.

HENRY TRUELSEN,
Mayor.

---

The following report and resolution, laid over from the meeting of Feb. 6, was considered:

To the President and Common Council:

Your committee on water works, to whom was referred estimate to Allan Black for plumbing at Lakewood pumping station, having considered the same, recommend the adoption of the following resolution:

DAVID SANG,
J. L. CROMWELL,
FRANK CRASSWELLER,
Committee.

Resolved that the estimate made by the board of public works Feb. 6, 1899, to Allan Black on his contract for plumbing at Lakewood pumping station, be and is hereby allowed, and the city clerk is directed to draw an order on the city treasurer for $228.49 to pay the same.

Alderman Sang moved the adoption of the resolution, and it was declared adopted upon the following vote:

Yeas—Aldermen Burg, Crassweller, Cromwell, Duren, Griffin, Jefferson, Johnson, Krumsieg, Nelson, Sang, Simpson, Tischer, Trevillion, Mr. President—14.

Nays—None.

Passed Feb. 13, 1899.

Approved Feb. 14, 1899.

HENRY TRUELSEN,
Mayor.

---

Alderman Sang moved to take up the consideration of the pay roll for operation of the water and light plant for the month of January, and it was taken up upon a vote by acclamation.

---

The following resolution was offered by Alderman Cromwell: Resolved, that the pay roll for the operation of the water and light plant for the month of January, 1899, be and is hereby allowed, and the city clerk is directed to draw an order on the city treasurer for $1894.50 to pay the same.

Alderman Cromwell moved the adoption of the resolution. Alderman Sang moved to amend by paying the oilers and firemen at Lakewood the same wages that they received last month. The amendment was declared out of order.

Alderman Crassweller requested a division of the question, and that the vote on the salaries of the oilers and firemen at Lakewood be taken separately.

---

The president called Vice President Crassweller to the chair and took his seat in the council.

---

The question being upon the adoption of the resolution providing for the payment of the pay roll with the exception of the oilers and firemen at Lakewood, being in the sum of $1707.40, the resolution was declared adopted upon the following vote:

Yeas—Aldermen Burg, Cochrane, Cromwell, Jefferson, Johnson, Krumsieg, Nelson, Simpson, Tischer, Trevillion, Mr. Vice President—11.

Nays—Aldermen Duren, Griffin, Sang—3.

Passed Feb. 13, 1899.

Approved Feb. 14, 1899.

By Alderman Crowley:

Whereas, at the request of this council the Hon. Knute Nelson has secured from the United States for the city of Duluth the loan of one of the guns captured from the Spanish fleet off Santiago.

Therefore, be it resolved, that the thanks of the city of Duluth be and hereby are tendered to the aforesaid Hon. Knute Nelson for his efficient efforts on behalf of the city in the said matter.

Alderman Simpson moved the adoption of the resolution, and it was declared adopted upon the following vote:

Yeas—Aldermen Burg, Cochrane, Cromwell, Duren, Griffin, Jefferson, Johnson, Krumsieg, Nelson, Sang, Simpson, Tischer, Trevillion, Mr. Vice President—13.

Nays—None.

Passed Feb. 13, 1899.

Approved Feb. 14, 1899.

HENRY TRUELSEN,
Mayor.

---

Alderman Krumsieg moved that that part of the resolution providing for the payment of the salaries of the oilers and firemen at Lakewood be referred to the light and water committee to confer with the board of water and light commissioners with a view of an amicable adjustment of the salaries of said oilers and firemen, and the motion to refer was declared adopted upon the following vote: Yeas—Aldermen Burg, Cochrane, Duren, Griffin, Johnson, Krumsieg, Nelson, Sang, Simpson, Trevillion, Mr. Vice President—11.

Nays—Aldermen Cromwell, Jefferson, Tischer—3.

---

On motion of Alderman Nelson, the council adjourned.

H. W. CHEADLE
City Clerk.

An Amicable Settlement.

John Brown and Harry Mitchell, woodsmen, were arrested last night on the charge of stealing a cant hook from behind the bar in Devine & Sullivan's saloon, No. 201 Lake avenue south. Brown had the hook and before the arrest he had shown it to several people in front of the saloon, including a policeman, and told them that he had taken it to play a joke on Sullivan. This morning Mr. Sullivan called at police headquarters and got his cant hook. He was satisfied to get it back and would not prosecute. Explanations were made all around and he Brown and Mitchell departed from police headquarters together.

Little Lumber on the Duluth Docks That Is Not Disposed of.

ADVANCE IN PRICES

From One to Two Dollars Higher—Chicago Buys Nearly All.

There has never been a winter when the stock of lumber on the Duluth docks was so completely sold out as it is now. One of the largest dealers told a Herald man this morning that about 90 per cent of the lumber now on the docks at the head of the lakes has been sold.

For some weeks buyers have been here looking over the stocks here, and they have not been idle.

The price at which this lumber has been purchased is equal to an average advance of from $1 to $2 a thousand over last season's prices. This has rather astonished some of the commission men. Early in the winter, when the manufacturers were asking from 75 cents to $1.50 advance their demand was looked upon as very unlikely to be conceded. But they have now sold out at an even greater advance than they then asked. The truth is that lumber is very much on the rise. The commission men, who are the men between the manufacturers and buyers, look for even higher prices on next summer's cut. One of them said today:

"Lumber will never be as cheap here again as it has been. Stumpage is much scarcer than it used to be, and there is not the great amount of logs offered that used to be. The stumpage, too, has been concentrated into fewer hands, and I believe it will not be a great many years before timber will be scarce in Northeastern Minnesota."

A somewhat interesting fact is that about three-fourths of the lumber sold has been taken by Chicago parties. The Chicago men seem to have been much more enlightened as to the situation. The North Tonowanda, Buffalo and other Eastern buyers have considered the prices too high and believed that they could not be maintained. While they have been hesitating the Chicago men, who are better posted as to conditions in the Northwest, and know that lumber is going higher, have been buying the lumber.

The advance is a very satisfactory one to the manufacturers, and they are anticipating a very profitable season.

AUDITOR HALDEN EXPLAINS.

Says His Request For Clerk Hire Was Approved.

County Auditor Halden said this morning in reference to his recent request for the county board to endorse a measure allowing him $2500 more for clerk hire during the coming year: "If I had not needed the increase I should not have asked for it. My men are kept at work steadily, as hard as any other set in the court house, and we could not do with less men than we have at any time. If the forfeited tax sale comes off there will be a vast amount of additional work to do. In spite of this I should not have asked the board to act upon the matter if I had not been assured by all of them that they were in favor of it. The board endorsed the measure, though two of them voted against it."

AN ODD INTRODUCTION.

One of the interesting things that happened on the board of trade this morning was a plain, ordinary introduction. Yet there was something odd about it, and it struck the brokers who stood near immediately.

"Mr. Sox, let me make you acquainted with Mr. Stocking," was the form of the introduction, and naturally it created a laugh.

H. E. Sox, of Edgeley, N. D., has been in the city for several days, and he was on the board this morning, when an idea struck John F. McCarthy.

"I want you to meet a friend of mine," he said to Mr. Sox, and then he went down stairs. A few minutes later he returned with D. W. Stocking, who is employed in the office of LaSalle & Co. They were introduced in the conventional form, and the result was all that Mr. McCarthy could have hoped for.

Taken Under Advisement.

Judge Cant this morning in district court took the case of the Northern Pacific Railroad company under advisement. The arguments continued all day yesterday and nearly all of this morning, and it was nearly noon before they were finished and the case submitted to the court. The decision will be announced later. Mr. Greene and City Attorney Richards took part in behalf of the city, and Washburn, Lewis & Bailey for the road.

Foresters In Session.

The high court of the jurisdiction of Superior, United Order of Foresters, is in session at the Masonic temple this afternoon with about twenty-five delegates in attendance. The courts included in this jurisdiction are those at Duluth, Superior, Itasca and South Superior. Northern Wisconsin and Northeastern Minnesota is the territory included. Supreme Chief Ranger James Schoonmaker, of St. Paul, is in attendance. James Kelly is high chief ranger of the jurisdiction.

MAY SPRING A SENSATION.

Mr. Cromwell Said to Have Something In Mind.

The question is being discussed whether the News Tribune intends to keep up its small arms practice on the mayor during the whole of the coming year with the idea that he may be a candidate for reelection next spring, or whether the fusillade will last only during the present agitation over telephone rates. Opinion is about evenly divided on the subject.

It is rumored that Alderman Cromwell is preparing a petard to set off at the council meeting Monday night. It is, it is said, loaded with mud which he hopes will be spattered all over the administration by the explosion. It was remarked at the city hall today that he might learn that the mud from such bombs is apt to fly in an unexpected direction, if he had not already acquired that knowledge in the Resche matter.

The question of the probable candidate for president of the council is being discussed. Alderman Crassweller is generally regarded as the probable candidate of the fusionists, although Judge Carey has been mentioned. It is thought that Alderman Cromwell will be put forward by the Republicans.

The re-election of Assistant City Attorney Spencer is regarded as assured—as much so as that of Mr. Richards.

MARCH TERM OF COURT.

Not Likely That It Will Be a Long One.

The March term of district court will begin Wednesday, March 1, two weeks from yesterday. The last day for filing notes of issue for the term will be next Tuesday. It is usual to make the last day one week from the opening day of the term, but next Wednesday is a legal holiday, hence the last day for filing notes is removed one day back. There are forty-two continued cases on which to start the calendar, and so far there are very few new cases. It is not considered likely that the term will be a long one.

Sheriff Sargent's deputies have been busy during the past few days serving summonses upon those who have been drawn for jury duty during the term. Those in the city have been served, and those on the ranges will be served by next week.

CONTRA TO CORNISH.

Dr. Hitchcock's Testimony In Adams Poisoning Case Quite Important.

New York, Feb. 16.—The most important feature in the inquest in the Adams poison case yesterday was that the testimony of Dr. E. F. Hitchcock, who attended Mrs. Adams in her last moments, was in direct conflict with the testimony of Harry S. Cornish and Frederick E. Hovey, both of whom were in Mrs. Adams' flat when she died. Dr. Hitchcock testified that the boy who summoned him told him that he was wanted immediately as "a party had been poisoned."

The witness also stated that in the hearing of Cornish and Mrs. Rogers, the daughter of the murdered woman, he said that "a diabolical crime had been committed." Cornish repeatedly stated while on the witness stand that no suspicion that a crime had been committed had been suggested to him until two or three days after the death of Mrs. Adams, and Hovey also insisted that the suggestion that no crime had been committed was made on the day of Mrs. Adams' death. The doctor also testified that he asked Cornish repeatedly if he had enemies who could have designs on his life, and Cornish assured him that he had no fears and suspected nobody. Dr. Hitchcock further said he had a talk with Dr. Potter, who was also in attendance, on what the poison bottle contained. While they were talking Cornish, Mrs. Rogers and Hovey entered the room.

One point on which Dr. Hitchcock contradicted the testimony of Hovey related to the condition of the bottle of poison. The doctor stated that he saw no paraffine about the cork or mouth of the bottle, while Hovey in his testimony said that the cork was covered with paraffine. Dr. Hitchcock described how Cornish was taken sick with symptoms similar to those shown by Mrs. Adams.

Cornish asked: "Can it be anything else but bromo seltzer?" and the doctor replied that it certainly could.

Mrs. Bertha Hay Hovey, the wife of the witness who was examined yesterday, was first placed on the stand today. The questions of the assistant district attorney brought out the fact that Cornish had separated from his wife and that Mrs. Rogers was living apart from her husband. When Mrs. Hovey reached the Adams flat she was admitted by a policeman. She met Assistant District Attorney McIntyre there. Mrs. Rogers seemed heartbroken. She told witness that Mrs. Adams had taken bromo-seltzer, but never mentioned poison, nor did she say that her mother was the victim of a diabolical plot. The fact that Cornish had given the bromo-seltzer to her mother was not spoken of by Mrs. Rogers.

"When was the first time you discovered that Mrs. Adams had been poisoned?" was asked.

"I don't know. I did not discover it; I read it in the newspaper."

Mrs. Hovey said she remained in the Adams house until Saturday, Dec. 31, the day of the funeral, when she went with Mrs. Rogers to Hartford, where the body was buried. Mrs. Adams died on Wednesday, Dec. 28.

Witness said she had talked with Cornish about Mrs. Adams' death, but she could not remember that Cornish said to her: "What a fool I am that I should have received that bottle and given some of the contents to Mrs. Adams."

Coroner's Physician Weston took the stand. Dr. Weston testified that he performed an autopsy upon Mrs. Adams' body. He at first formed the impression that Mrs. Adams came to her death through taking cyanide of potassium from the odor of the bottle and from his diagnosis at the autopsy. Subsequently a chemical analysis showed that death was due to cyanide of mercury.

Witness talked with Hovey on arriving at the flat and Hovey told him about the case. He smelled the contents of the bottle and told Hovey he thought it contained cyanide of potassium. No one else was present at the time, but a little later he saw Mrs. Rogers and asked about Mrs. Adams' age, etc., so as to fill out his report. He told Mrs. Rogers that her mother had died of poison and that he would make an autopsy on the following day.

Witness was asked whether anybody could have smelled the substance in the bottle without putting it to the nose. He answered that he thought the odor could have been detected although it would not have been so marked.

WILL RELEASE PRISONERS.

Spain Hopes Thereby to Effect Release of Hers.

Madrid, Feb. 17.—It has been decided at a cabinet council to release the Filipinos who had been deported to the Carolinas, the Ladrones, in order to influence the Filipinos to release the Spaniards they hold prisoners.

It has also been decided to postpone the sale of the floating dock at Havana, the offers received not being acceptable.

THE MEAT INQUIRY.

Board In Session and Holding a Secret Conference.

Washington, Feb. 17.—The court of inquiry to investigate the allegations of the major general of the army in respect to the quality of the beef furnished the army during the war with Spain met today at the rooms formerly occupied by the war investigating commission in the Lemon building. A full membership was present and the court went into secret session to discuss the preliminaries of the proceedings and to endeavor to sketch out the line of inquiry to be pursued.

EXECUTION IN CHICAGO.

Robert Howard Hanged For Being Accessory to Murder.

Chicago, Feb. 17.—Robert Howard, colored, was hanged in the county jail today for participation in the robbery and murder of Frank C. Metcalfe, a machinist. Howard was convicted as an accessory before the act. The last similar legal instance in Chicago was when the anarchists were convicted and hanged for participation in the Haymarket riots.

PIG IRON BILL LOST

Defeated In the House After a Debate of Some Length.

GRIDLEY IS BLAMED

His Scheme to Cut Freight Rates Lost the Bill Many Votes.

From a Staff Representative.

St. Paul, Feb. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The discussion on the pig iron bounty was resumed this afternoon and and at 3:30 the vote was taken, resulting in the defeat of the bill, 52 to 63.

The senate in committee of the whole today opened what will be one of the liveliest fights of the session. It was over the Grindeland bill to license commission men and place them under the control of the railroad and warehouse commission. The bill was finally recommitted.

St. Paul, Feb. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—If the iron bounty is defeated in the house the good people of Duluth will have the gratuitous efforts of Col. E. C. Gridley and his enterprising associates to thank for it.

The debate on the measure waxed warm in the morning session and the only effective arguments against it were based on information more or less reliable, furnished by Col. Gridley to Representative Jacobson, of Lac Qui Parle, and Representative Riley, of Jackson. Mr. Riley stated on the authority of Col. Gridley that a bounty of 50 cents or even $1 a ton would not result in establishing a single smelter in Duluth as long as the rail freight rate on the ore from the mines to the lake remained as it now is. He appealed to the natural prejudices of the farmer members by telling them that unless this rate was cut square in two, the state school fund would stand to lose the enormous sum of $15,000,000 in prospective royalties from mines on school lands, and these big figures associated with the sacred school fund resulted in the stampede of a number of representatives who had up to this time been confidently counted on to vote for the bill.

While Col. Gridley's statements did not show very clearly why the fact that because high rates exist on iron ore the proposed bounty should be opposed, they certainly had that effect.

The members of the St. Louis county delegation are convinced that from ten to fifteen votes have been lost to the bill, and that its chances of passage have been greatly lessened. They are, without exception, exceedingly indignant at the position taken by the colonel, and Mr. Laybourn, in answering some of the statements attributed to him, said very plainly that his object and that of the men who are aiding him in the agitation he has started is to secure for themselves a higher price for stock in the Security Land and Exploration company, which they were endeavoring to sell.

THE TRAVELING LIBRARY.

St. Paul, Feb. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Among the new bills in the house today were:

Jackson—Preventing water tax assessments in cities for longer periods than five years.

Mausten—Appropriating $1500 to pay expenses incurred by Cass county during the Bear Island troubles.

Bush—Prevent spread of San Jose scale.

The travelling library bill was recommended to pass by the committee on state library.

A substitute was reported for the Morris bill to prohibit misrepresentation in the sale of life and casualty insurance.

Only one bill was on the calendar for final passage and that was the Laybourn bill for a bounty on pig iron manufactured in the state. Laybourn demanded a call of the house.

Before roll call on the passage of the bill Fosnes offered an amendment to provide for the repeal of the law whenever the state so desired. This was objected to by Laybourn and ruled out.

Jacobson then took the floor against the bill, fearing it might commit the state to a greater expense than it would be possible to pay. In general he was afraid of possible loss to the state, to the school fund and various other things.

Riley thought a cut in transportation rates would accomplish more for the state than such a bounty bill. He read from a statement by E. C. Gridley in regard to ore from school lands, ore rates, etc., and insisted independent mine owners should be placed on an equality with the great corporations. He claimed that if this bill became a law Carnegie and Rockefeller would be able to exact 50 cents more per ton for freight from independent mine owners.

Donohue took the ground that the provision that in case more than $100,000 bounty had been earned such amount shall be divided pro rata according to output would result in benefit only to those with much capital and could work against small furnaces.

Gutterson proposed to amend by eliminating the words "organized or existing for the purposes of affecting the price of pig iron" from the last provision of the third section. It was adopted.

Laybourn then answered some of the points made by previous speakers, asserting that the Carnegie combination did not control all the range railroads, but a Minnesota man had recently secured control of a road to the richest independent mines. He explained some reasons for the position assumed by Gridley; denied some of the stories in general circulation that Duluth sought lower ore royalties. He appealed to the farmers to be as fair to the mineral interests as Duluth members had been in their support of the beet sugar bounty.

Foss could not see where any general benefit would come to the state from any pig iron bounty.

Dwinnell argued in favor of the bill, as also did Roberts, who made a strong plea for the bill as a direct benefit to Minnesota farmers.

Plowman vigorously opposed the bill and Jacobson closed the morning session with one of his lively speeches against it.

A recess was finally taken just before 1 o'clock.

QUAY STILL LEADS.

Harrisburg, Feb. 17.—The twenty-seventh ballot today for United States senator resulted as follows: Quay, 56; Jenks, 45; Dalzell, 12; Stone, 4; Stewart, 5; Huff, 4; Irvin, 3; Riter, 1; Widener, 1; Rice, 1; Tubbs, 2; Markle, 1; Grow, 1. Total vote, 136; paired or not voting, 116.

A JOB FOR AUSTIN.

He Has Been Appointed Deputy Insurance Commissioner, Vice Timberlake.

St. Paul, Feb. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Z. H. Austin, of Duluth, has been appointed deputy insurance commissioner, vice Timberlake, at a salary of $1800, and will assume his new duties on Monday.

CANAL BILL A RIDER.

It Will Be Attached to the River and Harbor Bill.

Washington, Feb. 17.—The senate committee on commerce decided today to put the Morgan Nicaragua canal bill on the river and harbor bill.

A bill granting to the Pasadena & Mt. Wilson Railway company the right-of-way through the San Gabriel forest reserve, California, was passed soon after the senate convened today.

Mr. Morgan, of Alabama, addressing the senate, said the very sad information had been transmitted to this country by cable of the death of President Faure of the French republic. He thought it fitting that the senate should make some expression upon the death of President Faure. It was not unlikely, he thought, that the incident might give trouble not only to France but to the entire world. He then offered the following resolution, which was adopted:

"That the vice president of the United States, president of the senate, is requested to express to the government and people of France the sympathy of the senate of the United States in the bereavement that has so suddenly fallen on that republic in the death of President Faure."

WANT A BOUNTY.

Wisconsin Legislature Asked to Pay a Bounty on Pig Iron.

Madison, Wis., Feb. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—This is the last day for the introduction of new business in the legislature, and scores of bills came into each house. A small calendar was disposed of in the assembly, but most of the morning was taken up in receiving bills. The more important were: The Lewis primary election law, to secure prompt payment of wages; appropriating $10,000 to erect a monument to Governor Dewey; to establish board of railroad commissioners; to regulate railroad corporations and fix charges; to prevent blacklisting; to regulate the lobby; for the taxation of freight line and equipment companies; abolishing the office of county superintendent of schools; a no-seat-no fare street car bill; to encourage manufacture of beet sugar; paying a bounty on pig iron.

Eighty-four bills were introduced in the senate, and another session will be held this afternoon. The senate now has 303 bills against 392 two years ago. The anti-pass bill was taken up by the senate, and the only speech was a humorous farewell eulogy to the pass, made by Senator Woodworth, and it was then passed with only Senator Stebbins voting against it.

Senator McGillivray introduced a bill providing that the railroads be compelled to carry state officials, judges and other officials free of charge.

Senator Roehr introduced the anti-lobby bill, making provision for two classes of lobbyists, one known as legislative attorneys and the other as legislative agents.

The members of both houses were invited to visit the new reformatory at Green Bay next Wednesday.

Senator Kreutzer has a bill requiring that one-tenth of the money received for liquor licenses in cities of third class be used for kindergartens.

Heohle introduced bills fixing the traveling expenses of employes of the legislature; to create the Eighth judicial district, and regulating primary elections.

Catlin, to encourage the manufacture of pig iron by a bounty of 50 cents a ton; to transcribe the railroad records in secretary of state's office; to extend delinquent taxes and issue certificates to discourage the sacrifice of personal property by forced sale.

Senator Mills—Constituting a naval battalion in Wisconsin National Guard; to create a board to hear complaints as to lack of railroad connections at junctional points; authorizing transfer of tax certificates; to amend the statutes relative to exemption of railroads from taxation.

A SMELTER COMBINE.

New York, Feb. 17.—The Wall Street Journal says: Options have been secured on all the principal smelter companies of the country for the purpose of consolidating, with the exception of those owned by Guggenheimer, located in Mexico, Perth Amboy, N. J., and Pueblo, Col. Moore & Schley are understood to hold these options and it is stated that as soon as the final details are completed the new company will be formally organized. Those which will go into the consolidation will be the Omaha and Grant company, the Consolidated Kansas City Smelting and Refining company, the National Smelting company, the United States Smelting company, the Pueblo Smelting company and the Germania Smelting company.

The present capitalization of these companies is $25,000,000, and the annual net profits range from 12 to 15 per cent. The capitalization of the new company will probably be around $50,000,000, divided equally into preferred and common stock.

The new company will be authorized to mine, smelt and refine ore into silver, gold, lead, copper and its other constituent quantities. There is not likely to be any friction from the fact that so important a concern as the Guggenheimers may not be included in the consolidation as there will be an understanding that the present arrangements respecting the interchange of business will not be seriously disturbed.

A CHAUTAUQUAN DIES.

Akron, Ohio, Feb. 17.—A dispatch from New York says that Hon. Lewis Miller, of this city, died in the post-graduate hospital at New York today as the result of an operation. Mr. Miller was president of the Chautauqua assembly and with Bishop Vincent founded it. He was also president of the board of trustees of Mount Union college at Alliance and president of the Aultman & Miller company here.

TO PUSH THE WAR

Administration Has Determined to Rapidly Extend Our Jurisdiction.

A NAVAL CAMPAIGN

Will Be Started as Soon as Admiral Dewey Receives Gunboats.

Washington, Feb. 17.—The administration has determined rapidly to extend the jurisdiction of the United States over the whole of the Philippine group, acting on the cry that delay in this case is dangerous and that anarchy and a general paralysis of such interests as the islands support will be brought about through a failure promptly to replace the Spanish sovereignty over the islands by that of the United States. This decision involves the necessity of a naval campaign, and this will be instituted as soon as Admiral Dewey receives the reinforcements, in the shape of gunboats, now on the way to Manilla.

BY DESULTORY FIRING.

Several More Americans Receive Slight Wounds Near Manilla.

Washington, Feb. 17.—The war department today received the following:

Manilla, Feb. 17.—Adjutant General, Washington: First California—Wounded in skirmish at Taterof, 14th: Private Harry Fawk, Company C, cheek, slight; Corp. Oscar Nelson, Company C, chest, slight; Private W. E. Cornish, Company H, thigh, slight.

Wounded from desultory firing 15th and 16th: Private Howard M. Holland, Company D, First Washington, shoulder, slight; Ralph D. Winther, Troop K, Fourth cavalry, armpit, slight; Joseph J. Engberg, Battery H, Third artillery, leg, slight; accidental.

Wounded in engagement at Jaro, near Iloilo, Island of Panay, Feb. 12: Second Lieut. Frank C. Bolles, Eighteenth infantry, leg, severe; Corp. Sparks, Company A, Eighteenth infantry, shoulder and lung, serious; Private Fred Smith, Company A, Eighteenth infantry, leg, slight.

ROBBERS FOILED.

After Blowing Open a Bank Vault Fail to Secure Money.

Oberlin, Ohio, Feb. 17.—Cracksmen gained an entrance to the vault of the Oberlin Banking company between midnight and 3 o'clock this morning. The robbers connected the trolley wire of the Cleveland, Berea Elyria & Ohio Electric road, which runs directly past the bank, to a drill machine to operate on the outside door of the vault. After forcing this door the robbers inserted a big charge of powder and blew the interior of the vault into a thousand pieces. The walls on all sides were badly shattered, plastering was torn off and the vault doors were blown over twenty feet out of their settings. However, no money was secured, as the robbers failed to get into the big safe, evidently for lack of time. The papers and books inside the vault were damaged beyond recognition. No clew whatever has been found to the perpetrators.

A STEAMER SINKING.

The Rossmore's Crew Is Saved By the Rotterdam.

New York, Feb. 17.—The tank steamer Rotterdam, from Rotterdam, which arrived today, reports that on Feb. 6, in latitude 40.33, longitude 48.26, she sighted the British steamer Rossmore, from Liverpool for Baltimore, in a sinking condition. The Rotterdam took off all on board the Rossmore, forty-two in alll, including eight cattlemen. The Rotterdam stayed by the Rossmore for sixty hours. Capt. Duncauson of the Rossmore reported that nine members of his crew had been taken off by the steamer Trojan before the Rotterdam came up.

New York, Feb. 17.—The story of the wreck of the Rossmore was told by her officers today. The steamer left Liverpool on Jan. 23 for Baltimore, with a small cargo of china clay. On Jan. 30 a north-northwest hurricane, which lasted twenty-four hours, the wind blowing in fearful gusts of violence. On Jan. 31 the steering gear became disabled and the steamer fell off in the trough of the sea, rolling violently. One of the engineers had his collar bone broken, and one of the crew was badly bruised about the legs. The damage to the steering gear was repaired, but the gear broke a second time, and a third time so badly that repairs could not be effected. These breaks occurred between Feb. 3 and 4, when the gale, after subsiding, had again assumed hurricane proportions. The vessel was so pounded by the terrific seas that Capt. Duncanson decided that he would abandon her on the first opportunity. Feb. 6 the British steamer Trojan, from Newport News for Glasgow, hove in sight, and in reply to signals, took out the first and third officers and seven cattlemen and firemen, nine in all, but the weather conditions prevailing at the time prevented a further rescue. The same day the Rotterdam bore down and, although the gale was blowing furiously, succeeded in taking out twenty-three of the Rossmore's crew. The Rotterdam stood by sixty hours before their final rescue was effected. On Feb. 8 the remainder of the crew, nineteen in number, were taken off the vessel and the Rossmore started a leak, which could not be stopped, and when abandoned considerable water was in the holds.

FRANCE IN MOURNING

President F. Felix Faure Expires From Apoplexy After a Brief Illness.

A PATHETIC SCENE

He Had a Long and Active Career In French Politics.

Paris, Feb. 17.—President Faure died last evening from apoplexy. He was sick but three hours.

It has been known for some time that his heart was weak, but the first intimation that he was sick was given at 6:30 this afternoon, when a message was dispatched to the premier, M. Dupuy, announcing that the president was ill. M. Dupuy immediately repaired to the Elysee.

All medical efforts proved futile, and the president died on the stroke of 10 o'clock.

The report spread rapidly through the city and large crowds soon assembled in the vicinity of the palace.

About 6 o'clock M. Faure, who was then in his study, went to the door of the room of M. LeGall, his private secretary, which is contiguous to the study, and said: "I do not feel well. Come to me."

M. LeGall immediately went to the president's aid, led him to a sofa, and called Gen. Bailloud, general secretary of the president's household; M. Blondel, under private secretary, and Dr. Humbert, who happened to be at the Elysee. The president's condition did not appear dangerous; but Dr. Humbert, on perceiving that he was rapidly getting worse, telephoned for Dr Lanne-Longue and Dr. Cheurlet, who arrived with M. Dupuy, and were joined later by Dr. Bergerey.

Though M. Faure still remained conscious, the doctors soon recognized that the case was hopeless, but it was not until nearly 8 o'clock that the members of the family were informed of the real state of affairs. They then came to the sofa where the president lay. Soon after he began to lose consciousness and, despite all efforts, expired at 10 in the presence of the family and M. Dupuy.

PRESIDENT FAURE.

Nothing could have given the idea of approaching death. Up till the very last M. Faure indulged in his customary habits of work, and even in his equestrian rides. He ate well and slept regularly. Nevertheless several times recently he had been heard to exclaim: "How weak my legs are," and "I can scarcely stand," or to make some such remark.

He left his study about the usual hour, at 7 o'clock Wednesday evening, telling Mont Jarrett, chief of his stables, that he would ride on horseback from 7 to 7:30 on the following morning (yesterday). He then retired to his private apartments, dined with his family; went to bed at 10 o'clock, got up yesterday morning at 6 and informed his valet that he would not ride. M. Faure said: "I do not feel ill, but I desire to refrain from fatiguing exertions today." Otherwise the president worked as usual and read the official documents and dispatches with the newspapers, as was his custom.

The president was apparently aware of the seriousness of the case, for he murmured: "Je me sens partire. Je suis perdu, bien perdu." (I feel my senses failing me. I am lost; all lost,) and he expressed a desire to see his wife and children. When Mme. Faure and Mlle. Lucie Faure entered the room the president exclaimed: "Je suis bien souffrant. Je suis perdu." (I am suffering greatly; I am lost.)

His wife came to him and he bade her an affectionate farewell. It was a touching scene. He thanked her for the affection and devotion she had always shown him. Then he bade farewell to his daughter, doctors and personal attendants, thanking all for their care and devotion, and asking them to pardon any hasty words he might have uttered.

Very painful it was to witness the distress of Mme. Faure and the children, and only with the greatest difficulty could she be induced to leave the death chamber, and even then she insisted on remaining in M. LeGall's room adjoining, where she gave vent to her grief.

Francoise Felix Faure, sixth president of the third republic of France, was born Jan. 20, 1841, in Paris, and was the son of a cabinetmaker.

He was educated at a private commercial school and was then sent to England for two years to learn the language and to become acquainted with English methods of business. On his return to France he went to Amboise and mastered the business of a currier. When quite young he married the daughter of M. Belluot, an attorney at Amboise. Almost immediately afterward he settled at Havre as a commission merchant, and soon became a leading ship owner.

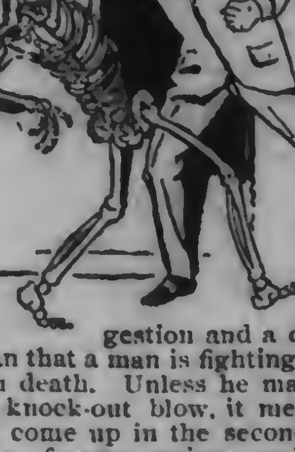
He became president of the Havre chamber of commerce, and during the Franco-Prussian war held the office of deputy mayor of the city. In those troublous times he was also captain of the Mobiles of the Seine, in which capacity he took part in the skirmishes near Havre, being recommended by Admiral Mouchey for the Legion of Honor.

During the war Gambetta sent him to England to buy arms for the Franco-Tireurs and Mobiles. He was deprived of his deputy mayoralty by the Broglie cabinet of 1874, but he compensated himself for the loss of office by devoting increased attention to provident, educational and charitable institutions.

In August, 1881, he offered himself as a Republican candidate for parliament in the Third district of Havre and was elected. He was appointed under secretary of state for the colonies in the Gambetta administration, formed in November of that year, and held the same office in the ministries of M. Jules Ferry (1883), M. Brisson (1885) and M. Tirard (1889). In 1891 he became minister of marine in M. Dupuy's cabinet, and was appointed vice president of the chamber of deputies, a position to which he was several times elected. Naturally his business position made him an authority on shipping, commercial and colonial questions, and during these years he compiled a valuable work on the "Comparative Budgets of European States." On the retirement of M. Cassimir Perrier, who resigned the presidency, he was chosen president by 480 votes against 361 given to Henry Brisson, the election taking place Jan. 17, 1895.

All who came in contact with him have described him as extremely winning in character as well as in appearance. His presence was finer than that of any of his predecessors in the presidency of the third republic.

In 1897 M. Faure went to St. Petersburg to return the visit of Emperor Nicholas, and while there the definite announcement of the treaty between France and Russia was made. He filled many important public offices, but in the midst of almost general corruption he passed unscathed.



When a man who has neglected his health finally realizes that he is being attacked by serious ill-health it is no time for half-way measures. Death is an enemy that must be knocked out in the first round, or he is pretty sure to conquer in the end.

A weak stomach, an impaired digestion and a disordered liver mean that a man is fighting the first round with death. Unless he manages to strike the knock-out blow, it means that death will come up in the second round in the guise of some serious malady. When a man's stomach is weak and his digestion is impaired, the life-giving elements of the food he takes are not assimilated into the blood. The blood gets thin and weak, and the body slowly starves. In the meantime the disordered liver and the sluggish bowels have forced into the blood all manner of impurities. The body is hungry and eagerly consumes anything that the blood-stream carries to it. In place of healthy nutriment, it receives for food foul poisons that should have been excreted by the bowels. Continued, this system of starvation combined with poisoning, will wreck every organ in the body. Naturally, the weakest organ will give way first. If a man is naturally nervous, he will break down with nervous exhaustion or prostration. If he inherits weak lungs, the consequence will be consumption, bronchitis, asthma, or some disease of the air-passages. If he has a naturally sluggish liver, he will suffer from a serious bilious or malarial attack. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures all disorders of the stomach, digestion and liver. It purifies the blood and fills it with the life-giving elements of the food that build new and healthy tissue. It is the great blood-maker and flesh-builder and nerve tonic. It cures 98 per cent. of all cases of consumption. Thousands have testified to their recovery from this dread disease under this great medicine.

AS TO A SUCCESSOR.

The Struggle For the Place Will Be Very Keen.

Paris, Feb. 17.—Emile Loubet, as president of the senate, becomes president of the congress.

It is said that the struggle for the presidency will be very keen. M. Dupuy, the premier, is supposed to have the best chance, and the contest is regarded as lying between him, M. Henri Brisson and M. Loubet. Other possible candidates are M. de Freycinet, minister for war; Godfrey Caignac, former minister for war, and Quasnay and Beaurepaire. It is reported that the recently formed league known as La Patrie Francaise will actively push M. de Beaurepaire's candidature.

Under the present exceptionally exciting conditions, anything may be expected to happen. Much depends upon what Gen. Zurlinden, military governor of Paris, as head of the military element, may decide to do.

So far, Paris remains tranquil. M. de Freycinet has ordered the troops confined to barracks today.

The Paris correspondent of the London Daily News expresses the opinion that the Dreyfus affair hastened M. Faure's end.

"Gen. Mercier had refused to play the role of scapegoat by leaving the country," says the correspondent, "and had determined to remain in France and to bring down all his colleagues with him if the crash came. M. Faure saw the abyss yawning before him, and the signs of the coming presidential campaign against him. He had long been menaced by revelations of family secrets and by the anti-Dreyfusites, and he was apprehensive of the results of these things on the courts of Europe."

WAS IT HEART DISEASE?

The President Had Long Suffered From Heart Trouble.

Paris, Feb. 17.—The Figaro attributes the death of M. Faure to a sudden violent attack of angina pectoris.

M. Delcasse, the minister of foreign affairs, last night telegraphed to the foreign sovereigns informing them of the president's death. M. Meline, in the course of a conversation with a press representative, said that the president himself recently informed him that for a long time he had been suffering from heart trouble, which had caused him cruel pain.

M. Casimir-Perier, upon learning of the calamity at midnight, expressed profound grief. He will call today at the Elysee to present his condolences to Mme. and Mlle. Faure.

Dr. Lanne-Longue, in an interview had with him by a representative of the Echo de Paris, said: "When I entered the room the president was already conscious of the seriousness of his condition and said: 'I am very sick.'

"As a matter of fact, from the first there was no hope. Ataxy supervened almost immediately and was followed by paralysis of the left side. Finally the patient fell into absolute coma and died at 10:30. He was unable to speak during his last moments."

THE PARIS PAPERS.

Most of Them Point Out the President's Weakness.

Paris, Feb. 17.—All the morning newspapers contain comments upon the sudden death of President Faure last night. These comments are apparently dictated rather by each particular journal's peculiar views of the political situation than by any other consideration. Few of them find time to dwell upon the best points of the character of the late president, but many of them do not hesitate to call attention to his weaknesses.

The Echo de Paris, in the course of an eulogistic obituary, points out that while President Faure's love of ceremony caused smiles, his attitude was always constitutional. It adds: "The French people will render to the dead chief of state a tribute of homage and respect and will express sincere regrets at his tomb."

The Journal says: "The judgment will be honor to his memory."

The Gaulois says: "Those who knew M. Faure will mourn him. He was a worthy man, obliging and charitable. It was no small surprise for Europe to see this former workman bear himself at the court of Russia as if he had always lived on the steps of a throne."

The Eclair pays homage to the deceased president, who, it asserts: "He was always absolutely correct and remained within the strict limits assigned to him by the constitution."

The Radical reproaches the late president with not being a sincere republican.

The Gil Blas says: "Fortune was faithful to him and will assure him the regrets of the masses."

President Faure, according to the Siecle, "represented the laboring democracy and unfortunately failed to understand the greatness of the task which fell to him. He only regarded the presidency as the means of making display."

The Petit Journal believes the president succumbed to the "weight of the moral sorrows and responsibilities accompanying the lamentable crisis we are traversing."

The Petit Parisien believes that the disappearance of M. Faure will be all the more cruelly felt "as it will complicate a situation already difficult."

The Petite Republique says: "He did much harm. Though he did not become intentionally reactionary by egotistical complaisance to all the retrograde forces, he was one of those who brought the republic to this dangerous crisis."

The Matin says: "If fortune, success and grandeur affected him to the point of making him forget his old friends, the fault was due more to others than himself. This sudden end, in destroying the success, effaces the miserable details."

The Intransigeant accuses President Faure of allowing his head to be turned by pride, says it considers the election of his successor to be a life and death question for France and adds: "It is important above all that his successor should be a sincere patriot, free from all blemish of Dreyfusism."

THE PRESIDENT'S SYMPATHY.

World Mourns the Loss of a Great Statesman.

Washington, Feb. 17.—The following was cabled at midnight last night:

"Department of State, Washington, Feb. 16.—To Porter, Ambassador of the United States, Paris: The president of the United States desires you to convey to the family of the late president of the French republic the expression of his heartfelt sympathy in their irreparable bereavement. The whole world mourns the loss of one of its greatest statesmen, and this country has an especial share in the sorrow of her sister republic.

"JOHN HAY."

The secretary of state also indited a personal letter to M. Thiebaut, charge of the French embassy here, expressing his sentiments on the occasion.

VOTE FOR FAURE'S SUCCESSOR.

The Date Has Been Arranged By Premier Dupuy.

Paris, Feb. 17.—The premier, M. Dupuy, has fixed the meeting of the national assembly or congress, in which the senators and deputies unite in voting for a president of France, for 1 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, at Versailles.

The body of the late president, Felix Faure, will lie in state at the palace, from 3 o'clock until 6 o'clock this afternoon. Only the ministers, members of the diplomatic corps and high public functionaries will be allowed to view the remains. But the public will be admitted to the palace from 9 o'clock Saturday morning until 6 o'clock Tuesday evening. The obsequies will take place next Thursday, in the cathedral of Notre Dame, and the interment will occur in the cemetery of Pere-la-Chaise.

THE POPE FEARFUL.

Rome, Feb. 17.—Cardinal Rampolla, the papal secretary, communicated the death of President Faure to the pope. The pontiff, who was deeply impressed, said: "Poor France suffers one misfortune after another. What terrible consequences may follow."

The pope this morning celebrated mass for the repose of the soul of the late President Faure.

TALKS TO STUDENTS.

Pending Problems Discussed By Col. Bryan In Madison.

Madison, Feb. 17.—Col. William J. Bryan of Nebraska spoke to the students of Wisconsin university last night in the gymnasium hall. His subject was "Pending Problems," and he touched on nearly every question, before the public in his speech, which lasted from 8:30 to 11 o'clock.

The evils of the prevailing taxation system Col. Bryan declared placed the public burdens on the poor, and exempted both corporate and private wealth. The government could force citizens from their homes to sacrifice their lives in battle, but it apparently could not force accumulated wealth to pay its just share of the taxes.

He urged the election of United States senators by public vote. Trusts came in for condemnation, and were charged with controlling the government. Proper men for judicial officers even were kept from being placed on the bench by the influence of trusts, because such men opposed combinations. The greatest trust, Col. Bryan said, was the money trust. He closed his speech with an argument against expansion.

Col. Bryan will leave for Chicago on an early train tomorrow, and has declined an invitation of the legislature to address it.

SUMMER WEATHER.

San Francisco, Feb. 17.—California has been struck by another hot wave and the state is now enjoying regular summer weather. Seventy degrees in the shade in San Francisco is unusual winter weather, even for California, and it is growing steadily warmer. The chances are that the warm spell will be followed by rain, which is greatly needed all over the state.

NERVOUS DEPRESSION.

[A TALK WITH MRS PINKHAM.]

A woman with the blues is a very uncomfortable person. She is illogical, unhappy and frequently hysterical.

The condition of the mind known as "the blues," nearly always, with women, results from diseased organs of generation.

It is a source of wonder that in this age of advanced medical science, any person should still believe that mere force of will and determination will overcome depressed spirits and nervousness in women. These troubles are indications of disease.

Every woman who doesn't understand her condition should write to Lynn, Mass., to Mrs. Pinkham for her advice. Her advice is thorough common sense, and is the counsel of a learned woman of great experience. Read the story of Mrs. F. S. Bennett, Westphalia, Kansas, as told in the following letter:

"Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—I have suffered for over two years with falling, enlargement and ulceration of the womb, and this spring, being in such a weakened condition, caused me to flow for nearly six months. Some time ago, urged by friends, I wrote to you for advice. After using the treatment which you advised for a short time, that terrible flow stopped.

"I am now gaining strength and flesh, and have better health than I have had for the past ten years. I wish to say to all distressed, suffering women, do not suffer longer, when there is one so kind and willing to aid you."

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a woman's remedy for woman's ills. More than a million women have been benefited by it.

COL. GRIDLEY TALKS

Confident of Getting a Reduction In Iron Ore Freight Rates.

From a Staff Representative.

St. Paul, Feb. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Col. E. C. Gridley, who has been in St. Paul for the past two days at work on a scheme to create sentiment in favor of a reduction of freight rates on iron ore on the range roads, is very well pleased with the start he has made. He disavows any intention of relying on the legislature to enact a maximum rate law, but expects confidently to accomplish the desired end with the aid of the governor and the state board of railroad commissioners.

He has caused 3000 copies of the statement of the case which was prepared by a committee, printed and which he took good care should be given first to the St. Paul papers, for circulation among educators in all parts of the state. He hopes, by appealing to their personal interest in the state school fund and by convincing them that a reduction in freight rates will create a demand for school lands for mining purposes which will result in increasing the fund by many millions of dollars to gain their aid in creating a public sentiment so strong that the board of railroad commissioners will not dare to deny their petition for a sweeping reduction in rates. Col. Gridley is very confident of the success of his plans and talked very freely concerning them to The Herald correspondent. He said:

"This movement has now gone so far that it is beyond recall. The rail freight rate on iron ore will soon be down to 40 cents a ton and the railroad companies will be unable to prevent it. There is no power that can resist the demands of the teachers and educators of this state, and as they will see that if the present rates are to be permitted to continue the state school fund will suffer a certain loss of $15,000,000, they can be depended on to insist that a fair rate shall be charged. We expect to have a large attendance at our mass meeting in St Paul next Tuesday, when a definite plan of action will be mapped out.

"I do not see that the legislature can do much in this matter except to hold up the hands of the governor in the fight he will be called on to make. I am not authorized to speak for the governor, but I will say this much, that he is cognizant of what is going on and has offered no criticism of the plan. I believe that John Lind will prove one of the best governors this state has ever had, and not the least of his achievements will be the saving of $15,000,000 to the state school fund. The ore freight rate case which was brought to such a sudden end was one of the most rotten procedures ever witnessed in this state. It was a complete sell out; in fact, it was nothing but a friendly suit. The mass of evidence was taken for use in the courts of review, but there will never be an opportunity for it to be used in that way. Some of the so-called best citizens of Duluth who gave testimony in that hearing were guilty of the most outrageous perjury. There has never been anyone to take the lead in this fight in an intelligent, systematic way, and I finally concluded to assume the burden of it myself. It is as good as won now. If the railroad companies are smart they will voluntarily reduce the rate to 50 cents a ton and thus save a forced reduction to 40 cents. Should they do this they would be able to maintain a 50-cent rate for three or four years before a further reduction would be insisted on."

The colonel said many other things in his enthusiasm over his great coup. Wednesday night he had a consultation with J. F. Jacobson, the member from Lac qui Parle, who in the debate on the iron bounty bill expressed a desire to amend the life out of the measure and who advanced some radical views in regard to the taxation of the iron mines and the reduction of rates on ore. He will undoubtedly have the assistance of Mr. Jacobson in carrying out his plans.

JUNEAU NOT PLEASED.

They Do Not Like the Carter Alaska Bill.

Juneau, Alaska, Feb. 12, via Seattle, Feb. 17.—The chamber of commerce has made a protest against the Carter Alaska bill as it now stands in congress. Telegrams were ordered sent to Washington asking that all legislation be suspended until the people of Southeastern Alaska could be heard from. The cause of the protest against the Carter bill is in the change of the residence of the United States district judges from Juneau to Unalaska, Circle City and Sitka.

AN ISLAND SOLD.

Vancouver, B. C., Feb. 17.—Dead Man's island in Burrard inlet, close to Stanley Park, has been sold to Mr. Ludgate, of Peterboro, Ont. The island is a part of the imperial government reserve, but the British authorities at Esquimault say the island is of no use for military purposes.

The President Talks of the Philippines to Boston People.

NEED INFORMATION

Regrets the Present Bloodshed But Believes It to Be Necessary.

Boston, Feb. 17.—President McKinley, who arrived in Boston yesterday, was the guest of the Home Market club at a banquet in his honor at Mechanics hall. Messrs. Long, Alger, Bliss, Gage and Smith, of his cabinet, accompanied him, together with Congressman Grosvenor of Ohio. It was the largest banquet ever arranged in this country, the exact number of persons who were served being 1914. Besides these, there were fully 3800 spectators in the balconies. The presidential party left the Hotel Touraine under cavalry escort at 4:20 p. m., and proceeded through an immense, cheering crowd direct to Mechanics hall. The reception was held in Paul Revere hall, and for over three-quarters of an hour President McKinley and the other distinguished guests stood in line and were introduced to and shook hands with fully 2500 persons.

At 6 o'clock, after the president had rested for a few minutes, the bugle sounded, announcing that the banquet was ready to be served, and the immense company marched into the hall, while the band played.

President McKinley spoke as follows:

Mr. Toastmaster and Gentlemen: The years go quickly. It seems not so long, but it is in fact six years since it was my honor to be a guest of the Home Market club. Much has happened in the intervening time. Issues which were then engaging us have been settled or put aside for larger and more absorbing ones. Domestic conditions have improved and are generally satisfactory. We have made progress in industry, and have realized the prosperity for which we have been striving. We have had four long years of adversity, which taught us some lessons which will never be unlearned, and which will be valuable in guiding our future action. We have not only been successful in our financial and business affairs, but have been successful in a war with a foreign power, which added great glory to American arms and a new chapter to American history.

I do not know why, but in the year 1899 this republic has unexpectedly had placed before it mighty problems which it must face and meet. They have come and are here, and they could not be kept away. Many who were impatient for the conflict a year ago, apparently heedless of its larger results, were the first to cry out against the far-reaching consequences of their own act. Those of us who dreaded war most, and whose every effort was directed to prevent it, had fears of new and grave problems which might follow its inauguration. The evolution of events, which no man could control, has brought these problems upon us. Certain it is they have not come through any fault on our part, but as high obligations which we must meet with their reformation.

We have now ended the war with Spain. The treaty has been ratified by more than two-thirds of the senate of the United States, and by the judgment of nine-tenths of its people. No nation was ever more fortunate in war, or more honorable in negotiations in peace. Spain is now eliminated from the problem. It is for us to ask now what shall we do. I do not desire to intrude on the duties of congress, or forestall its action. I only say that the treaty of peace, honorably secured, having been ratified in Spain, congress will have the power and, I am sure, the purpose to do what in good morals is right and just and humane for these peoples in distant seas.

It is sometimes hard to determine what is best to do, and the best thing to do is often the hardest. The prophet of evil would do nothing, because he flinches at sacrifice and effort, and to do nothing is easiest and involves the least cost. On these who have things to do there rests responsibility, which is not on those who have no obligations as doers. If the doers were in a majority there would, if it is true, be no labor, no sacrifice, no anxiety, no burden raised or carried; no contribution from our ease and purse and comfort to the welfare of others, or even to the extension of our resources to the welfare of ourselves. There would be ease, but, alas, there would be nothing done. But great problems come in the life of a nation, however much men may seek to avoid them. They come without our seeking; why we do not know, and it is not always given us to know; but the generation on which they are forced cannot avoid the responsibility of honestly striving for their solution. We may not know precisely how to solve them, but we can make an honest effort to that end, and if made in conscience, justice and honor, it will not be in vain.

The future of the Philippine islands is now in the hands of the American people. Until the treaty was ratified or rejected, the executive department of this government could only preserve the peace and protect life and property. That treaty now commits the free and enfranchised Filipinos to the guiding hand and the liberalizing influence; the genuine sympathies, the uplifting education, not of their American masters, but of their American emancipators. No one can tell today what is best for them or for us. I know no one at this hour who is wise enough or sufficiently informed to determine what form of government will best subserve their interests and our interests; their and our well being.

That the inhabitants of the Philippines will be benefited by this republic is my unshaken belief; that they will have a kindlier government under our guidance, and that they will be aided in every possible way to be self-respecting and self-governing people, is as true as that the American people love liberty and have an abiding faith in their own government and their own institutions.

No imperial designs lurk in the American mind. They are alien to American sentiment, thought and purpose. Our priceless principles undergo no change under the tropical sun. They go with the flag. They are wrought in every one of its sacred folds, and are inextinguishable in their shining stars.

"Why read ye not the changeless truth,
The free can conquer, but to save?"

If we can benefit these remote peoples who will object? In the years of the future they are established in government under law and liberty, who will regret our perils and sacrifices; who will not rejoice in our heroism and humanity? Always perils and always after them safety; always darkness and clouds, but always afterward shining truth with the light and the sunshine; always cost and sacrifice, but always after them the fruition of liberty, education and civilization.

I have no light or conscience not common to my country. I do not prophesy. The present is all abhorring to me, but I cannot bound vision by the blood stained trenches around Manilla, where every red drop, whether from the veins of any American soldier, or a misguided Filipino, is anguish to my heart; but by the broad range of future years, when that group of islands under the impulse of the year just passed shall have become the gems and glories of these tropical seas; a land of plenty and of increasing possibilities, a people redeemed from savage indolence and habits, devoted to the arts of peace, in touch with the commerce and trade of all nations, enjoying the blessings of freedom, of civil and religious liberty, of education, and of homes, and whose children and children's children shall for ages bless the American republic because it emancipated and redeemed their fatherland and set them in the pathway of the world's best civilization.

It's a mistake to imagine that itching piles can't be cured; a mistake to suffer a day longer than you can help. Doan's ointment brings instant relief and permanent cure. At any drug store, 50 cents.

NOTICE OF FORECLOSURE SALE.—

Default has been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage containing a power of sale duly made and delivered by Angus R. Macfarlane and Catharine H. Macfarlane, his wife, mortgagors, to Abram Nesbitt, mortgagee, bearing date the 27th day of December, 1894, and duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for St. Louis County, Minnesota, on the 29th day of December, 1894, at 4:20 o'clock p. m., in Book 127 of mortgages on page 350.

And whereas, said default consists in the non-payment of the sum of two hundred and twenty dollars ($220) balance of interest which became due and payable on July first 1897, and in the non-payment of the further sum of ten hundred and fifty dollars ($1050) interest which became due and payable by the terms of said mortgage and the notes secured thereby in three several installments of three hundred and fifty dollars each on January first, 1898, July first, 1898, and January first, 1899, all of which is yet due and owing upon said mortgage; and also in the failure to pay seventeen and 21-100 dollars, premium for insurance upon said premises as provided in said mortgage, and paid by the undersigned on February 9th, 1899, by reason of which several defaults it has become optional with the holder of said mortgage and mortgage notes to declare the whole debt secured by said mortgage to be immediately due and payable, in the exercise of which option the whole amount of said debt has been declared and is hereby declared and claimed to be due, amounting at the date of this notice to the sum of eleven thousand four hundred twenty-two and 81-100 dollars, principal and interest and the sum of seventeen and 21-100 dollars paid for insurance as aforesaid with interest amounting to the total sum of eleven thousand four hundred forty and 02-100 dollars, which amount is claimed to be due upon said mortgage at the date of this notice.

And whereas, said mortgage contains a power of sale which power by reason of said defaults has become operative and no action or proceeding at law, or otherwise, has been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of said power of sale and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises therein described and situate in St. Louis County, Minnesota, to-wit: All of block number thirty-five (35), in Second Glen Avon Division of Duluth, according to the recorded plat thereof on file and of record in the office of the register of deeds in and for said county, which premises, with the hereditaments and appurtenances, will be sold by the sheriff of said St. Louis County, Minnesota, at the front door of the court house of said county, in the city of Duluth, in said county and state, on Saturday, the 25th day of March, 1899, at ten o'clock in the forenoon at public auction to the highest bidder for cash to pay said debt and interest, and insurance so paid as aforesaid, and taxes if any, together with one hundred dollars attorneys' fee, stipulated in said mortgage to be paid in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law, subject to redemption at any time within one year from date of sale, as by law provided.

NOTICE OF MORTGAGE SALE.—

Whereas, default has been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage which was duly executed and delivered by Andrew Sundquist and Emma Sundquist, his wife, mortgagors, to Margaret Meskill, mortgagee, bearing date December eighth (8th), 1892, and which was duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for St. Louis County, Minnesota, on December thirteenth (13th), 1892, at four (4) o'clock p. m., in Book one hundred three (103) of mortgages, on page two hundred thirty-nine (239); such default consisting in the non-payment of the principal sum thereby secured, with interest at the rate specified in said mortgage, from December 1st, 1896, no part of which has been paid, except the sum of [illegible] paid on account of interest, and also in the non-payment of insurance premiums upon said mortgaged premises, which said mortgagors had covenanted to pay, but failed to pay, and which said mortgagee was compelled to pay, and did pay, amounting to the sum of [illegible].

And whereas, there is therefore claimed to be due, and there is actually due, upon said mortgage debt, at the date of this notice, the sum of five hundred fifty and 25-100 ($550.25) dollars, principal, interest, exchange and insurance premiums paid.

And whereas, said mortgage contains a power of sale in due form, which has become operative by reason of the above mentioned default, and no action or proceeding, at law or otherwise, has been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of said power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made, said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises situate in St. Louis County, Minnesota, described as follows, to-wit: The westerly twenty-five (25) feet of the northerly seventy-nine (79) feet, of lot eleven (11), in block one (1), Fleischer & Greene's Division, of block fifty-six (56), Duluth Proper, Third Division, according to the recorded plat thereof in said register's office, which said premises will be sold by the sheriff of said St. Louis County, Minnesota, at the front door of the court house, in the city of Duluth, in said county and state, on the 4th day of March, A. D., 1899, at ten (10) o'clock a. m., at public auction, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt and interest, and the insurance premiums paid by said mortgagee, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and twenty-five dollars attorney's fee, stipulated in said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

DECLINE IN WHEAT

Market Opened Somewhat Higher But Declined Under Heavy Selling Orders.

THE CABLES HIGHER

Reaction Was Caused By Buying By Foreigners at New York.

Duluth Board of Trade, Feb. 17.—The wheat market opened bullish and with prices slightly advanced, owing to a sentiment among traders at Chicago that the death of the French president might cause complications that would stir up the foreign markets, but this strength was short-lived. There were numerous selling orders and the expectation of an increase in the visible supply caused some liquidation by holders of long lines and a consequent decline in prices. A report that foreigners were heavy buyers of March wheat at New York caused a reaction. Cables were higher and were another bullish factor. There was continued selling, however, and the sentiment became quite bearish. The close was ½c lower in Duluth and ⅜c lower in Chicago than yesterday for the May option.

Trading in futures was dull on the Duluth board. May wheat opened unchanged at 72⅜c, sold at 72⅝c at 9:34, eased off to 72⅛c at 9:40, recovered to 72⅜c at 10:10, declined to 71⅞c at 10:40 and was quoted at 71¾c at 12:17. At 12:50 it sold down to 71⅝c, but rose again to 71⅞c at the close, which was ½c under yesterday. There was fair business in cash wheat, 150,000 bus being sold, at 1½c under May for wheat to arrive and 2⅛c under for spot stuff. It is estimated that Duluth wheat stocks will show an increase of 475,000 bus this week. Rye and corn each closed ¾c lower and flax declined ¼c. Following were the closing prices:

Wheat—No. 1 hard, cash, 71¼c; February, 71¼c; May, 73⅜c; July, 74¼c. No. 1 northern, cash, 69¼c; February, 69¼c; May, 71⅞c; July, 72⅜c. No. 2 northern, 67⅛c. No. 3 spring, 62¼c. To arrive—No. 1 hard, 72⅛c; No. 1 northern, 70¼c. Oats, 26¼@26c. Rye, 55c. Barley, 40@46c. Flax, $1.17; May, $1.19½. Corn, 33¼c; May, 34c.

Car Inspection—Wheat, 145; corn, 72; oats, 30; rye, 2; barley, 3; flax, 4. Receipts—Wheat, 141,549 bus; corn, 29,273 bus; oats, 43,686 bus, rye, 1145 bus; barley, 542 bus; flax, 4739 bus. Shipments—None.

ON THE CHICAGO BOARD.

Death of President Faure Caused a Bullish Sentiment.

Chicago, Feb. 17.—The death of President Faure of France caused considerable bullish sentiment among wheat traders here at the start today, as it was thought political contingencies might arise, which would keep the grain markets abroad somewhat stirred up. May opened ⅛c higher at 73¼@73⅜c, but the strength was only momentary, however, as St. Louis sent numerous selling orders and several local longs were inclined to liquidate on indications of an increase in the visible supply at stock-taking centers. Under this selling pressure May slipped off to 72⅞c, but at that figure commission houses commenced to cover while New York reported foreigners buying heavily of March and the price here recovered to 73⅛c. Receipts here were 65 cars against 27 last year. Minneapolis and Duluth received 394 carloads as compared with 245 for the corresponding day last year. Argentine shipments for the week amounted to 1,256,000 bus compared with 872,000 bus for last week.

Liberal receipts and heavy selling weakened corn. Receiving house pointed towards a large increase in the movement in the near future. Receipts were 531 cars. May opened unchanged at 36⅜@36⅝c, declined to 36¼@36⅜c, then rose to 36½c.

Oats followed the other grains. Receipts, 290 car. May opened a shade lower at 28⅛@28¼c, sold off to 27⅞c, then firmed up to 28c.

The decline in grains helped to give a weak tone to provisions. Hog receipts were large and packers sold largely of pork and ribs. May pork began a shade lower at $9.92½, declined to $9.85, then rallied to $9.90. May lard started 2½c lower at $5.57 and declined to $5.55. May ribs opened 2½c lower at $4.95 and weakened to $4.92.

Close: Wheat, May, 72⅞c; July, 71c. Corn, February, 34½c; May, 36c; July, 36⅝c; September, 37c. Oats, February, 26⅝@26⅞c.; May, 27¾@27⅞c; July, 25¾@26c. Pork, February, $9.70; May, $9.92½. Lard, February, $5.37; May, $5.55@5.57; July, $5.67; September, $5.77@5.80. Ribs, February, $4.80; May, $4.95; July, $5.07; September, $5.17@5.20. Cash: No. 2 red, 72½@73c; No. 3, 69@71c; No. 2 hard winter, 66@67c; No. 2 hard winter, 64@66c; No. 1 northern, 70@72c; No. 2 northern spring, 67@70c; No. 3 spring, 65@70c. Corn, No. 2, 34¾@35c; No. 3, 32@32½c. Oats, No. 2, 27¾c; No. 3, 27¼c. Barley, cash, 41@52c. Rye, cash, 55½c; May, 57@57¼c. Timothy, March, $2.45 bid; $2.47 asked. Clover, March, $6.75. Flax, cash Northwestern, $1.19¾; cash Southwestern, $1.16; May, $1.19¼. Estimated cars for tomorrow: Wheat, 73c; corn, 575; oats, 270.

THE COTTON MARKET.

Good Weather News and Weak Cables the Features.

New York, Feb. 17.—The cotton market opened easy with prices four to six points lower under heavy realizing, bear hammering and light foreign buying. This marked change in the course of the market was brought about largely by pronounced weakness at Liverpool, the latter being ascribed by private cables to the death of President Faure. Other facts aiding in depressing the local market included better weather reports than received in weeks, and rumors that planters were securing fertilizers as first steps toward preparing for the new crop. On the break the weakest longs joined in the selling movement, for a time it looked as though a bad slump would occur. The fact that statistical changes for the week were strongly bullish and that the stock market displayed unlooked for strength tended to restrain overzealous bears while the appearance of limited buying orders at each point declined induced scalpers to be satisfied with small profits.

Cotton spot closed dull; middling uplands, 6⅝c; middling gulf, 6⅞c; sales, 200 bales. Cotton futures closed steady. February, $6.28; March, $6.20; April, $6.27; May, $6.29; June, $6.27; July, $6.28; August, $6.31; September, $6.19; October, $6.20; November, $6.19; December, $6.21; January, $6.25.

GOSSIP.

Received over private wire of B. E. Baker, grain and stock broker, room 107 Chamber of Commerce, and 307 Board of Trade.

Chicago, Feb. 17.—Wheat today opened higher owing to higher cables. There appeared, however, to be an avalanche of wheat for sale and the market soon lost all its strength and declined during the day, selling as low as 72⅛c and closing at 72⅞c. See nothing in the situation to bull wheat on and look for lower prices.

Corn—Nothing new in the corn situation. Our market is having a natural decline in price, due to accumulating supplies, only a moderate cash demand and realizing by holders of May. This has resulted in a decline of ⅜c from the last prices yesterday. We look for a decline to go on until lower prices are reached.

Oats have declined ⅜c today. The fact that 1,000,000 bus afloat in the river here will show in the visible Monday influenced selling a little. The present price of May is fairly high and they act like selling lower.

Provisions—There were less hogs at the yards this morning than expected, but prices were no higher. The market dragged for a while, and closing prices are a little lower than yesterday. Toward the close we noticed packers were good buyers, covering sales made some time ago. One packing concern bought 2,000,000 ribs, at $4.95. We think present prices low enough. The demand for meats will improve soon. Commission houses generally are large holders for their customers, but we do not believe there will be any break to force any selling. Provisions are selling below the cost of production.

SOME GREAT ADVANCES.

Calumet & Hecla Scored an Advance of Twenty-Five Points.

Copper stocks went up like skyrockets today. Calumet & Hecla jumped to 810, an advance of 25 points. Old Dominion closed 8 points up and Baltic was up 4 points. Osceola scored an advance of 4½, Cincinnati 2½, Isle Royale 1⅝, Tamarack 4 points, Butte & Boston 3½ and Arcadian 2½. Atlantic was one of the few weak stocks. Following is the close furnished by Paine, Webber & Co., Hotel St. Louis:

NEW YORK STOCKS.

Lower Range In London Has Visible Effect Here.

New York, Feb. 17.—The lower range of prices in London caused sympathetic weakness in the railway stocks in the local market. The specialties showed steadiness in spots, Sugar and Federal Steel holding their own. Burlington was dropped 1⅞, but soon hardened. A drive against Tobacco and Sugar uncovered stop-loss orders, with corresponding severe losses. Operations in other quarters of the list were favorable to the bulls, generous purchases of the grangers exercising a healthful tone generally. St. Paul was the leader and touched 129¾. Burlington was very erratic, but eventually crossed 144. Toward 11 o'clock Sugar and Tobacco were in request and recovered sharply. The low-priced stocks did not figure prominently in the dealings, but moved quite generally in unison with the leaders.

Dealings in the stock market during the second hour were considerably mixed, weakness and strength cropping out in many quarters. Realizations in the grangers and standard stocks caused a lower level. Central Pacific and Southern Pacific, on the other hand, showed buoyancy and Third Avenue and Metropolitan Traction were lifted 5 points each. The latter did not retain the full result. Sugar worked up about a point over last night and Tobacco made a full recovery of the early loss. Sales of stocks to noon 411,822 shares. The bond market was quite active and firm with an exceptional demand for the Central of Georgia issues.

RESCUED BY A DOG.

Two years ago Thomas L. Whitney lived on what is known as the pitcher farm at Triangle, Broome county. He owned a handsome Newfoundland dog that was the pride and pet of his 2-year-old daughter. Dog and child were inseparable, and when Mr. Whitney moved to Binghamton the little one's heart was broken because she could not bring her Duke. As the family were to occupy the fourth story of a block in that city, it was decided to leave the dog with a family named Pellet, who were to occupy the place at Triangle. For a month or two the dog stayed, though evidently mourning the loss of his little companion; then he disappeared. Once or twice hunters thought they caught a glimpse of him in an extensive wood tract near the farm, but he was never seen about by any of the neighbors, and it was supposed he had gone to the woods to die of a broken heart.

Last week Mrs. Whitney and the little girl went to the farm to spend a few days. There had been a fall of snow, and the little one asked permission to go to the barn and see the calves. This was granted, and when she did not return her mother became worried. It began snowing hard when the mother started out to look for the child. Her footsteps were traced toward the woods, and then they were lost in the falling snow. For hours the farm hands hunted over the place and through the woods. Dusk came on rapidly and the mother was frantic, when there was a scratching and whine at the rear door. Opening it they found Duke with his little chilled burden that he had partly dragged and partly carried from the woods. The child got a warm bath and was put to bed.

In the excitement her rescuer was forgotten, and when remembered he had gone, and has not since been seen.

PENSIONING OLD PEOPLE.

After eleven days' discussion in committee at Wellington, New Zealand, the old age pension bill was passed on third reading in the house of representatives by a majority of ten. The bill provides that every person of the age of 65 and upward, of good moral character, whose yearly income does not exceed £34, and who has resided for twenty-five years in the colony, will be entitled to a pension of £18 per annum.

In New Zealand the poor have hitherto been relieved almost entirely by the state, charitable institutions for that purpose doing but a small part of the work. In 1896 a bill very similar in its provisions to the one in question was introduced into the house of representatives. There it met with a determined opposition, one amendment providing that everybody of and over the age of 65 years should be entitled to the pension whether he was in need of assistance or not. That was a socialistic suggestion that, if adopted, would have turned the whole colony into one huge friendly society. Eventually the bill was thrown out. In the following year a fresh bill confining the pension to the poor was brought in, and after a hard wrangle it went through its third reading by a majority of fifteen, only to be thrown out by the upper house.

Still undaunted by failure, the supporters of the principle of the old age pensions on a discriminating basis brought in a third bill this year, and now, after a desperate struggle for eleven days (which in New Zealand, where speeches of only ten minutes are allowed in committee, is a debate of exceptional severity), the bill has passed its third reading by the smaller majority of ten.

It is expected that 6500 persons will during the first year draw the £18, or part of it, and that about £100,000 will be so expended. So far there is no mention of additional taxation in connection with the scheme.

ORDER TO HEAR PETITION FOR LICENSE TO SELL LAND OF MINOR.—
State of Minnesota, County of St. Louis.—ss.

In Probate Court, Special Term, Feb. 17, 1899.

In the Matter of the Guardianship of Elizabeth Sullivan, Cecilia Sullivan and Melvin Sullivan:

On reading and filing the petition of Jennie Sullivan, guardian of said minors, representing, among other things, that the said wards are seized of certain real estate in the city of Duluth, said county and state, and that it is necessary that the same should be mortgaged, and praying for license to mortgage the same; and it appearing to the court, from said petition, that it is necessary to mortgage certain of said real estate for the benefit of said wards:

It is ordered and directed, that the next of kin to said wards, and all persons interested in said estate, appear before the judge of this court, on Monday, the 13th day of March, A. D. 1899, at 10 o'clock a. m., at the court house, in Duluth, in said county, then and there to show cause, (if any there shall be), why license should not be granted for the mortgaging of said real estate, according to the prayer of said petition.

And it is further ordered, that a copy of this order shall be published for three successive weeks prior to said day of hearing, in The Duluth Evening Herald, a daily newspaper printed and published at Duluth, in said county.

Dated at Duluth, this 17th day of Feb'y, A. D. 1899.

By the Court,
J. B. MIDDLECOFF,
Judge of Probate.

(Seal.)

NOTICE OF MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE.—

Default has been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage, made and delivered by August J. Tallakson and Hansine Tallakson, his wife, mortgagors, to Richard A. Taussig, mortgagee, dated September 23rd, 1891, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds for St. Louis County, Minnesota, on September 25th, 1891, at 8 o'clock A. M. in Book ninety-eight (98) of Mortgages on page eighty-eight (88).

Said mortgage and the debt thereby secured were assigned by the said Richard A. Taussig to Charles M. McCloud by an instrument, dated September 28th, 1891, and recorded in said Register of Deeds' office October 3rd, 1891, at 4 o'clock P. M., in Book seventy-three (73) of Mortgages on page five hundred forty-five (545).

The default aforesaid consists in the non-payment of the principal sum secured by said mortgage and interest thereon from March 1st, 1898. There is claimed to be due and is due upon said mortgage and the debt secured thereby at the date of this notice the sum of seven hundred and 13-100 ($700.13) dollars and no action or proceeding, at law or otherwise, has been instituted to recover said mortgage debt or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of a power of sale and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises therein described, viz:

All those tracts or parcels of land lying and being in the County of St. Louis and State of Minnesota, described as follows, to-wit:

Lots numbered fifteen (15) and sixteen (16), in Block numbered ten (10), in Merchant's Park Division to Duluth, according to the recorded plat thereof on file in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for St. Louis County, Minnesota.

Which said premises with the hereditaments and appurtenances will be sold at public auction for cash to the highest bidder to pay said mortgage debt and interest and taxes, if any, and the sum of Fifty Dollars ($50.00) attorneys' fees, stipulated for in said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law, by the sheriff of said St. Louis County, at the front door of the court house, in the city of Duluth, in said county, on the 3d day of April, 1899, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of that day, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the date of sale as provided by law.

Dated February 17th, 1899.

NOTICE OF MORTGAGE SALE.

Whereas, default has been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage which was duly executed and delivered by John Larcher, (widower), mortgagor, to Peter Patterson, mortgagee, bearing date December twenty-third (23rd), 1895, and which was duly recorded in the register of deeds' office for St. Louis County, Minnesota, on December twenty-fourth (24th), 1895, at 3:40 o'clock p. m., in Book one hundred seventy-seven (177) of mortgages, on page thirty-two (32); such default consisting in the non-payment of the principal sum thereby secured, with interest thereon from January 1st, 1898, and exchange;

And whereas, there is therefore claimed to be due, and there is actually due, upon said mortgage debt, at the date of this notice, the sum of four hundred thirty-four and 5-100 ($434.05) dollars, principal, interest and exchange;

And whereas, said mortgage contains a power of sale in due form, which has become operative by reason of the default above mentioned, and no action or proceeding, at law or otherwise, has been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof;

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of said power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made, said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described therein, situate in St. Louis County, Minnesota, described as follows, to-wit: Lots numbered one hundred sixty-one (161) and one hundred sixty-three (163), of block twenty-four (24), Duluth Proper, Third Division, and lots numbered one hundred sixty-one (161) and one hundred sixty-three (163), of block one hundred (100), Duluth Proper, Second Division, according to the recorded plats thereof in said register of deeds' office: which premises will be sold by the sheriff of said St. Louis County, Minnesota, at the front door of the court house, in the city of Duluth, in said county and state, on the sixth (6th) day of March, A. D. 1899, at ten (10) o'clock a. m., at public auction, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and twenty-five dollars attorney's fee, stipulated for in said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

AMENDMENT TO ARTICLES OF INCORPORATION OF LAKESIDE LAND COMPANY.—
State of Minnesota, County of St. Louis—ss.

We, George C. Stone, president, and John B. Greenfield, secretary of the Lakeside Land Company, a corporation of the state of Minnesota, do hereby certify that at the regular meeting of the stockholders of the said company duly called and held at the office of the company in the Exchange building at the city of Duluth, Minnesota, on the 4th day of January, 1899, at ten o'clock a. m., at which meeting there were represented, either in person or by proxy more than two-thirds of the issued and outstanding shares of the capital stock of the said company, the following resolution was unanimously adopted, to-wit:

"Resolved, that that part of article six of the articles of incorporation of this company relating to the date of holding the annual meeting for election of directors and officers, be and the same hereby is amended so as to read as follows: 'The government of said corporation and the management of its affairs shall be vested in a board of five directors to be elected the first Wednesday in June, A. D. 1899, and annually thereafter, and a president and secretary and treasurer to be elected by the board of directors, the president and treasurer from their own number and the secretary from the stockholders.'

"Resolved further, that the president and secretary be and they are hereby directed to make, record and publish a certificate of this amendment as required by law."

In witness whereof we have hereunto set our hands respectively this fourteenth day of January, A. D. 1899.

STATE OF MINNESOTA, DEPARTMENT OF STATE.—

I hereby certify that the within instrument was filed for record in this office on the 7th day of February, A. D. 1899, at 10 o'clock a. m., and was duly recorded in Book U2 of incorporations on page 593, etc.

ALBERT BERG,
Secretary of State.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN.—

Notice is hereby given that the undersigned livery and boarding stable keepers of the city of Duluth, Minn., claim a lien and the right to enforce the same on one bay mare, one buggy, one lap robe and one cutter, for their reasonable charges for keeping, supporting and caring for the same, at the request of the owner thereof, A. T. S. Schlick, from the 1st day of February, 1898, to the 1st day of January, 1899, the amount due and claimed to be due on the said last mentioned day therefor being $145.00. That the undersigned to satisfy said lien and the amount due above specified, will on the 1st day of March, A. D. 1899, at 10 o'clock a. m. on that day, at the front door of their livery barn, 122 West Second street, in the city of Duluth, Minnesota, expose for sale and sell said property above described, at public auction to the highest bidder for cash, to satisfy their claim for $145.00. That no part of said charge has been paid and more than thirty days have elapsed since the same became due. That notice of lien claim was filed Feb. 16th, 1899.

Dated Feb. 16th, 1899.

ALGERISM CONDEMNED.

Staid and conservative Boston was the scene yesterday of a popular demonstration against the secretary of war that must make a deep impression on President McKinley and show him that by retaining Gen. Alger in his cabinet he is gaining for the administration a great degree of unpopularity. The fact is that Algerism is the great black blot upon the reputation of the McKinley administration, and by Algerism is meant not only the mismanagement and incompetency displayed by Secretary Alger and the officials surrounding him, including Corbin, Eagan and others, during the war with Spain, but also the deliberate attempt on the part of Alger and his friends to belittle, snub and degrade the commanding general of the army.

The people look upon Gen. Miles as an experienced and brave soldier, and the only leading military officer who gave evidence of possessing the qualities of generalship during the recent war, and they resent the attempt to crowd him to the wall because he had the courage to stand up on behalf of the ill-treated and half-starved soldiers and protest against the actions of the corrupt army contractors, and either corrupt or inefficient subsistence department officials, that resulted in the loss of the lives of many brave men. The hissing of Alger and the cheering of Miles at Boston showed clearly the popular feeling in regard to these two men.

Perhaps the feeling manifested at Boston was increased by the brutal threat made by Secretary Alger, at the Brooklyn League club's banquet last Monday night, when he said: "One hundred and twenty-five thousand now remain, and we hope that soon we shall have an army bill such as is fitting for this mighty nation, and that we can relieve these volunteers and put men in their places willing to serve as soldiers. If this is denied us, I want to pledge you that the men in the field, though their time may be up, will never be released." In other words, the "war lord" of America said: "Give us what we demand, or your sons who enlisted in war for humanity, to free the suffering Cuban from Spanish tyranny, will be forced to remain in the army to fight a people who refuse to be bought and sold like cattle by one nation to another." This is only an incident in the brutality of Algerism. Are the American people satisfied with it? Do they want more of it? The demonstration at Boston indicates that in one city at least they have had enough of it.

IT IS PERSONAL PROPERTY.

A sound decision has been made by a Chicago court in regard to railroad tickets. Judge Gibbons has ordered the release of two ticket brokers who were indicted nearly a year ago, holding that the ticket scalpers' act under which the indictments were returned is void. It is held by the court that when a ticket is purchased it becomes personal property and may be resold. This is in line with the argument steadily advanced by The Herald in opposition to all legislation against ticket brokers. If sustained by the higher courts, it would render void any anti-scalping law enacted by congress and would defeat the attempt of some of the railroads to drive the ticket brokers out of business.

It is inconceivable how any person can honestly contend that a railroad ticket, which a man has bought and paid for, cannot be again disposed of by him to whom he will for whatever sum he pleases to sell it. The ticket becomes the personal property of the man who buys it, and he can use it himself, sell it or give it away or, if he pleases, destroy it.

THE PIG IRON BILL.

The amendment to the pig iron bounty bill, adopted on the motion of Mr. Laybourn, which limits the payment of bounties to persons or corporations not in any way connected with combines or trusts formed to regulate the price of pig iron, is of doubtful value. It is possible that, if retained in the bill, it may defeat the very purpose for which it has been introduced—that of establishing the manufacture of iron and steel in Minnesota. The Herald cannot see that any benefit will be derived by the bill being amended in this respect, and as there is a possibility that it would have an injurious effect, it should be stricken out when the bill reaches the senate.

The Laybourn amendment would open the door for litigation and give an opportunity for any one opposed to the payment of the bounty taking the question into court and contending that the owners of a blast furnace that had earned the bounty were connected with a pig iron trust. What Minnesota wants is iron and steel manufactories, and if some people connected with a pig iron combine should decide to build a furnace here and smelt iron ore there should be no law discriminating against them.

---

It is sometimes necessary to go away from home for news. Here, for instance, is a paragraph from the Sherburne County News: "Duluth is to have a cruiser named in her honor. This would put the lake city on a par with Minneapolis, St. Paul and the other large cities, and is a good move. Duluth is worthy of the honor." Of course, Duluth is worthy of such an honor, but so far the honor has not been conferred, except by the Star-News.

---

If the president had written in his proclamation to the Filipinos what he talked to the Home Market club in Boston last night there might have been no bloodshed at Manilla. But the emperor of the Philippines appears to be a different man from the executive servant of the people of Boston.

---

The house struck out of the sundry civil bill the $20,000,000 appropriation to pay Spain for the Philippines. There never has been a sound reason advanced why the United States commissioners put an agreement in the treaty to pay this sum.

---

The Herald has recently received a number of letters intended for publication, but not accompanied by the names of the writers. Under the rules of all newspapers such letters go into the waste basket.

---

Perhaps it would be well to wait a while before declaring the war in the Philippines at an end.

---

Evidently Algerism is not any more popular in Boston than it is elsewhere.

GOVERNMENT PURCHASES.

An Effort Made to Put an End to Discrimination.

Washington, Feb. 17.—The merchants of Havana have made considerable complaint of late that the market was being demoralized by purchases by the military authorities, certain merchants giving rebates in hope that they would get back the amount of duty on the goods sold the government. Secretary Meiklejohn took steps today to put an end to this discrimination, and directed that hereafter whenever it became necessary for the commissary department to purchase supplies in Cuba, to augment the supplies sent from this country, the market price shall be paid, without deduction of duties. This places the government on the same basis as private buyers and prevents any entanglement over duties.

ELECTRICAL EXPOSITION.

One Is to Be Held In Belgium During May.

Washington, Feb. 17.—Consul Roosevelt at Brussels has informed the secretary of state that the Belgian Society of Electricians will open an exposition of all sorts of electrical appliances applicable to domestic use in Brussels in May next. He says it is the purpose of the society to make a complete exhibition of the various uses to which electricity may be applied in the household. Besides appliances for illuminating purposes there will also be exhibited small motors for operating dumb waiters, cleaning and polishing shoes, heating kitchens, cooking stoves, bath tubs and bath rooms, electric teapots, sad irons, domestic telephones and in fact all appliances operated by electricity with a view to the total suppression of the use of coal for domestic purposes.

THREE NEW LINES.

Much Railroad Building to Be Done In California.

San Francisco, Feb. 17.—Three new railroads in the northeastern part of California are to be built this year. One is a road from Truckee, on the Central Pacific, southeast to Tahoe City on the lake of that name. It will be a narrow guage line fifteen miles in length and will cost about $200,000. It will be chiefly devoted to tourist travel. The new line will be an extension of the Sierra Valley railway from Clairville to Mohawk, a distance of fifteen miles, and from Plumas to Reno, twenty-five miles. This line runs through the Beckwith pass and there has been talk of its purchase by one of the transcontinental lines desirous of entering California. The third road on which work is to be done is the Nevada, California & Oregon railroad line, which now runs from Reno to Amedee in Lassen county. It is to be extended to Susanville and later to Alturas in Modoc county.

HALF A MILLION YEARLY.

Rudolph Spreckels Sells His Interest In a Sugar Plantation.

San Francisco, Feb. 17.—The Chronicle says that Rudolph Spreckels has disposed of his one-half interest in the Paauhu sugar plantation in Hawaii to Edward Palmitz & Co. for a sum which has not been made public. Ownership in the remaining half of the property is retained by William G. Irwin, of Honolulu and San Francisco, but it will be managed by a company which will be incorporated in California today with a capital stock of 100,000 shares. It is estimated that the plantation will produce 11,000 tons of sugar annually with a net profit of $500,000.

GEN. BROOKE EXONERATED.

Havana, Feb. 17.—The Cuban assembly met yesterday at El Cano under the presidency of Senor Frederico DeAndrade, the vice president. The committee appointed to inquire into the misunderstanding on Saturday upon the occasion of the funeral of Gen. Calixto Garcia reported through its president, Gen. Jose Gomez. It is understood that the committee exonerated Gen. Brooke from any responsibility in the matter and said the fault rested with an officer, who had badly interpreted Gen. Brooke's orders that day.

POSTAL ORDER MODIFIED.

Washington, Feb. 17.—The postmaster general has modified the order requiring the certification of officers of the army, navy and marine corps to secure domestic postage rate to letters sent by men in our forces outside the country. The modification permits postmasters at the places from which mail is sent to exercise a discretionary power for the first time, in identifying the sending party as entitled to the domestic rates for transmission here.

UPPER MICHIGAN.

Carnegie Gets Another Iron Property on the Marquette Range.

Marquette—The assignees of the J. M. Wilkinson estate have leased to Andrew Carnegie the Michigan iron mining property on the Menominee range. It is located in Iron county, near Amaza. The property was opened just before the panic, but hard times came on and compelled the company, which was not a strong one, to suspend after the first few months. Under the Carnegie management the property will be put on the list of active producers and worked on a large scale. The mine is a producer of soft ore similar to that of the Heatrock property, located near it.

Negaunee—Tuesday was the date that was generally set for closing the deal by which the Carnegie people would obtain control of the Queen mines, but no definite information as to the signing of the final papers was received here, and it is not generally believed that the details of the transaction have an been arranged yet. No doubt is expressed as to the ultimate operation of the mines by the Carnegie company, but it is evident that the date of the actual transfer of control of them must be put ahead at least a few days more.

Calumet—Calumet & Hecla officials deny that they will raise the wages of the men employed in their mine on account of the wonderful increase in the price of copper. Although the metal is selling higher than it has in years the mines will not be able to realize on this gain for a year at least, because the sales that are made now are for future delivery. The mine officials say a raise may be anticipated next summer if present bright conditions keep up.

A project is on foot to run a street electric line about the copper district and the matter has been brought to the attention of the various cities through applications which have been made to the councils for franchises. It is intended to circle the copper district with the electric line. Boston capital, which has always been prominent in developing the copper country, is backing the project.

The infant daughter of Joseph Record, of Allouez, was fatally burned. A lamp exploded and the fire caught the little one's clothing.

Quincy A. Shaw, one of the Calumet & Hecla magnates, is being sued for a large sum of money by Mrs. Peck, daughter-in-law of E. J. Hulburt, the discoverer of the mine. Mrs. Peck claims Mr. Shaw owes her 1000 shares of the stock.

Houghton—It is reported that a lis pendens has been filed at Ontonagon by R. C. Flannigan, of Norway, as attorney for certain parties in matters appertaining to the Belt Consolidated, and that in consequence matters regarding the floating of a portion of the lands of the Belt under a new name are at a standstill. It is not known in Houghton whether the action thus commenced is another Weatherby-Henwood affair, similar to that which tied up the Pawnee property recently and also the Eagle Harbor property, or whether it results from the recent foreclosure and sheriff's sale of the Belt property. It is understood, however, that Marquette parties are interested in the litigation.

It is learned that the sudden cessation of work on the Eagle Harbor property, in Keweenaw county, is due to the commencement of an action by Tim Nester and other Munising parties against the present holders of the option—F. H. Begole, of Marquette, and Paine, Webber & Co., of Boston—on lines resembling those in the Weatherby-Henwood case, Nester claiming that the property belongs to him under a prior option.

Samuel Gillespie, for over twenty years an employe of the Detroit and Lake Superior Smelting works, died at his home in West Hancock at 8 o'clock Tuesday morning of congestion of the brain, having been sick only since Friday last. He leaves his wife, two sons—James and Albert—and a daughter—Mrs. O. D. Bentley, of Chassell—to mourn his loss.

Iron Mountain—A terrible accident happened Sunday afternoon at the Main street crossing of the Chicago & Northwestern railroad, Charlie Rossi, an Austrian boy, 11 years of age, being ground to pieces by a freight train coming into the city from the north.

Quinnesec—Last Sunday evening Fred Gerne, a resident of Quinnesec, swallowed a dose of carbolic acid, mistaking it for whisky. The doctors pumped it out of him and saved his life for the time being. He contracted a severe case of pneumonia, however, and died Wednesday night.

Menominee—Congressman Shelden is making an effort to have a complete weather bureau established here.

ONE APOLOGIZES.

But Another Cuban Paper Denounces the Americans.

Havana, Feb. 17.—La Discussion apologizes for having demanded Governor General Brooke's resignation on account of the Garcia funeral incident by publishing today a letter from Senor Capote dated Feb. 14, exonerating Gen. Brooke of all responsibility for any complications on that occasion.

El Commercio publishes a long article calling upon Cubans and Spaniards to unite against the Americans, whom it says are "grasping all the possibilities of the islands to the exclusion of the natives."

NEW STEAMBOAT LINE.

One Is Established Between Tacoma and Hawaiian Islands.

Tacoma, Wash., Feb. 17.—James Ward, of the shipping firm of Saunders & Ward, has returned from a visit to England and announces the establishment by himself and others of a steamer line between this port and the Hawaiian islands. The British steamer Manauense will be the first vessel and will be out next week.

Mr. Ward is understood to be working on a proposition for a new line from the sound to Manilla and way points on to China and Japan. The famous Clyde Bank Engineering and Shipbuilding company is said to be backing him in this line and to have several steamers it can put in the trade. It is expected the trade will be opened soon.

SHORTAGE CHARGED.

Nevada, Mo., Feb. 17.—Frank Parker, ex-county treasurer of Vernon county, was arrested on the charge of the embezzlement of $40,000. His bond was fixed at $20,000, which he has not yet given. Mr. Parker says he expects to make a full settlement March 1.

MISSIONARY DEAD.

Seattle, Feb. 17.—Advices from Dawson announce the death of Rev. Father William H. Judge, a well-known Catholic missionary.

THE DAKOTAS.

Shortage In Accounts of Ex-Treasurer of Ransom County.

NORTH DAKOTA.

Sheldon—A well guarded secret comes to light this week, by the publication of the proceedings of the Ransom county commissioners with regard to a shortage in the accounts of W. H. White, ex-county treasurer. Mr. White has held the office for four years, and when the commissioners checked him out on Jan. 1, a shortage of $630 was found to exist. The bondsmen are several of the most substantial men in the county, but it is not thought that Mr. White will allow any permanent loss to fall on them. He has always borne a high character and his present trouble is a painful surprise to a large circle of friends.

Fargo—As the impeachment proceedings, in which Judge Glaspell, of Jamestown, is involved, are developed, more snakes are dug up daily. Some of the opponents of his honor have sprung an old Foster county land deal that savors very much of the same nature as the alleged facts in the Purchase case at Jamestown. A number of years ago Col. Whitford took up some land in Foster county. The colonel's land was crossed by the Soo road. He employed Judge Newton and Judge Glaspell to bring suit against the road. They first brought action against Banker Meacham, of Carrington, and the case was non-suited, and while the case was pending against the road, Col. Whitford settled the matter with the Soo officials and notified the attorneys. There was some disagreement over the attorneys' fees and he was sued by Glaspell, who secured judgment for $500. The land was sold and there are ugly rumors of a collusion between some attorneys, and the title to the land is now in the hands of Judge Glaspell. It is claimed that Judge Glaspell did not divide the attorneys' fees with Judge Newton, who was associated with him first in the suit. It is further urged that Newton did not care to press his claims, as he had cases pending in Glaspell's court and did not wish to prejudice the interests of his clients.

Bismarck—Morton county leaders will recommend Mrs. F. A. Briggs, widow of the late governor for the position of state oil inspector, and it is not unlikely the state will have a woman for oil inspector for the next two years. The position would probably have gone to the late governor had he lived. Mrs. Briggs is reputed a good business woman and well qualified for the position.

Lisbon—Thomas Anderson and Jacob Johnson, who were arrested the other day, charged on suspicion with stealing about forty bushels of wheat from a granary on the farm of Mrs. Amelia Henson, near Plymouth, this county, at a preliminary hearing before Justice Grover, at Lisbon, were discharged, there being no evidence connecting them in any way with the alleged larceny.

The long drawn-out dispute between the board of county commissioners of Ransom county and Stewart Heron, the contractor of the new court house, has at last been practically settled on the basis of the county paying 80 per cent on the amounts of the several outstanding claims for work done and material furnished.

Churches Ferry—Report comes in of the loss of five head of fine stock from hydrophobia, having been bitten by a strange dog which is supposed to be at large.

SOUTH DAKOTA.

Madison—Last Sunday evening Rev. J. V. Rosewarn, pastor of the Presbyterian church, discoursed on "Christian Science," and in the course of his remarks declared it to be "a child of the devil," and other strong remarks of like nature.

The farmers of this county, who own and operate a grain elevator here and have made the business pay them handsome dividends, will go a step further and erect a flouring mill here. The second meeting for the purpose is called for next Saturday.

Aberdeen—The city council has made a proposition to Mr. Bartholomew, owner of the gas and electric light plants, to purchase the same, and the offer has been accepted. It now looks as though the deal would go through, but there may be a hitch somewhere that will cause a failure of the plans. The plants are bonded for $35,000, which debt the city will have to assume. In addition to this they will pay $3500 in cash to the owners of the property.

The beet sugar industry is attracting unusual attention in this state as well as elsewhere. Capital is being attracted to this field as a profitable one of investment.

SCARCITY OF SUPPLIES.

Several Vessels In the Yukon Will Be Crushed By Ice.

Seattle, Wash., Feb. 17.—Advices from the Lower Yukon river up to Nov. 26 have reached here. They indicate a scarcity of supplies at Rampart City and Fort Hamilton, but there is no fear of a serious shortage. The stock of butter and sugar will need careful husbanding. There are about 2000 people at Fort Hamilton and about 2000 at Rampart City. The general health is excellent. The steamer Monarch has a big cargo of supplies at Dahl river. Steamers Rideous, Evans and Mary E. Graff also have through cargoes aboard.

There is some fear for the safety of a number of river steamers when the ice goes out next spring. Among them are the Herman, Dawson City Governor Stoneman and Yukoner. They lie between Andreafski and the mouth of the Tanana river. Five vessels whose names are not known are said to be stranded in Aphoon pass, the principal mouth of the Yukon delta. The greater part of the ice goes out this way. The crews of these vessels are removing from them everything possible in anticipation of their being crushed by ice.

COAL NEAR DAWSON.

Mining Expert Comes From Alaska to Buy Thawing Machines.

Nanaimo, B. C., Feb. 17.—Among the passengers on the steamer Amur was M. Masks, an Australian mining expert, who has come from Dawson for the purpose of obtaining thawing machines. These, he says, are being successfully used in Arctic mining.

Machines now in operation thaw from ten to twelve feet per day as against three feet by the old process. He estimates this year's output of the Klondike country at $19,000,000. Good coal is said to have been found a few miles from Dawson.

SHOE HOUSE ASSIGNS.

Boston, Feb. 17.—The wholesale shoe house of Tuttle, Smith & Co. has assigned. It had a capital of $100,000, and did a business of from $500,000 to $1,000,000 a year. Liabilities amount to about $250,000, and the assets are nominally the same.

A GUARD SHIP.

Vancouver, B. C., Feb. 17.—Esquimault is to have a guard ship. The third-class battleship Temerario is now being fitted out at Davenport for her voyage to Esquimault, to which station she has been appointed as port guardian. The Temerario carries eight guns. Her displacement is 8340 tons. She carrise about 400 men.

DEATH IN SANTIAGO.

Washington, Feb. 17.—The war department has received the following from Gen. Brooke at Havana, dated Feb. 17: Death report 15th: At Santiago, Private William White, Company H, Twenty-third Kansas, consumption.

SCALPERS RELEASED.

Chicago, Feb. 17.—Judge Gibbons has ordered the release of Brokers Bennett D. Marks and William Nye, who were indicted nearly a year ago, the court holding that the ticket scalpers' act under which the indictments were returned is void. It is held that a ticket was personal property and may be resold.

MUCH DAMAGE DONE.

A Fire Starting In Wanamaker's Laundry Costs $400,000.

Philadelphia, Feb. 17.—A fire last night destroyed three 6-story buildings on Market street below Thirteenth and a number of smaller structures in the rear, entailing an aggregate loss little short of $400,000.

The locality of the fire was only a few yards from Wanamaker's big department store, but the only damage suffered was a trifling one from water.

The fire started in the Market street laundry operated by John Wanamaker at 1226 Market street and spread rapidly to the buildings adjoining No. 1224, occupied on the first and second floors by the Emerson Shoe company and Dr. Wilson's dental parlors, the other floor being vacant and No. 1228 occupied by William R. Warner & Co., wholesale druggists.

A general alarm was sounded, but the flames spread with great rapidity. A stiff wind from the north carried the blaze back to Ludlow street and several small buildings occupied as shops were consumed.

The fire had been burning more than an hour when the towering west wall of Warner's building fell, carrying with it the rear ends of Nos. 1230-32-34-36 Market street, occupied respectively by Fernberger Bros., wholesale whisky dealers; Charles Mullin, shoes; Sternberg & Co., furnishers; Logus hat store, and the O. K. Hall clothing store. At midnight the fire was under control. The heaviest losers are John Wanamaker, Warner & Co. and the Emerson Shoe company.

A DIGNIFIED ANSWER.

Gen Miles Makes Reply to a Newspaper Inquiry.

Cincinnati, Feb. 17.—A local paper telepraghed Gen. Miles yesterday for a reply to the address of Dr. P. S. Connor at the testimonial banquet in this city Tuesday night. The commanding general replied without mentioning the name of Dr. Connor or any other member of the war investigating commission or even referring to the speech of Dr. Connor or any of the charges about which inquiry had been made of him. The telegram follows:

"Washington, Feb. 16.—In thirty-six years continuous srevice I am unconscious of having neglected or exceeded my duty to superiors in command, to the brave men under my command or to my country. I shall continue to do what I believe to be for the best interests of our country, and I hope, protect the health, life and honor of those who risk all for their country and its people. NELSON A. MILES."

THE MANHATTAN INSOLVENT.

The Stockholders Notified of an Assessment of $85,000.

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 17.—Superintendent of Insurance Louis F. Payn has made public the result of an examination in the condition of the Manhattan Fire Insurance company, from which it appears that the corporation has assets of $598,790, while its liabilities, including capital stock of $250,000, are $686,079. By this an impairment is shown amounting to $84,280. The superintendent has made a requisition upon the officers of the company to require the stockholders to pay in on or before March 16, 1899, the sum of $85,000. The company has just passed into the hands of a Cleveland syndicate and is being reorganized.

THREE FIREMEN KILLED.

Falling Wall at Philadelphia Buries Several Fire Fighters.

Philadelphia, Feb. 17.—At about 3 o'clock this morning, while about a dozen firemen were at work in the ruins of the store of the Emerson Shoe company, which was burned out at last night's big fire, a mass of iron and stone crashed down from the upper floors, burying the men beneath it. Three of the firemen were killed. They were:

William Chance, a hoseman.
Hugh Duffy.
George W. Stinle.

When the three firemen were first buried under the debris they answered the shouts of their companions, but their cries soon ceased, and the unfortunates undoubtedly met death by suffocation. Five of the firemen were injured, two seriously, by the falling debris.

THE RAISIN GROWERS.

They Will Be Unable to Effect Their Combine.

Fresno, Cal., Feb. 17.—The California Raisin Growers' association has issued an address to all the growers in the state who are in the combine calling for a mass meeting on March 1. The directors of the association are conceding that the attempt to combine this year is a failure. All contracts already made will be cancelled. March 1 was the time fixed when 75 per cent of the acreage should be secured to make the combine possible. Less than one-third of this has been obtained and there seems to be little hope of securing more.

DRINK GRAIN-O

After you have concluded that you ought not to drink coffee. It is not a medicine, but doctors order it, because it is healthful, invigorating and appetizing. It is made from pure grains and has that rich seal brown color and tastes like the finest grades of coffee and costs about one-fourth as much. Children like it and thrive on it because it is genuine food drink containing nothing but nourishment. Ask your grocer for Grain-O, the new food drink. 15 and 25 cents.

TO DRAW NEW BILL

Auditor Halden Will Prepare One on Gross Earnings Tax Question.

TO MEET OBJECTION

It Will Conform to the Suggestions Made By Senator Baldwin.

County Auditor Halden will have another bill drawn for the apportionment of the gross earnings taxes on railroads, and it will be as nearly as possible in accordance with the ideas of Senator Baldwin as expressed in his recent letter to the county board, which was mentioned by The Herald the other evening. He will incorporate in the bill a provision by which the towns as well as the cities and villages shall come in for a share of the portion of the tax to be distributed in each county.

The question of the basis for distribution of the taxes in the county seems to be a serious one, and there is a sufficient doubt as to either of the plans proposed to make them subjects for argument. As the bill stands it provides that the money shall be distributed in proportion to the amount of the assessed valuations of the sub-divisions of the county. This would be clearly unjust to the sub-divisions in which there is much railroad property. The railroad property is not included in the assessed valuation, and therefore subdivisions in which there is no railroad property would be awarded taxes on their full value, while sub-divisions in which there is considerable railroad property would only receive on the basis of other classes of property. For instance, the valuation of the city of Duluth actually would be at least a third larger if the railroad property were included. It would not receive its proper proportion, therefore, if the assessed valuation were made the basis. Proctorknott and other villages where the railroad property is the principal thing have very small assessed valuations, and they would not receive anywhere near their proper share.

Senator Baldwin's proposal was to divide the tax on the basis of the values of the railroad property in each subdivision, but there seems to be objections to that. The plan has been proposed of having the assessors place values on the railroad property in each sub-division and add this to the other values, and then divide the gross earnings taxes on the basis of the combined value. If it is possible to get at the values of the railroad property in each division, from the railroads or otherwise, this would seem to be the best way.

There will be no disposition on the part of the promoters of the measure, however, to haggle over these points. If the bill goes through in some shape, almost any details will be accepted. If then these means prove wrong it will be a simple matter to change them.

PECULIAR POISONS.

Generated In the Human Body.

The Result of Imperfect Digestion of Food.

Every living thing, plant or animal, contains within itself the germs of certain decay and death.

In the human body these germs of death (called by scientists ptomaines), are usually the result of imperfect digestion of food; the result of indigestion or dyspepsia.

The stomach, from abuse, weakens, does not promptly and thoroughly digest the food. The result is a heavy, sodden mass which ferments (the first process of decay) poisoning the blood, making it thin, weak and lacking in red corpuscles; poisoning the brain causing headaches, pain in the eyes.

Bad digestion weakens the heart, causing palpitation and finally bringing on disease of this very important organ.

Poor digestion poisons the kidneys, causing Bright's disease and diabetes.

And this is so because every organ, every nerve depends upon the stomach alone for nourishment and renewal, and weak digestion shows itself not only in loss of appetite and flesh, but in weak nerves and muddy complexion.

The great English scientist, Huxley, said the best start in life is a sound stomach. Weak stomachs fail to digest food properly, because they lack the proper quantity of digestive acids (lactic and hydrochloric) and peptogenic products. The most sensible remedy in all cases of indigestion is to take after each meal one or two of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, because they supply in a pleasant, harmless form all the elements that weak stomachs lack.

The regular use of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will cure any form of stomach trouble, except cancer of the stomach.

They increase flesh, insure pure blood, strong nerves, bright eye and clear complexion, because all these result only from wholesome food well digested.

Nearly all druggists sell Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets at 50 cents full-sized package or by mail by enclosing price to Stuart company, Marshall, Mich., but ask your druggist first. A little book on "Stomach Diseases" mailed free. Address Stuart company, Marshall, Mich.

RABBI FREY RESIGNS.

He Will Go to a Congregation at Leavenworth, Kan.

Rabbi Sigmund Frey of the Temple Emanuel congregation will leave Duluth with his family within a couple of weeks for Leavenworth, Kan., where he will have charge of the Temple Bnai Geshurun. The congregation there is larger than the one here and Rabbi Frey feels that his opportunities will be greater there. He spoke before the congregation there at its synagogue a week ago last Friday, and a Leavenworth paper in giving a full report of the sermon said that Rabbi Frey made a good impression on the congregation. Later the congregation met and voted to ask Rabbi Frey to accept the charge. He accepted, and has tendered his resignation to Temple Emanuel.

Rabbi Frey has been in Duluth three years, coming here from Springfield, Ill. He is one of the most scholarly men in the city, and has many friends within and without his congregation. He has done much for the Hebrews here, and among other things has given a start to the building of a synagogue at Seventh avenue east and Second street, where a lot has been purchased and building will start shortly.

Hundreds of lives saved every year by having Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil in the house just when it is needed. Cures croup, heals burns, cuts, wounds of every sort.

GETTING VERY LOW

Coal Stocks at the Head of the Lakes Are Decreasing Heavily.

SHORTAGE CERTAIN

Not Over Forty-Five Thousand Tons Remain---Twin Cities Draw Heavily.

The cold wave which held the entire Northwest so firmly in its grasp for three weeks or more made a terrific demand on the supply of hard coal. One of the best informed coal men said yesterday that there is not to exceed 45,000 tons of hard coal left on the head of the lakes docks. There is no nut coal and some of the companies have advanced the price of hard coal another 25 cents. Some companies are refusing all orders and are supplying only their regular customers. The demand from dealers in interior towns has been enormous, and while the present warm weather is causing a let up in this, it still continues good, showing that stocks are very low.

The shipments of coal from the head of the lakes to the Twin Cities during the recent cold spell were enormous. At one time it looked as though St. Paul would have a famine in hard coal, and dealers were scratching the bottoms of their bins, but a serious shortage was averted by rushing shipments.

Lachmund Pupils' Recital.

Last evening the pupils of Ernest Lachmund gave a piano recital at Craggencroft and it was attended by a large number of friends of the pupils. Miss Julia Donovan sang in place of F. E. Woodward, who is suffering from a severe cold, and was received with much favor. The program was a very pleasing one, many brilliant numbers were given and all the pupils acquitted themselves with great credit. The following took part: Misses Winifred Holmes, Corneille Smith, Dorothy Nichols, Esther Ryan, Eva Willcuts, Vergie Willcuts, Louise Chappell, Kate Headley, Mary Paine, Mildred Cleland, Lizzie Sharvy, Georgina Clulow, Agatha Cotter and Birdie Butler and Walter Smith.

BROADSIDE COMING.

Closing Meetings of the Old Council May Be Red Hot.

The mayor is preparing a broadside for Aldermen Cromwell, Duren and Tischer that he will fire at the council meeting Monday evening. Alderman Cromwell is loading up and preparing to shoot Chief Hansen full of affidavits, and City Engineer McGilvray is getting ready to shell the Tischer's creek bridge investigating committee No. 2 with technical terms. It seems pretty well assured that the remaining meetings of the old council will not be tame by any means. The mayor's broadside particularly is said to be a "hair curler."

Committee Is Appointed.

President Lewis of the chamber of commerce has appointed the following committee to investigate the cost of operating the telephone system in Duluth and matters in general in connection with the telephone business: Charles R. Haines, J. A. Ferguson, M. M. Gasser, D. G. Cutler and John Owens. This committee is to meet at 3:30 o'clock tomorrow at the Duluth Telephone company's office to look over the books and verify the statements made. The committee is appointed in pursuance of the motion adopted at the chamber of commerce meeting on Wednesday. It is to report at a meeting of the chamber next Thursday afternoon.

Died In Alaska.

James Dalgleish, formrely an enginerr on the St. Paul & Duluth road, died Jan. 24 at Tagish, on the Upper Yukon, from urinic poisoning. A letter announcing the death was received yesterday by Mrs. Walter Dalgleish, of 204 Garfield avenue. The dead man was 40 years of age and leaves a wife and daughter in Wisconsin. He left Duluth with J. O. McLaughlin and G. C. Findley.

Due to Irregularity.

Chief Hansen said yesterday that in referring to Alderman Cromwell's remarks in the council Monday night concerning the saloons at 926 Garfield avenue and 1605 West Michigan street, he was incorrect in stating that the licenses had not been issued because the clerk had not received his fee, $2.50 in each case. That was his information at the time, he said, furnished him by the officers he sent to investigate the matter. As a matter of fact he had ascertained, he said, that the licenses had not been issued because of formal objections to the bonds that had been filed.

FORESTERS' HIGH COURT.

Officers For the Ensuing Year Chosen and Installed.

The annual meeting of the United Order of Foresters' high court of the jurisdiction of Superior was held yesterday in the Masonic temple. Reports of the officers were received and officers for the ensuing year elected. The reports showed a gratifying growth of the order at the head of the lakes, the increase of membership in the jurisdiction being 34 per cent. A very satisfactory financial condition was disclosed also, there being an increase of 180 per cent in the cash balance on hand.

At the evening session a woman's court was formed which will be known as Court Phoenix No. 14. The organization of this court is largely due to the efforts of Mrs. B. Barnham. It started with thirty-seven charter members and five applications were received after it had been organized.

Judge Schoonmaker, of St. Paul, supreme chief ranger, was in attendance and installed the officers.

In the evening E. W. Cook, of Itasca, was presented by Judge Schoonmaker with a beautiful gold watch in behalf of the order in recognition of his services to it. Mr. Cook presented twenty-five applications for membership to his subordinate court in two months.

The evening session closed with dancing, in which about ninety couples participated. Refreshments were served.

The officers of the two courts elected last night are as follows:

High court—High chief ranger, James Kelly; vice chief ranger, E. W. Wakeman; past chief ranger, H. P. Barnett; treasurer, I. W. Gilleland; secretary, B. Barnham; high chief archer, B. N. Paddock; high auditor, John McMurchy; chaplain, J. A. Blix; inner woodward, E. W. Cook; outer woodward, F. Wilson; representatives at the supreme court, J. McMurchy, E. W. Wakeman and J. A. Blix.

Court Phoenix No. 14—Chief ranger, Mrs. Rose McGilvray; vice chief ranger, Mrs. Amy Evans; past chief ranger, Mrs. Emma Vanderberg; secretary, Miss Emily A. W. Anderson; treasurer, Mrs. Sarah A. Barnham; chief archer, Mrs. Jessie A. Butchart; chaplain, Mrs. Emma S. Fairgrieve; inner woodward, Mrs. Clara Inglis; outer woodward, Mrs. Frances Tischer; court deputy, Mrs. Sarah J. Bennett, and physician, Dr. A. E. Walker.

Court Phoenix will meet on the third Thursday of this month.

SCHIVEREA DRAWS CROWDS.

Evangelist Addresses Another Large Audience at the Armory.

Evangelist Schiverea addressed a large audience at the Armory last night.

Those who were living in sin should make haste to repent, he said. They should not wait for God to do more than He has already done. In Christ on the cross He has done all that was to be done. In eternity the opportunities for salvation would rise up to condemn those who had neglected them. The wicked should forsake his way; God could not save a man who was not ready to let sin go. The longer it was deferred the harder it would be to turn from sin. There were those who were waiting until Christians became more consistent, yet they themselves were living inconsistently with the rules of the club to which they belonged, for instance. Others said that they had not enough faith, yet they took many of the common things of life on faith. They should use the same common sense in trusting God that they did in believing other things by faith. Others want to be sure that they would not relapse. God would give enough grace and faith to start in the Christian life and would give enough to go all along with.

Another meeting will be held at the Armory at 7:30 tonight. Tomorrow morning at 10:30 Mr. Schiverea will talk to the newsboys at the Bethel on Lake avenue and all the boys are invited. Tomorrow afternoon he will speak twice at the county jail, and the usual Saturday evening meeting will take place at the Armory.

GROCERS ELECT OFFICERS.

Simon Clark and Henry Folz, of Duluth, Get Places.

St. Paul, Feb. 17.—The grocers yesterday completed the business mapped out for their annual meeting, holding two sessions in Market hall during the day. This was the third annual gathering of the State Grocers' and General Merchants' association, and it was easily the most important. More country merchants were present than at either of the preceding conventions, a fact which was regarded as most favorable to the future of the organization.

Among the principal business today was the election of officers, and the selection of Winona as the place for the next convention. The dates for the meeting will be chosen by the executive committee. The officers for the ensuing year will be:

President, P. G. Hanson, Minneapolis; first vice president, Simon Clark, Duluth; second vice president, G. O. Haskell, Stillwater; third vice president, H. F. Bullens, Excelsior; treasurer, Charles F. Rappe, St. Paul; secretary, J. H. Tenvoorde, St. Paul; board of directors—First congressional district, James T. Robb, Winona; Second, F. H. Behnke, New Ulm; Third, Frank S. Sherman, Red Wing; Fourth, Alonzo Burningham, St. Paul; Fifth, Herman J. Dahn, Minneapolis; Sixth, Henry Folz, Duluth; Seventh, T. J. Anderson, Belgrave.

AMONG THE PUGS.

The representatives of Kid McCoy and Joe Choynski have signed articles for a glove contest on March 24 under the auspices of the National club at San Francisco.

Jack Root and Billy Stift, of Chicago, battled at Davenport, Iowa, last evening before 1200 spectators for the middleweight championship of the Northwest. The fight was scheduled for twenty rounds. It was a fierce one from the start, Root in the first round opening a big cut above his opponent's eye and nagging him at long range throughout six rounds. Stift relied chiefly on fierce rushes and striking his opponent in clinches, which was allowed under the conditions of the fight. In the seventh round Root still had the better of the fighting. He went on one knee in a rush before Stift, was struck by the latter when down, and Referee Hogan gave the fight to Root on a foul. Tommy Ryan challenged the winner and has been accepted for twenty-five rounds under the auspices of the Davenport club.

CONDENSED DISPATCHES.

Dr. Samuel George L. Ginner was arrested at Scranton, Pa., on a telegram from St. Paul, where he is wanted to answer the charge of grand larceny while general manager of the order of Minnehaha. He says he is primate and first bishop of the Church of America.

At Boston, during the banquet of the Home Market club last night, F. E. Taft, of Whitinsville, fell forward in his chair and when carried into an ante-room was found to have expired.

Two colored men were killed and five men injured, none seriously yesterday, by the collapse of the roof of the Ebbitt house livery stable at Washington. The dead men are Clarence Gross and Joseph Hill, both drivers. The roof gave way under the weight of snow.

Representative Bland of Missouri introduced a resolution providing that the government should take steps to care for the graves of the Confederate dead in accordance with the suggestion of President McKinley.

The senate confirmed these nominations: George W. Wilson, of Ohio, commissioner of internal revenue; Spencer F. Eddy, Illinois, third secretary of the embassy at London; H. P. Dodge, Mass., third secretary of the embassy at Berlin; Samuel Morrill, Mass., third secretary of the embassy at Paris.

AN ARBITRATION BOARD.

Chicago, Feb. 17.—The Times-Herald's Washington special says: The joint high commission has agreed upon the establishment of a permanent international court or tribunal similar to the interstate commerce commission for the adjustment of disputes that may arise from time to time affecting commerce and transportation between the United States and Canada, both by sea and by land. One member of this tribunal will be named by Great Britain, one by the United States and if it is desired to have a third member he will probably be appointed by a neutral power. It would be in the nature of a permanent arbitration board, with powers limited to commercial questions.

OPPOSES ACTION

The Jobbers' Union Protests Against Agitation For Lowering Ore Rate.

GIVES ITS REASONS

Might Drive the Road Terminals to Wisconsin---Might Reduce Wages.

The jobbers' union held a meeting yesterday afternoon to take action on the agitation to reduce the iron ore freight rates in this state, which has been begun by E. C. Gridley, J. T. Hale and Alfred Merritt. The following resolutions were passed:

"Whereas, we believe the continued agitation against the great interests centering here, which have contributed more than anything else to the upbuilding of the business interests of this city, is doing us all an especial injury at this time, we desire to enter our emphatic protest against such agitation.

"The railroad and mining interests naturally have sought every means of cheapening production, and their success in this direction is what has enabled this country to enter the markets of the world.

"While we regret to see the entire production of the mines shipped away for manufacture elsewhere, we believe this will be corrected in time, through our natural advantages becoming known, and we shall derive great benefit in the future, though the time may be hastened by the proposed bounty on pig iron.

"We cannot see where the citizens of the state of Minnesota will be benefited by a reduction of the freight rates on iron ore from the mines to the lake, as the large interests have such full control of the product from the mine to its finished state. A reduction of one-half the freight rate would result in a loss to the state of over $60,000 per year in the amount of the gross earnings etx.

"A reduction of wages would also possibly follow, and in all probability the terminals of the ore-carrying roads would be changed to our neighboring state of Wisconsin, so that under the interstate law the entire effect of the proposed law, if passed by our legislature, would be lost.

"The state railroad and warehouse commission made an exhaustive examination of this whole subject last year, and found no sufficient reason for making any change in the ore tariff. In view of these facts, be it therefore

"Resolved, by the jobbers' union of Duluth, that we deprecate any such action as has been proposed as being unwise, unnecessary and entirely contrary to the business interests of this city, and in fact the entire state. And be it further

"Resolved, that a copy of this resolution be sent to each member of the legislature from St. Louis county."

The meeting of educational men who have taken up this subject will be held at the Commercial club rooms in St. Paul on Tuesday next at 1 p. m.

TO START UP SOON.

New Manufacturing Plant Nearly Ready for Operation.

The Northwestern Manufacturing company, which is now erecting a plant on South Fifth avenue west, will probably begin work some time next week. Cold weather has interfered with work on the building, but since the warm spell it has been rapidly pushed. The building is practically completed and the manufacturing outfit is being put in. An electric motor will be employed to furnish power, and this is already in place and was given a trial run yesterday. The plant will be fitted with blacksmith and woodworking shops, with forges, trip hammers, etc.

The company will manufacture a full line of logging tools, such as cant hooks, pike poles, etc., also logging sleds. About eight men will be employed at the start. Carl Leister is manager of the plant.

Stockholder of a Western Road Makes an Application.

New York, Feb. 17.—The application of George N. Miller, a stockholder in the Union Pacific, Denver & Gulf Railway company, for an injunction pending the trial of an action he has brought to restrain Granville Dodge, Frederick P. Olcott, Harry Walters, Henry Budge and J. Kennedy Tod as voting trustees under the plan by which the reorganization of certain railroads in Colorado, Wyoming and New Mexico was effected by the consolidation of the various lines, from delivering the new stock of the Colorado & Southern railway company to the voting trustees appointed by the committee of reorganization, was argued before Justice Beekman in the supreme court.

The plaintiff also asked that the defendants be enjoined from putting into effect so much of the plan of reorganization as vested in the trustees the title to 5000 shares of stock owned by the plaintiff, and from forfeiting his rights under a clause in the agreement of reorganization.

Justice Beekman took the papers and reserved his decision.

HAVANA CUSTOMS RECEIPTS.

Washington, Feb. 17.—Assistant Secretary of War Meiklejohn has made public the following statement of receipts from customs at the port of Havana, Cuba, for the four weeks ending Jan. 28, 1899: Importations, $621,720; exportations, $63,-337; tonnage tax, $17,524; fines, $1; total, $703,183. Total of all collections for the month of January, 1899, $713,538.19.

It is said that GEORGE WASHINGTON, the great statesman and our first president, could not tell a lie, but there are lots today who can, and they do it easy. Of course it must be admitted that people of today know a GREAT DEAL MORE, and particularly in that line. The constitution of a LIAR is poor and can't stand against the SWORD of TRUTH; it will pierce through the very heart. A poor CONSTITUTION is liable to run into wrong channels. A strong constitution is dependent on what we EAT and DIGEST. If the "VIKING" Flour, as the hygienic press says, "nourishes the human system, builds up tissues and aids digestion," and that is no LIE, why not try it? It is the PUREST and SWEETEST Flour on the market.

Asks for an Assessment.

James C. Hunter, receiver to collect the judgment in the case of C. Markell, as assignee for H. H. Bell, against the stockholders of the Masonic Temple association, this morning applied to the district court to have the court make the first assessment on the stockholders in accordance with the judgment entered against them recently. The court is asked to levy the assessment and to order executions against the stockholders to be issued.

Deserted For Years.

Annie Peach yesterday afternoon began a suit for divorce against her husband, Addison N. Peach, on the grounds of cruelty and desertion. They are 39 and 40 years of age respectively and they were married at Wadena, Minn., Nov. 29, 1883. The alleged cruelty consisted in the charge that in 1891, while they were living in Superior, the defendant failed to supply the necessaries of life for the plaintiff and her son, and they suffered for want of food and clothing. Nov. 1, 1891, she claims her husband abandoned her altogether, and she says he has remained away from her since. N. A. & H. G. Gearhart are her attorneys.

Boeing Estate Decree.

In the matter of the estate of Margarethe Emma Boeing a decree was issued in probate court this morning conferring the interests of the deceased in the great Boeing estate on Marie M. Owsley, the mother of the deceased. The estate consists of fractional interests in a vast amount of property, including town lots in Duluth and Hibbing and acres in St. Louis, Itasca, Carlton, Hubbard, Lake and Cook counties, Minnesota.

There were thirty-four recordable instruments filed in probate court yesterday, none of them of public interest.

Files an Answer.

In the case of the Ecorse Transportation company vs. H. B. Earhart the defendant has filed an answer. He was sued on notes for $39,000 given for the purchase of a boat, the George Farwell. A mortgage was foreclosed and the balance over the amount realized sued for. Mr. Earhart claims the boat was defective, that the foreclosure was irregular, and that the boat was sold for only $18,000, whereas it was worth $56,-000. He brings a counter claim for $29,-500.

NO MORE FOOLING

Determined Stand to Be Made Against Personal Property Tax Delinquents.

TO FORCE PAYMENT

Sheriff Will Be Compelled to Vigorously Pursue All Who Are Behind.

Those who have been in the habit of neglecting their personal property taxes for the past few years had better look out or the sheriff will get them. They need not take any hope from the fact that the sheriff is a good fellow and will not be hard on them. He is a good fellow, all right, but he has no option in the matter, the county board, in providing for an enforced collection of back personal property taxes, having passed a resolution to the effect that the sheriff is to be held responsible for the collection of the taxes.

In pursuance of the resolution passed by the board of county commissioners not long ago, the clerk of court this morning turned over to the county board a list of those who have failed to pay their taxes for six years back. The list includes 1493 names, and the board will look it over and pick out those that in its belief should be able to pay. There are some names of persons from whom collection of anything is hopeless, and collection of taxes especially so. These will be cut out, because it will only be an expense to attempt collection.

When the list has been weeded out it will be returned to the clerk and executions will be issued. These will be turned over to the sheriff, who will be directed to levy on anything he can get hold of under them. Nothing is exempt, and the sheriff will be able to make it hot for those who failed to pay. In addition to the trouble, these proceedings mean additional expense which the recalcitrant property-owners will have to stand. As there is every chance that these refractory taxpayers will have to put up sooner or later, it would seem that it would be money in their pockets to put up now and save the expense of an execution and levy.

Among the list of names turned over to the board this morning there are people who owe the county taxes as far back as 1892, and from that up to 1898. There are some for every year intervening. Executions have never been issued under these judgments, though there never was any reason why they should not be issued, and though they have been threatened more times than it is worth while to count. This time it looks very much as though business was meant.

CHANGE IN BUSINESS.

Wallace Wells and Roderick Annis Purchase Northern Hardware Co.

The stock of the Northern Hardware company has been sold to Wallace H. Wells and Roderick Annis, who will continue the business under the company name. The store will, however, be reduced in size, and will hereafter occupy No. 222 West Superior street, the eastern half of the present place. Mr. Wells is a son of Benjamin E. Wells, and was for several years associated with the Marshall-Wells and Northern Hardware companies. Mr. Annis is one of the oldest retail hardware men in the city in point of service, and is now with the Kelley Hardware company. The two young men will undoubtedly make a success of their venture.

W. F. Quayle, who has been with the Marshall-Wells and Northern Hardware companies for many years has accepted the position of manager of the retail department of the Kelley Hardware company. E. A. Moye, present manager of the Northern Hardware company, has not decided upon his future course, but may shape matters so that he will remain in Duluth.

CUT OFF HER ARM.

Mrs. Elliott of Eau Claire Receives Dangerous Injuries.

St. Paul, Feb. 17.—An Eau Claire, Wis., special to the Dispatch says: About 11 o'clock this morning a trolley car with several men and women on it collided with a string of freight cars, which was being backed along a spur track near the Dells Lumber company's mills. The street car had come down a hill. Mrs. Hugh M. Elliott, wife of ex-Alderman Elliott, jumped from the trolley car as it struck the railroad tracks and was crushed by a freight car, her left arm being cut off. The trolley conductor also jumped and was not hurt. The passengers who stayed in the car were not hurt, but severely shaken up. The electric railway company has a liability policy. Mrs. Elliott is in the hospital in a dangerous condition.

Card of Thanks.

I am most desirous of extending my sincere and heartfelt thanks to the officers and members of I. O. F., No. 721, Court Duluth, for their hospitality and kindness extended to me in my sad bereavement, and I wish to express my gratitude to my many friends who so willingly assisted.

NEW SENATE BILLS.

Legislation Proposed By the Minnesota Senators.

St. Paul, Feb. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Among the new senate bills today were:

Myran—Authorizing city councils of cities of 3000 or more to buy light and water plants.

Young—To allow independent school districts to bond for school houses.

Halvorson—To repeal oil inspection law.

Underleak—Authorize certain religious societies to increase trustees from four to nine.

Nixon—Appropriating $5000 for drainage in Renville county to improve roads.

Knatvold—To amend law of 1895 relating to justices of peace, extending jurisdiction to adjoining townships.

Knatvold—To amend law of 1894 relating to tax levy.

Knatvold—For county insane hospitals.

WILL LET COURT DECIDE.

Cleveland, Feb. 17.—The Standard Oil company again refused to produce its books in evidence in the investigation resumed here before Master Commissioner Brinsmaid today, and Attorney General Monnett asked that Secretary F. B. Squire of the Standard be committed to jail for contempt of court. Col. Brinsmaid refused to send Mr. Squire to jail, but said that he would certify all the records to the supreme court and let the court decide whether a penalty should be inflicted for the refusal to answer the question.

ELECTION OF LORD MAYOR.

The manner of electing a lord mayor is as follows, says the St. Louis Post-Dispatch: On Michaelmas day—Sept. 29—in each year the members of companies or guilds assemble in the guild hall and nominate the two senior aldermen who have not already held the office of lord mayor. These nominations are submitted to the board of aldermen, who elect one of them as lord mayor, usually the senior in office, though once in a while there will be a contest, when the senior alderman for any reason is unpopular with the board. But as a rule it is a cut-and-dried affair, the seniors taking the office in rotation as the years pass.

Nov. 9 is Lord Mayor's day, when all London turns out to see the lord mayor's show. It is always a great occasion, in which the populace delights.

The most ancient royal houses of Europe and oldest peerages are but of yesterday when compared with the chief magistracy of London. Before Edward the Confessor reigned it was old, for the city of London dates back to a time when Britons still possessed the land. In that long line there are many distinguished and some historic names—men who well knew how to defend the rights and privileges of the city. There was Sir William Walworth, who arrested the rebel Wat Tyler, and there was Whittington, whose adventures are known to every child. William Beckford, the father of the author of "Vathek," withstood the encroachments of royalty itself, and the still more famous Jack Wilkes resisted parliament.

CORNISH THE MAN

He Is Now Suspected In the New York Poison Mystery.

ENMITY TO BARNET

It Was Common Talk Among the Members of the Club.

New York, Feb. 17.—The afternoon session yesterday at the inquest into the death by poison of Mrs. Kate Adams was taken up with the evidence given by Assistant District Attorney McIntyre, several policemen who were connected in one way or another with the case and George A. Salmon, athletic director at Cutler school. Harry S. Cornish's statement that the idea that a crime had been committed had not occurred to him until two or three days after the death of Mrs. Adams, was contradicted by Mr. McIntyre, as it had previously been contradicted by Drs. Hitchcock and Potter.

Mr. Salmon testified that Cornish had shown him at the Knickerbocker Athletic club the box containing the bottle poison, saying: "See what a nice Christmas present some one has sent me."

"He had no especial reason for showing it to me," said Salmon, "and I do not know why he did." The witness also said that the enmity existing between Cornish and Barnet was common talk among the members of the club.

TO SUCCEED FAURE.

The Leftists Nominate M. Loubet and Consider His Election Assured.

Paris, Feb. 17.—At a meeting of the Leftists senators today, M. Loubet, the president of the senate and former premier, was unanimously nominated for the presidency of France, in succession to the late President Faure. The senators consider M. Loubet's election assured.

All the sovereigns have sent condolences on the death of President Faure.

This city and the provinces are calm.

The chamber of deputies met at 2 o'clock this afternoon. The hall was crowded. M. Deschanel, who presided, read Premier Dupuy's letter announcing the death of President Faure and pronounced an eulogy of the deceased chief magistrate. He also asked all Frenchmen to unite around his coffin.

M. Deschanel then read a letter from the president of the senate, M. Loubet, announcing that the national assembly would meet at Versailles tomorrow. It was then moved that the house adjourn as a token of mourning. This was agreed to and the deputies dispersed.

Besides the public buildings, many private houses display flags at half-mast.

Emperor William of Germany has telegraphed his condolences with Madame Faure and has directed the German ambassador here, Count Von Munster-Lodenburg, to place a wreath on the president's coffin today, and to announce that his majesty is sending a special mission to represent him at the funeral.

SYMPATHY FROM GERMANY.

Members of Reichsteg Stand While Listening to Choncellor.

Berlin, Feb. 17.—The imperial chancellor, Prince Hohenlohe, at the opening of the reichstag today announced the death of President Faure, and expressed the sympathy of the German people and emperor with France, "which," he added, "was lamenting the demise of a man who, as chief magistrate, had unswervingly promoted the great interests of peace and concord and the welfare of nations, mindful of the common tie uniting all civilized nations."

Continuing, the chancellor said: "We too, give expression to the sorrow felt and the loss sustained by the French people, who at no time have ceased to be one of the great pillars of civilization."

The members of the reichstag listened standing to the remarks of the chancellor and applauded them.

Count Von Ballistrem, president of the reichstag, declared that the object of the members in rising from their seats was to express sympathy, a fact which they felt bound to place on record.

Two-Mile Race to Be Held Tonight Between Skating Flyers.

ANOTHER CONTEST

Fancy Skaters to Be Matched In the Near Future---Other News.

Although the weather was mild, the ice at the Marinette rink was in excellent condition for the skating party given there last evening. A fine program was given by the band.

There will be a Saturday afternoon skating matinee for the rest of the season.

This evening will occur the 2-mile race between A. Buska and Jenson for the championship of West Duluth. There is considerable feeling over this match, as these young men have both claimed the championship for the past three years and challenges have passed back and forth, but tonight will settle the dispute.

Tuesday evening, Feb. 21, there will be a skating contest for the amateur fancy skating championship of the head of the lakes between Fred Di Marco, present champion and holder of the Marinette medal, and the champion of West Superior. Superior people will turn out in force to back their man, and they will have no trouble in finding plenty Di Marco money, as the people over here think he can win easily.

Arrangements are being made for some good races, as the champions will soon return from Montreal and will come this way.

Great interest has been aroused in polo by Tuesday night's game, and while the Marinettes were defeated, they think if they had a little more practice they could change the score, and later will arrange another game.

INSTALLED ITS OFFICERS.

The Ladies' auxiliary, A. O. H., Division No. 1, of West Duluth, installed its officers last evening. The society starts with a membership of thirty charter members and has every prospect of doubling its number before the next regular meeting. The election of officers resulted as follows: President, Mrs. Julia Hammil; vice president, Mrs. Maggie Coleman; recording secretary, Mrs. Mary Burns; financial secretary, Mrs. Mary Callahan; treasurer, Mrs. Mary Garagan; sergeant at arms, Mrs. Sullivan; sentinel, Mrs. Collins; president standing committee, Mrs. Mary Bolger; medical examiner, Dr. Phelan.

CHARGED WITH INDECENT EXPOSURE.

A man giving his name as Christ Peach intercepted some young girls returning from school at Fifty-seventh avenue west and Elinor street, yesterday afternoon, and made obscene demonstrations at them.

The father of one of the girls, Nicholas Collins, came along and caught him in the act. Mr. Collins pursued the man some distance, but the latter made his escape. Mr. Collins then reported the matter at the West Duluth police station, and Sergt. Briggs took the trail in a buggy. Peach had headed for West Superior, but Sergt. Briggs succeeded in heading him off and rounded him up at Murray & Jones' mill, at the foot of Forty-first avenue west. Peach was arraigned before Judge Edson this morning on the charge of indecent exposure. He pleaded not guilty, and was to be tried this afternoon.

It is thought that Peach is a little off mentally. He is a laborer.

WEST DULUTH BRIEFS.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. D. Currie, of Oneota street and Forty-fifth avenue west, yesterday morning.

A number of their neighbors and friends surprised Mr. and Mrs. P. Carey, of Fifty-eighth avenue, on the evening of Feb. 11. The entertainment consisted of cards, music and refreshments.

Mrs. Elizabeth Rogers, of Chicago, met the Ladies' Catholic Order of Foresters at the Gilly hall on Monday last at 2 p. m. for the purpose of instituting Santa Maria court.

The Pig Iron Bounty Bill Advanced After a Hard Struggle.

JACOBSON OPPOSES

Test Vote In House Shows a Large Majority In Favor.

St. Paul, Feb. 17.—The house yesterday afternoon, after a three hours' debate and fight, advanced to the calendar by a vote of 44 to 42 the bill providing for a 50 cent bounty on pig iron manufactured in the state. On a subsequent motion, after the house had risen from committee of the whole to except the bill from the report of the committee, the ayes and nays were called and a call of the house ordered, and the vote stood 64 to 39 in favor of the bill.

The fight against the measure, even after it had been whipped into shape to satisfy many of those to whom its provisions were not satisfactory, or to whom an understanding on the subject was different, was a bitter and insistent one. The fight against the bill or to make it inoperative was led by Fosnes, with Jacobson as ostensible second. Fosnes is a lieutenant of Jacobson's and an inference is possible. As disposed of this afternoon, the bill goes to the calendar. Under an amendment to the report of the committee, which was adopted without opposition, the bill as amended will be printed. The bill is likely to be taken from today's calendar for final disposition if the roll call shows a full attendance. The matter may be made a special order, but in that event it would give the opponents of the principle a chance to fight the whole thing over.

The bill as finally amended is as follows:

Section 1. There shall be paid out of any money in the state treasury, not otherwise appropriated, to any person, firm or corporation hereafter engaged in the manufacture of pig iron in this state the sum of 50 cents for each gross ton of pig iron so manufactured by any such person, firm or corporation; such sum to be paid for the period of five years from the date of the first production of pig iron under the provisions of this act; that thereafter and for the period of five years after the expiration of the five years as aforesaid the sum so paid for pig iron so manufactured within this state shall not exceed the sum of 25 cents per ton, except that when said pig iron shall have been transferred and manufactured into a merchantable product within this state, the sum so paid shall be 75 cents per ton upon the pig iron so used. Provided that in the case of all ores mined on state lands, the amount of royalty or bounty shall be one-half that provided above.

Section 2. Any person, firm or corporation entitled to compensation as provided in the first section of this act shall present a claim therefor to the state auditor, duly verified, in such form and under such rules as to details and requirements as shall be prescribed by the state auditor and approved by the governor.

Section 3. Whenever a claim is presented to the state auditor as in this act provided he shall examine the same, and if found correct, he shall thereupon issue his warrant upon the state treasurer for the amount due thereon as provided by law, payable to the person, firm or corporation to whom such sum is due. Provided that no person, firm or corporation shall be entitled to or receive any payment under this act for pig iron manufactured while such person, firm or corporation is a member of any trust or combination organized or existing for the purpose of affecting the price of pig iron; provided that the aggregate expenditure under this act shall not exceed the sum of one hundred thousand dollars ($100,000) in any one year; and provided further that in case the amount earned shall exceed the sum provided for in this act, and more than one furnace shall have been in actual operation, then and in such case the said bounty shall be divided pro rata among such furnaces according to their output.

Section 4. This act shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage.

On the passage of excepting from the report, the only test of record, the vote was as follows:

Ayes—Abbott, Argetsinger, Babcock, Barteau, Boutwell, Corey, Cumming, Davis, Deming, Dunn, Dwinnell, Dyer, Fulton, Goodspeed, Gutterson, Hagstrom, Hazlett, Hennessy, Hill, Hillary, Holm, Hymes, Jackson, Jeub, Johnson, S. C.; Kinne, Krayenbuhl, Lampe, Laybourn, Lydiard, Lynds, McCollom, Mallette, Mallory, Medicraft, Miller, Morris, Nelson, N. C.; Nelson, W.; Neubauer, Nyquist, O'Connor, Olson, C. O. A.; O'Neil, Pope, Pugh, Roberts, Schain, Schurtz, Scribner, Schurman, Simonson, Staples, Stivers, Torson, Thauwald, Umland, Von Der Weyer, Wallace, West, Wheaton, Wilkinson, Yale—64.

Nays—Beach, Benolken, Brusletten, Dagget, Dealy, Donohue, Emerson, Estby, Feeney, Fosnes, Foss, Galt, Haugen, Helmerdinger, Henderson, Jacobson, Johnson, J. E.; Johnsrud, Larson, Lommen, McGrath, McNeil, Marin, Nelson, N. O.; Ojen, Olsson, P.; Pederson, Pennington, Peterson, G.; Plowman, Riley, Sander, Selby, Swanson, Torrey, Truwe, Von Lehe, Weston, Wethern—39.

The absentees were: Ahlstrom, Allen, Bush, Elwell, Ferris, Grass, Grondahl, Kelly, Mausten, Moran, Munger, Sloan, Stites, Winston, Wood and Speaker Dare.

IOWA Y. M. C. A.

Dubuque, Iowa, Feb. 17.—The second day of the Y. M. C. A. state convention was opened with praise services conducted by C. B. Willis, of Milwaukee.

The usual committees were appointed and the convention listened to a Bible study, "The Messiah in Anticipation," by Rev. L. M. Marsh, of Humboldt. This was followed by Thomas S. McPheeters, of St. Louis, on "The Work to Do; the Men to Do It," and "The Investment of Time and Influence," by C. B. Willis, of Milwaukee.

The principal address of the afternoon session was by C. C. Michener, of New York, whose subject was "The Next International Convention."

NEW LUMBER CONCERN.

La Crosse, Wis., Feb. 17.—Articles of incorporation of the C. L. Colman Lumber company have been filed. The capital is $1,000,000. The incorporators are C. L. Colman and his three sons, Lucius, Harvey and Edward. All the stock is held in the family.

RIVER AND HARBOR BILL.

The Senate Increases the Cash and Continuing Appropriations.

Washington, Feb. 17.—The senate committee on commerce today completed its consideration of the river and harbors bill, the last act of the committee being the addition of the provision for the construction of the Nicaragua canal. The bill has not been printed as completed and will not be in shape to be reported until tomorrow. Aside from the Nicaragua canal the committee increases the cash appropriation to the extent of about $2,000,000 over the house cash appropriation, while the amount of continuing contracts is increased to the extent of about $10,000,000.

THE CHAIR SUSTAINED.

Motion to Recommit Sundry Civil Bill Not In Order.

Washington, Feb. 17.—The house by 155 to 96 today sustained the decision of the chair that a motion to recommit the sundry civil bill with instructions to incorporate the Nicaragua canal bill was not in order.

The chaplain of the house in his invocation today referred feelingly to the critical illness of Mr. Cranford, of Texas, whose death is hourly expected, from a complication of diseases. He is very ill at Providence hospital here.

Bills were passed to authorize the St. Louis, Siloam & Southern railroad to construct a bridge across the White river; to authorize the pasadena & Mt. Wilson Railroad company to construct its road through the San Gabriel forest reservation, and to grant the Clearwater Valley railroad company right-of-way through the Nez Perces reservation.

The census bill was sent to conference.

Have your watch repaired at Geist & Erd's.

We will not carry a winter garment over to next season if a low price will move it. We're not even taking cost into consideration. Winter goods must go.

The Great Eastern Duluth

It's glory now, not profits we're after. We are in the midst of the grandest customer-making sale ever known.

Store Open Every Saturday Night in the Year Until 11.

WE'RE AFTER BUSINESS

TOMORROW! Here are offers no man with self interest at heart can get away from:

Men's $12, $15, $18 and Even $20 Suits for Seven-Fifty.

Will wonders ever cease? We glory in the fact that while we lose money on every one of these 300 Suits we offer, we make a customer of every buyer. An astonishing fact—the very best $12, $15, $18 and even $20 values you have ever seen—50 different patterns—strictly all wool—tailored in high-class manner—linings, buttons and inside linings the very best, new, up-to-date styles—every one guaranteed to be strictly as represented or your money back on the asking—every one we sell makes us a customer. Tomorrow we offer these grand Suits at only $7.50

A Clean Sweep of Overcoats, Reefers and Ulsters Tomorrow

Not a garment will be carried over if the power of low prices has any bearing with the late buyer, and it should have, for even cost is not considered in our determination to unload. Come tomorrow—seeing is believing and costs nothing.

Men's and Boys' Extra Fine Overcoats, Ulsters and Reefers Tomorrow at EXACTLY HALF PRICE.

Our Great Suit Selling

$6½ $9½ $12½

At the extremely low prices which we are now and have been selling, and which has been the sensation of the year, will positively end tomorrow night. Men's Fancy Suits at $6.50, $9.50, $12.50—the balance of our Men's Fine Suits have been divided into Three lots and prices, each lot on a separate table and containing highly tailored garments at prices before unheard of in clothing history. Not a Suit in each lot but is worth double the price asked.

This is not a collection of broken lots and odds and ends—but a complete variety in all sizes of Men's Winter-Weight Suits—choice designs—elegant fabrics—magnificently tailored—all new, swell, up-to-date creations of the skilled tailors' art—real $16.50, $18.00, $20.00 and $22.50 values—all yours to pick and choose from at the unprecedented low price of $6.50, $9.50 and $12.50.

An unparalleled opportunity that smart dressers are quick to grasp...

OUR GREATEST TROUSER SALE.

Trousers that are of stylish, durable fabrics, carefully and fashionably cut, and equal to custom made in every way We are making desperate efforts to cut the stock down, and this is the way prices have suffered.

340 pairs of Men's Cassimere and all-wool Cheviot Trousers in medium and dark colors—splendid patterns—every pair well made—trousers intended to be retailed at $2 and $2.50, and in this sale only— $1.50

290 pairs of Men's Fine Trousers—Made of high-grade Cheviots, Fancy Worsteds and Cassimeres—in latest shades and patterns—perfectly cut and made—regularly they bring $3.50 and $3.75—this sale $2.50

MEN'S PANTS, splendidly made French waistband, 90 per cent wool, worth $2.00, on special sale tomorrow $1.00

MEN'S PANTS, of All Wool Hairline Cassimere, neat dark patterns, all sizes, warranted to give best satisfaction, $3 values, tomorrow $1.90

HERE'S RICHNESS IN TROUSERS. 300 pairs of Fitchburg, Riverside, Hockanum Worsteds, in nobby Hairline and English Stripes, Black Cords and Swell English Cheviots—always sold at $4.50, $5.00 and $5.00. We've bunched the lot and will close them out quick at $3.50

This sale occurs at a time when an extra pair of Trousers is often needed to tide over the winter season. The Trousers on sale are of medium and heavy weights. Half of them were made especially for this sale from manufacturers' short ends of cloths, which explains the extremely low prices. The others are regular stock, and Trousers remaining from suits "broken" in the season's selling.

WANTED BEEF AND BLOOD.

In Place of Them He Got Big Officer Mackenzie.

Patrick Rafferty, who claims to have been a Rough Rider, went into the Waverley restaurant, on the Bowery, early this morning and, hauling out a large gun, ordered raw beef and blood. He was persuaded that the articles ordered were not included in the menu, and he then proceeded to Tom Madden's saloon, began to pave the way to negotiations for a loan by waving two revolvers about, and telling what he would do to anybody who refused to lend him money. Officer McKenzie happened along at this juncture and gathered Rafferty in, and he was landed in jail after a lively fight.

This morning Rafferty pleaded guilty to the charge of carrying concealed weapons, and was fined $10 and costs. He will ride the rock pile for ten days.

Two Arrests Made.

John Reinn, living at Twenty-sixth avenue west and Railroad street, and Paul Fralley, living on Helm street, near Twenty-seventh avenue west, both 13 years of age, were arrested this morning on the charge of stealing stakes from log cars at Merrill & Ring's mill. They pleaded guilty before Judge Edson. They were let off with sentence suspended on account of their youth and the fact that it was their first offense. They were warned that if they were arrested again the suspended sentence would be enforced.

Threatened With a Flood.

An ice jam has formed against a footbridge over Brewery creek, at Seventh avenue east, just below Third street, and the flooding of basements in the vicinity is threatened. The board of public works has decided that the tenants of property threatened will have to take what steps may be necessary to prevent a flood. The bridge in question is a private affair, and furthermore, there is no money available to use for the purpose on any of the creeks.

The Saturday Club.

The subject for the Saturday club meeting tomorrow afternoon is art. Mrs. Julius D. Howard will lead. The program is as follows: "Legends of St. George," Mrs. LaRue; "St. Michaels," Mrs. Gilman; "St. Catherine," Mrs. Ward Ames; "St. Cecilia," Mrs. Swan; "In What English Cathedrals Are They Represented," Mrs. McGonagle; reading, "The Legend of St. Christopher," Mrs. W. J. Stevenson. The current events will be omitted. At the close of the program an informal reception will be given by the ladies of the Saturday club to Mrs. Findley, who is soon to leave Duluth.

Twentieth Century Guild.

All wishing to take physical culture will please report at Turner hall this evening at 7:30. The first lesson of the course will be given the large class already registered. Others may enter the class tonight, so as to have the first lesson, and make arrangements to join the club or guild later.

Have your watch repaired at Geist & Erd's.

GOVERNOR CENSURED

The House Passes the Sugar Bounty Appropriation Over His Veto.

DEBATE WAS WARM

There Were Speakers Who Opposed the Whole Sugar Beet Bounty.

From a Staff Representative.

St. Paul, Feb. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Hennepin, Ramsey and St. Louis delegations favorably reported the bill for teachers' retirement pensions to the house today.

The governor's veto message was then called from the table by Henderson, who moved the passage of the beet sugar bounty appropriation over the veto. Gutterson seconded the motion, simply saying it provided for an expense incurred by and money due from the state.

Donohue, of Stearns county, the home of Henry Keller, the sugar beet king, then took the floor for a somewhat extended argument against the whole beet sugar proposition.

Grondahl spoke against the veto.

Stivers, one of the Democratic leaders, took the ground that this bill should be passed on the very statement of the governor, who acknowledged the justice of the claim. Stivers wanted to know why the veto was sent, and then emphatically declared that it was simply used as a club to try to drive the legislature, which he denounced vigorously, announcing that he was ready to support any proper amendment to the bounty law, but he would not stand by the veto.

Winston, another Democrat, pleaded for sustaining the veto.

Dwinnell thought the question before the house was an unwarrantable interference of one branch of the state with another. A question of principle was involved, and he wanted such suggestions and actions rebuked. Any attempt by the governor to coerce the legislature was uncalled for.

Wheaton also opposed the veto.

Dunn moved the previous question, and demanded a call of the house.

Fosnes later, in explaining his vote, insisted that the present law should be amended before any attempt should be made to pass this bill over the veto, and voted against the bill.

By a vote of 84 to 22 the bill was then passed over the veto.

Among the new bills were:

Kinne—To reimburse soldiers for all expenses while home on furlough.

Foss—To allow property owners a deduction of 25 per cent of any encumbrance from the assessed valuation of such property.

The memorial to congress asking that the Chippewa and Leech Lake pine reservations be withheld from settlement until 1902, with the purpose of turning it into a national health resort, was passed under suspension of the rules.

The bill to allow St. Paul to transfer the Broadway bridge fund for the benefit of other bridges was passed.

After deciding that when the house adjourn it be till Monday afternoon, a recess was taken till the afternoon.

TO HELP THE LAWYERS.

Measure to Prevent Probate Judges From Practicing.

St. Paul, Feb. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Today the senate enjoyed a lively little tilt over S. F. No. 223, prohibiting probate judges or their clerks from practicing or drawing papers in probate cases.

Senator Miller opposed the passage of the bill, and was immediately jumped on by Senator Greer and other lawyers, who accused the newspaper man of wanting to keep the lawyers from collecting fees while they reaped a harvest from the publication of notices.

The bill was finally recommended to pass by a vote of 42 to 20.

Senator McGowan introduced a bill providing that the state board of equalization and the state auditor shall ascertain the total value of the capital stock and all other properties belonging to telephone, sleeping car, dining car, parlor and drawing room cars and levy an excise or license tax upon this property equal to the average rate of taxation fixed by the board of equalization for the state at large.

Among other bills introduced were:

Batz—To amend laws of 1897 relating to common schools to apportion county funds among districts.

Dickey—To regulate confinement of children from 8 to 17 years in state training schools. Provides guardianship by managers; validating erection of armories by village councils.

McGowan—To investigate certain labor by labor commissioner.

McGill—To amend barbers' law. Allowing barbers' board to maintain headquarters in the capitol, and giving power to administer oaths.

THE FILIPINO DELEGATES.

Pass Through Chicago on Their Way to Montreal.

Chicago, Feb. 18.—E. R. Deerios and M. Rivera, who came to this country from the Philippine islands to join Agoncilio at Washington, passed through Chicago today for Montreal. The two travelers say they intend to continue the trip around the world and agitate the insurgent cause in the European countries and wherever they can obtain a hearing.

MADE A FAST RUN.

Burlington Beats All Records Between Chicago and Omaha.

Omaha, Feb. 18.—The westbound Burlington fast mail train today beat all previous records between the two cities. The train left Chicago last evening at 10:47, being detained by the Eastern connections. The train was unusually heavy, carrying the accumulated mail delayed in the East. The best time was made between Chicago and Burlington, when it exceeded 100 miles per hour for several spurts. The actual elapsed time between Chicago and Omaha was 9 hours and 14 minutes; actual running time, taking out stops, 8 hours and 41 minutes for the 502 miles.

THE BILL MAY FAIL.

River and Harbor Bill Imperiled By the Senate's Action.

Washigton, Feb. 18.—Chairman Burton of the river and harbor committee stated today that he feared the river and harbor bill would fail to become a law as a result of the action of the senate commerce committee in adding the Nicaragua canal amendment.

WELCOME TO BRYAN.

The Students of Ann Arbor Turn Out In Force.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Feb. 18.—In spite of damp, threatening weather, Col. William Jennings Bryan received a splendid reception on his arrival here today. When the train pulled in the university yell went up from thousands of throats. Col. Bryan was escorted by the university band and a non-partisan citizens' committee to the university. Several hundred students followed. After luncheon there was an informal reception in the court house. This evening Col. Bryan will speak on "Imperialism" in University hall.

FROM THE CAPITAL.

Tawney Says No Compromise Will Be Made on Lumber Tariff.

FROM THE HERALD WASHINGTON BUREAU.

Washington, Feb. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Congressman Tawney said this afternoon that the efforts of Michigan owners of Canadian stumpage to induce the joint commission to agree upon a compromise lumber tariff will undoubtedly fail. Mr. Tawney declares that the utmost that the low tariff men can expect is an agreement upon a rate of $1.60 per thousand feet, which is the reduction of 20 per cent authorized to be made by the president in the interest of reciprocal trade by the Dingley act of 1897.

* * *

The Minnesota members are very much worked up over the story published in Minneapolis papers that they have been lax in pressing Minnesota's claim for the school lands in the Chippewa reservation. They deny that they have not done their duty, and are supported by Assistant Attorney General VanDevanter, who says both the senators and some members have visited him and urged a decision. The members say that this is a judicial matter that cannot be rushed any more than can a decision in a court of law. Assistant Attorney General VanDevanter said today that the claim involves a very nice construction of law, and that he had not had time to give the claim the consideration it deserves. He said further that not only Minnesota, but other states are involved. The article also stated that T. E. Byrnes, of Minneapolis, has been in Washington this winter looking out for the case. Byrnes asserts that he is here on other law business.

MUST BE ELECTED.

Executive Committee of National Council Can Choose Sexton's Successor.

Minneapolis, Feb. 18.—Capt. Eli Torrance, of Minneapolis, judge advocate general of the National G. A. R. organization, today made his decision in the matter of the disputed succession to the national commandership made vacant by the death of Col. Sexton, of Chicago. The decision is that a successor must be elected; that there is no promotion in the G. A. R. through death.

Capt. Torrance holds that the executive committee of the national council has power to elect the commander. It will be necessary to call a meeting of the national council. The decision is sustained by a lengthy and conclusive memorandum.

CHARGED WITH PERJURY.

Another Complication In the St. Louis "Lexow" Investigation.

St. Louis, Feb. 18.—Harry A. Nuttall, who turned state's evidence before the senate "Lexow" committee against Boiler Inspector Price and H. H. Philper, members of the board of examining engineers, charging them with receiving bribes for engineers' licenses, is charged with perjury in a warrant issued today by H. H. Philper. The ground for the charge of perjury alleged in the information is that portions of Nuttall's testimony before the major committee in which Nuttall accused Price and Philper with having supplied the money with which to make him (Nuttall) drunk before he appeared before the major committee the first time. Nuttall gave himself up.

CONVICTED OF ARSON.

College Professor Found Guilty of Burning a Hall.

Easton, Pa., Feb. 18.—Professor Stephens, who has been on trial for a week past, charged with setting fire to Pardee hall, Lafayette college, was found guilty at noon today, the jury being out only an hour.

SUFFOCATED BY GAS.

New Orleans, Feb. 18.—John W. Funston, a native of Champaigne, Ill., and John Green, a native of Belasco, Mex., were asphyxiated in their room, 1422 Harmony street, last night. The gas meter had frozen during the recent norther, and, thawing out, gas escaped through the open burners.

MINISTRY TO RESIGN.

Buda Pesth, Feb. 18.—The Hungarian premier, Baron Banffy, announced in the unterhaus today that the ministry had decided to resign after the adjournment of the parliamentary session. The Liberal members of the unterhaus gave the premier an ovation.

OCEAN STEAMSHIPS.

New York—Arrived: Maasdam from Rotterdam.

Liverpool, Feb. 18.—Arrived: Lucania from New York.

GRAY LOSES.

Dover, Feb. 18.—The vote for United States senator in the legislature today was as follows: Gray, 11; Addicks, 15; Chandler, 3; Richardson, 7; Saulsbury, 4; absent, 10.

WAS WELL HANDLED

Author of the Pig Iron Bill Had Approval of the Delegation.

TRUST AMENDMENT

This Was Put In Because Found Necessary to Procure Votes.

From a Staff Representative.

St. Paul, Feb. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Duluth measures have had a hard battle for existence in past years, but it is doubtful if there has ever been one better managed than was the Laybourn pig iron bounty bill that went to defeat before the governor's sugar veto yesterday. The author of the bill in the house is one of the shrewdest members of the house, and in his management on the floor was ably assisted by Mallory, the balance of the delegation doing a full share, but Laybourn and Mallory being the principal speakers. Working with and advising the house delegation were the St. Louis senators, who approved and endorsed every action taken by Laybourn and his colleagues in the house. In its original form the Laybourn bill was short and clear, but owing to opposition that developed, various changes were necessary in the bill. One of these that has been criticised by persons uninformed as to the full situation was the provision not permitting any trust to reap benefits from such a law.

Such a criticism is of itself very strong evidence of lack of acquaintance with the legislative situation, for no measure could come anywhere near passing through the present Minnesota legislature that left any apparent loophole for the trusts. Even with this limitation there was great stress laid on the Carnegie and Rockefeller influences, and fears were generally expressed lest they receive some benefit, directly or indirectly.

In accepting this amendment Laybourn followed the unanimous advice of the senate delegation, all of whom realized that such a provision was essential to the possible success of the bill.

The ill-advised Gridley statement and the inopportune arrival of the governor's veto of the sugar bounty were the decided influences that killed the bill, which received as great a vote as it did entirely because of the very excellent work done by Laybourn and his colleagues.

The fight is not yet ended, however, and there may be some entertaining developments later in the session. Another similar bill, now in the senate, will be passed by that body and sent over to the house, and the friends of the bounty hope for better luck next time, believing that they will bring knowledge and knowledge will bring votes.

THE PIG IRON BILL.

Vote By Which Bounty Bill Was Defeated.

St. Paul, Feb. 18.—The vote on the pig iron bounty bill in the house yesterday afternoon was as follows:

Ayes—Abbott, Ahlstrom, Babcock, Barteau, Boutwell, Corey, Davis, Deming, Dunn, Dwinnell, Dyer, Elwell, Ferris, Fulton, Goodspeed, Hagstrom, Hazlett, Hill, Hillary, Holm, Jackson, Johnson, S. C., Kelly, Kinne, Krayenbuhl, Lampe, Laybourn, Lydiard, Lynds, McCollom, Mallette, Mallory, Mausten, Medicraft, Miller, Morris, Nelson, N. C., Nelson, W., O'Connor, Olson, C. O. A., O'Neil, Pope, Pugh, Roberts, Schurman, Simonson, Stivers, Von Der Weyer, Wallace, Wheaton, Yale—51.

Nays—Allen, Beach, Bean, Benolken, Brusletten, Bush, Cumming, Daggett, Dealy, Donohue, Emerson, Estby, Fosnes, Foss, Galt, Grass, Grondahl, Gutterson, Haugen, Helmerdinger, Henderson, Hymes, Jacobson, Jeub, Johnson, J. E.; Johnsrud, Larson, Lommen, McGrath, McNeil, Marin, Moran, Munger, Nelson, N. O.; Neubauer, Nyquist, Ojen, Olsson, P.; Pederson, K.; Pennington, Peterson, G.; Plowman, Riley, Sander, Schutz, Scribner, Selby, Sloan, Stites, Swanson, Torrey, Torson, Thauwald, Truwe, Umland, Von Lehe, West, Weston, Wethern, Wilkinson, Winston, Wood—62.

Absent—Argetsinger, Feeney, Hennessy, Schain. Present and not voting—Staples.

The house also killed the Foss mortgage bill by a vote of 64 to 32.

The tri-city house delegations at a conference last night, presided over by Mr. Laybourn, recommended for passage the senate bill providing for a teacher's retirement fund after killing the voluntary retirement clause. The vote stood 11 to 7.

The Grindeland commission house license bill was the object of a warm fight in the senate yesterday. Finally the bill was referred to the judiciary committee as to its validity.

IRVING DROPS THE LYCEUM.

But Will Continue to Occupy the Theater Every Year.

London, Feb. 18.—The Lyceum theater has definitely passed out of Sir Henry Irving's hands. The prospectus of the new company will be issued next week. Associated with Comyns Carr on the board of directors will be William Greet, the lessee of the Garrick and Comedy theaters. Irving will reappear at the Lyceum theater on April 4 in "Robespierre," and from Sept. 1 until the end of the year Wilson Barrett will play at the Lyceum. A period covering 100 performances will always be reserved for Irving during the early part of each year.

THE BEEF INQUIRY.

A Second Session Is Being Held Behind Closed Doors.

Washington, Feb. 18.—The court of inquiry to examine into the beef charges preferred by Gen. Miles today went into executive session as soon as it assembled, and proceeded with its work of selecting witnesses to be summoned, and mapping out a plan of procedure. A number of witnesses who will be examined have reported, among them being Col. Powell and Maj. Jesse M. Lee of the Ninth infantry, Capt. Duncan of the Twenty-first infantry, and Maj. Jackson of the Third cavalry.

Several other officers are in the city, and several representatives of the beef concerns, whose product is in question, are here. The probability is that the taking of testimony will begin certainly on Monday, when Gen. Miles will be examined. He will be looked to for a comprehensive statement of his charges, and will be examined as to his statement before the war commission and his alleged newspaper interviews. His examination will be limited closely to his charges and the basis for them, and it is understood that should an attempt be made to elicit from him a statement as to whether he had entertained any animus that it will be held he need not answer the questions propounded. Gen. Miles will be followed by other witnesses upon whom he will rely for corroboration.

BRIBERY IN UTAH.

A Sensation Created By a Charge Against McCune.

Salt Lake, Feb. 18.—A sensation was created in the joint assembly of the legislature today when Representative Law (Rep.) made a specific charge of bribery in the interest of McCune, and said that the charges could be substantiated.

Fisher (Dem.) moved the appointment of an investigating committee of seven, to consist of three members from the senate and four from the house.

MOTHERS' CONGRESS OBJECTS.

It Does Not Want Congressman Roberts Seated.

Washington, Feb. 18.—The national congress of mothers today unanimously adopted a resolution asking congress not to admit Brigham H. Roberts to a seat in the house of representatives.

THE WORK OF CONGRESS.

Washington, Feb. 18.—When the senate convened today bills were passed as follows: Extending the time for the Arkansas & Northwestern Railway company to construct a railroad through the Indian territory; granting an extension of time for the construction of a railroad through the Indian territory to the Gainesville, McAllister & St. Louis Railway company; giving a preference right of entry to persons procuring a cancellation of fraudulent or double allotments to Indians; providing for the acquiring of rights-of-way by railroad companies through Indian reservations, Indian lands and Indian allotments; amending section 4696 for the revised statutes, so that when an applicant for a patent becomes insane, pending the granting of a patent, the guardian, conservator or representative of the inventor shall proceed and obtain the patent and hold it in trust for his estate; authorizing the commissioner of the general land office to cause public lands to be surveyed in certain cases; providing for the sale of the surplus lands on the Pottowattomie and Kickapoo Indian reservations in Kansas.

Consideration of the postoffice appropriation bill was then resumed.

Mr. Cullom, of Illinois, offered an amendment appropriating $500,000 instead of $225,000, as provided by the bill for the extension of the pneumatic tube mail service, either by purchase or otherwise. Mr. Allison, of Iowa, made the point of order against the amendment that it was new legislation. The point of order was discussed at length by several senators.

A long discussion took place over the merits of the pneumatic mail tube system and finally the amendment was tabled, 29 to 23.

IN THE HOUSE.

Eulogies upon the life and public services of the late Representative Northway of Ohio were set for 2 o'clock in the house today.

A bill was passed for the relief of George A. Dickel & Co., of Nashville, Tenn.

A senate bill was passed authorizing the terms of the United States court for the southern district of Mississippi to be held hereafter at Biloxi.

The house then went into committee of the whole and resumed consideration of the naval appropriation bill. The point of order raised by Mr. Mudd (Rep.) of Maryland against the paragraph of the bill providing for a commission to consider and report upon a general plan for the rearrangement and reconstruction of the buildings at the Annapolis naval academy and suspending until that report is made the appropriations for new buildings made in the last naval bill, was sustained and the paragraph went out.

NOBODY RESPONSIBLE.

Yankton, S. D., Feb. 18.—The coroner's jury on the investigation of Sunday's fire at the asylum for the insane brought in a verdict in which they fail to find any persons responsible for the death of seventeen female patients who lost their lives in the disaster. The verdict states that the building was erected for a laundry and was used to house patients only because of the overcrowded condition of the other structures; also that owing to insufficient salary appropriations by the legislature no night watchman has been employed on the hospital grounds for the last four years.

LORIMER'S CONDITION.

Chicago, Feb. 18.—While the condition of Congressman William Lorimer remains dangerous, he passed a comfortable night, and today was somewhat improved. Mr. Lorimer is suffering from an abscess in the head. So far it has not been deemed advisable to perform an operation, although it may yet be found necessary in order to save his life.

WILL SEE THE ICE BRIDGE.

Chicago, Feb. 18.—Lord Charles Beresford and party will leave here at 3 p. m. tomorrow, arriving at Niagara Falls early Monday morning and Buffalo at 7:45 a. m. After seeing the magnificent spectacle of the ice bridge and winter scenery at Niagara Falls from Falls View they will leave Buffalo Monday evening for Washington, via Canandaigua.

MINERS FIX A RATE.

Pittsburg, Feb. 18.—At the convention of coal miners of the Pittsburg district today, a resolution was adopted fixing the differential between the thick and thin vein mines at 7 cents instead of 13 cents.

HAS NOT BEEN SIGHTED.

Brunswick, Ga., Feb. 18.—The Mallory line steamer City of San Antonio, which left New York Sunday, has not been sighted. General Agent Raymond thinks the vessel has directed her course towards the open sea to avoid the gale and says she is a slow vessel ordinarily.

MURDERED AND ROBBED.

Fort Worth, Tex., Feb. 18.—The bodies of Frank and John Valdez, brothers, have been found near Floresville. The men were murdered and robbed. Officers are investigating the case.

SUPPLIES FOR SOLDIERS.

San Francisco, Feb. 18.—The United States refrigerator steamer Celtic sailed for Manilla, via Honolulu, today. She carried a large amount of supplies for the United States forces.

THE DUKE DISTANT.

Paris, Feb. 18.—The duke of Orleans seems to be going away from France rather than coming to this country. He arrived last night at Turin from San Remo.

DUPUY FOR PREMIER

President Loubet Has Requested Him to Retain That Office.

RIOT IS POSSIBLE

Anti-Loubet Demonstrations are Already Beginning in Paris Streets.

Paris, Feb. 18.—President Loubet has asked M. Dupuy to retain the premiership and the present cabinet.

Paris, Feb. 18.—Anti-Loubet demonstrations are commencing in the streets. Cries of "Down with the Panamaists" are prominent.

Paris, Feb. 18.—The agitation in Paris this evening was caused by MM. De Roulede and Drumont and their party. The authorities say measures have been taken to maintain order.

DR. ROULEDE'S SPEECH.

He Intimated That He Knew Much of M. Loubet.

Paris, Feb. 18.—While in the tribune, M. DeRoulede shouted: "The president of the republic ought to be elected by the people. I will not vote here."

Then turning to M. Loubet, DeRoulede cried: "Do you deny what M. DeBeaurepaire has written?"

To this M. Loubet replied: "I am not called on to answer you."

M. DeRoulede retorted: "I know what you are."

Apart from the DeRoulede incident, voting passed off quietly, the members returning to their seats after voting and chatting on the events of the day.

The Progressists insisted on voting for M. Meline, although he had withdrawn his candidature in favor of M. Loubet, which explains the vote cast for him. The votes not given to M. Loubet or M. Meline were divided between M. Cavait, Gen. Jamont, Gen. Saussier and others. M. Meline received an ovation when he voted.

Emile Loubet, who is about 61 years of age, began his political career in 1876. In 1892 he formed a ministry and became minister of the interior, but was overthrown on account of the Panama revelations. He was re-elected president of the senate Jan. 2 last.

TO LIMIT SUFFRAGE.

North Carolina Legislature Decides to Submit a Constitutional Amendment.

Raleigh, N. C., Feb. 18.—An amendment to the constitution of North Carolina, limiting suffrage, has been adopted by both branches of the general assembly. It passed the house yesterday and the senate today.

It will be submitted to a vote of the people in 1901 at the same time state officers are voted for.

The avowed object of the amendment is to eliminate the ignorant negro vote. To do this property and poll tax qualifications are prescribed. But this is made ineffective as to white people by the further provision that any person can vote who was entitled to vote on January 1, 1867, or any time prior thereto, or whose ancestors were so entitled to vote.

THE SPECIAL TERM.

Tessman & Belliveau Assignment Case Up Again.

In special term of district court this morning there were few cases of interest. All three judges sat, and all but Judge Ensign finished their work before noon. He took up the matter of the assignment of Tessman & Belliveau, in which some of the creditors objected to the size of the attorney's bill put in by John Brown, attorney for the assignee. At noon the examination into his charges was still in progress. The attorney explained all of them, and a number of attorneys were called as experts to testify as to the reasonable value of the services charged for. Up to noon nothing extravagant in the charges had been shown up.

In the case of Emma Waterman against the Duluth Street Railway company, Judge Moer denied a motion to amend the former order of the court. In the case of Tolef Olson against the Pennsylvania and Ohio Coal company, Judge Moer made an order overruling the demurrer. In the case of W. E. Lucas as receiver against P. M. Graff et al., an order for judgment in foreclosure was entered by Judge Edson. In the case of Cathers Drummond against Peter Olson et al., Judge Cant made an order confirming the sheriff's report of sale.

Judge Moer made an order levying the first assessment on the stockholders of the Masonic Temple association.

MILLER A WONDER.

San Francisco, Feb. 18.—Score of 6-day bicycle race at 10 a. m. today, the 107th hour: Miller, 1734.5 miles; Gimm, 1698.3; Aaronson, 1675.3; Hale, 1609.7; Fredericks, 1609.1; Alberts, 1596.5; Nawn, 1594.1; Barnaby, 1518.7; Pilkington, 1511.5; Pierce, 1502.2; Lawson, 1389.7; Ashinger, 1280.4; Julius, 1150. The previous record for this time was 1629 miles 115 yards, made by Miller.

Score at noon, 108th hour: Miller, 1765 miles; Gimm, 1729; Aaronson, 1709; Hale, 1693; Fredericks, 1627; Alberts, 1625.

KANSAS GAS FIELDS.

Kansas City, Feb. 18.—A special to the Star from Pittsburg, Kan., says: The deal by which a syndicate, made up of men interested in the sugar trust, rubber trust, the Standard Oil company, the Union Pacific and Santa Fe railroads, the Palmer Oil company and others, gain control of the Kansas gas fields and zinc smelters in this district has been closed. The company will be organized under the laws of New Jersey as the Lanyon Zinc and Smelter company, with a capital of $2,000,000, of which $500,000 will be a reserve fund.

LOUBET A WINNER

Officially Announced That He Is Elected as President of France.

M. MELINE OPPOSED

The League of Patriots Made an Attempt to Defeat Him.

Paris, Feb. 18.—It is officially announced that M. Loubet has been elected president of the French republic.

The national assembly met at Versailles at 1 o'clock this afternoon. M. Loubet, president of the senate, declared the sitting open amid the applause of the Leftists, during which M. Loubet proceeded to drawing for tellers.

The voting began with the letter "D," M. Dousette casting the first ballot.

It is announced that M. Loubet has received 480 votes.

M. Dupuy, it was announced this morning, had definitely decided not to enter the contest for the presidency.

A manifestation against Loubet and in favor of Meline occurred last evening before the Republican club in the Rue de Grammont. The League of Patriots announced that it intended to do all in its power to prevent the election of Loubet.

The Radical press favored the election of M. Loubet, who was also supported by the Socialist papers, while the Conservative and Moderate journals endorsed the candidacy of M. Meline.

M. Loubet received 483 votes against 270 votes cast for M. Meline.

From an early hour stations of the railroad lines leading to Versailles were crowded with people gathered to witness the departure of the deputies and senators. M. DeRoulede arrived here by the Lyons railroad, and was met by members of the Patriotic league.

Order prevailed at the stations, where to all appearances there were no special police precautions taken.

The first trains took an army of telegraphers and telephonists to Versailles, where the town hall was decorated with flags draped with crepe. The lamps were lighted and veiled with crepe.

The members of the national assembly, namely the senators and deputies, began to assemble at 1 o'clock and to select their seats.

M. Loubet, president of the senate and presiding officer, arrived in a carriage at 10 o'clock.

Friends surrounded him when he entered the gallery of busts and he said: "If you love me I hope you won't vote for me."

Soon the scene became animated. Crowds of people surrounded the doors watching the arrival of members. The palace was closed to the public.

Various political groups held meetings at noon and M. Cochery announced that M. Meline has definitely withdrawn his candidacy. The Nationists and anti-Semites decided not to vote for M. Loubet.

The assembly met at 1 o'clock. M. Loubet declared the sitting open amid the applause of the Leftists, during which M. Loubet proceeded to draw for tellers.

Voting began with the letter "D" and M. Dausette, Moderate Republican, representing in the chamber of deputies the Fourth district of Lille, in the department of the North, cast the first ballot.

When M. Paul DeRoulede, organizer of the League of Patriots, and deputy representing the Second district of Angouleme, voted he attempted to speak from the tribune where the urns were placed, but M. Loubet forbade him to do so, which called forth protests from the Rightists and applause from the Leftists.

M. DeRoulede, however, persisted in speaking and repulsed the ushers and others, who rushed up to expel him from the tribune, which he finally left.

M. Drumont, anti-Semite, representing in the chamber the First division of Algiers, also attempted to speak and a great commotion followed, during which cries of "Down with anarchy" were raised.

In the meantime the voting continued and at 2:40 p. m. the ballot was completed.

While the checking was in progress the members of the assembly left the hall and assembled in the galleries and corridors, where they discussed the chances of the election.

M. Meline loudly announced that he had voted for M. Loubet.

BOUNDARY LINE DISPUTE.

States of Michigan and Wisconsin Are Engaged In One.

Marinette, Wis., Feb. 18.—A dispute has arisen in regard to the boundary line between Wisconsin and Michigan along the Menominee river, which will affect the possession of 100 or more islands in the river. All the islands have been assessed and taxed in Wisconsin and regarded as belonging to the Badger state. They have in recent years become more or less valuable on account of water power, and now it is claimed that in many cases they belong to Michigan.

When Wisconsin was admitted into the Union a clause was inserted that all the islands in the river below Quinnesec should go to Wisconsin. This was never ratified by Michigan, and therefore the claim is made that the middle thread of the channel, the line originally established, is the boundary.

It is said that an action to determine the status of the islands will be begun in the United States supreme court. Several large paper companies are interested in securing a decision.

GERMANS AGGRIEVED.

Contend That Justice Chambers Acted Unfair In Samoa.

Berlin, Feb. 18.—The German newspapers, in their discussion of the Samoan question are taking strong exceptions to the spirit and statements of the letter of Chief Justice Chambers of the supreme court of Samoa to his brother in New York, extracts from which have been cabled here. They denounce the letter as proof that "Chief Justice Chambers is at the bottom of the present trouble," declaring him guilty of willful misrepresentation and of showing his real animus in the phrase "Germany must be removed from Samoa," which, according to the cables, he employed.

Even the ordinarily moderate Vossische Zeitung says: "Dr. Raffael, the president of the municipality of Apia, in temporarily assuming the chief justiceship after the latter's flight, simply acted in accordance with the Samoan act. Germany will persist in upholding Mataafa's election. It is the bounden duty of the government to maintain Germany's interest in Samoa."

Love is crowned triumphant only in the home where a baby completes the tie of matrimony. A childless marriage cannot be a happy one. It takes the final tie of a baby to bind two souls together in marriage for better or for worse. Without this final tie a wedded couple lack the indissoluble interest that makes daily self-sacrifice not only a possibility, but a pleasure.

There are to-day thousands of homes all over the country that were once childless and unhappy, but that to-day echo with the laughter of happy babyhood, as a result of a marvelous medicine, known as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. This is the greatest of all medicines for women who sufferer from weakness and disease of the delicate and important organs that bear the burdens of maternity. It makes them healthy, strong, vigorous and elastic. It makes them pure and virile. It allays inflammation, heals ulceration, soothes pain and tones and builds up the shattered nerves. It banishes the discomforts of the expectant period, and makes baby's coming easy and almost painless. It insures the little new-comer's health, and a bountiful supply of nourishment. It transforms weak, sickly, nervous invalids into happy, healthy mothers. An honest dealer will not urge an inferior substitute upon you.

"I am now a happy mother of a fine healthy baby girl," writes Mrs. F. B. Cannings, of No. 4320 Humphrey Street, St. Louis, Mo. "Feel that your 'Favorite Prescription' has done me more good than anything I have ever taken. Three months previous to my confinement I began using it. I was only in labor forty-five minutes. With my first baby I suffered 18 hours then had to lose him. He was very delicate and only lived 12 hours. For two years I suffered untold agony and had two miscarriages. The 'Favorite Prescription' saved both my child and myself."

Write to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., for a free letter of advice, and enclose 21 one-cent stamps, to cover mailing only, for a paper-covered copy of the "People's Common Sense Medical Adviser;" or 31 stamps for a cloth-bound copy. A whole medical library in one 1000-page volume.

GOODS IN BOND.

Canadian Roads Get the Best of the Arrangement.

Washington, Feb. 18.—A statement has been prepared at the treasury department which shows that during the calendar year 1898 the number of cars loaded with goods shipped through the United States from one point in Canada to another was 10,966, the contents of which weighed 209,000 tons. The records of the department show that during the calendar year 1897 (the figures for 1898 not being available) the number of cars loaded with American goods shipped through Canada from one point in the United States to another was 460,269, the contents of which weighed 5,637,173 tons. It thus appears that the quantity of American goods hauled by Canadian roads was about twenty-seven times greater than the quantity of Canadian goods hauled by American roads.

A DEPUTY KILLS TWO.

Result of Resistance to Serving of a Warrant.

Cincinnati, Feb. 18.—An Enterprise, Ky., special to the Times-Star tells of the killing today of Harry Sloan and the mortal wounding of Callon Sloan, his brother, by Deputy Tom Rice. Rice was serving a warrant for larceny on the Sloans and found them at the house of their brother, John Sloan. Harry attacked Rice with a knife and was shot and instantly killed. Callon received a ball through his chest and is expected to die. John Sloan has threatened to have revenge before night, and is heavily armed.

THE GLASS COMBINE.

It Is Expected to Be Consummated Very Soon.

Pittsburg, Feb. 18.—The movement recently started to form a gigantic combination of all the leading glass, pressed and tableware manufacturers of the country, is expected to be consummated at an early date. For the past week or more the negotiations have been carried forward in Pittsburg and vicinity by the local representatives of a leading New York banking house, which is financing the scheme.

The Commoner and Glassworker, of this city, states in its issue today that options have been secured on plants of the United States Glass company, which operates nine plants throughout the country, and is one of the largest firms in the United States; McKee & Bros., of this city; the Rochester Tumbler company and the Crystal Glass company, of Bridgeport.

IN NEW BRUNSWICK.

General Elections Are Being Held Throughout the Province

Fredericton, N. B., Feb. 18.—General elections are being held today throughout New Brunswick. There are forty-five seats in the legislature to be filled, and while the result will be very close the chances are thought to slightly favor a government victory. The campaign was fought on party lines by the Conservatives, but the government, which has been conducted on the coalition plan for years, refused to change its policy. The premier, Henry R. Emmerson, is a Liberal, but others of the cabinet are Independent Conservatives.

The principal issues of the contest were the high prices paid for iron bridges throughout the province and the condition of the finances.

In St. John, where the campaign has been bitter, Hon. Albert T. Dunn, surveyor general and a government candidate, has had one of the opposition candidates arrested on a charge of criminal libel. Proceedings have been instituted against the leading Conservative organs by Mr. Dunn for alleged libel. Two government supporters in St. John county are charged with offering bribes to a Conservative candidate for the legislature in an attempt to have him leave the field clear for his opponent.

VETERAN BREWER DEAD.

Denver, Feb. 18.—Philip Zang, the veteran brewer, died today of dropsy after two months' illness. He was born in the neighborhood of Aschaffenburg, Bavaria, Feb. 15, 1826. He came to America in 1843 and founded a brewing business in Louisville, Ky. In 1869 he took the management of a small brewery in Denver which has grown to the present large Zang establishment.

There can be no bargain sale in Duluth that is not advertised in The Herald.

THE HEAT INTENSE

Troops Compelled to Work In the Open Near Manilla Affected.

ENEMY CONCENTRATE

Rebels From Laguna and Cavite Gathering In a Thick Jungle.

Manilla, Feb. 18, 5:33 p. m.—The heat is very oppressive today, and the troops, especially those who are compelled to work in the open, have been affected. It will probably be warmer from now on until the rainy season.

The rebels have been concentrating south of the Pasig river, in front of Brig. Gen. Ovenshine's lines on the right, all day long. The country in the vicinity is a particularly thick jungle, extending for miles. The scouts report that the rebels are apparently coming from Laguna and Cavite provinces.

The Americans are strongly entrenched from the beach to the Pasig.

LIST OF WOUNDED.

Private Andrews of First Nebraska Dies From Wounds.

Washington, Feb. 18.—Gen. Otis today cabled as follows:

Manilla, Feb. 18.—Adjutant General, Washington: Casualties in skirmish on Tasiquina road north of pumping station yesterday:

First Nebraska—Wounded, Company A, Privates George Andrews, chest, forearm and knee, died last night; Edward Day, head, severe; Company F, Charles E. Parke, right thigh, slight; Company G, John Williams, left elbow, severe; Sergt. Wilbur E. Camp, left thigh, slight; First Sergt. William H. Cook, neck, severe; Company C, Capt. Albert H. Hollingsworth, thigh, severe; Second Lieut. Bert D. Wheedon, right thigh, severe; Private Frank Huling. Company K, Twentieth Kansas, shot through knee yesterday, accidental, serious.

In the cable of 11th, list of First Montana wounded, James W. Kennedy and William Kennelly, Company G, are identical, the latter name being an error, shot right thigh, severe. Lieut. Gardenshire, First Montana, wounded, is William Gardenshire, formerly private Company G.

WOULD RETALIATE.

Canadian Lumbermen Call For a Duty Equal to Our Tariff.

Toronto, Feb. 18.—At the annual meeting of the Lumbermen's association of Ontario the question of lumber duties came up and, while not retiring from the position of free lumber for free logs, they unanimously adopted a resolution calling on the government to impose an import duty on lumber from the United States, corresponding to the duty by that country on Canadian lumber. Figures were given showing that since the United States duty of $2 had been imposed upon lumber Canadian exports to England had largely increased, while those to the United States had correspondingly decreased.

FATAL COLLISION.

Thirty London Passengers Meet Death Near Brussels.

Brussels, Feb. 18.—An express train from Calais having passengers from London on board, collided today with a stationary train at Foret, near this city. Thirty persons were killed outright and fifty were more or less injured.

The train left Tournait at 5:22 this morning and reached Foret at 8:14. Immediately afterwards the Mons express dashed at full speed into the station and ran into the Tournait train, which was standing at the platform.

It is said that, owing to the fog, the engineer of the express train did not see the signals.

The collision was appalling. The express locomotive mounted on top of the last carriages of the Tournait train, which was filled with passengers. These cars were smashed to pieces.

SIGHTED THE BULGARIA.

London, Feb. 18.—The British steamer Koordistan, Capt. Simpson, from Savannah Jan. 26, for Bremen, has arrived at the latter port. She reports that on Feb. 5, in latitude 41 and longitude 44, she sighted the Hamburg-American line steamer Bulgaria, which was signalling that she was in want of immediate assistance and sinking. The Koordistan could give no assistance, however, owing to the tempestuous weather. The British oil tank steamer Weehawken and another steamer were standing by at the time.

NEW STEAMBOAT LINE.

New York, Feb. 18.—H. Maitland Kersey, now of the Yukon Steamship company, was a passenger on the Teutonic from Liverpool. While abroad Mr. Kersey negotiated the purchase of the steamships Werra and Fulda, and as soon as those boats have been refitted they will be run from the Pacific coast to Alaska.

THE GRANT COALING.

Perim, Feb. 18.—The United States transport Grant, having on board Maj. Gen. Lawton and staff, the Fourth infantry and a battalion of the Seventeenth infantry, is coaling here.

New York, Feb. 18.—The Grant left New York on Jan. 18 and is bound for Manilla.

Perim is an island in the straits of Babel-Mandeb at the entrance of the Red sea.

THE PRESIDENT HOME.

Washington, Feb. 18.—The president and party returned to Washington at 7 o'clock this morning from their trip to Boston. The return trip was uneventful.

Good features are not possessed by all—unhappily. But all good people, regardless of features, can avail themselves of the most luxurious features of modern railway travel by using the Milwaukee's Pioneer Limited between the Twin Cities and Milwaukee and Chicago.

OUR LETTER FROM LONDON

The Gulf Stream Blessed.

London, Feb. 18.—(Copyright, 1899, by the Associated Press.)—The mild weather prevailing here contrasts forcibly with the cold weather in the United States. For some days past the sunshine in London has been summer-like, and the reports of the terrible weather experienced in America have been read with amazement. The temperature over the greater part of Europe is fairly high. The Daily Chronicle epitomizes the general feeling with the cry: "God bless the gulf stream."

The sudden death of M. Felix Faure, president of the French republic, has not affected the program drawn up for Queen Victoria's trip to the South of France. She will go to Cimiez, unless civil discord breaks out. The attitude of the people in the southern part of France toward British subjects, however, is still far from cordial, and considerable indignation has been aroused here by the anti-British demonstrations which have been occurring there recently. An English visitor at Nice writes that twice when he attended an entertainment at one of the chief pleasure resorts on the Jetee promenade, where an actress gives imitations of well-known women, when the curtain was raised displaying Queen Victoria, and the band played "God Save the Queen," there was an outburst of hisses and groans and shouts of "Down with the English" from the well-dressed audience, one man, it further appears, breaking forth into a volley of invectives against her majesty.

What Caused Faure's Death.

There is little doubt that the Dreyfus crisis and the scurrilous attacks of a part of the Parisian papers are largely accountable to President Faure's sad end. "The gutter papers" have been constantly raking up court incidents reflecting upon members of M. Faure's family, though not affecting the honor of President Faure personally. Only on Thursday last the Libre Parole attacked the mother of M. Faure's son-in-law with reference to a house which, it is claimed, she wants to force the city of Paris to purchase at her own price in order to prolong the Rue Mogdar. The city officials, it further appears, found the price exorbitant and determined, rather than pay the sum demanded, to make a bend in the street, after offering her a larger and more valuable house a few doors off, which she refused. The matter was taken before the council of state, which decided against the proposition to make a bend in the street. Thereupon the Libre Parole denounced the decision as "jobbery," implying that M. Faure used his influence in the interest of his son-in-law's mother. The president was much upset by this attack, foreseeing in it only the opening of a campaign against him.

The Brownings' Love Letters.

The book of the week, "Love Letters of the Brownings," published on Wednesday, makes interesting reading although the story is simple, there is little variety in the sentiment and there are no lovers' quarrels. Browning, writing in 1845, speaks thus of the late James Russell Lowell:

"He has refined fancy and is graceful for an American critic; but the truth is he knows nothing of English poetry, or next to nothing; and has merely had a dream of the early dramatists."

About the same time Mrs. Barrett had a proposal from a firm of Boston publishers to collect and edit certain letters. She asked his opinion on the subject and Browning replying and advising her to accept, characterizing the offer as a "good, straight forward un-American thing," at the same time intimates that American publishers are given to printing incorrect copies and "eking out with suppositious matter, as they did with the books of Dickens." But he adds: "I like the progress of these Americans in taste; their amazing leaps, like grasshoppers, up to the sun."

Chamberlain Has the Gout.

Mrs. Bradley-Martin, it is now asserted, has decided finally to take up her residence altogether in England and sell her New York establishment. She intends to entertain lavishly during the coming London season.

Joseph Chamberlain, the secretary of state for the colonies, has not yet recovered from an attack of the gout which continues painful and he, whose proud public boast was that he never took physical exercise, is now ordered by his doctors to change his habits and indulge in moderate exercise.

The prince of Wales on Thursday presided at a meeting of committee having charge of the national memorial to the late William E. Gladstone at which it was announced that the subscriptions had reached the sum of £25,900. During the course of the proceedings the prince of Wales made a very graceful reference to Mr. Gladstone, saying: "I am sure that my wish will be that of the country generally that the statue memorial may be worthy of him and worthy of our country. Nobody had a higher admiration for the great statesmanlike qualities of Mr. Gladstone than I and I may add that I bore him great personal friendship.

Some Engagements.

The engagement of the earl of Crewe to Lady Margaret, the youngest daughter of Lord Rosebery, is of exceptional interest in social and political circles, where both of them enjoy unusual popularity. The fiancee is known to her friends as "Peggy." She only recently came out and has great personal charm and many accomplishments. She will inherit great wealth. On the other hand, the earl of Crewe is one of the ablest, best looking and richest of the liberal peers, with a distinguished political future. He has beautiful houses, great estates, owns race horses, writes poetry and has a grown-up daughter.

Another interesting engagement is that of the Hon. Mary Hughes to Lord Edward Pelham-Clinton. The latter is a widower and is an uncle of the duke of Newcastle, who he will also probably succeed, as both the duke and Lord Francis Hope, who married the American actress, May Yohe, are childless. Lady Mary is a granddaughter of the first Earl Ravelsworth, is a maid of honor and is a great favorite of Queen Victoria, who presents her maids of honor on their marrying with the traditional dowry of £1000 and a cashmere shawl.

Dividends Not Earned.

A sensation was caused in financial circles by the extraordinary announcement that the Millwall Dock company would pass its dividend owing to the discovery of a deficit of over £200,000 ($1,000,000). The chairman of the company has disappeared and the shares have dropped about twenty points. It does not appear that there has been an actual embezzlement of money; but the accounts have been so manipulated that the directors were led to declare dividends which were not earned.

Theatrical circles were absorbed most of the week in the charges of Manager Loewenfeldt of the Prince of Wales theater that an organized mob attempted to ruin "The Coquette," when it was produced on Saturday. Mr. Loewenfeldt also asserts that the gang was sent by a rival manager. Interviews with all the other prominent managers have been published and they are unanimous in expressing themselves against the belief that any organized opposition was responsible for the tumultuous scenes occurring at many of the first nights. But there is no doubt that much of this first-night opposition is caused by the presence of paid claquers, which are becoming as much of a nuisance here as in Paris.

The dramatization of a "Tale of Two Cities," by Freeman Wills, produced at the Lyceum theater on Thursday, met with only moderate success.

It has been practically settled that the entire Teatro Della Scala company will come from Milan to the Drury Lane theater in June.

address: John Smith, Marion, Ind.

Your name and address on a postal card will bring you absolute proof that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People will cure you if you are afflicted with any disease of the blood or nerves. Mention the disorder with which you are suffering and we will send evidence that will convince and satisfy you that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People will cure you.

These pills contain, in a condensed form, all the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood and restore shattered nerves. Theyare an unfailing specific for such diseases as locomotor ataxia, St. Vitus' dance, sciatica, neuralgia, rheumatism, partial paralysis and all forms of weakness either in men or women.

To a Lawrence Journal reporter Mr. G. H. Snyder, a well known citizen of Lawrence, Kan., related a wonderful story. He said:

"I am now seventy years of age. About three years ago I experienced a coldness or numbness in the feet, then creeping up my legs, until it reached my body. I grew very thin in flesh, appetite poor and I did not relish my food. At last I became unabled to move about. I consulted several distinguished physicians, one telling me I had locomotor ataxia, another that I had creeping paralysis. I took their medicines but continued to grow worse. Almost a year ago a friend advised me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. Before I had finished my first box I found that they were benefiting me. I used twelve boxes in all and was perfectly cured. Although over six months since I used my last pill there has been no recurrence of the disease. My appetite is good and my general health better than it has been for many years.

The genuine are sold only in packages like this, the wrapper being printed in red ink on white paper.

A Big Sale of Iron Lands Recently Made at Negaunee.

Negaunee—The biggest deal in iron lands in this vicinity made lately has just been recorded at the office of the register of deeds for this county. By its terms Mrs. Mary Kaufman, of Marquette, becomes owner of a quarter interest in the Lucky Star property, which lies near this city and was formerly owned by W. D. Rees and wife, of Cleveland. The amount of land involved is approximately ninety-one acres and the consideration is in the neighborhood of $50,000.

Bessemer—The pumping out of the Chicago mine is watched with much interest. This is where a cave was found under the lake six years ago. The cave, although 700 feet under the lake, was dry when found, but there has been a rush of water into it. The cave is fifty feet high and over 100 feet long. Civil Engineer W. Joppen will make a survey as soon as the mine is pumped out.

Menominee—The work of tearing down and packing up the big mill of the Ludington, Wells & Van Schaick company was begun Thursday morning. It will be moved to a prominent location in Louisiana, where the company owns large tracts of pine timber land. The machinery will be transferred and put into a big mill there. This is not a retrogressive step on the part of the company, but a purely business move. A big manufacturing concern will use the mill building after the machinery is taken out.

Houghton—Dr. L. L. Hubbard started on Wednesday for the Wyandotte to locate its mining shafts and the work of selecting a site for the temporary buildings has also been left to him. Those interested in the property intend to push its development vigorously from the very start, and the selection of a local superintendent and of a mining captain can be looked for soon.

From an entirely authentic source, the Mining Journal learns that it was partially in error in what it published concerning the litigation affecting the Eagle Harbor property, on which F. H. Begole has had charge of explorations for Paine, Webber & Co., of Boston. Mr. Begole is not at all a party to the suit, and Paine, Webber & Co. are so only by reason of the contract covering it they hold from Sutherland, Innes & Co., who obtained their title through a deed from James Flinn, of Munising. Finn has brought an action in equity, claiming that he holds a right in the property involved that has not been fairly acquired by Sutherland, Innes & Co.

F. F. Foley, of Negaunee, who had charge of the work done on the old Plutus property, now the Wahnita, under Merryweather thirty years ago, writes Houghton friends saying it is a splendid property, and predicts that it will prove one of the most productive of the new copper properties now being opened up.

The boom in Portage Lake real estate since copper took its upward shoot and the development of new mining properties began is serving to bring to light many a tangle in titles, and the prospect for considerable litigation is consequently good, the loose business methods of a former generation in regard to property then of little or no value being principally to blame.

Red Jacket—The Republican convention to nominate a candidate for circuit judge of the Twelfth judicial circuit, comprising the counties of Houghton, Baraga and Keweenaw, has been called to meet here on Thursday afternoon, Feb. 23. There will be two local candidates for the nomination—A. F. Rees, of Houghton, and A. T. Streeter, of Calumet—while the names of Judge Haire, of Ironwood, and of Hon. D. H. Ball, of Marquette, are also mentioned in connection with the place.

THE DAKOTAS.

Corporations Win the Tax Battle In North Dakota Legislature.

NORTH DAKOTA.

Bismarck—Twitchell's bill calling for an equitable assessment of express, telephone, telegraph and equipment companies was indefinitely postponed by the senate by a vote of 19 to 7. Those voting against postponement were Twitchell, Cooper, Sharp, Cashel, Levang, Dunlap and McCarten. Mr. Twitchell asked for a roll call and was supported by Dunlap; Levang, McCarten, Slatten and Noble leaving the chamber and the necessary six could not be secured. The defeat of the bill is a triumph for corporation influence in the state. For weeks past representatives of the powerful companies identified with the Western Union, Northern Pacific and Great Northern have been at the capital or in communication with members in the hope of defeating the measure. Twitchell worked hard and was given a splendid support by the attorney general, who met and combatted successfully the technicalities raised by the corporation attorneys, such as unconstitutionality, etc. Mr. Cowan has acted on the conviction that the bill was in the direct interests of the people and refused to bow meekly to the will of the railroads. There are rumors that money has been used, but their truth cannot be confirmed.

The initiative and referendum bill was indefinitely postponed by the senate by a vote of 14 to 12. Mr. Ames supported the bill in an able speech.

Jamestown—An attempt will soon be made to reorganize the Farmers' alliance in this state. Many arguments are made in favor of the reorganization of the alliance. The old alliance drifted into politics, and its work as an exponent of the rights of farmers was neglected.

Ellendale—The executor of the Jones estate sold to the highest bidder all the land belonging to the estate comprised of nine quarter sections. Lincoln and Boyd, of Aberdeen, S. D., were the purchasers and paid $1550 for the entire property, including the buildings, which were at one time the most valuable farm buildings in the county, but which are in need of much repairing.

SOUTH DAKOTA.

Clear Lake—Ole Gilbertson, of Toronto, while insane, committed suicide Wednesday night by taking poison.

Sioux Falls—Up to a late hour a warrant for the arrest of Otto Webber, recently acquitted at Deadwood of the charge of making and passing counterfeit money, on the charge of perjury preferred by Sheriff Donahoe of this county, had not been issued by United States Commissioner Conway. Webber in open court at Deadwood made serious allegations against the officials of the jail here, claiming he paid $100 for the privilege of escaping from the Sioux Falls jail last August.

Canton—Helmer Boelson, tried for the murder of John Nuttbrook, was convicted of manslaughter in the second degree. The jury was out five hours.

TEMPTATION TOO GREAT.

Capt. Neall Suddenly Leaves the Presidio and a Shortage.

San Francisco, Feb. 18.—Capt. John M. Neall, U. S. A., left the Presidio last Wednesday without leave and has not been seen since then. An inspection of the safe in the commandant's office at the Presidio is alleged to have revealed a deficiency of $5000 in his accounts. He left $1400 in cash. His friends fear that he may be dead. Capt. Neall was superintendent of the canteen at the Presidio and custodian of the funds of the officers club and of the troop which he commanded. He gained distinction as first lieutenant of Troop B, Fourth cavalry, U. S. A., and was recently advanced to the rank of captain.

Bradford Knights Accused of Killing His Sister-in-Law.

Gardiner, Me., Feb. 18.—Bradford Knights has been arrested on a charge of murdering his sister-in-law, Miss Mamie Small, in this city last evening.

Miss Small was shot and instantly killed as she was walking on the street. It is alleged that Knights was very jealous of the girl, who had repelled his attentions. Knights is 44 years of age. Miss Small was 22 years old.

BEECH AS LUMBER.

A prominent hardwood man calls attention to beech as a coming wood for furniture and other uses, says the American Lumberman. Beech and maple were the firewood of our daddies. In the old days beech never was considered as a source of lumber. Now maple has become the material for the best flooring the world has ever known. Up to this time the use of beech has been confined to a very limited number of purposes, notably plane stocks and tool handles. From this time forward its uses will widen. The beech of the northern section of the country offers very little that is alluring from a lumberman's standpoint. It generally is short-bodied and with spreading branches and foliage. In the Middle South hardwood section fast opening to the lumber world it is a noble and stately tree. There are forests largely interspersed with beech where the average size is not far from forty inches in diameter, seventy feet to a limb, and with bodies as smooth as the pillar of a church. Many individual specimens are giants, running from fifty to sixty inches in size. Lumber from such timber will surely be appreciated by the furniture trade and for many other uses besides. When quarter sawed, this wood has all the beauty of quartered sycamore, and in fact is very similar in appearance and texture.

DECLINE IN WHEAT

Market Started With a Fair Degree of Strength But Became Weak.

THE RECEIPTS BIG

Good Export Inquiry and a Heavy Decrease In the World's Shipments.

Duluth Board of Trade, Feb. 18.—Wheat had some wide fluctuations today, and it was rather a see-saw market, particularly during the early hours. There was some strength at the opening and prices made an early advance, but the large receipts here and at Minneapolis and a heavy increase in stocks at Chicago caused weakness and prices declined sharply. A better export inquiry was reported by New York. The world's shipments were also said to show a considerable decrease from last week. Under these influences, there was considerable buying and a firmer tone was developed, accompanied by a rise in prices. The strength did not last long, and the close both here and at Chicago was about ⅜c lower than yesterday for the May option.

Trading in futures was dull on the Duluth board. May wheat opened ¼c lower, at 71½c bid, sold at 71⅝c at 9:34, fell off to 71⅜@71½c at 9:41, reacted to 71¾c, at 10:37, fell back again to 71⅜c at 11:16, and closed at 71⅜c bid, being ⅜c under yesterday. There was fair business in cash wheat, 50,000 bus being sold, at 1½c under May for wheat to arrive, and 2½c under for spot stuff. Oats and rye declined ¼c; corn fell off ½c, while barley and flax closed unchanged. Following were the closing prices:

Wheat—No. 1 hard, cash, 70⅞c bid; February, 70⅞c bid; May, 73⅜c bid; July, 73⅞c bid. No. 1 northern, cash, 68⅞c bid; February, 68⅞c bid; May, 71⅜c bid; July, 71¾c bid. No. 2 northern, 65⅞c bid. No. 3 spring, 62c bid. To arrive—No. 1 hard, 71⅞c bid; No. 1 northern, 69⅞c bid. Oats, 28@28½c bid. Rye, 54¾c bid. Barley, 40@46c. Flax, $1.17 bid; May, $1.19½ bid. Corn, 32¾c bid; May, 33⅞c bid.

Car Inspection—Wheat, 167; corn, 64; oats, 30; rye, 6; barley, 4; flax, 5. Receipts—Wheat, 94,577 bus; corn, 78,078 bus; oats, 10,795 bus; rye, 3261 bus; barley, 1888 bus; flax, 9615 bus. Shipments—Wheat, 892 bus.

BOARD NOTES.

Total clearances today: Wheat, 57,329 bus; flour, 16,661 bbls; wheat and flour, 880,410 bus.

One of the traders at B. E. Baker's was all smiles today, having bought yesterday twenty shares of Tobacco at 134 and closed it out today at a profit of $20 a share or $400. It was a big profit for an investment of $20.

Puts and calls on Chicago May wheat and corn sold today at: Wheat, puts, 69½c; calls, 76c. Corn, puts, 35⅜c; calls, 37c; good all next week.

Today's weather Northwest: Grand Forks, 20 degrees above; Jamestown, 22 degrees above; Fargo, 25 degrees above; Valley City, 38 degrees above; Fergus Falls, mild; Minneapolis, 20 degrees above.

World's wheat shipments indicated 6,400,000 bus.

B. E. Baker: It's the old story over again, too many people buying wheat on mere rumors. In a short time when the actual damage can be seen wheat will go up faster than it ever came down.

ON THE CHICAGO BOARD.

Large Northwestern Receipts the Only Bear Argument.

Chicago, Feb. 18.—Claims from New York that the March delivery had been largely oversold by foreign hedgers caused considerable strength in wheat here today at the commencement. May opened unchanged at 72⅜c and evening up of shorts during the first half hour advanced the price to 72½c. At that point, however, the market eased off on account of large receipts in the Northwest and increase in the stocks in store here, May slipping off to 71⅞@72c. About this time New York reported an improvement in the export inquiry and as the world's shipments were placed at 6,400,000 bus, a marked falling off from a week ago, the crowd started to buy again and May was bid up to 72⅜@72½c. Chicago received 50 cars, of which 6 graded contract. Minneapolis and Duluth got 580 cars as compared with 242 for the corresponding day a year ago.

Western primary market receipts were large and Atlantic clearances small. This together with favorable reports of the condition of the winter wheat started renewed liquidation and May sagged off to 71⅞@72c, closing at 72@72⅛c, a decline of ⅜c for the day. New York sent rather contradictory news about the demand there for export, but a Chicago house with a branch in New York through which they do a heavy export trade, said their advices from the United Kingdom were more promising of a revival of export business than for a month back.

Liquidation of a number of extensive lines of long property weakened corn. Receipts were large, 655 cars, and stocks are accumulating fast with the shipping demand at a standstill. May began a shade lower at 35⅞@36c and sold off to 35⅝c.

Trade in oats was active under free selling by elevator concerns. Receipts were 361 cars. May opened a shade lower at 27¾c and declined to 27½c.

Provisions ruled easier on account of the large supply of hogs. The selling was only scattered, but was in excess of the demand and resulted in a decline all around. May pork opened 2½c lower at $9.90 and declined to $9.85@9.87½c. May lard ruled a shade lower at $5.52½@5.55. May ribs started 2½c lower at $4.92½ and sold off to $4.90.

Close: Wheat, May, 72⅛c; July, 70½c. Corn, February, 34c; May, 35½c; July, 36c; September, 36¾c. Oats, February, 26¾c; May, 27⅜c; July, 25½c. Pork, May, $9.70. Lard, February, $5.27½; May, $5.45; July, $5.55; September, $5.67. Ribs, February, $4.70; May, $4.82@4.85; July, $4.97½; September, $5.10. Cash, wheat, No. 2 red, 72@74c; No. 3, 65@70c; No. 2 hard winter, 66@68c; No. 3 hard winter, 64@66c; No. 1 northern spring, 70@71c; No. 2 northern spring, 68@70c; No. 3 spring, 64@70c. No. 2 corn, 34¼@¾c; No. 3 corn, 31¾@32½c. No. 2 oats, 27¼@½c; No. 3, 27@1¼c. Clover, $6.50. Barley, cash, 41@51c. Rye, cash, 55¼c; May, 56¾@57c. Timothy, March, $2.45 bid; $2.47 sellers. Flax, May, $1.18¾; cash, Northwestern, $1.19¼; cash, Southwestern, $1.15½. Estimated cars for Monday: Wheat, 85; corn, 720; oats, 350.

THE COTTON MARKET.

Speculation During the Morning on a Small Scale.

New York, Feb. 18.—The cotton market started steady in tone with prices one to two points higher, and gained additional strength as the session progressed from light covering and staunch support from the bull ranks. Bears were somewhat disconcerted by a decidedly better class of English news than anticipated and persistent statements by reliable parties that better weather would make little difference as to the volume of receipts. Speculation during the morning was on an exceptionally small scale, there being few investment orders, while Southern and foreign reports were almost destitute of purpose.

Cotton spot closed quiet; middling uplands, 6⅝c; middling gulf, 6⅞c; sales, 100 bales. Futures closed steady. February, $6.21; March, $6.22; April, $6.30; May, $6.33; June, $6.31; July, $6.32; August, $6.34; September, $6.23; October, $6.23; November, $6.23, December, $6.25; January, $6.27.

NEW YORK MONEY.

New York, Feb. 18.—Money on call steady at 2@2½ per cent; last loan 2½; prime mercantile paper 2¾@3¼ per cent; sterling exchange steady with actual business in bankers' bills at $4.86@4.86¼ for demand and at $4.84@4.84¼ for sixty days; posted rates, $4.85@4.87; commercial bills, $4.83@4.83½. GOSSIP.

Received over private wire of B. E. Baker, grain and stock broker, room 107 Chamber of Commerce and 307 Board of Trade.

Chicago, Feb. 18.—Wheat today ruled dull and easier owing to lower cables and continued fine weather. There appeared to be a considerable demand for wheat around 72c which held the market steady around that price. We can see nothing to change our views and look for lower prices next week. There are very few shorts in the market, the long interest heavy. Visible will likely show a very small increase.

Corn today ruled weak and lower owing to a continuation of liquidation. May corn declined to 35½c and closed at that price bid. Receipts large and we are inclined to look for lower prices.

Oats ruled easier with longs the principal sellers. Think the price will decline further.

Provisions weak and lower owing to liquidation by longs. Think they are a purchase at about present prices.

Puts, May wheat, 71½c bid @71⅝c asked. Calls, May wheat, 72¾c bid @73c. Curb, May wheat, 72⅜c bid @72½c bid. Puts, May corn, 35⅜c. Calls, May corn, 35⅞c.

NEW YORK STOCKS.

Prices Continued to Rise Notwithstanding Some Bad News.

New York, Feb. 18.—The confidence of the speculative and investing public was reflected in gradually improving prices since business was resumed after the holidays. Sensational advances were made by New York Air Brake, which rose 11¾. Third Avenue 9, Metropolitan 9, Burlington led the grangers with a rise of 1⅝, while other standard shares also made material advances ranging up to 3 points which was the largest among the Pacifics. The active coalers and industrials made good gains. The unfavorable interpretation of the banks' decrease in surplus reserve and increase in loans, the expected decrease in earnings temporarily because of the snow storm and the death of the president of the French republic, were treated with more or less indifference, speculatively, and prices continued to rise. The continued ease in money despite the large absorption of returns of the European holdings of American securities was taken as being reassuring. With the rising tendency of prices the volume of trading increased, yesterday, for the first time in weeks approximating the million-share mark. The prominent feature of the week was the absorption of Burlington at advancing figures, which movement was only temporarily halted by the announcement that the directors had not acted upon a refunding scheme. London continued a moderate seller but the market left off last night buoyant at the best.

Rising prices were the rule at the opening of the stock market with the gains of a uniform fraction in the railway list except St. Paul which bounded up 1⅜ and Burlington, which lost 1⅞. Five hundred shares of Tobacco were dealt in at 141 and the next transaction, 200 shares at 145, followed by 600 at 148, against 138¾, last night's close. Manhattan was offered freely falling 2¾ to 109. The extensive activity of the stock market and the consequent revival of general interest afforded numerous opportunities for the professional element to manipulate prices either way. Therefore, while some stocks were depressed others were advanced with imparted hesitation to the dealings. Tobacco slumped off to 141 but was soon forced up above 152. Manhattan was lifted to 111 and Burlington recovered to last night. St. Paul, Pacifics and the industrials generally lost ground. There was a brisk demand for St. Louis Southwestern preferred and Chicago Terminal which favorably affected the general run of low-priced stocks.

The publication of the bank statement, which shows a shrinkage in surplus reserve of $1,138,000, started an active selling movement, which carried many shares down about a point. Commission house orders were met at the break which soon started prices on the up-tack with the movement accelerated by the exceptional buoyancy of Tobacco, which made a 20-point rise. The rebound failed to put prices to the best except in isolated cases. The market closed strong with net gains of importance numerous. Sales of stocks today, 628,366 shares.

PECULIAR POINT RAISED.

Maj. Sears Objects to Questioning of a Referee.

Maj. C. B. Sears, United States engineer at this place, has raised an interesting question in the district court, and he appeared as his own attorney in special term of district court this morning to argue it.

It seems that some time ago Maj. Sears purchased some books, but after they were received he decided that he did not want them, and he refused to pay for them, on the ground that they were not as represented. When N. W. Bacon, of whom the books were purchased, came to collect, Maj. Sears offered him the books, but Bacon refused to take them. Maj. Sears then gave them away. Bacon, however, brought suit in municipal court for the amount and got a judgment for $14.70. An execution was returned unsatisfied, and then the court made O. L. Young a referee to hear Maj. Sears' disclosure as to his property. At the hearing but little information was elicited from the defendant. He refused to answer most of the questions asked him, and he especially declined, with respect, to state the amount of his salary as government engineer, on the grounds that the question was an inquisition into the affairs of the government.

The plaintiff then got an order from the court for Maj. Sears to appear before it and show cause why he should not be compelled to answer the questions put to him by the referee. This morning he appeared, acting as his own attorney, and put in the claim that the state courts do not permit such questions on the ground that it would do no good to find out what the government owed its employes, because it would be impossible to reach such funds by garnishment or otherwise. Therefore the major argued that the proceedings would not be recognized bythe courts becouse such questioning would be useless. The matter came before Judge Cant, and after a short argument he continued it one week to give Maj. Sears an opportunity to submit authorities supporting his contention. The court assured him he should have the benefit of any such authorities he would produce.

Paying Off the Indians.

Indian Agent J. H. Sutherland, of White Earth, accompanied by D. S. Morrison, J. E. Perrault, D. Weaver and R. J. Holland, is here today. They will leave tomorrow for McGregor, where he will pay off the Sandy Lake Indians between 200 and 300 in number. They will get $5.40 each. Mr. Sutherland is finishing up the payment of annuities for 1898. He says the Indians at Leech Lake are very quiet and peaceable.

Lost Part of His Fingers.

Ex-Alderman Harker cut off the tip of the second finger of his right hand while at work in his shop this morning. He was alone at the time. He sank into a chair and lay there in a half fainting condition until he was discovered by a caller on business. Dr. Schilck was summoned, who resuscitated Mr. Harker by a hypodermic injection of stimulants. Mr. Harker was unable to say how long a time had elapsed after the accident before he was found. The injury is not a serious one.

C. H. BRADLEY SUES.

Claims Share of a Mining Propert Deal Which He Negotiated.

C. H. Bradley filed his complaint in United States court yesterday in the suit against A. B. Turner, of Boston. He claims that he entered into an agreement with J. E. Ball, D. H. Ball and John McKinley to purchase and sell lands in Michigan that were valuable for copper deposits or water power. They examined a lot of lands in Ontonagon county, Mich., and secured control of them, after which they organized a syndicate to develop them. They went to Turner, in Boston, and made a deal by which he was to put in $90,000 and they were to acquire the lands. Then this was modified so that he put in $65,000 and perfected title himself. Bradley claims that he is entitled to one-third of this, or $21,666.66. He claims that Turner settled with John McKinley and the Balls, but never with him.

DEMAND THE BOOKS.

Bondsmen of John A. Dewey Want to Know the Facts.

The Fidelity Mutual Life association yesterday afternoon began a suit against John A. Dewey, F. N. La Salle and Samuel Eckstein, to recover $2000 alleged to be due the company from Dewey, who was its manager of agents, with headquarters at Minneapolis, where he now resides. The company does not allege that the amount sued for was embezzled, but that it comes from advances and loans made to him. The other two defendants are his bondsmen, and they are asked to pay up the shortage. They have asked the court to compel the plaintiff to produce all the books and papers bearing on the matter. The case was to have come up in district court this morning, but it was continued.

FUTURE WHEAT SUPPLY.

The question of the future supply of wheat is discussed in an instructive manner by John Hyde, statistician of the department of agriculture, in the February number of the North American Review. It will be remembered that a short time ago Sir William Crooks, president of the British Association for the Advancement of Science, expressed the opinion in an address to the association that within a generation the world's product of wheat will not equal the demand—an opinion which attracted a great deal of attention and provoked much unfavorable criticism. In reference to this country it was said: "Practically there remains no uncultivated prairie land in the United States suitable for wheat growing. The virgin land has been rapidly absorbed, until at present there is no land left for wheat without reducing the area for maize, hay and other necessary crops. It is almost certain that within a generation the ever-increasing population of the United States will consume all the wheat grown within its borders and will be driven to import, and, like ourselves, will scramble for a lion's share of the wheat crop of the world."

Mr. Hyde's article supports this contention to a considerable extent. He points out the conditions in the United States a generation ago as to population and wheat production, showing that the growth of the latter has been relatively much greater than the increase of population, but he observes that we are liable to be led seriously astray if we assume for the thirty-three years to come an increase of wheat production proportionate to that of the thirty-three years last past. He thinks the population of the United States in 1931, exclusive of colonial possessions or dependencies, will be at least 130,000,000, and the agricultural requirements of this population will include a wheat crop of 700,000,000 bushels, without a bushel for export; an oat crop of 1,250,000,000 bushels, a corn crop of 3,450,000,000 bushels and a hay crop of 100,000,000 tons, all for domestic consumption, with cotton and wood, fruit and vegetables, dairy and poultry products, meats and innumerable minor commodities in corresponding proportions.

These are certainly formidable figures and Mr. Hyde says the area necessary to the production of the three principal cereals alone will be over 15 per cent greater than the enormous total acreage devoted in 1898 to grain, cotton and hay, while the mere addition of the two last mentioned products and of the minor cereals will call for an acreage exceeding the total area of improved land in farms at the present time. It is a fact too well established, Mr. Hyde says, to be the subject of controversy that for general agricultural purposes the public domain is practically exhausted, and that consequently there can be no further considerable addition to the farm area of the country. It can be somewhat increased by the reclamation of desert lands, but such addition will be very small, if not absolutely insignificant. There is, however, a vast body of improved land already in farms, amounting at the last census to 265,600,000 acres, which will be made to contribute to the agricultural production of the future. So that, on the whole, Mr. Hyde agrees with Sir William Crooks that the wheat supply of the world, including the United States, will fall far short of the demand within a generation and that general scarcity will prevail.

THE RAINY LAKE MINES.

John H. Moore writes to The Herald from Schuyler, Neb., as follows: "Can you inform me how far the Olive mines and the Little American and the Foley are from Duluth? Are they in St. Louis county, or are they in the British possessions? I am doing all I can to get people to go to Duluth. There are some parties talking of going to Duluth, and want to know how far they are from Duluth, and if they are in St. Louis county. Let us know through your paper. We saw a notice of the mines in your paper of Feb. 11."

The Rainy Lake gold mines mentioned in the above inquiry are about 160 miles north of Duluth. The Little American is on this side of the international boundary and is in Itasca county. The Olive, the Foley and other well known properties are in what is known as the Seine river district, a few miles north of the boundary in the Canadian province of Ontario. The best way to reach them, especially during the winter months, is from Duluth to Tower by rail, and thence by stage. nI the summer steamers run on the lakes north of Tower, and the stage is used only across the short portages.

ENORMOUS FOREIGN TRADE.

President McKinley, in addressing the Commercial club at Boston, referred to the enormous export trade that has made American balances satisfactory, and is fast turning this country from a debtor to a creditor nation. "We have turned," said the president, "from academic theories to trade conditions and are asking our share of the world's markets."

The president's statements are well supported by the official figures of our export trade. For the year 1898 our domestic exports reached the almost incomprehensible sum of $1,233,564,828—representing not so much demands created by increased population in those countries as it does new markets gained in the territories of our strongest competitors. The trade returns for January show a continuation of this remarkable record. Exports were $7,000,000 greater than in January, 1898, and imports $7,500,0000 greater. The exports, amounting to $115,500,000, were almost double the imports. For a year and a half the exports have averaged $50,000,000 a month more than the imports, making a trade balance of $600,000,000 a year to pay for securities returned to America for investments by citizens of this country in foreign lands, for expenses of American travelers abroad, for interest due on foreign capital invested here, and for the country's immense ocean freight bill, besides drawing millions of dollars of gold to this country from abroad. Such an excess of exports over imports is entirely without precedent. It would require only a few years of such a foreign trade to cancel every dollar of indebtedness that this country owes to Europe, and to convert us from a debtor to a creditor nation. The indications are that the foreign trade will keep to its present proportions and this pleasing result be attained.

The process by which our foreign trade has been increased to such enormous figures has been a commercial invasion. "Only a few years ago," says the Omaha Bee, "the idea that we could furnish England with structural steel, locomotives and agricultural implements cheaper than she could produce them would have been received with the same incredulity that Germany viewed the possibility of our crowding it out of its own markets with our woolen goods, bicycles and cutlery. Yet we are doing both today, and while these countries are trying to persuade themselves that the invasion is only temporary, every indication points to the fact that it is not only permanent, but is destined to increase in volume with each year. The reason is not far to seek. The conservatism of these countries has made them slow to adopt new methods, and their raw materials are not growing cheaper, while in labor-saving machinery the United tates leads the world, and improved methods in mining and agriculture and new discoveries each year enable the producer to furnish them at a good profit and yet cheaper to the manufacturer. In other words, the natural resources of these countries are gradually being exhausted, while ours are inexhaustible. This gives us the advantage in trade competition that will grow harder each year for them to offset. The logical sequence of this industrial condition will be a still greater trade invasion than that effected in Europe. If the two greater commercial countries have been unable to hold the markets of their own territories proper intact, it would seem wellnigh hopeless for them to stay our advance in other countries heretofore supplied almost exclusively by their manufactures. They have no advantages in the Orient that our enterprise cannot overcome, while in South America all of the advantages are in our favor."

Already there is considerable anxiety in England over the extraordinary progress of our foreign trade. The United States is manufacturing every year more and more of the classes of goods which it has been buying in Europe, and foreigners cannot get along with much less grain and meat and cotton than they have been buying here in the past two years. Everything indicates that the United States will continue to export increasing quantities of manufactured articles as well as to send abroad enormous quantities of farm products. Therefore, no one can see an end of the huge trade balances. How, then, will trade conditions be readjusted? Only the future can tell. In the meantime conditions are not such as to cause anyone in this country to be disturbed. But, as the Kansas City Star says, the financiers of Europe cannot view the situation without feeling considerable uneasiness over the possible results that may arise from it.

THE PIG IRON BILL.

The defeat of the pig iron bounty bill in the house by a narrow majority has caused great disappointment in Duluth. The people here have been building high hopes upon the probable success of this effort to induce the establishment of iron and steel manufactures here, and they had not expected that so worthy a measure, which might result in lasting benefits to the whole state, would be defeated. Consequently there is a feeling of intense indignation towards those who offered narrow-sighted opposition to the bill, and more especially towards Col. Gridley of this city, who furnished the legislators opposing the bill with most of the arguments presented on that side. It certainly was a very inopportune time for him to inaugurate a movement at the capital for lower freight rates on the iron roads. Regardless of the question whether Duluth would be benefited by the ore rate being cut in two, it was a serious blunder on Col. Gridley's part to begin a movement of this character when an effort was being made to secure the passage of the bounty bill. He surely must have known that his movement would naturally make more difficult the work of our representatives to have the pig iron bounty bill adopted. If he had deliberately started out to defeat the bill he could not have chosen a better method.

And it really looks as if this was his object. One member of the legislature, who spoke in opposition to the bill, quoted Col. Gridley as saying that even a bounty of $1 a ton would not secure the establishment of blast furnaces here as long as the railroads charged 80 cents a ton to haul the ore. This is arrant nonsense, but it undoubtedly had the effect of turning votes against the bounty bill. Another story credited to him is that the large iron companies want the legislature to reduce the royalty on ore on state lands. This also worked against the bill, and yet there is not one iota of truth in it. It is certainly unfortunate that Duluth is afflicted with men of this stamp, who are always interfering with every effort made to advance the city's interests.

The latest vogue in New York is hygienic dressing. Dr. Adele Ricky, at Astor court, in New York, Monday, during her lecture, laid down these rules: "Don't wear green dresses; it is dangerous, as it affects the nervous system and causes headache. Black is not conducive to health and red should not be worn by phosphate people. Royal blue will cure sore throat and terra cotta, with velvet to smother it, makes a brunette look beautiful. House gowns should be white or pale blue; sleeping rooms pink." Soon there will be dressmakers advertising themselves as toilette physicians.

The St. Paul Pioneer Press and other imperialist organs, that are trying to minimize the effect of the McEnery resolution and are contending that it means little and does not commit congress or the administration to any definite policy, carefully refrain from referring to the vote on the Bacon resolution declaring specifically against annexation of the Philippines. The vote was a tie and the vice president defeated the resolution by his vote, which he can exercise only in case of a tie. So that one-half the senators are opposed to annexing the distant islands with their millions of savages.

The lower branch of the Missouri legislature has joined several other state bodies of the kind in asking congress to submit a constitutional amendment providing for the election of United States senators by the people. The legislatures are getting sick of that particular job, but the members of the senate do not appear inclined to relieve them. Naturally the senators who know they could not get an election if they had to appeal directly to the people are opposed to changing the present system.

The Woman's Christian Temperance union threatens to boycott an Oklahoma college if it accepts a donation of $1000 from Adolph Busch, the St. Louis brewer. An exchange says the ladies of the union seem to forget that good came out of Nazareth, and culture may come from a college donation whether the money be the foam profits of beer or the proceeds of a patent indestructible oyster for church festivals.

The famous contest in the house over Jay's treaty over a century ago settled the question whether the lower branch of congress was morally bound to appropriate money to carry into effect treaties that the senate had ratified. A Kentucky member in the house the other day announced that he should vote against the $20,000,000 appropriation for Spain, yet Mr. Bailey, the Democratic leader, wisely took the position that the money should be voted without demur.

King Oscar of Sweden and Norway, always ready with his purse in the promotion of scientific research, appears to have rendered a great service to mankind by having, at his own expense, caused a deaf and dumb man to be trained under a certain system of massage of throat, ears, etc., advocated by a great Swedish surgeon, with the result that the lucky patient has begun to speak and can hear.

The Denver Post has a clever cartoon of President McKinley presenting to Gen. Eagan his sentence for "conduct unbecoming an officer and a gentleman." It reads as follows: "A good name is rather to be chosen than great riches," and with a card of merit which reads, "Reward of Merit." "For proficiency in profane language this entitles you to six years vacation with full pay."

A telescope is being constructed for the Paris exposition which will be one of the most interesting things there. It will be an enormous reflector, with such power that is expected to bring the moon so near that it will look as it would to the naked eye if placed at a distance of only sixty miles, instead of about 237,000,000 miles, as it really is.

The New York Press says that "if variety is the spice of the soldier's life the Third regular infantry ought to be satisfied. It fought at Santiago in July, recuperated at Camp Wikoff in August, subdued Indians in Minnesota in September, and is now on its way to Manila."

It is said that John D. Rockefeller lost $6,000,000 last Monday by shrinkage in the stock of subordinate oil companies. But it is thought he will still be able to get enough to eat during the rest of the winter.

The Little Falls Transcript is authority for the statement that President Cleveland has sent a message to congress urging the laying of a Pacific cable. When will Rip Van Winkle Fuller awaken?

The Syracuse Herald has one of the best cartoons of the winter. It shows Senator Quay studying a thermometer and saying: "Beats all how cold it keeps."

The Alabama house of representatives has passed a bill to hoist the Stars and Stripes over every schoolhouse in the state and keep the flag floating there.

Miners in the Klondike have recently sent out a plea for wives. Perhaps Congressman-elect Roberts of Utah might spare a few from his collection.

"It is about time," says the Boston Transcript, "that somebody discovered the microbe of zero weather, in order that it may properly be dealt with."

Col. Gridley's ears surely must burn as he hears the comments on his connection with the defeat of the pig iron bounty bill.

THE COUNTY ATTORNEYSHIP.

Eveleth Star: The News Tribune of Monday contained an editorial on the probable resignation of County Attorney Phelps and the efforts of the commissioners to get the legislature to amend the statute so that the county attorney's salary might be raised. With this the Tribune finds much fault and endeavors to show wherein the position tends to increase general practice and is a remunerative aid. This is not the question at issue. The question honestly and honorably asked is, "can a wise and cautious counselor afford so much of his time taken up in county affairs for a salary of $2500 per year." We do not believe he can.

Law is the profession of the world and good lawyers seldom have a less remunerative practice than $5000 per year. "But," says the Tribune, "lots of good men could fill the present incumbent's shoes." Duluth is probably more overwhelmingly flooded with tramp pettifoggers than any other city in the Union, and if this is the class of gents of whom the Tribune loosely prates, we at once agree. But what has St. Louis county paid the past two years for attorney's fees? George Arbury drew his salary of $2500 and $1100 for an assistant, besides $600 for office rent, together with other frills, ruffles and scrapings. But while George was doing this the county commissioners also had their own legal advisor in the person of the present incumbent. But this was not all. The county also hired a fourth man to prosecute Borgstrom, the then register of deeds, and to him they paid a remuneration of $1000. So that the county, instead of paying their attorney a salary of $2500, really paid out $6000 for attorney's fees.

Now, Mr. Phelps and his assistant are asked to do the work of four men at the salary allowed the past two years. We believe the county attorney is justified in asking a raise in his salary and we believe the commissioners are acting with much wisdom in trying to secure the passage of a bill whereby the salary can be raised $1000. If there is one office more than another that requires good timber that office is the attorneyship, and we do not believe that Duluth has an attorney who would do justice to the county that would accept the office at a salary of $2500 a year. This office has always gone begging so far as good men are concerned, while a horde of hungry fellows are up at every nomination ready and willing to stand for election. But they are among the starving members of the bar who have not sufficient merit to acquire a lucrative private practice.

The American Way.

Elk River Star News: Some persons spell the name of the scene of Dewey's operations with two ls, some with only one, but we can quote Webster as authority for the statement that if you wish to be American you should say, "Manilla," if Spanish, "Manila." We prefer the former every time.

A TELL-TALE DROP.

How a Microscope Tears the Mask of Deceit From "Pure" Water.

The microscope is a truthful witness. It cannot be bribed nor bullied nor cajoled. Do you think the goblet of fresh water on your breakfast table is a very type of purity? Look at a drop of it through a microscope, and note the decayed animal and vegetable matter—the thousand forms of pollution and sources of disease.

"Are we to stop drinking water then?" you ask.

No; but you will do well to mix with it some good stimulant, preferably whisky. The danger from drinking water is understood by many people, but not always intelligently guarded against. Duffy's Pure Malt Whisky destroys the power for mischief of the germs in impure water. That is its negative value. Its positive usefulness resides in its marked stimulating property, whereby even a system already invaded by disease is aroused to shake off the intruder.

Do not listen to any druggist or grocer who tries to persuade you to buy a substitute for Duffy's.

WORDS MISPRONOUNCED.

From the International: Agoncilio(Spanish): The Filipino now in this country. Pronounced: Ahgontheel'yo. As thoso who have studied our Spanish lessons know, the c before i has the sound of the in thesis.

Aguinaldo (Spanish): Filipino general and president of the so-called insurrectionists. Pronounced: Ah-gee-nahl'do, the g having the hard sound of our g in geese, and both a's very broad, like a in ah.

It will be seen from the two foregoing examples that the accent in Spanish is on the next to the last syllables when the word ends in a vowel.

Anti-semite, an'te-sem'ite, long i: One who is opposed to the family of Shem—the Arabs and Jews. This word as now used is restricted in its meaning, and applied solely to any one opposed to the Jews.

Anti-semitic, an'te-se-mit'ick.

Bjornson: Scandinavian author. Pronounced: Beeyorn'son, the B and j each pronounced, and yet almost merged into one.

Bordereau (French): An account or memorandum of a more or less official character. Pronounced: Bor'der'ro. The second syllable, de, is pronounced as the second syllable in under, without the hard r sound given in the West. The last syllable, reau, is sounded as ro, long, with a distinct rolling of the r.

Brunetiere: French essayist. Pronounced: Broone'te-air. The first e is nearly mute, its effect being merely to prolong the syllable to which it belongs. It is impossible to represent the French sound of u in English, but in this case oo in fool comes, perhaps, quite near enough to it for all practical purposes, though the u in Scotch gude comes nearer to it.

Cabal: A small body of men united in the interest of some sinister purpose. Pronounced: Ka-bal'. The last syllable is the same as bal in balance.

Cyrano de Bergerac (French): The leading character in Rostand's play, now so popular; an historical personage. Pronounced: Seer-rah-no der Bair-zhair-rahk. The first syllable of the Christian name is the same as seer, a prophet. The de is sounded as is the last syllable in under, minus the r. In the surname the g in the second syllable has a soft sound which can be expressed in English only by zh. In the last syllable the hard c is given clearly. This latter, when final in French, is never dropped, as seems to be the prevalent idea.

Dyea: One of the principal towns in Alaska; also the name of a pass over the mountains connecting that place with the Klondike region. This word comes from the Chilkoot Indian tayia, to pack, to load. Pronounced: Dy'yer. Note that the y is long, as in fry. This pronunciation was given us by a newspaper correspondent who spent considerable time in Alaska, and with whose judgment in such matters we have been most favorably impressed.

Sienkiewicz, though the name of the well known author of "Quo Vadis," gives most people a great deal of trouble. It is pronounced She-en-kay'vitch.

When He's Quiet.

Oh, everything is lovely and the goose it hangeth high;
There's a prospect that the din of strife will cease.
There are signs of clearer weather in a grim and clouded sky;
There are sweet assurances once more of peace;
For the dove, that gentle harbinger, is cooing on the bough;
It cheweth on an olive branch immense.
But the fairest, fondest omen is the simple fact that now
The politician climbeth on the fence.

It may be only to o'erlook the scene for future fray;
But while he's there his wrath is held in check.
A gentle silence reigneth, though it be but for a day,
While for games anew he shuffleth up the deck.
Let us revel in the present, nor of future trouble sigh.
We'll bid all dull forebodings get them hence,
When the dove his olive cheweth and the goose he hangeth high,
And the politician roosteth on the fence.

A Loaded Gunn.

Minneapolis Tribune: Late Washington advices say that Dan Gunn, of Grand Rapids, is in the capital city, but whether loaded for bear or just for fun is not known.

For the Corporations.

Herman Enterprise: Lac qui Parle Jacobson's fight in the house against Representative Foss' bill shows that Jacobson is a man for the corporations and not for the common people. And the announcement made a few days ago that he wants to succeed R. C. Dunn to the office of state auditor is proof enough that Jacobson's services to the corporations are not to cease with his term in the house, but that he has been selected for other duties. It remains to be seen whether he is as successful in the future in his domineering as he has been in the past.

Foreman—I am very sorry.

"I wouldn't care so much, only I do so hate anything that smacks of adulation of the dead."

EVERY CAT HAS ITS DAY.

The Cat club of Chicago is a coterie of well-to-do women who cultivate blue-blooded pussy cats. The fair originator of this feline organization is Mrs. Clinton Locke, wife of a clergyman and a shining light in clubdom, who was inspired to possess kittens by the example of the National Cat club, organized in London two years ago by Lady Marcus Beresford. Mrs. Locke not only has beautiful Angoras that look like highly cultivated chrysanthemums, but prizes a cat mummy 4000 years old.

THE GRIP EPIDEMIC.

Opinions of New York Physicians as to Cause and Cure.

[New York Exchange.]

"There is probably no family in the city of which some member is not laid up, or at least attacked by the grip.

"While grip is the same old enemy, it seems to be very different this season from other years. On the streets and street cars and churches one meets with people violently sneezing, with running eyes, coughing and with a woe-begone expression on their faces. Like all epidemics of this kind, few are exempt. It attacks the rich and poor alike and physicians are being worked night and day.

"To obtain reliable information on this most important subject a reporter recently called upon some well-known physicians to learn from them what he could do in relation to it.

"All agreed on the opinion that the malady was rapidly increasing and that in most cases it was of an extremely dangerous nature.

"One medical man, who is said to have treated no less than 100 grip patients in a single week, said to the reporter:

"Serious results will always follow an attack of the grip if it is not properly treated. Often it runs into pneumonia and always it leaves unpleasant or dangerous complications. It seems to be different this year from ever before. My experience has shown that the worst grip comes when the body is clogged up and when the secretions fail to have the right exit.

"Have you ever seen a sewer or a drain clogged? Well, that is precisely the condition of the body that invites grip. The fluids have no means of escape and so they back up and flood everything, just as a clogged sewer floods the street. Is this not natural? It is certainly true.

"When a person is attacked by grip," the doctor continued, "he should not try to fight off the sensations of cold, aching limbs and extreme weariness under the impression that he has simply an ordinary cold, but should stay indoors, avoid excess of eating and drinking, and above all take a timely remedy."

The reporter being anxious to discover what the public considered a timely remedy and was taking most, visited the leading drug stores and interviewed the proprietors. The general opinion was well expressed by the manager of a prominent Fifth avenue pharmacy, who said: "Grip? Yes, it is raging. But it seems to come in a different way from any former years. People come into our store all clogged up. Not necessarily in the head, but all over the body. They have headaches, it is true, but then they have backache too and pains all through the system. You know the body is like a city. All the waste matter must be carried away. When the sewers do not work there is trouble. People are beginning to understand that they must keep the sewers, especially the kidneys, in good condition, or they cannot hope to escape, or regain health. What is the remedy? Well, we have a store full of so-called remedies, but we have only one which our customers find produces the effects desired. We do not recommend anything, but I can tell you what the people use. It is something reliable, something which is certain to unclog the system, something which is recommended by physicians and is very popular with the people—Warner's Safe Cure. We look upon it as the safest and the best remedy that anyone can take when suffering from the many, many serious ailments so common at this season of the year."

This information is certainly of the highest importance in view of the increasing number of people who are suffering from colds, chills, grip and the ills of the season. Very often the serious results which follow these attacks might have been avoided if the proper remedy had been taken in time. Health is a serious matter and especially at this season of the year, when so many things are fighting bitterly against it.

A LITTLE VAGABOND.

"Now who may this be?" I questioned,
As the door was pushed ajar,
And a wee bit laddie entered,
With a face as bright as a star.

He doffed his hat till its feather
Swept down to the very floor,
And he laughed as I crossly bade him
Make haste and shut the door.

"Oh! I always leave it open
The least little crack," he said,
With a touch of his hand on my shoulder
And a toss of his curly head.

"For though I am swift in coming,
I am sometimes swift to go;
As light as an airy bubble
I am floating to and fro.

"For I am a vagabond, lady,
And you surely know my name.
In golden letters, Cpuld
Is writ on the scroll of Fame.

"And here I bow, dear lady,
And prithee, take for mine
The heart I haste to offer,
And be my valentine."

A vagabond lover, surely,
For the wind blew fast the door;
In golden letters, Cupid
But his shadow on the floor.

The Q. F. U. is meeting at the home of Clara Ames, 112 South Fifteenth avenue east this afternoon.

* * *

Miss Ella Eugene Fitzgerald, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Fitzgerald, and Richard M. Sellwood were married at the episcopal residence of Rt. Rev. James McGolrick Tuesday evening at 7:45 o'clock. The relatives and a few of the young friends were present. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Father Corbett in the parlors, which had been prettily decorated with maiden hair ferns, palms and pink roses and carnations. Robinson's mandolin orchestra played the wedding march as the bridal party entered. Mr. Sellwood's best man was B. M. Peyton, and Miss Howe was the bride's attendant. The bride's gown was of ivory duchess satin, with a long train, surplice waist, trimmed with white chiffon and duchess point lace. The veil was of tulle and was caught back with sprays of maiden hair fern. She carried lilies of the valley. Miss Howe wore a very pretty gown of white organdie over pink silk, with dainty lace trimmings and carried pink carnations. During the ceremony the orchestra played softly, and as the bridal party moved out played the Mendelssohn "Wedding March." Miss Julia Donovan sang.

An informal reception was afterward held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fitzgerald, 1815 East Superior street. The house was decorated with smilax, pink roses and carnations and potted plants. The dining room table was very pretty, being decorated with smilax, maiden hair ferns, pink carnations and white satin ribbons. Robinson's mandolin orchestra played. The bride's bouquet was captured by Miss Crowley and Miss Howe.

Mr. and Mrs. Sellwood left for the Twin Cities, and from there went to Chicago.

The Young Ladies' Card club was entertained Tuesday afternoon at the home of Miss Martha Peyton. Miss Zella Eaton won the prize. The club will not meet again until after Easter, and will then be entertained by Miss Crowley. The following were present:

Mrs. R. B. Knox.

Misses—
Harrington, of Minneapolis;
Hubbell,
McLaren,
Macdougall,
Dickinson,
Chapin,
Belle Simonds,
Crowley,
La Vaque,
Eaton,

Miss Ella Fitzgerald gave a charming luncheon last Saturday at her home, 1815 East Superior street. The dining table was decorated with jonquils, violets and ferns. Mrs. Leslie poured the coffee, Miss Ames served the salad, and Miss Howe and Miss Dickinson assisted. Before the luncheon an informal musical program was given, Miss Crowley, Miss Costello and Miss Chapin giving piano numbers, and Miss Howe singing. Those present were:

A pretty valentine party was given last evening at the home of Miss Lulu Robinson on Lake avenue north. A large party of the young people enjoyed a delightful evening's entertainment. Fair archers tried their marksmanship in shooting dainty arrows a la cupid at a target of hearts. The booby prize was a box of heart kisses, and the best archer was presented with the bow. Heart dainties and other refreshments such as Cupid's devotees are supposed to prefer were served.

The study classes of the Twentieth Century club and guild are getting along very smoothly, and the executive board has accomplished much satisfactory work. The departments of literature, history, art and music, reform, philanthropy and education are all in competent hands and well organized. We have now to turn our energies to the departments of home and philosophy and science.

The department of home, the very one that should have been the foundation stone of our educational fabric, the one from which should radiate everything that is beautiful in life, has been neglected, but through no direct fault of the club management. Woman after woman has been solicited to organize and conduct that department and to work up an interest in it, but so far without success. At first thought one imagines this to be a very "humdrum" department, and home work with many of us is so practical, at best, that we are not eager to take up additional duties along these lines. However, if one will only take up a text book on this subject and read awhile, a new horizon will open before her. One sees a dozen avenues of study. She may enter a study class of "art in the home," and from an aesthetic standpoint study how to make home artistically beautiful. There may be a study class of "home sanitation" for the mothers who look to the health of the family and the baby in the nursery. Then there is the necessary yet interesting study of "household economics" with its science of cooking and cleaning, its study of food products and values, the diet for the sick and the training of nurses. We feel assured that in this last section of study some of our accomplished nurses from the city hospitals would lend a hand. Does it not occur to you that with a little worry and expenditure of energy we might work up a cooking school and a school for expert waitresses, and thus solve the help problem? In our club we have laid a foundation for this work by opening the membership list to any respectable cook, housemaid or general help who feels the desire for improvement and education. We realize that education dignifies labor, and with it follows honor, religion and self-respect, hence our help will be more reliable, more affectionate to our children and will show more respect for the mistress of the household.

Since our club is not yet in a financial condition to open a cooking school, could we not interest the public school authorities to introduce it in their course of education. I learn that our wise superintendent has more than once expressed such a desire, but that the money appropriation for the schools was not sufficient for this extra expense. Does it not seem practical that the council of women's clubs might co-operate with the superintendent of the public schools to work for this object? I learn from the statistics of the Massachusetts public schools that in 1895 every city of 20,000 or more inhabitants in Massachusetts shall maintain as a part of its high school system the teaching of manual labor, the use of tools and the art of cooking, in which the committee deem it expedient. However, our state is not so very far behind in progress, for in the high schools of Minneapolis and St. Paul the cooking schools are most flourishing.

What commends this innovation in the educational training of our daughters is that it will be the means of giving them better health, for the bodily exercise will be a relief after so much mental stimulus. This economic training is also highly educational not only to the intellect, but to the aesthetic sense, as it generally comprises instruction in industrial drawing. It trains the will and altogether makes us better wives and mothers.

It seems that with small expense that part of the public school laboratories might be converted into a kitchen and there the classes receive practical instructions at least once a week.

Now, if the clubs, through the women's council, will only take up this question and establish an industrial art association for the purpose of co-operating with the schools in maintaining classes in household work and cooking, there could be no doubt of substantial success in the early future. X.

The guild social for both Twentieth Century club and guild members will be held at the club rooms Monday, Feb. 20, at 8 p. m. The arrangements are in the hands of the social committee, of which Mrs. George C. Howe is chairman, assisted by the musical committee. The pronounced success of the first guild social augurs well for this one. A large attendance is expected. An opportunity will be given for making applications for membership. Each member is privileged to bring a friend.

America's Greatest Medicine is Hood's Sarsaparilla, because it was originated and is still prepared by competent, experienced and educated pharmacists from the best known alterative, diuretic, anti-bilious remedies and stomach tonics, by a combination, proportion and process unknown to other remedies and giving to Hood's Sarsaparilla merit peculiar to itself. It has a record of cures unequalled in the history of medicine. It has accomplished many a marvelous cure when all other medicines failed, and even when cure seemed impossible,—and really was impossible by any other medicine than Hood's Sarsaparilla. It has effected wonderful cures of scrofula, salt rheum, psoriasis, blood poisoning, boils, pimples, rheumatism, catarrh and other troubles originating in or promoted by impure state or low condition of the blood. It has cured thousands of cases of dyspepsia, indigestion, nervous dyspepsia, gastritis, catarrh in the stomach and other kindred troubles. It has given nerve, brain and mental strength in cases of nervous prostration and nervous debility, cured that tired feeling and loss of appetite.

America's Greatest Medicine Hood's Sarsaparilla

"ALL—TIRED OUT"

If this is your experience, then your blood is poor and thin and filled with impurities. There is but one cure. You must get rid of all these poisons in the blood. There is but one remedy

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

It makes the blood pure and gives it new life and power. The starved nerves are better nourished. Your head ceases to ache. Your brain keeps clear. You are not obliged to begin the day's work "all tired out." $1.00 a bottle. All druggists.

LAUGHED AT SEALS.

Says They Told a "Sober Truth."

One day, perhaps a year ago, my husband, who is a physician, handed me a package of Postum Food Coffee, and requested that I make a very careful test of it.

Realizing the importance, I gave it my especial attention in preparation, and when it was served it exceeded our expectations. It came to the table steaming with a delicious aroma, and the first taste convinced me that I had found the long-sought beverage.

We had some experience with various so-called "substitutes" for coffee, only to find them worthless—mixtures of cheap coffee and other things that we could not use in our own family, and of course the doctor didn't care to have his patients use them, but with Postum it is different. I occasionally hear of Postum being served weak and flat, but that never occurs when time enough is allowed in boiling to bring out the flavor. Doctor now tells me that he takes pleasure in prescribing Postum to many of his patients who have found that coffee acts injuriously, causing nervousness, headaches and deranged digestion. These symptoms, he says, in a still more aggravated form, affect thousands of tea drinkers who would gain immeasurably in health and happiness if they would banish that seductive herb from the supper table and replace it with Postum Food Coffee.

When we first began to use Postum we indulged in some merriment at the red seal on the package, and the statement that "It Makes Red Blood." It was not long, however, before we learned that it was a sober truth. My family remarked the growing color in my face. My weight steadily increased, to such a degree that I was forced to ascribe the change to the use of Postum, and my entire family have now become addicted to the beverage.

Mrs. Dr. D. P. Brockway, 15 Charleston street, Worcester, Mass.

LECTURES BY NAGARKAR.

Hindu Scholar Will Give Three at the Unitarian Church.

B. B. Nagarkar, of Bombay, India, will give three lectures at the Unitarian church on Feb. 21, 23 and 25. Mr. Nagarkar visited Duluth when he was in this country in the year of the World's fair, and judging from the interest which he created then, it is likely that he will again be welcomed by large audiences.

Balvantora Bhau Nagarkar is a member and missionary of the Brahmo Somaj of India, and is widely known as an able and eloquent speaker and lecturer on topics connected with the social, moral and religious life of India. In fact his fame is world wide. He is a Hindu and a native of India, his home being in Bombay. He received his education at one of the Indian universities and for the past ten years has been laboring to advance the cause of religion in India.

He first engaged the attention of the people of the Western hemisphere when he came to this country as one of the two delegates from India to the World's congress of religions at the World's fair. After the fair he spent a year in the Western states. He visited Duluth and made a large number of friends here. His addresses have always interested thoughtful people, and stamp him as a man of broad intelligense.

The subjects of Mr. Nagarkar's lectures in Duluth will be as follows: On Tuesday evening, Feb. 21 he will speak on "India and Her People; Their Social and Domestic Life." On Thursday, Feb. 23, his subject will be "Woman in India; as She Was and as She Is," and on Saturday, Feb. 25, his subject will be "The Evolution of India's Spiritual Ideal." Lectures 1 and 2 will be illustrated by stereopticon views never before shown in this country.

WILL HAVE A SHOOT.

Central Gun Club to Hold One Washington's Birthday.

The Central Gun club will hold a shoot at its East End grounds on Washington's birthday, next Wednesday, and there will be an interesting event. After a preliminary event of ten birds the Nelson medal will be shot for for the first time. This is a handsome solid gold and enamel medal, and its winner next week will be subject to challenge by any other member of the club. That will be the conditions under which the medal will be held. The challenger must always pay for the birds when the shoot for the medal is held. The man who wins it three times in succession, when the contests are not with the same man, is to keep it. The medal was presented by J. W. Nelson for competition.

The shoot Wednesday will be divided into three events of fifteen, twenty and fifteen birds each.

Will Destroy Them.

The Eastern Trust and Banking company, of Bangor, Me., which holds $44,000 worth of water bonds, has notified the city clerk that it does not desire to exchange the lithographed bonds for the steel engraved bonds issued to replace the former, and the engraved bonds of the numbers held by the company will probably be destroyed.

VOSE

The tremendous progress of the Vose Piano as a musical product is astounding. The latest specimens from the factory have a tone quality that is exquisite and a touch that is sympathetic far beyond the usual upright piano touch. It all simply illustrates what can be accomplished in the pursuit of a steady artistic aim. What will be the end of it all if the Vose Piano continues to advance at the present ratio? That is really a question of importance to a good many Piano manufacturers and dealers—Musical Courier.

ENDORSED BY TEACHERS.

Paine's Celery Compound Counteracts the Nervous Strain of the School Room.

"I know of nothing so good as Paine's celery compound," says Miss May Sherwin, for the past seventeen years principal of the largest public school in Bloomington, Ill., "to counteract the nervous strain incident to a constant life in the school room.

"I have myself used Paine's celery compound," she continues, "with most satisfactory results. It is a splendid nerve tonic."

The discoverer of Paine's celery compound was himself one of the greatest teachers that ever lived.

Edward E. Phelps, M.D., LL.D., held a famous professorship in Dartmouth college, and was a lecturer in other great universities all the while he was engaged in that momentous study which led to the chief accomplishment of the medical research of this century—the development of Paine's celery compound.

The general complaint now among intelligent women is that they are hurried and driven and fretted almost out of their senses by the demands upon their time and strength.

No wonder, then, the average woman has lost the capacity for sound sleep, good digestion and the freedom from aches and pains that follow healthy organic functions.

Many years of suffering might be avoided, weary months of lost time put to good service, and thousands of lives saved if persons who do not sleep well, and those with overworked brains and nerves would take Paine's celery compound. In the cure of nervous diseases this remedy has again and again demonstrated its power to combat these tenacious ailments.

It is to general poor health that we are to look for the cause of headaches, rheumatism and neuralgia, and to overcome these troubles it is the general health that must be raised. Sick headaches that recur so periodically with most women, and are so grievous an affliction, should be treated as due to lowered nervous tone, and a thorough invigoration of the body should be undertaken with Paine's celery compound.

The best test of the wonderful value of Paine's celery compound is to use it. Any woman will soon be convinced that it is the one remedy that can make and keep her well and healthful and strong.

MEETINGS ARE GROWING.

Interest In the Schiverea Revivals Is Increasing.

Evangelist Schiverea had the largest audience last night he has had any week day evening since the series began. The crowd was estimated at 1700, and the Armory was packed. The speaker's text was from Ezekiel xxxiii, 11: "I have no pleasure in the death of the wicked." He said that the text is eminently practical and logical. God never sent a soul to perdition. This is proven by the text and by the provision made for man—the Bible and the three things taught therein: Man's condition, a lost one; salvation in spite of our sinfulness, and God's love for us as proven by the gift of His Son. If God were pleased at the death of a sinner there would be no church steeples or religious acts as there are now. The fact that we are still existing proves that God has no pleasure in the death of sinners. The command is for us to turn from our sins, and if we obey it God's assurance that he will receive us is another proof. The music was especially fine last night.

There has been some interest in an episode that occurred the other evening. A woman who pins her faith on baptism by immersion distributed some tracts at the Armory. Yesterday afternoon at the Bible reading at the First Methodist church Mr. Schiverea said that creeds should not be discussed in a meeting of that kind. The people should be converted, and then they could join whatever church they wished.

A Willard Memorial Service.

A service in memory of Frances E. Willard, the late president of the W. C. T. U., was held yesterday afternoon in the parlors of the First Methodist church. The meeting was opened with singing and devotional exercises. A paper on Miss Willard's childhood and early training was read by Mrs. Culbertson, a paper on her influence as an educator by Miss Briggs, and a paper on her work as an organizer and leader of the W. C. T. U. by Mrs. Smith, and a selection from one of Mrs. Willard's addresses was read by Miss Carey. Mrs. Olund sang.

Still Another Defeat.

Once more the Duluth Y. M. C. A. basket ball team defeated the team from Superior normal school last night. The game was played at Superior, and it was a close one, though a number of points on both sides were made on fouls. The score was 14 to 13 in favor of Duluth. Grace, Moran, Ely, Earnshaw, Conley and Johnson played for Superior, and Black, Lamont, Prescott and Brown played for Duluth.

Claims He Was Forced.

Andrew Miller, of Minneapolis, has begun a suit for divorce in that city from Minnie Miller, on the ground that the marriage was procured by force, threats of criminal prosecution, duress and fraud. He claims that the parties have not cohabited since the marriage. They are 24 and 23 years of age, and they were married by Judge Ayer in his office in Duluth, Aug. 21, 1897. Miller was from Superior, and the defendant, who was a Minnie Farnham, lived in this county. The witnesses were County Attorney George E. Arbury and Deputy Sheriff Bates.

Evolution of Labor Fakirs.

Carl Thiel will lecture on "The Evolution of Labor Fakirs" at Kalamazoo hall, Feb. 23. This is the second lecture of a series given under the auspices of the Socialist Labor party. Questions will be answered by the lecturer, and discussion is welcomed. The next lecture will be delivered by Edward Kriz, on "Territorial Expansion," March 23. Admission to the lectures is free.

New discovery for the hair and scalp, known as, and entitled to the name—
JUSTICE

My Remedies Are the Wonder of The World....

THE FINEST HAIR AND SCALP TONIC EVER DISCOVERED.

JUSTICE Dandruff Cure and Justice Hair Growing Balm have made a record of which I am proud, as they have proved their merit in every case, and have been given a thorough test by well qualified medical men. The American Journal of Health has found my Justice remedies worthy of endorsement, which is very encouraging to me.

In all cases where my Justice remedies have been used, not one word of fault has been found, but satisfactory results have always been reported.

A trial of my remedies is all I ask, and with that I am sure I can convince the most skeptical that my Justice cures will do all that I claim, and are entitled to the name

JUSTICE

I have now fitted private apartments, and am in readiness to treat the hair and scalp in the most satisfactory manner. I am also prepared to give facial treatment.

Private apartment for ladies, with lady attendant, at Room No. 6, Torrey building, and private apartment for gentlemen at Room D, Torrey building.

Send or call for my new circular that contains many interesting truths about hair and scalp treatment.

Professor Brown is proud of the endorsement accorded his JUSTICE remedies by the American Journal of Health. This is what that periodical says of JUSTICE remedies, under the signature of G. W. Brown, M. D., of New York city:

"Is There a Real Hair Restorer?" —By G. W. Brown, M. D.

People foolish enough to think that the hair can with safety be neglected, and that the subject of its restoration is a frivolous one, will finally discover their serious mistake. As soon as they begin to lose their hair they will also begin to regret that they had not sooner recognized the necessity of caring for it. We should all endeavor to avoid such regrets by the very simple process of never being neglectful. But this advice, perhaps, is a little too general in its nature to be of much avail. It might be said, no doubt, that there is a great deal of difference between this person and that, and that personal temperament will operate to make one man bald in spite of his efforts to prevent it, while another, without any particular care, will retain his hair. Yet in the long run the safest method is to depend less upon the matter of temperament than upon the dictates of prudence, and to look after our general health. Still, there is so much carelessness prevalent that harm will continue to be done, and artificial aid be called in to repair the ravages.

Hair "specifics"—intended for the restoration of the hair or for preventing its decay—are consequently common enough, but the question at issue is to find one which will really restore. In fact, a genuine specific is no common discovery among the innumerable hair preparations which claim that title. We are disposed to doubt the efficacy of the average advertised hair restorers. At the same time, in any instance where we find evidence to prove the efficacy of an article, we are willing to admit it. Such evidence of merit has been forthcoming in the case of "Justice" Dandruff Cure and Hair Growing Balm, offered by Professor H. Brown, of Duluth, Minnesota. These articles claim that they cure dandruff, stop the hair from falling out, invigorate the scalp and thus cause the hair to grow. We may say that it requires a pretty strong case to be made out in favor of any preparation which claims to restore or preserve the hair before such preparation could hope to obtain our endorsement. And this is because we are so well aware of the prevalence of "fake" hair renewers.

People who are suffering from the progressive loss of their hair are apt to grasp at a straw. They thus become an easy prey for the purveyors of "fake" restorers. As we have, however, fully examined into the claims of "Justice" Dandruff Cure and Hair Growing Balm, and found that they have an unusual weight of trustworthy evidence to show that their claims are genuine, we willingly state that we consider them undoubted specifics, and worthy of confidence.

The general public do not need a medical dissertation upon the causes of falling of the hair. In the greater number of cases it arises from what is known as seborrhoeic eczema of the scalp. Of course there are many special causes. Our method of deciding the value of "Justice" Dandruff Cure and Hair Growing Balm as specifics for restoring or preserving the hair was to consult with well qualified medical men, besides making investigation among people who had used these articles, and benefited by them. And whose evidence we know to be impartial and credible. We finally found ourselves to be justified in stating that "Justice" Dandruff Cure and Hair Growing Balm are reliable and efficacious preparations, entirely apart from the average so-called hair restorer, and that they are well entitled to the patronage of all men and women who stand in need of articles of their class. For this reason they receive the editorial endorsement of the American Journal of Health.

MY PRICES ARE AS FOLLOWS: Justice Dandruff Cure, $1.00; Justice Gray Hair Preparation, $1.00; Justice Hair Growing Balm, $1.00; Justice Shampoo, 50c; Rose Cream for the Complexion, 35c. ### McKenzie as a Wrestler.

There was a spirited wrestling match between Duncan McMillan and Policeman Roy McKenzie, at the Y. M. C. A. rooms yesterday afternoon. It was an impromptu affair, and only a few invited friends were present. Although McKenzie has had no training and, of course, does not pretend to be a match for McMillan, he is large and weighty, and several times he got the wrestler where it looked a little dubious for the latter. McMillan downed McKenzie in twelve minutes the first time, and after that it was "every few minutes," as McKenzie put it. The opinion is expressed that with a little training McKenzie would be a hard proposition for any of them.

He Wants a New Trial

Richard M. Sellwood has asked the district court to grant him a new trial of the case brought against him by Athol Morton Miller and recently decided in the former's favor by a jury. The grounds of the motion are that the verdict was not justified by the evidence and is contrary to law, and that there were errors in law during the trial.

REGRET DEFEAT

Much Disappointment Over Rejection of the Pig Iron Bounty Bill.

MAKES A STATEMENT

E. C. Gridley Replies to Accusations Which are Made Against Him.

The defeat of the pig iron bounty bill was the talk of the city today and the expressions of regret were very general. There is a strong feeling that the passage of this bill would have resulted in the foundation of a big manufacturing interest here. There is still hope that the bill will be put through the senate and thus may come before the house again.

The demand which Representative Laybourn claims was made that the bill be amended so as to prevent trusts and combines from enjoying its benefits, is regarded here as very silly. The whole state has been crying against the big iron interests for taking the ore out of the state and manufacturing none here, it is argued, and yet would not allow them to manufacture here, except under a discrimination.

E. C. Gridley is being severely criticised in some quarters for being responsible for the defeat of the bill through his movement for the cutting of the iron ore freight rate. In reference to this Mr. Gridley said today:

"I do not care to explain or comment upon what appeared in the morning paper regarding me and my actions. Time and events will convict or acquit me and I am willing to spend some time in St. Paul with different members of the legislature in trying to get the pig iron bounty bill through and am still ready and anxious to do what I can to aid its passage.

"Many of the friends of the bounty bill have lost all power in its support by trying to defend the freight rates, while asking the state to vote the bounty. Their efforts in that behalf and the publication this morning in the News Tribune have placed the matter where the bill can only be put through by the Duluth delegation or some of them at least arraying themselves on the part of the people and the educational interests of the state against these exorbitant freight charges. I would like to ask those who criticise my action a question: Some years ago I helped to pay a bonus of $125,000 cash, besides land for the plant toward building the Ironton Structural steel plant. That plant has been completed and ready to be operated for a long time. My question is why has it not been operated? I suggest as a proper answer to my own question, that as long as all the profit in Minnesota's iron ore is in transporting it, it will not be manufactured within the state. The two companies have prevented it from being manufactured in the state so far and will continue to do so until the rate is forced down to legitimate figures. If you charge the defeat of the pig iron bounty bill to those two companies, you will make no mistake. I would say to those who criticise my action that you cannot at the same time serve both God and mammon. You can serve either the two companies or you can serve the people of the city and state. I have chosen and I think that I am with the power that will win out in the people's interests and will vindicate their rights."

A man who was in St. Paul yesterday and was in the house when the fight was made said today that a great fight was made for the bill, but that it was against too great odds.

Sues For a Divorce.

Michael Garrley, of Hibbing, this morning began an action for divorce against Annie Garrity on the grounds of drunkenness and adultery. They are 50 and 30 years of age respectively, and they were married in Duluth in 1891. Page Morris, who was then municipal judge, married them, according to the complaint. The defendant comes back with counter charges of adultery and allegations that her husband made away with some money she loaned him and some money she gave him to put in a bank. These the plaintiff denies. John M. Martin is his attorney.

Charged With Assault.

A warrant was issued this morning for the arrest of William Arbour, a woodsman, living at 528 Gosnold street, in West Duluth, on the complaint of his wife, who charges him with assaulting her. He went home last night in an intoxicated condition, she says, and after beating and choking her, threatened to kill her. Taking the two children Mrs. Arbour fled for safety to a neighbor's. Mrs. Arbour bore on her neck a number of marks of violence. Arbour has been in the habit of abusing her, she says.

Surprised Mrs. Thomas.

A very pleasant surprise party was tendered to Mrs. Morris Thomas at her home on Seventeenth avenue east Friday afternoon, and a very enjoyable time was spent. Among those present were: Mrs. G. W. Boyden, Mrs. A. Fraser, Mrs. G. W. Gordon, Mrs. C. A. Peterson, Mrs. M. McMahon, Mrs. A. Borgan, Mrs. P. L. Barcomb, Mrs. J. B. Campbell, Mrs. J. Sargent, Mrs. Morris Thomas, Mrs. R. Haire, Miss Ester Ryan, Mrs. Katherine Fraser, Miss Annie Fraser, Miss Olive Woodland.

Has a Brother Here.

"Sandy" McLean, the Moorhead policeman, who was killed by a falling wall at a fire there last night, has a brother in Duluth, according to a dispatch received this morning by Chief Hansen from Chief of Police Murphy of that city. The police here were asked to look the brother up and notify him, but the latter's initials and place of residence were not given.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES.

Olympic Society Gives a Pleasing Program—A Senior Dinner.

The Olympic Literary society of the high school met in the Assembly hall Friday afternoon, and the following program was given:

Vocal solo ..........
Miss Mayme Bagley.
Recitation ..........
Miss Edna Cargill.
Reading ..........
Miss Mayme Bagley.
Vocal solo ..........
Miss Marion McMillan.

The second part of the program consisted of a mock initiation of a member of the Lamda Sigma fraternity. Rene Hugo was the unfortunate, and the actions he was forced to go through were productive of a great deal of merriment to those who witnessed it.

The senior class had a "spread" Tuesday evening.

Professor Loman called all the officers of the different school organizations before him this week and talked to them on "Purity in Athletics." He told them what the high school principals of the Northwest had agreed on for rules in athletics. No pupil will be allowed to enter into any of the athletic sports as a member of the school team if he be behind in any of his other school work. This will go a long ways in preventing professionalism in college athletics.

Cook Howard, the football team's coach, gave the boys a talk on football Thursday afternoon in the Assembly hall. Mr. Howard has recently returned from a visit in the East, and explained to the boys some new plays and formations he had seen worked out by some of the Eastern college teams. William Morrison was present at the meeting and gave a short talk on track athletics.

The senior class gave a "spread" at the High School on Tuesday evening, and it proved to be a very enjoyable affair. A delicious super was served in the kindergarten rooms at 6 o'clock. The tables were formed like a Teutonic cross and the menu cards were heart-shaped. Joe Van Baalen acted as toastmaster, and the following pupils wer called on and responded to toasts: Misses Bagley, White and Kennebrook, Messrs. Kelley and Skuse. After the supper Professor John Loman gave a talk to the class, and the rest of the evening was spent in music and games. The following contributed to the musical program: Mrs. John Loman, Miss Mayme Bagley and Miss May Black.

TALKS TO NEWSBOYS.

Evangelist Schiverea Tells the Little Fellows of His Early Life.

At 10:20 this morning Evangelist Schiverea spoke to The Herald newsboys at the Bethel. The boys did not form in line as usual at the office, but were told when getting their papers last night to go down. It was surprising how many of them did go, and they made a fine showing.

Mr. Schiverea spoke of his daily life and said he had been a newsboy when young and had done everything that boys would do, such as holding out money from their sales to go to some cheap play, throwing pennies at cracks for keeps, getting stuck on "extras" and working them off, etc., showing how the devil had hold of him when he was young and tried to explain to the boys how to keep from doing such things. He lived in the newsboys' home himself for some time.

M. S. Burrows Going East.

M. S. Burrows will leave tomorrow on his annual pilgrimage to the Eastern markets. Mr. Burrows is just closing the most successful sale in his history. His January and February business having been phenomenal he is hurrying East to secure for the Great Eastern the finest stock of clothing that will be shown in Minnesota this spring.

New Court Instituted.

Last Wednesday evening, at St. Clement's hall, Mrs. Elizabeth Rodgers, of Chicago, high chief ranger of the Woman's Catholic Order of Foresters, initiated a new court, with the following officers: Chief ranger, Mrs. D. P. McDonald; vice chief ranger, Mrs. J. Desljtts; recording secretary, Miss Jennie Crowley; financial secretary, Mrs. Jenks; treasurer, Mrs. W. H. Denny; S. C., Mrs. Kating; J. C., Mrs. Emerson; J. G., Mrs. J. Dunphy; O. G., Mrs. Walker; trustees, Mrs. T. Nolan, Mrs. Krimer, Mrs. R. King. The new court will be known as St. Georgeanna's Court No. 323.

To Have a Public Meeting.

Since last fall there have been no Sunday afternoon meetings held by the Scandinavian temperance committee, but the monthly business meeting has been held and a good interest manifested. The fact that different denominations and temperance societies are represented in the organization has in no way interfered with the work, and it has always been conducted in harmony and on conservative lines. The arrangements for the first Sunday afternoon meeting of the year are nearly completed and it is to take place Sunday, Feb. 26, at 3 p. m., at the Baptist church, on Nineteenth avenue west and First street. Efforts are being made to have this gathering both entertaining and pleasing, and this makes a profitable hour for those who attend. Rev. O. H. Wilson is to address the meeting. Music will be furnished by the North Star band. At the close of the address a debate will take place on an interesting subject.

WILL BE FOUGHT

Other County Officers Will Fight the Extension of Auditor's Term.

SHOULD BE GENERAL

No More Reason to Increase it Than Any Other Term.

The bill now before the legislature providing that the terms of the county auditors shall be increased from two years to four, which will result in giving the present officers two years more without the trouble and expense of an election, came up for discussion by a prominent county officer this morning, and he unburdened his mind upon it to this effect:

"The bill was prepared by the State Auditors' association, and it is going to be defeated unless it is made general, so as to make the terms of all county officers four years instead of two. There is no more reason why one officer should have four years than another. If the bill is made general it stands some chance of going through, but the other officers have organizations as well as the auditors, and they can pull strings that are just as long and will have just as much effect. The auditors' bill will be condemned as hoggish, and unless it is made general it will be doomed to defeat.

"The proper way in which to regulate the matter is to have the terms of each office fixed at four years, with a provision that after that they are not entitled to re-election. Then when an officer goes in he will not have to trim his sails to every political wind that blows, but can run his office for the best results, the same as he would run his private business. Under that system the public would get by far the best results, and it would be best for the officer as well, as it would give him more chance to conduct his office satisfactorily."

NEW NAMES APPEAR.

Dr. Routh and Others Bob Up In List of Candidates For Offices.

Dr. Routh has come to the front as a candidate for the health office, and Dr. Salter is said to be hovering in the background watching his chances. John Rossiter has been surveying the field, sizing up his chances for the secretaryship of the department.

Hugh Wakefield has blossomed out as as a candidate for sealer of weights and measures.

There are whisperings of candidates for C. W. Wilson's position on the board of public works, but Mr. Wilson's reappointment has all along been regarded as assured.

The Republicans have, it is believed, resolved to concentrate their efforts in an attempt to break into the city clerk's office, and to make no particular effort for the other offices. They hope by sowing discord in the fusion ranks to capture either the clerkship or assistant clerkship, and mayhap both, it is said. Work along this line has come to light, it is asserted, within the last few days.

A Handsome Painting.

There is on exhibition in J. W. Nelson's store, a fine painting by F. V. Luerzer, which the artist has just finished. It is a scene on Spring lake, on the Cloquet river. In the foreground is a magnificently antlered moose, which has come into the water for his morning drink, and behind him, at the water's edge are a cow moose and calf. The attitudes are strikingly life like. Behind is the forest, coming almost to the margin of the water and to the left is the lake's expanse, silvered by the level rays of the sun. In all its details, including the muskrat houses showing down at the left foreground the picture is approved by critics versed in wood lore as being absolutely true to nature.

Used the Whiskey Cure.

Thomas Martin was arraigned before Judge Edson this morning for drunkenness. Thomas acknowledged the corn, but laid it all to the grip. He had been taking quinine and whisky to shake off an attack of the disease, he said, and exhibited an empty quinine box to substantiate his statement as to his good intentions. He went up for ten days.

Dispute the Order.

The case of C. F. Leland, et al, vs. school district 28 to recover on an order for $60 issued to Miss Mae D. Geer for services as teacher, which was on trial in Judge Edson's court, was finished yesterday afternoon and taken under advisement. The principal point raised by the defense was that no written contract had been entered into. It was contended, also, that the trustees exceeded their authority in hiring Miss Geer as there was no money in the school fund.

There Is No Better Time—There Is No Better Place.

There is no better time to begin a commercial or stenographic course than Monday, Feb. 20, and no better place than the Duluth Business University. During the past three weeks thirteen graduates of this institution have secured good paying positions. Many equally good positions were offered that there were not graduates to fill.

No young man or woman who wishes to be self-supporting and independent can make a mistake by taking a course at this practical institution, as there is always a demand for its graduates. Monday, Feb. 20, will be an excellent date to begin, as classes will be organized for those who have already arranged to enter.

AT WEST DULUTH

Annie Anderson Complained Against as Being of Unsound Mind.

SHE MAKES TROUBLE

Neighbors Claim That She Is a Disturber—Schiverea to Talk.

Annie Anderson was arrested this morning on complaint of some of her neighbors, who believe she is insane. She was taken before Judge of Probate Middlecoff, who has set a hearing of her case for Monday morning at 10 o'clock.

Annie was arrested last fall on a similar charge, but after examination she was restored to liberty. It is alleged that she is a disturber in her neighborhood and is never happy unless in trouble. Her friends contend, however, that this is not a symptom peculiar to insanity, as many perfectly sane people have similar tendencies.

The outcome of Annie's examination will be watched with interest by many people, especially those who are compelled through force of circumstances to live in the same immediate neighborhood with her.

PEACH WAS CONVICTED.

Christ Peach, the man who was arrested Thursday in West Duluth for indecent exposure, was convicted yesterday afternoon in Judge Gearhart's court and sentenced to pay a fine of $100 and costs or go to jail for ninety days. He went up.

Sergt. Brigs stated that there have been one or two similar occurrences in West Duluth recently, and that Peach is suspected of being the offender. In one of the cases a school teacher was insulted.

PROCTORKNOTT ITEMS.

Mrs. Joseph Verrill, of Biwabik, is visiting her daughter, Mrs. H. F. McMartin.

E. F. Smith is recovering from his long siege of illness.

John McIntosh, whose ankle was run over by a car some time ago, believes he will regain the use of his foot, although the doctors wanted to amputate it at the time the accident occurred.

Nathan Page is ill of pleurisy.

The Modern Samaritan lodge here, which is in flourishing condition, recently purchased a piano for their hall.

John Gulbranson has thirty-five men and several teams working continually on his reservoir contract, which will be finished in about three weeks.

The Duluth, Missabe & Northern is building a new bridge on Main street across Kingsbury creek, making a convenient roadway to the passenger depot.

Mrs. P. F. Keating is visiting with relatives in Hibbing.

Mr. and Mrs. William Emsley are receiving a visit from their daughter, Mrs. William McFaum, of Sault Ste. Marie.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Rix entertained Miss Bessie Brown, of Biwabik, this week.

WEST DULUTH BRIEFS.

Miss Mamie Mark has returned home after a visit with friends in the Twin Cities.

Messrs. Armstrong and Gagnon have not yet started for their trip of inspection in Idaho and Washington, as they have been informed that this is a poor time of year to see the country, and have been advised to wait until March.

Kenneth McDonald will go to Lewiston, Idaho, next month to remain. Dr. Rockwell, formerly of West Duluth, resides there and is understood to be doing well.

At West Duluth for the morning service three churches will unite at the Presbyterian, where Evangelist Schiverea will speak at 10:30.

A children's fancy dress carnival is in progress at the Union rink this afternoon.

S. A. Jamieson will preach in the Presbyterian church of West Duluth Sunday evening at 7:30.

Rev. George Pickard will supply the M. E. church of West Duluth tomorrow evening.

The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Swers, of Sixty-second avenue west, died yesterday morning of cholera infantum, aged two months. The funeral will take place from the house this afternoon, if the father arrives home from the woods, where he is employed.

The Royal Neighbors had a splendid time at their basket social Wednesday evening.

E. Powers, of Illinois, is here visiting his daughter, Mrs. W. B. Hartley.

John Potter, a draughtsman, recently arrived here to accept a position with the Malleable Iron works.

At Plymouth Congregational church there will be no service because of the union meeting in the Presbyterian church, at 10:30 a. m., by Evangelist F. Schiverea. The Sunday school will meet as usual.

The union Christian Endeavor meeting will be in the Presbyterian church at 6:30 p. m.

There will be a meeting of the Woodmen at the Great Eastern hall at 2:15 tomorrow afternoon.

HE WORKS WONDERS!

Extremely Extraordinary Are the Cures Being Daily Performed By DR. MITCHELL.

Whose Marvelous Power in Healing the Sick Has Been a Source of Wonder and Astonishment to All.

His Great Success and the Rapidity of His Cures Are a Revelation to the Medical World.

His Parlors at 422 West First Street Daily Thronged with Patients From All Parts of the State.

The remarkable advancement of Dr. Mitchell in the science of magnetic healing continues to attract crowds of anxious and afflicted people. His wonderful success has spread like wildfire among those who had given up all hope of ever being well again and they are by hundreds availing themselves of this miraculous power and gift of healing which has proven to be the surest, quickest and most reliable means of cure ever offered a long-suffering public.

At his office may be seen the paralytic, the palsied, the consumptive, dyspeptic, among the deaf, blind and rheumatic, or those whose life is being daily sapped through youthful follies and indiscretions, unfortunates of nervous lingering torments of a debilitated and deranged constitution, the just and the unjust, there is no kind or variety of disease which is not cured by this magnetic healer. Every name, nature and condition of disease that all other physicians have given up as incuable seem but as play to him, for he is so strongly endowed by nature with such great magnetic power that he is able to break up congestions and cure most obstinate chronic diseases sometimes even with a single treatment.

His patients are numbered among all classes of people—the rich and poor; the educated and ignorant; the intelligent and refined people with the most profound reason have given up their prejudices, been convinced and are now profiting by what they have seen and know to be facts, having thoroughly realized the folly of waiting and suffering weeks, months and even years with diseases which could as well be cured in a few days. Reason and judgment in place of experiment and theory have taken the helm and guided them to the invincible power of magnetic healing which is the active principle of all life action and health-giving force.

Dr. Mitchell possesses most remarkable magnetic healing power and is performing every day the most astounding cures. Those cures are all made without the aid of instruments or medicine of any kind, and he is curing some of the most helpless and in every way the most stubborn cases known to medical men.

To see and to know positively that he is, of a verity, curing all manned of ailments with animal magnetism and that in the most incredibly short space of time is creating an exciting episode in this city; almost every train coming to Duluth brings some poor suffering afflicted man or woman to him, and to witness the delight of these people as they return to their homes renewed beings in the possession of new life, health and energy, is certainly the opportunity of a lifetime, and is profoundly appreciated and widely commended by an intelligent public.

Nothing more marvelous ever took place in the history of the healing art, than the following case:

Levi King, who was entirely blind in his right eye and vision was impaired in the other; who had consulted oculists and physicians and they all informed him he would never see. Dr. Mitchell gave him three treatments and restored his eyesight.

A lady who had consumption and rheumatism so she could not turn over in bed nights, was given up by physicians. She has gained twenty-five pounds under Dr. Mitchell's magnetic treatments.

A man who told me that he went to Dr. Mitchell a complete physical wreck, caused by stomach trouble, says Dr. Mitchell's magnetic healing power has restored him to his former good health and he recommends his treatments to all who are suffering.

A lady told one of Duluth's best physicians that she had suffered torture from complications of nervousness and heart trouble for fifteen years; spent hundreds of dollars; had given medicine and electricity a thorough trial without the slightest relief. Dr. Mitchell's treatment is the only thing that ever gave me relief. I take pleasure in recommending his magnetic treatments to all who may be needing such helps.

A young boy of 10 years, Dr. Mitchell treated five months ago, was going blind. Large ulcers would form on his eyes; he had a bad case of chronic catarrh. Dr. Mitchell's treatment seemed to take hold like magic. In six weeks' treatment, the boy's weight increased eight pounds. He is now enjoying good health and perfect eyesight.

These cures are all made without the aid of instruments or medicine of any kind.

Did any man ever do this before? Do you believe that hundreds of cures have been made more wonderful than this right here in Duluth? Will you call and have it proven to your own mind that they are true? Do you believe that by applying this magnetic vital force he is healing blind, curing the paralyzed and making the deaf hear?

Dr. Mitchell cures all forms of female complaints without exposure or the use of instruments. He also cures all nervous trouble, rheumatism, neuralgia, stomach trouble and in fact all diseases and deformities that flesh is heir to.

None who are suffering should fail to see this great healer. Take no man's word, but go yourself and witness this marvelous power that has brought health and happiness to thousands.

CHANCES TO MAKE MONEY

N. J. Upham Tells of the Opportunities In Cuba for Engaging in Enterprises Promising Large Profits.

Hardwood Timber Business Would Pay Well—Opening for a Manufacturers' Depot.

Havana, Feb. 6.—(Special Correspondence of The Herald.)—Think of doing business without the check system; of the actual transfer of money for each transaction, whether you buy a hat for $1, a house for $10,000, or a plantation for $100,000. Think of every wholesale merchant having to keep large amounts of bullion on hand to make his payments for merchandise, and having to collect coin for each sale he makes to the retail dealer. Consider the expense necessary to make these transfers of money, to guard against counterfeit coins, the danger of loss and robbery, etc. Yet this is Cuba's way of doing business. Nor is this all. This money is not deposited in banks, with strong vaults, but is kept by each merchant in old, out-of-date safes that any amateur burglar could open with ease.

I anticipate a big change in methods after a few visits are made by modern safe breakers and expert highwaymen. Good banks will then be in great demand, and there will be splendid opportunities for investment in this line of business. The North American Trust company, of New York, is the first American bank in the field, and it is doing a splendid business already. The Bank of Halifax, Can., is the second to enter the field.

There are a good many different kinds of money here: Spanish gold, silver and paper; French gold and American money. They all have a fluctuating value which is likely to change from day to day. Spanish and French gold has been given a fictitious value at a premium in order to keep it from being exported. This must gradually disappear. Spanish paper has an uncertain value, and is fast disappearing. The value of Spanish silver changes from day to day. American gold, silver and paper have the same value. As American money brings a premium in exchange for Spanish money, it is not in circulation generally. There are numerous exchange stands in the business part of the city for exchanging the various kinds of money. The money generally in use is the Spanish cen ten (gold piece), and the Spanish plata (silver). An American dollar, gold or silver, is worth $1.35 in Spanish silver. The bullion value of $1.35 Spanish silver is about 75 cents. Hence you see in the situation here arguments on both sides of the silver question—the disadvantage of a varying base of values on one side, and on the other the fact that a small country like Cuba makes 75 cents' worth of silver, bought and sold in the open market, equal to $1 in gold. Perhaps a larger commercial country might make a less amount worth $1 also.

Merchants generally live in the same buildings as their stores and offices, and they lodge and board their clerks. Most of them keep open weekdays, evenings and Sundays. The clerks get very low salaries, and have practically no recreation. The streets are narrow; the buildings are built close together, and there are no back yards or alleys. Sanitary conditions are bad, and the wonder is that the death rate is not much greater than it is. These conditions will change under American rule, and then Havana will be a healthy city.

The merchants of Havana have a selling price, and half a dozen asking prices. Americans are asked the top figure, as the impression seems to prevail that they are made of gold. In the largest stores they expect to be beaten down on each sale, and therefore size up the customer and make the asking price accordingly. If you are unfortunate enough not to know the value of what you are buying you are sure to be stuck.

Steamers coming into Havana harbor anchor out in the bay. Passengers are taken ashore in small sailboats, while freight and baggage are taken ashore on lighters. Freight ashore is loaded into large carts, each drawn by one small mule. The size of the loads in comparison with the mule is most astonishing.

One of Duluth's docks located in Havana harbor would net a fortune to the owner, while a railroad terminal system connecting wholesale houses with such a dock would reap a bonanza.

Bakers and the cafes do an immense business. No private families in the cities bake their own bread, and many of them have their meals sent in from the cafes and do no cooking in their own houses.

American flour mills are all making great efforts to get the flour trade of Cuba, which amounts to 800,000,000 pounds a year. Winter wheat flour has the best start here, as the large spring wheat mills have made no efforts until this year. The Pillsbury mills have just established an agency, and are making preparations for a big trade. The Duluth Imperial is looking into the situation, and will undoubtedly get its share of the trade. The Northwestern Miller has a representative here, getting information for that paper. I believe the spring wheat flours will eventually control the trade, as it is essentially a baker's flour, and is particularly adapted to Cuban bakers, who do not use yeast, but depend on natural fermentation, thereby requiring a very strong flour.

Good hotels would pay splendidly in Havana. All hotels here, poor, bad and indifferent are filled at big prices. Rents are very high. Apartment houses would be very profitable. When the new electric street car system is in operation there will be a chance to make money in developing real estate in the suburbs.

As I mentioned in a former letter, all kinds of truck and fruit farming is very profitable. Sugar and tobacco plantations have been famous for years for their large profits. I heard of a tobacco planter who last year leased a plantation of several hundred acres with an option of buying. He planted 110 acres in tobacco, and has just sold his crop for $50,000. He paid $35,000 out of this amount for the plantation, and has a balance of $15,000 out of one crop, after paying for the place. Of course this is exceptional, as tobacco is very high.

As Cuba has bought Spanish goods mainly heretofore, there is a good opening for American manufacturers. The Cubans will need most everything of a modern type. It is quite a problem as to the best way of handling the market. It is expensive for each manufacturer to send agents or drummers here. The latter are under a great disadvantage, as they cannot talk the language and are unfamiliar with the customs and dispositions of the merchants. Many will come and fail to get much business.

The past system has been for a few wealthy importers to buy the goods outright and sell to the merchants. The great flood of all kinds of new goods coming into the market is vastly beyond the capacity of the few rich importers to buy. Consequently they are holding out now for consignment accounts. This is likely to be unsatisfactory to Americans, because the proverbial "manana" so enters into the Spanish way of doing business that when their own money is not involved the goods are likely to lie on the shelves indefinitely.

It has seemed to me that a splendid opportunity is offered for a company with from $10,000 to $20,000 capital, under the management of a live American, to go into business here for the purpose of operating a depot for American manufacturers. That is, open a warehouse in Havana; receive goods of all kinds on consignment, giving first-class references or bonds for prompt remittance when goods are sold; using the capital for paying customs duties, which would then become a first lien on the goods. Such a company would handle an enormous quantity of all kinds of merchandise without having its capital tied up. It could build up an enormous trade direct with the retailers in Havana, and through selected Spanish agents could sell through the whole island. Business here is on a cash basis, so there is little risk of loss from bad accounts. Such a company would not have its own money in any of the stock, and it would be equally interested in pushing all the goods. It would be run by Americans, known to the manufacturers, and would have American ingenuity and push behind it. American manufacturers, after trying to operate direct or through Spanish houses, would, I believe, be quick to take advantage of an opportunity to operate through such a company. From the volume of business that could be done by such a company the profits would be very large.

I have been investigating the hardwood timber opportunities of the island, and believe, if a man can control the necessary financial backing he can make a fortune for himself and his backers in a very short time. It appears to me to be the surest, biggest thing here. In the eastern portions of the island are enormous bodies of virgin timber; mahogany that will at the butt often square into 4-foot timbers; trees seventy-five feet high; rosewood and cedar also abound; eucalyptas wood (used instead of pine) is plentiful, while ebony and logwood are sprinkled among the other trees. Rosewood and mahogany grow in the richest soil of the island, on generally level, rather high land. When the land is cleared it makes the most productive plantations. This timber is not far from the coast, as an American considers distance in handling timber. I have one property offered me on a good harbor. The lands are owned in large tracts. An acquaintance of mine has just bought 46,000 acres, averaging 9000 feet of timber to the acre, at a little under $1.50 per acre. When you consider that this is the most valuable timber in the world, and that when you have cut it you have the richest land in the world for sugar and tobacco and fruits, you can see what there is in it. I have gotten estimates of the cost of logging, wages, taxes, milling, etc., and there is no question about the margin of profit. It is enormous. Of course, if a man goes into this industry, he exiles himself from civilization for a time, but the results will recompense him. The portions of the island containing these timber tracts are entirely undeveloped. When developed and settled they will be the richest portions of the island, and will be of a modern character.

I have gone into details of some of the business openings, because I know there are many people in Duluth desirous of knowing something of the actual conditions in Cuba. Of course there are many other lines I have not touched upon. Should anyone want any special information I will be glad to give it if I can. I have written entirely from my own point of observation and give my personal opinions on lines that attracted me most. Should I decide to go into business permanently in Cuba and could command sufficient financial backing, I would go into the hardwood timber business. If I could not command the necessary capital for that, my second choice would be such a manufacturers' depot or agency as I have described.

Other people would perhaps prefer other things. There are some good chances to rehabilitate plantations that have been ruined by the war and grown up with weeds, whose owners have not the means necessary to do it themselves. I have met a young Cuban who has a sugar plantation in this condition. I have also met a Cuban widow who has a very large plantation of cocoa, bananas and cocoanuts. This place with a little money, probably $2000, could be made to pay handsome dividends again. Both of these parties would make liberal terms for restoring their plantations. There are doubtless many such opportunities, as the ruin during the last three years has been broadcast. A knowledge of the Spanish language is very essential for anyone doing business here. Yours very truly,

N. J. UPHAM.

THE CZAR SINCERE.

That Is the Opinion of Mr. E. A. Hitchcock.

New York, Feb. 18.—Ethan Allen Hitchcock, the retiring American ambassador to Russia, recently appointed by President McKinley United States secretary of the interior, arrived yesterday from abroad on the steamship Teutonic.

Asked for some information concerning the czar's peace proposition he said: "He is perfectly sincere and in the calling of the conference has taken the first step towards the abolishment of militarism. He, of course, does not make any requests for disarmament at present, but when the conference meets it is the most likely thing in the world that the one who called the meeting will be asked what he proposed to do. Then suggestions will be in order and, of course, the plan will be thoroughly discussed and perhaps counter suggestions will be made. In this way a scheme will be discussed and I have great confidence that much good in the direction of a permanent peace between the nations will be reached. The calling of the conference is the first move in that direction."

Secretary Hitchcock will assume his new duties immediately on reaching Washington.

TREND OF TRADE.

Business Is Expanding and Is Much Larger In Many Branches.

New York, Feb. 18.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says:

Beyond question business is expanding and in many branches it is larger, notwithstanding speculative combinations which tend to reduce it. All monopolies, or attempted monopolies, stimulate business while they are coming, but tend to stifle it after they come, and the throng of combinations and trusts which have been formed or proposed have given temporary but very questionable impetus to trade. But beyond the influence of these there is a genuine and substantial enlargement of business due to the exampled prosperity of a growing population.

The week's output of pig iron Feb. 1 was 237,639 tons, against 243,516 tons on Jan. 1, and 235,528 tons in December. The average weekly production thus indicated was about 1000 tons greater in January than in December and the unsold stocks were reduced 43,671 tons in January against 37,449 in December, so that the apparent consumption in manufacture was in January 1,110,079 tons, against 1,098,176 in December. The stoppage of several furnaces for necessary repairs at a time when the demand is most pressing has caused some fear of famine, although quite a number of other furnaces have started since Feb. 1, or are about to start. Pig iron has advanced, but the largest consumption ever recorded in any month is part due to the hasty purchases of products about to be controlled or advanced in price by a combination. There are so many of these in the iron and steel industry that the present market does not clearly indicate the magnitude of demand and disappointment in some branches is not improbable. But the rise of $1 in steel rails, with the entire capacity of all works engaged until after July 1, is not unnatural, nor the strength in plates, for which the legitimate demand is beyond all precedent, and the same is true of bars, the quantity required for cars, railway and agricultural implement works being enormous. In pipe the association lifted prices 5 per cent with a very heavy order from Indiana gas works as does the expected comination in sheets.

Bradstreet's says: Satisfactory reports of a resumption of spring distribution come from the West induced by a considerable rise in temperature and a good volume of business is reported in the East and in the middle states, as a result of the receipt of delayed mail orders, though transportation is still interfered with. Receipts of live stock have been checked at Western centers, but estimates of losses of cattle do not much exceed 15 per cent, ranging downward to as low as 5 per cent and this only in the case of cattle on the ranges.

Among the industries iron and steel are still extremely active and further advances are reported, shared in by sympathetic gains in copper and spelter. Consumers of pig iron, who delayed covering their wants, are reported anxious regarding supplies of materials. A regrettable feature, from one point of view, is the reported growing indifference on the part of American producers towards export demand, though excuse for this is found in the fact that domestic demand is sufficient to keep them fully employed. Shipbuilding is likely to be very active, and reflection of this demand is found in the urgent inquiry for steel plates at a number of centers. While the demand for and movement of lumber has been interfered with, the strength of price is unimpaired.

Business failures show a decrease, numbering only 160 for the week against 193 last week, 269 in this week a year ago, 325 in 1897, 276 in 1896 and 327 in 1895. Failures in the Dominion of Canada for the week number only twenty agains thirty-eight a week ago, thirty-eight in 1898, fifty-eight in 1896, and thirty-eight in 1895.

KLONDIKE OUTPUT.

Vancouver, B. C., Feb. 18.—M. Marks, an Australian expert direct from Dawson, places the output of the Klondike at $19,000,000 this year. His estimate is as follows: Eldorado and Bonanza creeks, $5,000,000; Big and Little Bonanza, Gold and French creeks, $5,000,000; Dominion, $4,000,000; Hunker and Quartz creeks, $5,000,000.

NEW MEMBER OF PARLIAMENT.

Londonderry, Feb. 18.—At the election in this city for a member of parliament to succeed Edmund E. F. Knox, anti-Parnellite, who resigned his seat, count Arthur Moore, Nationalist, was elected over E. Herdman, Unionist, by a majority of 41. At the last election Mr. Knox had a majority of 79 over J. Ross, his Conservative opponent.

STEALING TRAINS

Two Cases of This Peculiar Crime Found In Records Here.

THE CIRCUMSTANCES

Occurred In Paul Sharvy's Term as Sheriff and He Explains Them.

Theft is a common enough thing, but usually the articles stolen are such as are easy to handle. Sometimes such things as loads of hay are carried away, and heavier things than that are not uncommonly subject to the efforts of those who have confused ideas as to the rights of owners. Railroad trains, however, are not common objects of theft, though twice in the history of this county railroad trains have been stolen. Last week, in the course of an article on the sums of money left in district court and never called for, The Herald incidentally mentioned a case where a passenger train was stolen. This incident happened not very long ago, in 1892, but there are probably some who have never heard of it. Paul Sharvy, in whose service as sheriff both of the train stealing episodes occurred, told The Herald the other day about both of them.

"The last incident occurred in the case of J. J. Moran against the Eastern Minnesota railway, in which the plaintiff got a large judgment in district court for personal injuries. The company did not pay the judgment immediately, so an execution was issued and a levy made on the road. First some office furniture was taken, but that did not nearly satisfy the judgment, which was for something more than $12,000. Then I resolved to seize a railroad train. I levied on a passenger train that was made up and ready to go out. I chained the cars to the rails, and stationed a man with a gun near the train as a warning to any of the railroad people not to get mixed up with it. None of them did, and the Eastern had to borrow a train from the St. Paul & Duluth to make its regular run.

"The theft came in later. Judge Spencer, who was attorney for the road, applied in St. Paul to Judge Otis for a replevin, and then came to me and said he had secured it. On his statement I released the train. It seems, however, that he did not get his order until two days afterward. On this showing he was indicted by the grand jury for grand larceny, and the bill charged him with stealing the train. The case never amounted to anything, however.

"The other case was one against the car works at West Duluth. An execution on a judgment against the company was placed in my hands, and I levied on twenty cars that had just been turned out of the shops. I placed two men to watch the cars, for I had an idea that an attempt might be made to get them. The night man was a good one, but the day man nearly got me into trouble. I had been asked to do something for him, as he had a family and was in hard luck, so I swore him in and set him to watch the train. I had heard that he was somewhat addicted to the cup that inebriates, so I went down to see how he was getting along. I found him playing seven-up in a saloon.

"'Honest to God, Mr. Sharvy,' he said when I called him out, 'I had just gone in, and it was the first time I had been in there.'

"I told him to let it be the last time, and I thought I had him scared so that he would keep steady after that. Next day I was in my office when someone telephoned in that an engine was being attached to the cars. I called Harry Armstrong, who was my under sheriff, and we jumped into a buggy I always had ready and started off. When we got there there wasn't a sign of my deputy or the train. I took the Omaha road and Harry took the St. Paul & Duluth, and we started off to find those cars. Harry found them at Carlton, and we had quite a time getting them. Finally I said that if the cars were not given up I would arrest every man in the yards and the engine was attached to the train and we came back to Duluth.

"I found my deputy pacing up and down the track where the cars had been. He was very much alarmed, and began immediately to explain himself. He said he had not been feeling very well that day, and he went into the office of the car works to sit by the stove a minute. Then he dozed off, just for a minute, he said, and when he opened his eyes the train was gone. He did not have the remotest idea where the train was. I found out afterwards that he had been playing cards in the same saloon while the train was moved away."

TAKES BACK THE LAND.

British Columbia Will Reclaim Railroad Subsidies Not Earned.

Victoria, B. C., Feb. 18.—A bill has been introduced in parliament withdrawing railway subsidies which have not been earned, as follows: Crow's Nest & Kootenai railway, 20,000 acres land per mile; Okanogan & Kootenai railway, 20,000 acres land per mile; Canadian Pacific railway in respect to its Farwell (Revelstoke) branch to western terminus of the Crow's Nest, 20,000 acres land per mile; Canadian Western Central (British) railway, 20,000 acres land per mile.

PROMPTED BY JEALOUSY.

Andrew Nelson Shoots and Kills His Cousin's Husband.

Chicago, Feb. 18.—While asleep in his home at 1823 North Clark street, John Sundstrom, a shoemaker, was shot and killed by Andrew Nelson, a boarder at the house. Nelson, who is a cousin of Sundstrom's wife, entered the sleeping room of the couple shortly before midnight. The entire Sundstrom family, including two children, were sleeping in the room. Without any warning Nelson fired three bullets into Sundstrom, killing him instantly. When the family retired at 9 o'clock Nelson was not in the house.

Mrs. Sundstrom awoke in time to see the last two shots fired at her husband. Her two little children also saw their father killed.

After killing Sundstrom, Nelson danced about the room, shouting like a maniac. He was finally overpowered by persons attracted by the shooting and taken to the police station. Jealousy is said to have prompted the crime.

WAS PYOTT DECEIVED?

Claims He Married a Servant Who Fooled Him.

Chicago, Feb. 18.—A separate maintenance suit by Mrs. Jennette C. Pyott against James C. Pyott today developed curious details. In a cross bill filled the defendant claims that Mrs. Pyott is not a fit person to be his wife; that she had been a domestic servant in Scotland before coming to America. On the other hand, Mrs. Pyott, who is 50 years old, makes affidavit that she is a lineal descendant of the lord of Glasgow and a near relative to other notables, including the Clarks, the thread manufacturers of Glasgow. Pyott, who is 72 years old, was married to Mrs. Pyott at Sedley, Ind., Oct. 20, 1898. Mrs. Pyott's maiden name was Jenette C. Orr.

END WITH SEASON.

Dead and Down Timber Operations to Cease With Present Winter.

Washington, Feb. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Leech Lake Indians called on Land Commissioner Hermann yesterday afternoon to secure information as to the dead and down timber operations. One faction wanted these operations discontinued at once, while the other faction wanted to indorse the present system and regulations. All want the timber estimating stopped. The commissioner told them he would do all in his power to protect their interests. He said he would be glad to to receive complaints and advised the Indians to seek out a number of the dead and down timber force and show where green timber is being cut, if such things were being done. He told the Indians that the estimating will probably be concluded during the next fiscal year, and that the dead and down operations will close with this lumber season.

LAKE SUPERIOR ORES.

Few Furnacemen Are Still Looking For Non-Bessemers.

Cleveland, Feb. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—The chief feature of the Lake Superior ore market in this mid-February week is that there is no market. It will be substantially twelve months, something less, perhaps, before iron ore sales come to be again a matter of live interest to the trade. The search after non-Bessemer ores is still prosecuted by a few furnacemen, who have underestimated the buying movement, and in some instances the question of the source of the next year's mixture has not been satisfactorily solved. In Bessemer ores the condition is not so completely shut up, but it is probable that difficulty would be experienced in getting a 50,000-ton lot.

If the regime of alternating feast and famine were still on, in the iron trade, there might be some expectation that furnacemen who have made liberal estimates of their requirements and bought accordingly, would have ore to sell later in the year. Such re-sales have been known in years of bright early prospects that later had their reactions. If they should come this year they will not affect the ore trade, but only help out such furnacemen—and there are some—as have not yet provided for a year's run. The report of the sale of the Franklin mine to the American Steel and Wire company is incorrect. The mine has been under option twice recently, but to other parties, and its destination, we are advised, is not yet settled.

NEW NAVAL CADETS.

Washington, Reb. 18.—A bill passed the house yesterday authorizing the president to appoint five additional cadets at large to the Naval academy. During the course of the brief debate upon the bill it developed that one of these cadetships was to go to a son of Capt. Gridley, who commanded Admiral Dewey's flagship at the battle of Manilla, and another to a brother of Ensign Worth Bagley, of North Carolina, the hero of the torpedo boat Winslow's encounter with the masked batteries in Cardenas harbor, Cuba.

AGREED ON A CAUCUS.

Lincoln, Neb. Feb. 18.—Fifty-four of the seventy-five Republican members of the legislature have signed an agreement to go into a caucus to nominate a senator. It requires sixty-seven votes to elect, and it is believed that number will sign the agreement. The prediction is made that the coming week will see the beginning of the end of the struggle.

BRADY ASKS DELAY.

San Francisco, Feb. 18.—W. A. Brady, who has charge of the interests of Jeffries, the California heavy-weight matched to fight Fitzsimmons, requests Martin Julian, manager for the champion, to agree to an extension of the time of offering purses from Feb. 24 to March 5. Mr. Brady, who is now in this city, makes this request in order that he may be East when a settlement is made with the club offering the best terms for the contest.

WATER FOR DAWSON.

Los Angeles, Feb. 18.—J. A. Acklen, of this city, has been granted the privilege of maintaining a waterworks at Dawson City by the Canadian government.

IN THE SAME GRAVE.

Metropolis, Feb. 18.—Robert Coole and wife, two old residents of this town, were buried today in the same grave. Coole was a cousin of Frank and Jesse James and the Younger brothers. They visited him here several times under assumed names.

NO DESTITUTION.

San Francisco, Feb. 18.—The British ship Gen. Roberts, which has arrived from Australia, stopped at Pitcairn island and instead of finding the great destitution reported several months ago as prevailing on the island, the Roberts found the inhabitants well supplied with the necessaries of life.

THE PIPE COMBINE.

Cincinnati, Feb. 18.—Authoritative news was received here today that the cast iron pipe combine has been formed under the title of "The United States Iron Foundry company." The Addison Pipe and Steel company, of this city, which was reported as holding the deal, has signed the compact. It receives $750,000 cash and $750,000 preferred stock.

ANOTHER CAUSE OF DEATH.

Paris, Feb. 18.—The official certificate set forth that the death of President Faure was caused by "congestion and hemorrhage of the brain."

JONES ON THE OUTLOOK

Chairman of the Democratic National Committee Talks on the Political Situation.

CERTAIN OF VICTORY IN 1900

The Senator Says That the Issues Will Be the Same as In 1896.

Deductions Drawn From the Results of the Elections of Last Year---Against Shuffling and Evasion.

Washington, Feb. 18.—Senator James K. Jones chairman of the Democratic national committee in an authorized interview today was asked if in his opinion the Democratic national convention of next year would reaffirm the Chicago platform. He said:

"To say that the next Democratic national convention will reaffirm the position taken by the convention in 1896 is to assert what every candid man, even slightly familiar with existing facts, knows to be true. It is as certain as anything human can be that the question of bimetallism will be the leading issue in the campaign next year. And it is reasonable to expect that the majority of the people will next time declare for the party which means what it says and will redeem its pledges, and that they will not again be tricked into casting their votes in favor of the enemies of the principles in which they believe."

"On what grounds do you base your hopes for success next year?" was asked.

"Some of the reasons why I am strongly hopeful of the future of our cause are as follows: In the campaign of 1896 both parties declared for bimetallism; the Democrats for independent action by the United States, the Republicans for an international agreement, which they pledged themselves 'to promote.'

"True, this declaration on the part of the Republicans was only made to catch votes, and because the party leaders did not dare to go to the polls without it. I think that now no one any longer doubts that the fixed purpose of those who controlled these leaders was to maintain the gold standard, and to prevent, not promote, an international agreement. The declaration, however, served its purpose, and vast numbers of sincere bimetallists were persuaded to vote the Republican ticket, in the belief that they were voting for an honest effort to secure international bimetallism. The leaders who were responsible for this trick have already committed their party to the single gold standard, so far as they can, and if they dare speak out honestly in their next national platform it will declare for the single gold standard."

On being asked if he believed that the cause of bimetallism was improving he said:

"There are as many believers in bimetallism today in the United States as there ever were, and all these doubtless are now convinced that the only way to accomplish bimetallism is through the action of the Democratic party. The great effort to stop the fall of prices—the shrinking of values—and to relieve the distress of business resulting from these great evils, without doing injustice or injury to any class or business, is being more and more understood, and commands the respect of honest and fair men always when understood, and another campaign of ridicule and abuse, such as that of 1896—whether dictated by ignorance or venality—cannot succeed against temperate arguments and appeals for simple justice, when the people have time to fairly weigh the arguments and form a deliberate judgment.

"There was great unrest and dissatisfaction in 1896 throughout the country, resulting from falling prices and shrinking values. The Republican party promised that if they were entrusted with power all this would be changed, and that prosperity should succeed existing conditions. Mr. McKinley and the gold press now assure the country that we have prosperity. There is quite a boom in stock speculations in Wall street, but Wall street is not the country, as we believe. A great famine and a short crop of wheat all over the world, except in the United States naturally raised the price of wheat while these conditions lasted, and the beneficent effects of this increase in the price of wheat is still widely felt. The beneficial effects of this temporary advance in the price of a single article, which was so marked in the short period it continued, is likely to stimulate a desire for a return to that condition permanently and an extension of it to all other products. This is our purpose and was our purpose in 1896, when the Republican party denounced any effort to increase prices as a crime."

Asked how he accounted for the activity in business, he answered:

"There has been necessarily an increased demand for labor within the last few months, as the result of the withdrawal of large numbers of American citizens from the ordinary walks of life to be employed in the army, whose places had to be filled. There has also been an increased activity in and a demand for all products which were necessary to the maintenance and support of a large army. But all these conditions are in the very nature of things temporary, and all of us know that they must pass away with the end of the conditions which brought them into life. Making due allowance for the influence of these three causes on the present condition of the country, there is today as much dissatisfaction and as much cause for it as there was in 1896. No relief was or is to be expected under Republican management, except such as comes by famine abroad and war at home. A condition of constantly falling general prices is everywhere recognized as a condition of distress and hard times, and speculation excitement in Wall street does not change this. We believe that a small volume of money forces prices down, hence we have urged the coinage of our silver as well as of our gold—not only to check this grinding fall in prices, but to promote steadily advancing prices."

"Then you think that the Chicago platform is gaining ground?"

"I most certainly do. In the elections of last year the principles of that platform were not the leading and exclusive issues in all sections of the country. These were partially obscured in many states and districts. The question of bimetallism, the Republican effort to retire the greenbacks and to confer upon the national banks the absolute control of the volume of paper money, and to surrender the country to the trusts, were, in many sections, for the time being lost sight of in the excitement of the war and its resulting questions; and in others they were sidetracked by efforts to substitute local issues in their stead. The result was a great loss of interest and a large falling off in the vote, with apparently unfavorable results to the Democratic party. In Colorado, where national issues were at the front and dominant, the interest in the election was intense, the vote larger and our majority overwhelming. In states where it was stated, whether truly or not, that there was an intention on the part of the Democratic managers to sidetrack the great issue, with the purpose of ultimately bringing the party in national convention back to the practice of shuffling and evasion, so long persisted in by both political parties, and still kept up by the Republicans, the interest was not great, the vote was not full and the results were not conclusive. There was, however, one great and valuable result—all reasonable men are now satisfied that straddling and dodging are not popular. The next Democratic national convention will speak out again in the clear, unequivocal terms, and in the same manner and in the same lines that it did in 1896. Of this there is no doubt, the assertions of the Republican gold press, with whom the wish is father to the thought, to the contrary notwithstanding."

AS TO NATURALIZATION.

Judge Dick of Wisconsin Makes an Important Ruling.

Beaver Dam, Wis., Feb. 18.—Judge Dick of the Thirteenth judicial district has just made a ruling affecting aliens in taking out final naturalization papers, which if upheld, is of great importance. Judge Dick rules that the oath must be taken before the court when no other business is before it, and that the admission to citizenship must be by an order of the court based on findings of fact by the court and these findings and order must be in record of each naturalization of aliens. It has been the rule in many courts to administer the oath of allegiance while other business is before the court. This, according to Judge Dick's ruling, is irregular or illegal and may affect many thousands of cases already acted upon.

WRITING PAPER COMBINE.

Appleton, Wis., Feb. 18.—John A. Shibley, representing the promoters of the writing paper combine, which is being organized through a New York firm of brokers, has been successful in enlisting three of the four mills in the West, all of them in the Fox River valley.

CLINGING SKIRTS ARE IN VOGUE

Padded Hips Are Now Required By the Paris Ideal of Beauty In Figure.

Princess Gown In Great Demand.

Wool Materials For Spring Gowns.

A dead calm seems to have settled down on the sea of fashion, interrupted by nothing save stray rumors and vague speculations of things to come. One distinguishing feature of the season which promises to have an extended stay is the eelskin skirt, fitting hips more closely than ever before, says the New York Sun. This is certainly an era of dress when delicate slenderness of figure counts for much if you care to represent the essential qualities of fashion. Dressmakers have been tried beyond precedent with exacting petitions from customers to give an appearance of slenderness where none existed, and they cannot hope for any relief during the coming season. They are requested not only to make the avoirdupois of the customer disappear mysteriously at will, but also to round out the figure in perfect proportion. Surely the paths of the modern dressmakers are not strewn with roses.

Foreign fashion budgets tell us that padded hips are the vogue in Paris, where the ideal beauty in figure, just at the moment, is one with very broad hips quite out of proportion to the size of the waist. The pads are daintily covered with silk, and either attached to the corsets or the skirt lining. Evening gowns are already made as tight as possible about the hips and continue to add length in proportion to the diminishing width at the top. These clinging skirts may prove a blessing later when the warm weather comes, as the tendency is to wear less and less underneath them, so that the wearer may have every chance for a slender, fragile appearance. Surely the woman with a perfect figure has more reasons for gratitude than ever before.

The latest polonaise is magnified into a double skirt which reaches almost to the hem of the skirt, but it fits so closely above the knee and falls so gracefully into the folds of the skirt underneath that it does not take away from the height or add to the appearance of size. For the perfect figure and the skilled dressmaker the genuine princess gown is in great demand, especially in the dressy materials, which is an interesting item of fashion, as American women are rarely ready to adopt a mode until after its success has been fully established in Paris. The new glossy crepes de chine, satins and velvets are cut into princess form and so are the diaphanous materials lined with silk. A princess evening gown of satin in the pretty pinkish tinge of a seashell is one of the new models, and is made to open narrowly down the front over a tablier of plaited white mousseline de soie lined in stripes with silver paillettes. A ruche of mousseline lines the entire skirt around the edge, and an embroidery of applique pink, velvet and lace, with sequins, adorns the front of the bodice and decorates either side.

Crepe de chine in any of the pale shades made with a tunic overdress, edged with a ruching of lace or mousseline de soie, makes a charming evening gown, which can be utilized as an dinner dress by adding the lace guimpe and sleeves. The skirt for this sort of dress has a wide circular flounce finished, like the tunic, with a ruche.

Tunics and polonaises promise to be a feature of modes in muslin gowns for the coming season, some of the advance models being variously shaped at the bottom of the overdress in scallops or deep points trimmed with lace. A long lines five or six inches apart all around closely stitched in from the waist to the knee, where the fullness flares over a wide plaited flounce, is one of the new models in foulard silk, and still another in dimity is very prettily made with groups of fine small tucks in vertical lines five or six inches apart al around the upper part of the skirt. The lower part is a deep, partially circular flounce, the tucked part having the appearance of an overdress falling over this in deep points, edged with wide lace insertion. The bodice is tucked and trimmed with the lace arranged in a pointed yoke.

The new muslins show many floral designs, Dresden patterns and dainty rosebuds scattered over the surface. Roses in all sizes and colors, with pink in the lead, blossom out in great profusion on the new wash materials, which have a fresh beauty this season in the glossy finish which gives them the appearance of silk. Linens and ducks are to be very much worn, white being trimmed with a pointed or scalloped applique design of colored linen stitched in, the white lapping over the edges.

Pale blue and cream silk muslins prettily dotted with full blown pink roses will make the daintiest kind of summer dresses, and many of the cotton muslins, quite as pretty in effect, have dots and spots of black mixed in with the flowered pattern. Striped muslins, with cords in the stripes, and white batistes with colored stripes are all very pretty, especially the latter, which are more like the old pineapple cloth than anything else. A new fabric is a matelasse in fine checks, and then there are all the old-time shot and plaid ginghams and embroidered Swiss muslins in new designs.

Floral designs adorn the nun's veilings and bareges, which sometimes have cross lines of satin stripes forming checks as a foundation. The new bareges are extremely attractive, being dainty, sheer and silky in finish. The patterns are varied in coloring and design, but one which is quite new and very effective is in groups of shaded rings filled in between groups with scroll lines. This is brought out in a variety of colors.

Wash fabrics of all kinds show prettier and daintier designs than last season, and, while the colors are bright and decided, with every shade of pink conspicuously in the foreground, they are soft and pleasing to look upon. Black and white cominations in all the thin goods as yet displayed are a charming improvement on all the old designs. For those who make up their muslin gowns in midwinter it may be useful to know that taffeta silk in any chosen color is to be employed as a finish for belt, collar and bows. The silk is cut bias, finely tucked or plaited, and simply hemed on the edges for the collar and belt, while for the bows it is folded double, an inch in width, stitched twice on each edge and formed into two or four short loops, as you like, being finished with a rhinestone button or ornament in the center. Velvet may be used for these little bows, but it is not so cool in act for the collar and belt, so the silk is preferable.

In wool materials for spring gowns the plain stuffs have the preference, and there is a new Venetian cloth, very light in weight, which resembles the faced cloths so much worn. Glossy finished cashmeres will be in good style when warmer weather comes, and lightweight Henriettas are recommended for spring gowns. There are the prettiest fawn shades among the new cloths, the most tempting tones of gray, a bright Napoleon blue and some serviceable shades of brown which will be popular for our new gowns.

It is the coat and skirt costume that is the one indispensable gown in our wardrobes, and consequently the first to present itself at the beginning of each season. The coat tail, which has been struggling for place all winter, seems likely to disappear altogether, as the new spring models show a very short jaunty coat. A rounded tab effect in front is good style, and at the back, which is a little shorter than the front, each division rounds down into a scallop. All the new coats fit very closely around the hips, and elaborate stitching is the prevailing finish. Strappings of cloth are also used, as well as pipings of velvet around the edge and inserted bands of velvet on the revers. Some new coats shown are decorated on the revers with braiding and applique embroidery. Black and white mixed braid is used on a black cloth smartly strapped, and the vest is of bright red cloth. A delicate fawn color, so light that it is almost white, is the coat of another costume made with a plain skirt, and the revers have an applique of blue velvet. Mauve cloth is another coloring, with an applique of mauve velvet edged with gold and mauve cord. Green velvet forms the collar and revers on a black cloth, both edged with a band of white cloth.

A black cloth tailor costume shows a trimming of silver and black braid and small steel buttons. A purple Venetian cloth, with a natty coat, has strappings of cloth on the skirt and coat and crystal buttons for a finish. Fawn cloth, piped with brown velvet and trimmed with bands of cloth rising from the side gore to the centre of the back, is another stylish costume.

The rumor that gowns all of one material are to be the thing approved of fashion in the spring has come around once more, but the simple tucked silk shirt is a necessary part of the coat and skirt costume and not at all likely to vanish before the end of another season at least. A jaunty little coat model for silk or cloth, to wear with a checked wool or silk skirt, is trimmed with bands of black satin, black and white velvet ribbon being used effectively to edge the collar and jabot of lace and mousseline be soie.

A silk waist of bayadere striped silk shows a deep yoke of fine tucks. The plain soft corded silks are especially desirable for silk shirts, as the tucks are more effective than in striped or figured silk. A green silk blouse tucked all around has a yoke of cream lace over white satin, with a band of black and gold galoon around the edge. Mauve glace forms another blouse, elaborately tucked, finished with a fichu collar of tucked muslin and lace, and a waistcoat of white silk spotted with mauve.

A pretty new dress model for spring is carried out in black crepe de chine, trimmed with heavy twine-colored lace insertion edged with thick black chenille. The bodice and tunic are tucked, and the waistband and chemisette are of tucked cream chiffon striped over with chenille. A gray crepe de chine trimmed with gray chiffon ruches has a yoke of yellow satin embroidered with gray chenille and motifs of cream lace, which decorate the bertha collar of gray; the material is cut out underneath.

A model in green cloth shows an embroidery in ecru and gold over a paler shade of green silk, and a yoke and collar of the silk veiled in ecru lace and tiny puffings of crepe de chine.

Trifles in neck decoration, cravats and bows of all sorts and kinds have assumed an importance in numbers, to say the least. Judging by the vast area of neckwear displayed in the shops, it would seem that every woman in America was supposed to wear some sort of cravat. There are neck bands of white panne and satin, corded and tucked, completed with a chiffon or lace bow, and neck bands of colored panne and white satin combined, the panne forming the upper half of the collar, pointing up behind the ears, and with no bows at all. Lace ties of point d'Alencon, frilled and gathered, are attached to satin bands, and the sailor knot is more popular than the large bow. Sailor ties of soft satin, edged with silk fringe, are very stylish; and still more dainty are the lace ties, with silk fringe on the ends. The feature of all the transparent knots is to have the edges made distinctive by some finish, like a tiny ruching of chiffon, or frilled ribbon, or lace. A plain silk shirt waist can be quite dressed up by a collar of corded white satin, with a corded box plait decorated with crystal buttons attached to the front. Plain white or black satin stocks, with folded inch-wide ends beginning at the upper edge in the back and carried down in front, where they cross, are very useful for morning wear, using a pretty round brooch for a fastening.

Crystal lockets incrusted with small diamonds, gold purses outlined with a fringe of pearls, enamelled pins and pendants in the form of weird dragons and serpents and buttonhole watches of gun metal are among the novelties in Parisian jewelry shops.

Tucks have held their own as a means of decoration, and will be revived with a flourish on our new summer gowns.

Material for blouses that will wash, put up in proper lengths in a box like robe dresses, is one of the novelties. White and tinted muslins tucked in groups alternated with lace insertion all ready to make up are a very pretty variety.

Netted fringes have come around again with the regularity of all things in fashion which repeat themselves. They are used for sash ends for mantles and gowns, and particularly pretty are the netted insertions set in above the hem of a cashmere overdress, either one or two rows, as you fancy, and fully two inches wide. It is a very simple matter to learn to net, so these fashionable trimmings can be easily made by amateurs in the fringe business.

Brocaded gowns, pointed bodices, powder, rouge and three-cornered hats —in fact all the fashions of the time of Louis XV—are prophesied for the near future. The hats are here already, and the close fitting pointed bodice is promised for the coming summer.

Oriental designs and colors appear in some of the new materials in all silk and silk and wool.

Military cycling gowns are one of the fancies in Paris. The skirt and coat are of dark blue cloth, trimmed with narrow gold braid. The jacket has a piping and facing of red, and the whole is crowned by a dashing military cap.

Some of the latest bodice models are finished at the waist with a cord or a tiny line of jet, which looks as if the days of the belt were numbered.

Chenille, bayadere stripes, dots and broken lines are introduced on silk and thin wool fabrics very effectively. The stripes are in plain neutral colors or variegated with several bright colors in a sort of hit-or-miss design.

The difficulty of making an old gown into a fashionable one is chiefly in the length of the skirt, and one way to overcome this is to add a deep yoke of velvet, silk or lace over silk, whichever is most suitable for the material.

A dainty novelty in muffs is made of white chiffon lined with sable, which forms a band at either end.

KIPLING, THE MAN.

Recollections of the Poet and Story Teller By a Girl.

Rottingdean is a fresh, charming little place on the south coast of England. There Sir Edward Burne-Jones has a beautiful house, and opposite his nephew, Rudyard Kipling had taken a place for the summer, says the London Sun. My mother used to visit Lady Burne-Jones, and we frequently met the Kiplings there. I think he visited no other house in Rottingdean, because, they said "he had a holy horror of being made a fuss of."

He used to settle himself in his chair as though he were at peace with all the world and beam upon us through his gold-rimmed glasses, and he had an odd habit of gesticulating with two fingers on any emphasized word as if he were knocking a nail into it.

Conjure a rather squat man, with such ragged, gorselike mustache, that you must have liked him very much to have let him kiss you. Then a fine chin and jaw, strong in line, gentle in contour. And my mother said, "a head wonderful in breadth from temple to temple." Always he wore a gray suit and he never tied his shoe laces.

You could see him with his odd walk that came from the shoulders, lurching across the village streets on sunny afternoons. He was sun-browned, muscular, radiant—I think the happiest man I ever met. I never saw him in the open, but that he was singing or humming—buzzing, perhaps, is the better word.

His amusements! Well, he used to cycle across to Brighton, when we all used to stand in the road to see him start, and he would return in the evening to dinner. Or we would miss him for two or three days and find he had gone away to Ireland. Sometimes, with my sister, and I, he would sit on the beach at Rottingdean and idle away a morning. At cost of infinite trouble he would pile a line of stones quite near the water; then he would scramble back to us and we would all fire volleys together. We were allowed three throws to his one, but I think the ratio was afterwards reversed, because he was a poor shot. This recreation he called "decimating an enemy's palisade," and, as our shots slowly brought down the stones, he would get quite excited and his shoe laces become more and more untied. Also we would fling stones out on the sea, in this, too, we always beat him. It may be he allowed us to win, but, at the time, he never permitted us the idea.

What used we to talk about? Oh, about dogs and birds and children (of which he was genuinely fond) and the pleasant nothing at all.

Always there were about him a simple sincerity and a directness of talk which they say are only met in the very great and the very little. About his books—his own or anybody else's—he never made remark. Once, when we spoke of India, he said he went there when he was quite a child, and had stayed there several years, and that he liked the place. Then he stopped, whistling to his dogs, and we all went in for luncheon. But really his talk was in no way as remarkable as that of twenty obscure men I know in London.

The Kipling children were uncanny little souls, original in manner, rather than pretty in feature. There are three of them—two girls and a boy; all the summer they went about, whether in their house, in the village, or on the beach, always without shoes or stockings, and their legs and hands were sunburned to a gypsy brown.

Their great sport was to fling stones one at the other in a kind of triangular duel. When this recreation palled upon them, they enlivened themselves in a grand international fight, conducted on all sides with great spirit and determination, the girls as eager combatants as the boy. When all was over they sat in a row on the beach, removed the signs of battle, solemnly kissed and then the queer little trio, hand in hand, would go singing home to lunch.

Gossip of The Stage

John D. Hopkins and Samuel W. Gumpertz are brothers-in-law, Mr. Hopkins having married Gumpertz's sister. A long time ago there was a disagreement between the two men, and they not only separated, but their two wives, who had previously been known quite favorably in the vaudeville theaters as Melville and Stetson, also drew apart. News comes to me from St. Louis, says Leander Richardson, that Hopkins and Gumpertz have settled their differences, and that Melville and Stetson will again return to the variety theaters, beginning with the Hopkins circuit. Hopkins and Gumpertz will shortly go into business again as partners and will probably have a theater in St. Louis. Gumpertz is at present managing the Imperial theater in the city named, where he has a strong stock company.

The theatrical business, not only in New York, but all around the country, continues to be literally enormous, and it is evident that the present season will be quite the greatest on record in this or any other country. It may be indeed that if the prosperous conditions which now characterize the United States are maintained, the theater tariff will be advanced in all the best theaters of all the leading cities. It would not surprise me at all if in the course of the next very few years the best seats in the New York theaters should command $2.50 apiece, which is the price of stalls in the first-class London playhouses, says Leander Richardson in New York Telegraph.

"Nine-tenths of an actor's life," says George Moore, "must be given up to rubbish; rubbish is the fare of the multitude, and it is the multitude that enables the actor to keep the roof over his head, but he should reserve a tenth part of his life for himself—for his art."

Time was when beauty of person was not less essential to the leading man than to the leading woman of the play. Lester Wallack, Edwin Booth, Harry Montague, Osmond Tearle, Herbert Kelcey, Robert Mantell, Henry Miller and Kyrle Bellew were famous for their good looks. The ladies loved those actors tenderly and bought tickets to see them enthusiastically, and during several decades the drama was celebrated for its natural as well as artistic graces. Nowadays handsome men draw no higher salaries than are paid to their less fortunate fellows. The Empire theater dropped Henry Miller, who was a professional beauty, and accepted as his successor William Faversham, who is a homely man. Herbert Kelcey, long renowned as the chief ornament of the Lyceum, gave place to Mr. Hackett, who is not a beauty, and that actor in turn was succeeded by Edward Morgan, who is by no means an Apollo. "The Turtle" ran for nearly 200 nights, although its leading man, W. J. Ferguson, is positively homely; and John Drew, equally barren of physical charms, remains a popular star, says Hillary Bell in New York Press.

Next Wednesday evening, on the occasion of the 100th performance of "Trelawney of the Wells," at the Lyceum theater, New York, Manager Daniel Frohman will present to each woman in the audience a handsomely bound and illustrated copy of the acting edition of Mr. Pinero's comedy. There are about a dozen illustrations, with a colored vignette of Miss Mannering as Rose Trelawney.

E. J. Malyon, who arrived on the steamship St. Louis Sunday under contract to Liebler & Co. to produce Sidney Grundy's play, "The Musketeers," said last night that the play would be presented at the Broadway theater, New York, as Beerbohm Tree is presenting it at Her Majesty's theater. The play is not divided into acts, but is presented in ten tableaus. There are three intermissions of ten minutes each, and seven instantaneous dark changes.

Messrs. Brady & Ziegfeld last week signed a contract with Aubrey Boucicault by which they secure the American rights to "A Court Scandal," produced at the Court theater, London, Jan. 24. The play is a romantic one adapted by Aubrey Boucicault and Oswald Shillingford from the French of MM. Bayard and Dumanoir. Its central figure is Richelieu, not as the grim and subtle cardinal, but as the dashing lad of 19, full of aspirations. An elaborate production of this comedy will be made at the Manhattan theater next season, and Aubrey Boucicault, who is under contract with Brady & Ziegfeld for a term of three years, will appear as the youthful Duc de Richelieu.

Siegfried Wagner's opera, "The Idler," was produced with success in Munich a fortnight ago. He is the author of the libretto and the composer of the score. The work in its treatment is on the lines established by his father in his music dramas. The story is that of a young soldier who returns from the "Thirty Years War," and becoming disgusted with the indifference of his fellow-citizens, accepts the offer of Satan to shovel coal and sulphur in the lower regions. A stranger in priestly garb accosts him and offers to throw dice for the souls of those who have been placed in the soldier's charge. The stranger wins and the souls are liberated; the devil revenges himself by sending the soldier back to the world in the guise of a man of repelling ugliness. He is restored to his own self by the love of a girl who proves herself to be faithful.

The fact that fortune tellers consider spades death cards and omens of ill luck finds ground for truth in one unhappy instance. A week before the assassination of William Terriss he was playing poker one night with his son Tom and some friends, when father and son held as weird and remarkable hands as ever fell to the lot of any poker players; for Tom beat his father's hand of a straight flush in spades from the three spot to the seven by a royal flush of the same suit, thus holding all the spades in the deck save the deuce, eight and nine. One week later Mr. Terriss was cruelly murdered. Tom has the two hands framed, together with the signatures of those who witnessed the game.

When the New York critics unanimously assailed "Mlle. Fifi" for the vulgarity of one of its scenes, Leo Dietrichstein, who made the adaptation from the French, sent to the newspapers a denial that was almost tearful of all responsibility for the reprehensible scene. Mr. Dietrichstein's manuscript was sent to London, where the censor has just refused to allow the play to be presented, and now there are several supposed-to-be-wise newspaper men who wonder what will happen next in the way of securing gratuitous advertising.

The matinee girl in the Chicago Times-Herald, tells of a young German-American girl who served successively as understudy for Nella Bergen in De Wolf Hopper's company and for Jessie Bartlett Davis in the Bostonians without once getting a chance to be heard and then turned up in a New York theater as "the queen of comic opera" and made the hit she had been so long in seeking. Miss Bergen is a soprano and Mrs. Davis is a contralto, so any young woman who could sing the roles with which both are identified is entitled to success, if only as a musical freak.

Richard Mansfield, having found through the success of "Cyrano de Bergerac" that the elaborate and costly production of plays is a profitable proceeding, contemplates, it is said, a revival of Shakespeare's "Henry V." This play requires numerous people and the most elaborate and ornate scenic environments, and has besides almost all of the virtues of an absolute novelty, as it has not been given in this country since Henry Rignola presented it about twenty years ago. "Henry V" calls for picturesque make-up, and many actors who would have liked to play the part have only been deterred by the expense attached to the production of the play.

It was sure to come. The music of the rag time songs is being used to punctuate and emphasize the action of the new comedies. In "Mlle. Fifie," the new and somewhat naughty comedy which succeeded "The Turtle" at the Manhattan theater, this idea has been amusingly employed. When the young couple quarrel the music plays softly "Here's a Howdy Do;" the young husband announces his intention of quitting the premises to the air of "Leave This House When You Get Your Trunk Packed;" Mendoza, the money lender, having refused to aid the financially embarrassed couple, is refused admittance to the house. While the servant is being instructed what to say the tune of "When You Ain't Got No Money You Needn't Come 'Round" floats through the auditorium. The young couple arrange their bills—principally for presents for the wife—to the air of "He Cert'nly Was Good to Me," and after the reconciliation the curtain falls to "Love Will Find the Way." Last week at the Grand, Belle Davis was singing two new ones which will become available as soon as they are more familiar. They are "He Don't Handle Money Enough for Me" and "He Ain't No Relative of Mine."

The tour of Eugenie Blair in "A Lady of Quality" opened most auspiciously last week, and reports have already been received of her great success in the role of Clorinda Wildairs. It will be of interest to her many friends to know that Manager W. M. Wilkison has arranged for a tour of the principal Southern and Western cities, which will begin at Norfolk, Va. Arrangements are being made for her appearance in this city, and it is expected that the date will be definitely announced ere long. There is no more popular actress who visits us than charming Eugenie Blair, and her appearance in such a successful play as "A Lady of Quality," with the magnificent scenic equipment and splendid company with which Manager Wilkison has surrounded her, cannot help but prove one of the most interesting engagements of the year.

Over in England Mrs. Patrick Campbell is going to tour the provinces in Pinero's "The Second Mrs. Tanqueray" and Courtney Thorpe, once leading man in the company of Rosina Vokes, is to play Cayley Drummle, the part which J. E. Dodson played so admirably with Mr. and Mrs. Kendall.

To Miss Josephine Hall, who won some fame by her clever impersonation of the slavey in "The Girl From Paris," and by her rendition of that touching ballad, "Sister Mary Jane's Top Note," will belong the distinction of opening the American theatrical invasion of Cuba. She has been in poor health lately, and, her physician having recommended a warmer climate, she has organized the Josephine Hall Vaudeville company to open at the Tacon theater, Havana, at an early date.

Louis James' daughter is a member of Frohman's "Catherine" company.

Andrew Mack is to have a drama by Franklin Fyles. Rich & Harris have signed a contract with the playwright, providing for a spectacular production early next year. Meanwhile Mr. Mack will appear this spring in "The last of the Rohans," by Ramsey Morris.

The Paris opera house has 2166 seats.

John Oliver Hobbes (Mrs. Craigie), author of "The Ambassador," is writing a new comedy.

Beatrice Harraden, author of "Ships That Pass in The Night," has caught the prevailing fever and is writing a play.

Charles Forhman has secured the English and American rights to the latest successful Parisian farce, Georges Feydean's "La Dame Ches Maxims."

A fund has been started to erect a monument to Beethoven at Baden, near Vienna, where the master spent most of his summers and where he wrote some of —his greatest works.

Loi Fuller is in London.

Nethersole is to appear in Budapest, Vienna, Berlin and St. Petersburg.

It is said that Rudyard Kipling is writing a play for Beerbohm Tree.

"Bimbo, of Bombay," a farce written by Edgar Smith to exploit a magician, is to be revived Feb. 18, with Jacques Kruger in the principal part. The opening will take place in Bridgeport.

SOUTH AMERICAN MARKET.

There is a great and growing market south of us to which Consul Louis Goldschmidt at La Guayra, Venezuela, calls attention, says the Cleveland Plain Dealer. It is a market which so far has been practically ignored by the American manufacturer, notwithstanding the leaps and bounds our foreign commerce has made during the past few years. It is rather an extraordinary thing that with the exception of a few cheap prints, no American cotton fabrics can be found in the stores of Venezuela. The same condition which prevails in Venezuela prevails also in the greater part of South America.

There is no doubt whatever that the South American market belongs to the United States by nature. There are lying south of us 150,000,000 people, who, by the very nature of the climate, are large consumers of cotton goods, and yet nearly everything in the manufactured line comes to them from Germany, England and France.

Consul Goldschmidt holds the failure to reach this market to be due to timidity on the part of American manufacturers. Mr. Goldschmidt insists that there are houses doing business in Venezuela and adjoining countries which are just as reliable as any United States house. He recommends the wholesale merchants to deal directly with Venezuela firms. European firms have personal representatives in South American countries, and there is no reason why American firms may not have personal representatives there also.

The oddities of the Southern market could be easily studied and readily mastered. If they are partial to goods of a certain quality or certain color it would be a simple matter to gratify their tastes. The consul recommends the opening of American business houses in the large distributing centers of South America to handle American goods exclusively.

ECZEMA FROM BIRTH

Baby's Arms Neck Hands and Face Broken out with Red Pimples. Terribly Inflamed.

Had to Wear Soft Mittens to Keep Her from Scratching. Suffering Was Terrible.

2 Leading Physicians Could Not Even Help Her. Tried CUTICURA. Immediate Cure.

Our little daughter, now fifteen months old, was troubled from her birth with Eczema. Her face, arms, hands, and neck would break out with red pimples, the parts afflicted would swell and become terribly inflamed, water would ooze out like great beads of perspiration, finally this would dry up and the skin would crack and peel off. She suffered terribly. Had to wear soft mittens on her hands to keep her from scratching. We gave two of our leading physicians a good trial, but neither of them helped her in the least. I purchased CUTICURA SOAP, CUTICURA (ointment), and CUTICURA RESOLVENT, and commenced using them as follows: After bathing I wiped her with a soft linen cloth, applied CUTICURA (ointment) freely, and gave her the RESOLVENT regularly. She improved at once and is now never troubled, although we have used less than one bottle of RESOLVENT, three boxes of SALVE, and of course CUTICURA SOAP. The statements I have made are absolutely true and not exaggerated in any way. Would also say you have my permission to publish this, should you wish.

THE COMING LABOR BAZAR

Display Will Be Large and Applications For Places Have Exceeded the Expectations of the Committee.

DECORATIONS TO BE FINE

Preparations for the labor bazar, which will open at the Armory March 13, are going on apace. The work of constructing the booths and pavilions will begin next week. A large number of fine decorations that were used for the Chicago peace jubilee have been secured. The display will be large and the entire building, including the balconies, will be used. Last year the ground floor only was used. The demand for space has far exceeded the expectations of the committee. No applications for space have been withdrawn, as has been stated. A few business institutions that exhibited last year have not applied for space, but their places have been more than filled.

W. E. McEwen and Thomas Savard will leave for Chicago early in March to attend the national convention of the Hotel and Restaurant Employes' National association, which opens there March 6. Mr. McEwen goes as a member of the committee appointed by the A. F. of L. at the Kansas City convention to adjust the differences existing in the association. Mr. Savard goes as the delegate of the local Waiters' union.

Cigarmakers' union No. 294 has an effective blue label committee. It consists of twelve members, who are divided into sub-committees to cover the ground thoroughly. The committee booms the blue label and keeps a watch out for counterfeits.

THE LABOR PRESS.

Signs of general activity are everywhere manifest in the trade union movement, says the Cigarmakers' Journal, and the official organs of the great trade unions show encouraging reports of growing membership in the unions that have withstood and new locals are being brought to life, placed in good working order and sent on their mission of usefulness.

The New Era of Louisville, Ky., for the past ten years under the editorial management of E. L. Cronk, for years prominent in typographical union circles, is the best labor paper on Mason and Dixon's line, and commands the respect and confidence of laboring and busines men alike, because it treats all questions concerning the best interests of the mases with candor and fairness.

The Journal of Labor, published at Atlanta, Ga., though but a few months old, is the cleanest and best edited labor paper in the South. Last week it was made the official organ of the National Textile Workers' union, and its issue of Feb. 25 will be devoted to the ladies' auxiliary of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen, who promise to fill the columns of the paper with literary gems, not to mention the many "bargains" that will be advertised.

The recent convention of the International Stone Masons' union at St. Louis made the Labor Compendium of that city its official organ.

The American Musician contains a blank to be filled out by the membership on "What Would Create More Interest and Secure Better Support for the Official Organ?"

The Midland Mechanic, of Kansas City, Mo., always at the front, at the recent sesion of the Misouri State Federation of Labor at Jefferson City secured the privilege of issuing the directory of the federation for 1899, paying a bonus of $100 for the same. This is such an unusual proceeding that it is worth mentioning, for as a rule such "privileges" go to some one who agrees to pay a "percentage" of the net profits from the venture—which in the history of the labor movement have as yet never materialized.

The Utica (N. Y.) Advocate has been turned over to the Utica Trades' assembly, which will hereafter conduct the paper. A subscription committee of three members from each affiliated union looks after the details, etc.

W. E. Scott, formerly organizer of the United Mine Workers of America, has been appointed editor of the Mine Workers' Journal.

The Rochester (N. Y.) Labor Journal and the Washington (D. C.) Trade Unionist have prospered to the point where they find it necessary to expand—increase the size of their papers.

LABOR MOVEMENT ABROAD.

Aug McCraith, ex-secretary of the American Federation, and one of the best posted laboring men in this country, has this to say of the labor movement and politics in Europe in the current issue of the Inland Printer:

"The labor movement abroad runs largely to politics. France has no less than six socialist labor parties, with trade unions correspondingly weak. England has at least two, while those of the John Burns stripe hobnob with the old parties, minus the Tories. The "propaganda by deed" crowd, the communists, such as Chicago gave to the world in 1887, mistakenly called anarchists, sneer at political methods. This class, as is to be expected where force methods prevail generally, is quite widely scattered throughout Europe, with Prince Krapotkine, a Russian exile, as the fountain head, quartered in London. A representative of theirs, John Turner, president of the London Shop Assistants' (clerks) union, visited us in 1895. There is practically no difference between the doctrines of the communist and state socialist. Parsons, of the Chicago group, said in the Alarm that communism was a branch of socialism, and "capital will cease to be private property under private control, and will be held in common for the benefit of all"—the platform of state socialism. Krapotkine, in his Cooper union address of one and a half hours, advocated socialism. The actual difference, if such it is, is that of methods; one ballot, the other force, or to count heads instead of knocking them. The communists, however, claim they will not use force unless it is exercised from above. Their class in America is small. The political efforts of English laborers seem to be of the shop-act, poor-law variety. The land question, however, occupies prominence. Of the political movement there, James Mawdsley, of the textile workers, fraternal delegate to America in 1895, writes: "If workmen as a whole were prepared to sacrifice their political views and vote for workmen as workmen, it would be another thing; but the great bulk of workmen today are still Liberals or Conservatives. We see this in the fact that even among what are known as labor representatives they have, in order to get into parliament, to profess themselves on one of the two political creeds, and to give adherence to that creed. * * * There is not at present a single independent member of parliament." This is the same old criticism that one hears on this side, and it is equally nonsensical. The workman who votes for another simply because he is a workman, regardless of his views, is not much better than he who votes a party ticket because his grandfather did. Principles are more important than men. Thus thinks the free trader, casting his ballot against his brother protectionist, the silverite against the gold bug, or vice versa. A trade unionist may be a good striker but a bad legislator. The money question occupies no place in foreign labor ranks, but interest exist there as well as here, and wherever that is some are culling the fat of others' labor. Pingree schemes are not unknown. The French senate is at present solving the growing influx of agricultural workers into towns. A bill has been indorsed designed to increase peasant proprietorship by exemption from taxation and easy term payment, by which holders can own a lot and house in a few years. A similar bill was presented to the Massachusetts general court about fifteen years ago. Labor forces generally pay little attention to governmental alliances. A peace convention suggested by a czar who exiles the flower of his country to Siberia deserts is to them a trifle ludicrous. Mankind always has had, however, governmental prerogatives to burn, to establish order with buckshot and the New Testament, with opium, rum and taxes as side issues. The prospect of doing the semi-barbarian as they are done at home, or as it is in Ireland and India does not strike the average trade unionist as either new or great, although it may make a few successful warriors."

A call has been issued for an immense international labor meeting, to be held in London, commencing March 8, for the purpose of agitating for universal peace and international fraternity and solidarity of the workers. M. Jaures, of France; Herr Liebknecht, of Germany, and Professor Vandervelde, of Belgium, have consented to address the meeting, besides an array of notable Englishmen who will speak on the occasion.

LABOR NOTES.

The Button Makers' union has issued a circular announcing that for the time being the A. F. of L. label would be placed upon cards of buttons made by their members.

A contest between the English syndicate brewery managers at St. Louis and their employes, inaugurated in 1898, over the method of hiring help, was settled by a conference of representatives of both parties last Saturday. As a result the boycott levied by the brewery workmen's unions against the breweries will be raised, the employers having given in. Managers of the English syndicate breweries objected to hiring men as presented by an employment bureau in the interest of the brewery workmen without regard to their qualifications. A strike and boycott resulted, and since the trouble began the brewery workers are said to have spent $24,000 in carrying on the fight, aside from the loss of wages. The employers also lost heavily by reason of the boycott.

Coal miners of Alabama expect an increase in pay of 2½ cents per ton on March 1. Mine operator near Bon Air, Tenn., have notified the miners to withdraw from the union. If this is insisted upon a general strike of union miners of Tennessee is predicted.

"The present condition of the iron and steel trade is something extraordinary for this season," says the Pittsburg Labor Tribune. "Mills are pushed on lines that are usually dead at this season of the year and are showing great activity," and advises the workers to organize in order to recover the ground lost during the long business depression.

The strike of the coremakers employed by the St. Louis, Mo., iron and steel works has been settled, the men receiving an advance of 25 cents per day.

States Factory Inspector O'Leary of New York opposes the movement to abolish "sweatshops" in that state, which, he says, give employment to 83,000 persons in New York and Brooklyn alone in the making of clothing. Mr. O'Leary claims that if the drastic sanitary laws are enacted as recommended in his report to the present legislature, and these rigidly enforced, the chief objections to sweatshops would be removed.

The United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners gained six new unions in January.

An Eastern trade paper says a machine has been invented which will turn out 10,000,000 matches a day. Also that a new typesetting machine, which will do twice the work of the Mergenthalers, will be put on the market this summer, while a Connecticut man claims he has invented a new rotary cylinder that will enable ships to travel 50 per cent faster than at present.

Printing crafts unions of Missouri contemplate forming a state allied printing trades union.

Labor unions of the state of Georgia are preparing to organize a state federation of labor.

Organized labor in New York city has taken up the case of the Plate Glass Workers' union against the Pittsburg Glass company. The company has refused to employ union men in any of its works in Pennsylvania, Indiana and Missouri, and has practically knocked out the union, with the exception of a few active members, who have appealed to affiliated organizations for assistance in their fight against the company. A committee of three from the building trades section of the Central Federated union of New York has been appointed to call upon the New York representative of the company and endeavor to bring about a settlement before precipitating a general fight. Failing, it is likely that all the union building trades mechanics will refuse to work on jobs where the company's product is supplied.

The Washington (D. C.) Building Trades council defeated a proposition in the shape of an amendment to its constitution which provided that no one should be seated as a delegate who is not engaged in the calling of the organization sending him.

Federation musicians at Cleveland have complained against Knights of Labor musicians of that city for cutting prices and working below the established scale of wages.

Mr. L. Schneider, of 224 Sixth street west, employed at the Fifth Avenue grocery, says: "Within the past year I had much trouble with my kidneys. I attribute it to the constant jarring I received when out in the wagon. I had a dull, heavy aching in my loins and if I stooped or lifted anything heavy it became sharp and piercing. Although often very tired at night I could not rest well as I soon became lame and sore from lying in one position. The secretions from the kidneys were irregular and unnatural. I tried different remedies, but they did not do me much good. Seeing Doan's Kidney Pills highly recommended I procured a box from the Duluth Drug company and commenced the treatment. I began to get better right away and after using one box I felt splendid. I certainly recommend Doan's Kidney Pills highly to others, as they are one remedy which really does all that is claimed for it."

AMERICANS JOIN REYES.

New Orleans, Feb. 18.—The steamer Condor arrived yesterday from Bluefields, Nicaragua, and brought mail advices from the Reyes revolution. A number of American and other foreigners have joined Reyes, and a company has been organized, commanded by J. C. Kennedy, of the Louisiana field artillery, New Orleans, with Capt. Forsgard, of the Seely Rifles, Galveston, and Burt Umstatt, an old Indian scout, as lieutenants. Reyes has 2000 Remington rifles and plenty of ammunition. News from the interior says that the insurgent army is growing steadily.

SECULAR SHOTS AT THE PULPIT.

St. Louis Republic: If a few more agents run away with the box office receipts for Ingersoll's lecture the venerable agnostic may be converted to the dogma of future punishment.

Springfield Republican: The Methodists, says Zion's Herald, are imperialists. That is to say, the Methodists are in politics. Fancy the howl that would arise in the offices of the Protestant religious editors if Cardinal Gibbons should announce that Roman Catholics are imperialists or anti-imperialists, Republicans or Democrats.

Boston Transcript: The Presbyterians have long despaired of Professor Charles A. Briggs of the Union Theological seminary, but he seems persona grata to the authorities of that institution, to which he has rendered valuable and devoted service. A few days ago he received an engrossed address and a gold watch from the trustees and fellow members of the faculty in celebration of the twenty-fifth anniversary of his service with the seminary. A silver tea set was given jointly to him and Mrs. Briggs.

Chicago Tribune: The women of Webster City, Iowa, resent the action of the Protestant ministers of that town in holding revival meetings for men only. They are willing to admit, probably, that the men are more in need of spiritual admonition and guidance than themselves, but cannot conceive why their presence should not be a helpful influence toward the growth of grace in the other sex. They should remember the innate reluctance of a man to admit to a woman that he is a wicked sinner, although he will let another man tell him so without resentment.

A PLAGUE OF THE NIGHT.

Itching Piles and Other Rectal Troubles Easily Cured By a New and Safe Method.

A Remarkable Number of Cures Made By the Pyramid Pile Cure.

About one person in every four suffers from some form of rectal disease. The most common and annoying is itching piles, indicated by warmth, slight moisture and intense, uncontrollable itching in the parts affected.

The usual treatment has been some simple ointment or salve which sometimes give temporary relief, but nothing like a permanent cure can be expected from such superficial treatment.

The only permanent cure for itching piles yet discovered is the Pyramid Pile Cure, not only for itching piles, but for every other form of piles, blind, bleeding or protruding. The first application gives instant relief and the continued use for a short time causes a permanent removal of the tumors or the small parasites which cause the intense itching and discomfort of itching piles.

Many physicians for a long time supposed that the remarkable relief afforded by the Pyramid Pile Cure was because it was supposed to contain cocaine, opium or similar drugs, but such is not the case. A recent careful analysis of the remedy showed it to be absolutely free from any cocaine, opium, or in fact any poisonous, injurious drugs whatever.

For this reason the Pyramid Pile Cure is probably the only pile cure extensively recommended by physicians, because it is so safe, so prompt in the relief afforded and so far as known the only positive cure for piles except a surgical operation.

In one year the Pyramid Pile Cure has become the best known, the safest and the most extensively sold of any pile cure before the public.

Nearly all druggists now sell it at 50 sents and $1 per package.

Address the Pyramid company, Marshall, Mich., for book on "Cause and Cure of Piles" and also hundreds of testimonials from all parts of the United States.

If suffering from any form of piles ask your druggist for a package of Pyramid Pile Cure and try it tonight.

There will be no more musters out of general officers of the army, except in cases of individual requests, pending the formal termination of the war through the exchange of ratifications of the peace treaty.

Senator Turley, from the committee on education and labor, reported the eight-hour bill without recommendation as to the bill as a whole. The amendment is suggested providing that the act "shall not apply to contracts for the purchase of ordinary supplies of the government nor to contracts for such materials as may be usually purchased in the open markets."

Two more bills were introduced yesterday to pay Spain $20,000,000 provided for in the Paris treaty. One by Representative Cannon is in the terms of the provisions of the paragraph which was eliminated from the sundry civil appropriation. The other was introduced by Representative Gillett of Massachusetts, and in addition to the appropriation contains a second section substantially in the language of the McEnery resolution passed by the senate. The third section is the same as the Bacon resolution offered as an amendment to the McEnery resolution and which was defeated by a tie vote in the senate.

FOREIGN NOTES.

In the house of commons the chancellor of the exchequer, Sir Michael Hicks-Beach, announced that the house would be asked to vote £30,000 for Gen. Lord Kitchener, of Khartoum, which sum will probably be invested for his benefit.

At the meeting of the French cabinet last evening M. Dupuy, the premier, announced that 50,000 photographs of the Duc D'Orleans has been seized on the frontier.

CONDENSED DISPATCHES.

The transport Chester arrived at Savannah yesterday afternoon with the Sixth United States volunteer infantry. The regiment will go into camp here to be mustered out.

Fire destroyed John Hugstad's residence in Moorhead, last night, valued at $1500. During the fire Sandy McLain, Moorhead policeman, was struck by a falling chimney and instantly killed.

A telegram received from the Fruit Growers' union at Menlo, Ga., stated that the peach crop in that section has not been injured by the recent freeze and a full yield is expected.

At Philadelphia, the St. John Roman Catholic church was ruined by fire and water; loss, $50,000.

Four small children of a woodsman named Carlson were burned to death in their home at Duboise, Pa. The mother jumped from a second-story window with her baby and escaped.

The formal launching of the Temple saving plan of the Chicago Young People's Christian Temperance association, took place yesterday, the anniversary of Frances E. Willard's death.

FITZ'S FORFEIT ATTACHED.

New York, Feb. 18.—Justice Gildersleeve has issued an order compelling Duncan Curry to retain possession of $2500 deposited with him by Martin Julian on behalf of Robert Fitzsimmons, subject to the further order of the court. The money, put up as a forfeit, was attached by the law firm to satisfy a judgment of $1700 obtained against Fitzsimmons, by Friend, House & Grossman for defending the pugilist when he was charged with manslaughter after the death of Con Riordan from injuries received in a boxing match. With the forfeit money tied up by the present order, Mr. Grossman will next week move that the sum be applied to the satisfying of the judgment.

DAMAGE BY FLOOD.

Richmond, Va., Feb. 18.—The Manchester span of Mayo bridge, connecting this city with Manchester, was caried away last night by high water and the Southern railroad bridge is in danger. The elevator of S. H. Hawes & Co., the largest coal dealers in the city, is burning. One of the electric light plants is under water and it is said the gas works will be flooded soon.

SEATTLE PROTESTS.

Seattle, Wash., Feb. 18.—A large mass meeting under the auspices of the chamber of commerce was held here last night to protest against the cession of any Alaskan teritory to Canada. Appropriate resolutions were adopted, calling upon all persons, parties and organizations in the country "to protest at Washington city against this contemplated wrong and to spare no efforts to prevent its consummation."

JENNINGS GOES UP.

Chickasaw, I. T., Feb. 18.—A. L. Jennings, a graduate of the law school of West Virginia university, and former prosecuting attorney of Canadian county, Okla., was convicted of train robbery in the federal court here yesterday, and sentenced by Judge Hosea Townsend to life imprisonment in the federal penitentiary at Columbus, Ohio. Jennings was convicted of the robbery of a Rock Island express train at Minco, I. T. The train was robbed in midday and a trainman was mortally injured by the robbers. The gang, of which Jennings was the leader, has been charged with numerous hold-ups and robberies.

WILSON PLEADS GUILTY.

Santiago de Cuba, Feb. 18.—Maj. Edward Wilson of the Third volunteer regiment of immunes, whose trial by court-martial on charge of forgery and embezzlement is in progress, has pleaded guilty to altering records and it is expected that a severe sentence will be imposed.

Public business is greatly hindered here in consequence of the lack of funds, Havana having to approve virtually every item of expenditure. The employes of the custom house and postoffice have not yet been paid their January salaries, which in the case of the poorer officials is a serious hardship.

CAR MAKERS COMBINE.

New York, Feb. 18.—It is announced that the American Car and Foundry company, just organized, in addition to the companies stated, had since added a number of other plants, namely, the Buffalo Car Manufacturing company and the Niagara Wheel company, of Buffalo; the Ensign Manufacturing company, with its car plant, forges, etc., at Huntington, W. Va., and the car plant of Pennock Bros., of Minerva, Ohio, and it is also negotiating with one or two other concerns.

FIFTY MILES FROM A NEEDLE.

The idea of the loss of a darning needle becoming a public calamity seems to be strange to us of the present generation, for it is difficult for us to realize the privations of the pioneers who first went to Canada, the straits to which they were at times reduced from lack of articles now as common as water and air, and the preposterous value they often set upon them.

According to the story of an aged resident of Fitzroy, Ont., he well remembers the time when there was but one darning needle in that county, and the only mill was a day's journey distant.

One day a Mrs. Dickson who chanced to have temporary possession of the darning needle, and had it carefully stuck in her apron in a holder, set off for the mill with a bag of grain laid on the back of a horse. The good lady had a rough road to travel, and unfortunately lost the darning needle.

This was a public calamity in Fitzroy. Nearly twenty housewives depended upon that darning needle for repairing socks and for other coarse mending. It passed from one log house to another, by special messenger, and every woman had the use of it one day in three weeks. Another darning needle could not then be procured nearer than Perth, a matter of fifty miles away.

Tidings of the disaster which had befallen Mrs. Dickson soon spread, and on the following morning a dozen women, some of them accompanied by their children, and some of them by their husbands, turned out to search three miles of forest path.

It seemed a hopeless task, but keen eyes were bent upon every portion of the highway, and at length one little girl espied it.

A great shout was raised, and the good news was carried along the line of searchers. The party returned home, and the rejoicings in newly settled Fitzroy that day were great.

IN SPORTING CIRCLES

Hali Adlai, the Famous Turkish Wrestler, Will Soon Give an Exhibition In Duluth.

RETURN OF THE CURLERS

The wrestling match at the Lyceum has been practically the whole thing in sporting circles this week. It drew a large crowd, and it was a very interesting and successful affair. Lundin showed that in spite of his almost total lack of experience in wrestling that he has materials in him for a good one, and under proper training he may make his mark in that business. His prodigious strength was all that protected him from McMillan's skill the other night, but when he adds science to his strength he will be a hard man to tackle, surely.

* * *

Those who have been interested in the wrestling matches have been looking forward to the time when Hali Adlai, the Turk, will make his appearance here. This has been promised by the promoters of the recent wrestling matches, and the success that has attended them seems to warrant the risk of getting the big fellow here for an exhibition.

The curlers have been rather quiet this week. Those who went to Winnipeg came back and reported a good time, with no lack of excitement, and they relate thrilling experiences that happened during the burning of the hotel. The Duluth rinks were in the last eight in several of the events, but unfortunately they went down when a prize was almost in their grasp each time.

When John L. was in Omaha several weeks ago he referred to the fight he had with Mitchell in France, and told a bunch of entertaining stories of his experiences in the land of the frogeaters, says the Bee. The big 'un was jugged after that little affray, and was cast into a dungeon vile. He was kept there for some little time, and his jailers had sport at his expense by sparring in pantomime at him through the cell bars, accompanying the gestures with a lot of jargon. He was finally released on a $300 bond, but he had hardy put up the money when he gave it out cold that he intended to "duck," as he says. He was promptly returned to the cooler, and when he again emerged he found his bond doubled. He put up the money and did not lose a second in crossing the channel to England.

"In the fight Mitchell pulled out pretty nearly all the mustache on one side of my face," says Sullivan. "I did not stop to get shaved on the French side of the channel, but as soon as I landed in England I had both sides of my upper lip scraped. A few nights after I showed in a London music hall. The people did not know me and had seen my pictures, in which I was shown with a beautiful mustache. Somebody introduced me as John L. Sullivan, the invincible, and some sport out in the house hollered, 'You're a liar. That ain't Sullivan.' That put the house in an uproar. Nothing would convince them that I was Sullivan, and the entertainment was a dismal failure."

There are but three featherweights after all—Dixon, Jordan and Gardner—and it's a hard choice to pick 'twixt them. They have mixed it up between them and, even though decisions have been given in favor of one or the other, one cannot pick the certain winner. Jordan would seem to have a bit the best of it, for he has a decision over Dixon, while the colored lad won a very close judgment over the Omaha boy. "Dope" is mighty deceivin', though, and figures do lie. It is possible that some time during the present year the laurels of the feather class will be undisputedly awarded to one of these three. The English boy has whipped about every one there is over the pond, and he is now negotiating for a trip to this country with the special purpose of meeting Gardner and Dixon, if the latter wants to try to get back the decision he lost last May. Of the whole three Gardner looks the likeliest. The margin by which Dixon won from him was so small, together with the symptoms of weakening on the part of the most wonderful little man that ever pulled on the mitts, that it looks as if Gardner would certainly get the decision if they come together again. Of course Gardner and Jordan have never met, but the slam bang tactics of the former are sure to make trouble for the Englishman. If Jordan crosses the water Pedlar Palmer will come with him.

As a consequence of his battle with Casper Leon a few days ago the critics are examining Terry McGovern to discover some symtoms of championship fiber in his make-up. The Italian fought at the bantam limit, gave away five pounds and broke a hand and rib in the fight, but nevertheless the crimson-tufted Brooklyn lad must be given a good deal of credit for the victory. He is a hurricane fighter and a stiff puncher, and in two years has lost but one battle, and that on a foul. Leon's reputation did not suffer much as a consequence of this, the third defeat of his career, on account of the circumstances, but it has given quite a boost to McGovern. The latter is negotiating now for a fight with Gardner, who is one of his class, but he is a trifle ambitious, and probably will find that he is trying to bite off a bit too much.

San Francisco redhots are preparing for quite a carnival of the short-haired sport in the very near future. "Mysterious Billy" Smith and Kid Lavigne are to have their try-out on the coast. Kid McCoy and Choynski are both in California and there is some hope that the two may be brought together. Then there is a sure thing in a scrap between Dal Hawkins and Erne, which is slated to take place on March 2. The easy way in which Hawkins disposed of McPartland and the good showing Erne made in his 20-round draw with Kid Lavigne gives promise that the coming fight will be a good one.

Young Pluto, the alleged phenom who was battered by George Dixon, is either a fake or one of the easy things you read about. Following very quickly upon the heels of his disastrous engagement with the colored champion, he ran up against Breitenstein and was shelved with almost equal expedition. Breitenstein is a clever little fighter.

Princeton has prevailed upon Yale to change the date of the annual football struggle of the two from Nov. 18 to Nov. 25, making the game the last one of the schedule of both. Harvard had formerly been assigned the date which the Tigers have secured. It is said that the change was made because it is possible that Princeton may meet the Quakers on the gridiron next fall. In view of the feeling that the New Jersey college still seems to be harboring against the Pennsylvanians, it seems rather doubtful that the proposed game will be arranged.

While the athletics of the big Eastern universities are not of an immaculate whiteness, yet they are considered to be as near pure amateurism as is possible. In consequence of this general impression the report that comes from Cornell to the effect that Sweetland, who had been elected by the footballists as their leader next year, has been disapproved by the athletic council on account of alleged professionalism comes as something of a surprise. While the council failed to find that this valuable player had been paid for his athletic prowess, yet enough suspicion attached to result in a refusal to ratify his selection. In order to maintain its amateur standard it now remains for the Cornellians to bar Sweetland from their team next year, and supporters of pure amateur sport will watch with considerable interest whether this action will be taken.

John T. Brush has taken a decidedly radical step in order to prevent drinking among his players. It has been no uncommon thing for a club manager to insert in the contract of some ball tosser who has a more than passing acquaintance with John Barleycorn a clause requiring that such friendship be immediately cut. Brush this year, however, has put into every one of his contracts a provision that no player shall go into a public resort and drink when off duty. Every violation of this clause calls for a fine of from $300 to $500.

Baseball has long been considered as Uncle Sam's own exclusive game, but it is fast becoming an international sport. No Jap or Chinaman is yet represented in any of the important organizations, but there are players of English, Indian, German, Irish, Scotch, Swedish, French, Italian, Russian and Mexican descent playing on various teams of the larger leagues. Next year a new nationality will break into the Western league—a Bohemian. His name is Charles Cheek, who is at present at the University of Wisconsin, and will sign with the Brewers next June. One of his feats consisted of letting down the St. Paul team with four runs with a semi-professional team behind him.

* * *

The records of President Nick Young show that before the drafting commenced last year, no less than thirty-four minor leaguers were purchased by the big bugs. The big majority of this number came from the Western league. Among the most prominent of these were Slagle, William and Pardee, of Kansas City; Wolverton, from Columbus; Tom Daly and Jack Taylor, from Milwaukee; Phyle, from St. Paul, and Phillippi, from Minneapolis.

The Boston triumvirate has loosened the purse strings and will give lavish salaries to its players next season. Eight of the tossers will receive the limit or more. Tenney, Lowe, Long, Collins, Bergen and Hamilton will receive $2400 each. Capt. Duffy will get $2750, and Nichols will draw $3000. Stahl expected to reach the $2400 mark, but fell a little short.

Bicyclists throughout the world will be glad to learn that the wheel will occupy an honored place at the Paris exposition. Nowhere in the world are there more enthusiastic wheelmen than the members of the famous Touring Club de France, and they have not been slow to avail themselves of this opportunity to draw the attention of the civilized world to the modern wheel with all its latest improvements.

A committee was appointed some time ago to see about the construction of a building in which the wheels could be exhibited, and about the selection of a suitable site, and now the news comes that an admirable site has been granted by the authorities in charge of the exposition, and that on it a stately building will be erected within a very short time.

The site is near the Eiffel Tower, and close to the entrance of the Champ de Mars. Any one that knows Paris will see that no better site could have been selected. All the visitors to the exposition, whether they are interested in bicycling or not, will be sure to pass by this spot and cannot help being attracted by the artistic edifice that is to be reared in honor of the ubiquitous wheel.

* * *

Ah, well, what a rapidly moving world this is! Not to forget that it has become so as much through cycling as anything else. Last week, relates the Wheel, the Creeks, Cherokees and Delawares, to the number of more than 10,000, left Vinita, in the Indian territory, for new homes which they have bought in Mexico. They go there because dissatisfied with the rule under which they have lived with the other Indians, essentially that of the white man, and intend to restore their old form of tribal government. The like of this has occurred more than once. Parts of tribes have accepted land in severalty and consented to abide by the laws and take up the manners of the whites, while the other parts insisted upon living and governing themselves after their traditional fashion. This movement of the Creeks, Choctaws and Delawares is backward, so far as it goes, a return to savage life, but observe the curious fact that they take with them 2000 bicycles, products of fin de siecle civilization, on which ride princes and princesses, not to mention grave bishops on the round of their episcopal duties. If there were herds of buffalo in Mexico the Indians would hunt them on wheels. A spectacle it will be, that of the chiefs and warriors coming on them to the councils, pedaling furiously over the prairies of Guadalajara and Sonora instead of dashing over them on horseback, as their fathers might have. Try as he will, the Indian cannot escape the toils of civilization in which he has been caught; he has been tangled up with cycling and, like every one else who has gone through the same performance, is fast forevermore. Indians starting back toward savagery on bicycles is a sight characteristic of the time, and when they have restored their tribal system one may expect to hear of the formation among them of the "Man-Not-Afraid-of-a-Bump" and such like clubs, with colors of green and old gold. Why not?

San Francisco, Feb. 18.—The score of the 6-day bicycle race at 3:45 a. m., the end of the one hundred and first hour, was as follows:

Miller, 1654 miles; Gimm, 1633 miles 7 laps; Aaronson, 1595 miles; Hale, 1544 miles 4 laps; Alberts, 1525 miles 5 laps; Fredericks, 1515 miles 5 laps; Pierce, 1487 miles 4 laps; Nawn, 1448 miles; Barnaby, 1426 miles 6 laps; Pilkington, 1425 miles 2 laps; Lawson, 1351 miles 7 laps; Ashinger, 1208 miles 4 laps; Julius, 1121 miles.

The previous record held by Miller was 1539 miles 1283 yards.

THE RAINY DAY.

"I don't suppose you have forgotten the panic of '93," said Dodson, to the Detroit Free Press. "I certainly have not, for I had that unlucky year impressed upon me in a way that I will not soon forget.

"You remember how money disappeared when the crash came? Banks that were fortunate enough to escape going down in the general crash hoarded their money and refused to loan a cent, even upon the best security.

"I have always made it a rule never to talk business with my wife, and she, poor woman, never knew at the time the many anxious days that I had, for I tried to conceal my hopeless condition.

"At last it came to a point where I was without even a hope, and I staggered home with bankruptcy staring me in the face, I had made the fight and lost, and then, seeing all the savings of a lifetime swept away, I gave up like a man doomed to die, and knowing that no fate could ward off the blow.

"I knew that my wife must be told, so I took her in my arms and broke it to her as gently as possible.

"For several minutes she said not a word, and I began to fear that the shock had been too much for her. I had told her that if I could only raise a small sum it might see me through the worst and enable me to get upon my feet again.

"Finally she spoke: 'John,' she said, 'I have always had a presentment that some day something might happen, and whenever I chanced to have a little money that I thought I would not need I put it away in one of Willie's discarded toy banks. I haven't the slightest idea how much there is, but I have been adding to it for years. I will get it and we will count it together.'

"I never knew until that moment how a man feels when he is reprieved under the gallows.

"She placed the bank before me and I dumped the contents upon the table. There was a total of 73 cents, mostly in pennies.

"It was so comical that I had to laugh. But that laugh saved me. It drove away the gloomy thoughts with which I had surrounded myself, and I took courage again to look the situation in the face, and finally won out.

"I am still paying my wife her usual allowance; but I haven't the face to ask her if she is again putting aside for a rainy day."

THE EXILE OF MARTINIQUE.

The refining influence of captivity is manifest in the manner in which the ferocious king of Dahomey, Bedoazin Boaldjere Hossu Bowele, otherwise called Behanzin, whom Gen. Doods, with a little body of French troops, defeated and made prisoner five years or more ago, passes his time, says the Chicago Record. This "egg of the world," the "son of a sea dog"—as the native phrases go—who beheaded and tortured many Europeans, is exiled to Martinique, and lives upon a pension of 12,000 francs. From a cruel tiger he became an angel of sweetness. He passes his days smoking a pipe, a magnificent one that Dada, the queen, sent to him. To relieve the ennui of his imprisonment, Behanzin practices music on the "douron," a kind of guitar made of a cocoanut, a serpent skin and a birch drum stick. The ex-king is nearing his 58th year, but his black eyes still preserve their luster. He interests himself in the education of his hildren, who are being taught in a college at Martinique. He is proud of their success, and weeps with emotion when they obtain a prize. He has a great desire to attend the coming exposition at Paris. It will probably be permitted if the ex-tyrant of Dahomey will give his word of honor not to attempt to escape. France could on that occasion present to visitors a great collection of exiled rulers. Behanzin, Dinah Salifon, Amadon—ex-king of the Sudan—Ham Ngi, who reigned in Annam, and Queen Ravanola—all those might be on view.

Yankee Investment In Cuba.

A syndicate of American capitalists has just concluded the purchase of a large tract of land near Santiago, and will open up many new iron mines, and inside of five years Yankee enterprise will transform the slow-going country into a place of business activity and push. In much the same manner Hostetter's Stomach Bitters will transform a run-down, debilitated, thin-blooded man into a type of health and strength. It will fill his veins with pure blood, drive away dyspepsia, and clear up his tired brain. It will make him eat and sleep well, and if his nerves are in bad shape, the Bitters will tone them up and restore their old-time form. Malaria is another disease that the Bitters are good for.

More Improvements.

Further additions in train service have recently been instituted by the Baltimore & Ohio railroad in inaugurating a daylight schedule between Chicago, Akron and Cleveland, leaving Chicago 10:25 a. m., via train No. 8 and reaching the points named the same evening. This is in addition to through train service with Pullman sleeping car between the same points via train 46, leaving Chicago 7:30 p. m. daily. Fares to Cleveland via the Baltimore & Ohio railroad are lower than by any other line. For detailed information address B. N. Austin, G. P. A., Chicago.

THE PERSIA OF AMERICA

Some of the Most Fascinating But Least Visited of Nature's Wonders Found in Arizona.

FAMOUS HEALTH RESORT

Prescott, Ariz., Feb. 18.—(Special Correspondence of The Herald.)—Americans are often twitted by Europeans for knowing less of many portions of their own great country than they do of foreign lands. Especially has this been true of Arizona, within whose borders are some of the most fascinating but least visited of nature's wonders. Only as a health resort has its fame spread, until it is becoming known as the "Persia of America," just as California is termed "Our Italy."

The two countries have many points of resemblance. They have a similar climate, with the same dryness of air and soil, the latter naturally rich and yielding abundantly when watered. In the misty ages of antiquity the inhabitants of Persia adored the direct source of light and heat, and their grandest temples were dedicated to the bright orb of day. The ancient peoples of Arizona also consecrated edifices to the worship of that glorious luminary; the modern dweller in this land of sunshine is always grateful that its face is so seldom hidden. Persia has its ancient ruins, its temples and walled cities, of whose account history is eloquent. Could one lift the veil that hides the past, the crumbling ruins, old as those of the Euphrates, cliff-dwellings, sign-writings and remains of ditches that watered areas large enough to support countless thousands, would show Arizona to possess a history ancient and interesting as that of the far-famed land of the East.

If Persia has its bands of mounted Arabs, who plunder the defenseless traveler, it is not many years since the stern reprisals of Gen. Crook's soldiers, and the capture and imprisonment of their chief, Geronimo, put a stop to the dreadful atrocities of the Arizona Apache.

As indicating the cosmopolitan character of its visitors, one coming here over a great trans-continental route sees satchels, steamer trunks and leather-covered cases of all kinds, literally plastered with names of Atlantic steamship lines, labels of Paris, London and Rome, occasionally the name of some famous hostelry. The average traveler takes pride in such "ear-marks," and is careful not to deface them.

The sunken cheeks and wasted forms, the almost continuous coughing and spitting, gives one the impression that half our fellow passengers are consumptives. We begin to have some conception of the vast number in whom the periodical announcement of a discovery of a cure for the dread malady awakens hopes that are soon dispelled. The "climate cure" is the best known remedy, but it is unfortunately a prescription too expensive for all to follow.

The extreme dryness of the air and the varied temperature of valley, plain or mountain which Arizona possesses, afford a choice of climate that means a new lease of life to the sufferer having at least half his lungs unaffected. A high, bracing altitude like that of Prescott is best for those not subject to heart trouble; the others go to Phoenix or other towns in Southern Arizona, having a low altitude and a sub-tropical climate. Many consumptives wait until the disease has so far progressed that the sudden change but hastens their end. They had far better remain at home to spend their last days surrounded by sympathizing relatives and friends.

As a rule invalids fare better and receive more attention here than ordinary visitors. A case in point is that of a friend of mine, a tall, thin, cadaverous-looking Yankee, but in perfect health. Without stopping to inquire, his landlady thought it was another case of consumption, and he was the recipient of many little attentions and delicacies which were denied the other boarders. The apparent consumptive was careful not to correct his hostess' impression, but either because the snap was too good to keep, or through the envy of his fellow boarders, the real facts came to the good dame's ears. The effects of the discovery that she had been feeding all the delicacies to a healthy and ablebodied young man caused a strong reaction, and my friend received such scant attention from that time on that he soon found it convenient to seek another boarding place. Either through dislike to associate with consumptives, or the fear of contagion, the proprietors of a few hotels make a rule to receive no invalids, but I doubt its strict enforcement. The theory that the disease is contagious is now generally accepted, so depots and public resorts all through the Southwest abound in "No Spitting" signs, under penalty of heavy fines, aimed particularly at this class.

Prescott has an elevation of 5380 feet, but one is slow to realize that this is far above the usual height of the clouds at Duluth. The effect of altitude was first brought home to me by the casual remark of a cook in one of the railway eating houses en route. I had ordered some soft boiled eggs, and waited what I thought was time enough for them to be done to my taste. Still they boiled, and I remarked to the autocrat of the range that I was afraid they would be too hard. So I was somewhat surprised when she informed me that on account of the high altitude everything took longer to cook there. This I found to be a fact, for the boiling point of water, which is the rapid production of bubbles of vapor in the mass of liquid, is put at 212 degrees, Fahrenheit, at sea level.

As we ascend, the air grows rarer, consequently the atmospheric pressure diminishes and with it the temperature of the boiling point. The rate of decrease is one degree for every six hundred feet of elevation.

With an instrument called the thermo-barometer, the principle has been utilized to measure heights by observing the temperature recorded by delicate thermometer fitted to a vessel in which water is boiled.

Here the boiling point is at 203 degrees, and if one were to make tea on the summit of San Francisco mountain, nearly 13,000 feet high, it would have a temperature of 191 degrees, a trifle low, but still comfortably hot. This slight difference is apt to cause the skillful Eastern housewife, who is accustomed to preparing dishes "just so," some little annoyance until she discovers the cause and makes allowance for it by longer cooking.

On every side Prescott is surrounded by mountains of granite, the nakedness of some being partially hidden by growths of large pines, interspersed with stunted oaks and cedars. So indiscriminately are the gigantic masses of boulders of every conceivable size and shape, piled on each other, or so nicely balanced that one imagines the whole structure would tumble in a heap were the keystone removed.

In solitary grandeur, to the northeast of the town, rises the sharply-defined snow-capped peak of San Francisco mountain, 12,561 feet high. So clearly in this pure air does it stand out silhouetted against the horizon that one thinks it not more than twenty miles off, and is slow to believe it is seventy-five miles distant as the crow flies, and is a landmark for a radius of 100 miles around. It is an extinct volcano and, centuries ago, from its crater and sides, were poured forth streams of molten lava, which spread out and covered a large portion of Northern Arizona with a blanket ten to thirty feet thick. The clearness of the air brings the mountains apparently so near that, together with the buoyancy and exhilaration the stranger from a low altitude feels when first arrived here, he is tempted to start out in the early morning to ascend one near by. A few short climbs over the foothills and he discovers that his strength is not equal to his desires. An unaccountable weakness seizes the knees, and frequent pauses for breath are required. This is an effect of the atmosphere, compelling extra work on the part of the lungs to supply the necessary oxygen. In a few days they expand sufficiently to meet the increased demand for air, and no further discomfort is noticed. It is this involuntary and enforced breathing, clearing the air cells that have been clogged and idle for months, which is so beneficial to consumptives whose lungs are not so wasted that they cannot endure the additional strain.

The population of Prescott varies with the seasons and the ebb and flow of the mining industry, but the average is about 3000. Unlike many of the towns of the Southwest the large majority are Americans, though Mexicans, Chinamen and negroes are not wanting to give it a cosmopolitan air.

Following the old Mexican custom, a large square in the center of the city has been devoted to public use, the only structure on it being the court house in the middle. Facing this plaza, as it is called, are the leading business houses of the place. The early history of Spanish-America has furnished names for a number of thoroughfares, one of the more important after Cortez, the Spanish conqueror, and, curiously enough, another after Montezuma, his captive, and the last of the Aztec emperors. The town itself is named after Prescott, the great historian of that period. That portion of Montezuma street facing the plaza is known as "Whisky Row," and ladies of good social standing avoid it after dark. Here one may see a reminder of the good old days of cattle barons and bonanza silver miners, when Prescott vied with Tombstone for the glory and reputation of being the liveliest and toughest town in the West.

The majority of the structures in the row are 1-story frame buildings. Every alternate one is a saloon, usually with a gambling establishment in connection. The astonishing fact, and the one which shows what changes have taken place in the past few years is the absence of noise and disorder.

Gambling houses seem to be an integral part of every flourishing mining camp in the West, and Prescott offers every convenience to the devotees of chance. The same spirit which moves the prospector who risks months, perhaps years of toil and privation in the hope of "striking it rich," is very like that of him who spends his last dollar at the gaming table, trusting a lucky turn of the cards will make his fortune. Day or night, Sunday or week day, one may pass along Whisky Row and hear the rattle of chips from the interior of places bearing such suggestive names as "Palace," "Cabinet," "Owl" and so on. The elegant bar and warm, brilliantly-lit rooms seem most inviting, concert hall singers and piano players, generally females, painted and powdered, are an additional attraction to those not possessed of a too critical musical ear.

The Salvation Army has a few soldiers here doing missionary work, and every evening before marching to the hall they make a stand before one of the popular resorts and to the air of "There'll be a Hot Time in the Old Town Tonight," exhorts the sinner to repentance. They attract a fair-sized audience—anything will here—and are listened to without interruption, but after the conclusion of the open-air services the crowd fails to follow the man with the big bass drum and turns again to the saloons.

Faro is the most popular game. Roulette and crap have attractions for many, while the great American game of poker is almost neglected. In faro the dealers sits behind a green baize-covered table, on which are stamped representations of the cards. At his left are stacks of different colored chips, which he exchanges for coin at the commencement or termination of each player's sitting. Chinamen are sometimes given yellow chips to distinguish their plays from the the Americans' when both are playing at the same table. The dealer is also prepared to produce a formidable 6-shooter if necessity arises. Time was when this was as essential a part of a well-regulated game as money or cards, but its necessity has gone with the bonanza days, and the occasional disputes that now arise are settled with the fist. The players lay the chips they wish to bet on the cards they wish to choose, and from an open-faced box the dealer draws from the pack therein two cards, faces up. The first is laid aside, the second indicates that bets made on it are lost, while the card remaining on top wins for him who has bet on it. Unless a party of Chinamen happen to be together, not a word on either side is spoken for hours. To one not of a venturesome spirit, the monotonous turn of the cards and rattle of the chips would seem rather idiotic were it not for the intense interest displayed. Usually the stakes are small, but hundreds of fortunes have been squandered here.

The unfortunate who "goes broke" has too much interest in life to follow the Monte Carlo custom of committing suicide on the premises. For him there remains the golden treasures concealed in the veins of the mountains to play for, and as soon as he can procure a "grub stake" he is off in search of another good claim, or failing this, hires out in the mines until he can earn enough for a prospecting trip of two or three months' duration. To illustrate the ease with which money passed from one hand to another in the early "boom" days, may be cited an incident which actually occurred in the practice of a local physician, now retired. Then the only practitioner in the town, he was awakened one night by a continued and vigorous pounding on the door of his combined sleeping room and office. Hastily jumping out of bed, he admitted several men who were there, and getting back under the bed coverings, inquired what was wanted. A comrade, they said, whom the doctor had previously treated, had been seized with a return of the malady, and was suffering intensely. Would Doc come at once and relieve him? A few questions reluctantly answered brought out the fact that the man, who was a heavy drinker and of a mulish disposition, had brought on the present attack by a glorious drunk. The doctor had especially cautioned him to avoid liquor, so naturally was irritated at the midnight summons.

"I'll go if you wish it, gentlemen, but it will cost you $1000," he announced as his ultimatum, after a moment's reflection. His visitors seemed somewhat staggered at this, but without a protest their spokesman said: "All right, Doc, we'll pay it, but hurry up." "Then just lay the money down on that desk," they were ordered. Without more ado, the hands of the party went into their pockets, but altogether they could produce only half of the required amount. One of them hurried out and in a few minutes returned with the balance of the $1000, which he added to the pile on the desk. The doctor counted the money carefully, shoved it into this pockets, and telling his callers he would go right over, got up and dressed. To walk over to the boarding house where the patient was and by a trifling operation relieve his present sufferings, was the work of but a few minutes. Promising to come around later, he started back for the office, a part of the homeward route being on "Whisky Row."

At that hour gambling establishments were running full blast, and he took a notion to look in one and see how the game was going.

The big fee in his pockets, so easily obtained, stimulated the doctor's natural passion for gambling and ere long he was interested in a game of faro. He played high, but fickle fortune deserted him for the remainder of the night, and in two hours' time his $1000 had melted away. As unconcerned, apparently, as though nothing out of the usual routine had occurred, but concluding this was excitement enough for one night, our physician took his leave and went back to finish his sleep so rudely interrupted.

FREE HELP FOR WEAK MEN

"CALTHOS"

Prof. Laborde's Marvelous French Cure for Lost Manhood.

FIVE DAYS' TRIAL TREATMENT
Sent Absolutely Free by Sealed Mail To All Sufferers.

NO C. O. D. OR DEPOSIT SCHEME.

The only preparation known to science which really cures Lost Manhood is "CALTHOS," the marvelous French remedy discovered by Prof. Jules Laborde. It is controlled in this country by The Von Mohl Company, of Cincinnati, Ohio, a concern which occupies a high and honorable place in the world of medicine. It is one of the largest and most responsible houses in Cincinnati, as anyone who is acquainted in that city will testify.

The Von Mohl Company invites all men suffering from Lost Manhood, Spermatorrhœa, Varicocele, Small Parts or Weakness of any nature in the Nerves or Sexual Organs, to send their names and receive a five days' treatment. This will prove the wonderful vitalizing powers of "CALTHOS." After using it five days the sufferers will find new vigor in their organs, new force in their muscles, new blood in their veins, new ambition, and rapid progress toward the buoyant feelings and sensations of younger days.

This liberal free offer is genuine. There is no swindling C. O. D. or Deposit Scheme connected with it. The five days' treatment is sent by sealed mail to all on request, wrapped in a plain package, and full printed instructions accompany the medicine, so that each patient becomes his own doctor and cures himself at home.

It doesn't make any difference what caused the weakness—whether bad habits in youth, or excess, or overwork, or business troubles. "CALTHOS" will effect a cure, no matter what big name the disease may be called by doctors.

The Von Mohl Company treats all correspondence in perfect confidence. Under no conditions will it make public the names of the thousands who have written testimonials telling of their restoration to robust manhood after other medicines and appliances have proved worthless. "CALTHOS" is regularly used in the French and German armies, and the soldiers in those countries have come to be perfect models of strength and vitality. Cures are effected at all ages from twenty to eighty years. There is no case (except where the stage of epilepsy or insanity has been reached) which it will not radically, quickly and permanently cure. Sexual weakness does not cure itself. It grows worse from week to week. Each day aggravates the mental and physical anguish.

Send today for the free five days' trial treatment. If it helps you, more of the medicine can be purchased. If it does not help, no harm is done and no money has been paid out. You can send your name in the full knowledge that it will be kept from all. The "CALTHOS" department of our business is strictly confidential. Address applications for trial treatment, etc., to

THE KING OF EXECUTIONERS RETIRES.

M. Anatole Diebler Gives Up His Post After Thirty-Nine Years of Decapitation.

THE MOST DREADED MAN IN PARIS.
M. Diebler Retires from Office with the Blood of Three Hundred and Twenty-seven Persons on His Hands.

Paris, which is distinguished for countless startling features, boasts a man who has killed more people than any other living person. The killing, it is supposed, can be called legal, since France adopts capital punishment for its criminals, and the wholesale murderer, as it were, is M. Anatole Diebler.

M. Diebler is now a very old man; so old in fact that his hands tremble when he goes to perform his deadly work, and this, coupled with the fact that his extensive services give him a right to rest, is the reason for his retirement.

In height M. Diebler is of the medium, with an inclination to stoop. His face has a hardened look from long years of cruel work, and is covered by a thick mixed gray beard. He dresses in black, usually wearing a Prince Albert of smooth cloth and a silk hat whose shape was more commonly seen a quarter of a century ago.

The lower classes of France call the veteran executioner "Monsieur de Paris," which is intended as a term of mockery and disrespect. During thirty-nine years of service he has decapitated 327 criminals, and it is his pleasure to boast that he never had a mishap. His nearest approach to failure was at Nancy at a recent execution when he came very near making a blunder through the violent struggling of the prisoner. The criminal's head came within a few inches of missing the knife, but M. Diebler's resolution stood him well, and thus he escaped making his first mistake. It is said that the executioner also exercises a power over his intended victims that is almost supernatural, and in all his life has never had more than three or four to resist him. He is succeeded to the grewsome office by his son, who is said to be equally as stern as his father, and shares the dread in which the erring hold M. Diebler, Sr.

Discovered By a Woman.

Another great discovery has been made, and that too, by a lady in this country. "Disease fastened its clutches upon her and for seven years she withstood its severest tests, but her vital organs were undermined and death seemed imminent. For three months she coughed incessantly, and could not sleep. She finally discovered a way to recovery, by purchasing of us a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, and was so much relieved on taking first dose, that she slept all night; and with two bottles, has been absolutely cured. Her name is Mrs. Luther Lutz. Thus writes W. C. Hamnick & Co., of Shelby, N. C. Trial bottles free at Duluth Drug company's drug store. Regular size 50 cents and $1. Every bottle guaranteed.

TWO HARBORS.

Frank Doerr, a Two Harbors boy who enlisted in the United States navy on the cruiser Cincinnati about eighteen months ago, has secured his discharge and is glad to get back to Two Harbors. Doerr can tell some stories that would make some hero-worshippers drop their pets like hot potatoes, because after all, Hobson, Sampson and the others are only human beings. Mr. Doerr is glad that he enlisted and thrice as glad that he got his discharge, says the Iron Trade Journal.

TOLSTOI MAY GET PUT OUT.

Russian Organs, Official and Clerical, Are Clamoring Mightily For His Exilement.

COUNT LEO TOLSTOI.
This Picture Shows Him in His Study, and is the One by Which He is Better Known Than Any Other.

Cable reports from St. Petersburg to this newspaper say that the organs throughout Russia, official and clerical, are clamoring vigorously for the expulsion of Count Leo Tolstoi on the ground that he has been the cause of all the recent disturbances in connection with the theoretic beliefs of various heterodox sects in Charkou and other parts of Southern Russia.

A strange coincidence in the case is that Tolstoi has become obnoxious to the Russians for advocating the same doctrines which in our country made the late Henry George more than a hero in the eyes of thousands, namely, that of government ownership of lands and the theories connected with it.

Tolstoi lives quietly at his country seat at Ysnaya Poliana, in the government of Toula, and celebrated his 70th birthday last September. His family consists of the countess and two daughters, Titiana and Maire. His most striking features are the high, open forehead and the deep-set gray-blue eyes that always seem to be gazing far into the distance when he is not writing, and from under the thick overhanging brows literally pierce the soul of the person upon whom they are bent.

As in his food so in his dress, Count Tolstoi is extremely simple, and the habitual gray flannel blouse in which Repin has portrayed him is the garb in which he is more universally known than any other.

Count Tolstoi cordially hates cities and city life, and never visits Moscow or St. Petersburg unless absolutely compelled to do so, invariably making his stay in either place as brief as possible.

But it is in his relations with the peasantry of Russia that Tolstoi's nobility and worth shine forth, for he places himself upon the level with them with utmost humility and devotes his life to ameliorating their condition. He does not look upon the poor from above or below, but in his life as in his writings Tolstoi places himself on that common point on which we all stand.

If Czar Nicholas should exile him he will do so in the face of much trouble among Tolstoi's followers, who are almost innumerable.

STORIES OF THE STREET

East End Card Party Broken Up By a Cat.

Fistic Encounter That Was Not On the Bills.

A DRUMMER'S WAR STORY

A small cat without any indications of a possibility of great things in her appearance broke up a card party in an East End residence the other evening, smashed the dignity of the head of the house to smithereens, and was the cause of the smashing of about $75 worth of furniture. The cat is now in exile, and instead of the cozy quarters in the house that it has hitherto enjoyed, it now sleeps under the barn. But over against this in the account there is the fun the cat had, and a bruised shin from which the master of the house is suffering, besides the damaged dignity and furniture. So puss is at least even.

It came about in this way. Puss is, or was, the playmate of the children in the house and a general favorite with the whole family. Puss had been taught a number of tricks and games, and among the diversions in which it and the children engaged was a romping match that usually came off about bed time. One of the children would run in the parlor and hide and call puss. Puss would trot in and look around, and the child would jump out from its hiding place and then there would be a race clear through to the dining room. Then there would be a game of hide and seek in the dining room and all hands would race back to the parlor.

On the evening in question the usual fun had been dispensed with on account of the party, but puss had been on dress parade with the children with a ribbon around her neck and her company manners on. When the children retired, puss, who was usually taken to her quarters below stairs at that time, was overlooked. Puss did not understand why anything should be allowed to interfere with the usual evening program, and wandered restlessly about looking for some fun. Her presence was not noticed until a gentleman who is usually very slow and deliberate in his movements suddenly brought the card he was holding aloft to lay on the table down to the table with a bang, and continuing the downward movement of his right hand, with a duck, grabbed his left leg just above the ankle. Then straightening up with a remark that had no reference to the game, he kicked out with his left foot and apologized to whoever he had struck, the apology being accepted by the gentleman on his left. An investigation as to the cause of the disturbance led to the discovery of puss under the table making playful jabs with her paw. The master of the house advanced to take puss from the scene, and then the fun began. Puss thought that the usual game had begun. She made a rush under the lounge with a playful flick of her tail. Dislodged from there, she ran under the piano and from there behind a curtain. The master of the house dove behind the curtain and puss was off for the library, the master of the house in ever quickening pursuit. The card playing had stopped and the guests had watched the chase with absorbing interest, and they now awaited developments. The developments came. First there was a crash and the sound of falling books from the library. Then the chase passed on to regions beyond.

A few of the guests started to follow. The trail was easy to find. Just as they had picked their way through the wreck in the library, puss bounded into the room, having doubled on the trail, and after her the master of the house full tilt. Those who were following the chase scattered, dodging out of the way just in time to keep from being run over. Entering the parlor again, puss made for under the piano. The master of the house, determined to bring the hunt to an end before puss got to cover again, threw himself forward and his foot tripping on a hassock, he and puss and the piano stool went under the piano together. The man of the house had a good clutch on puss, and he backed his way out with her triumphantly clutched by the back. In this way he escorted her to the door and hurled her out into the night, and then retired up stairs to repair damages. He returned soon with another suit of clothes on and an odor of Pond's extract about his person, and the interrupted game was resumed.

Fourth avenue west between Superior and First streets was the scene of a fistic encounter, one night last week, that was not advertised on the billboards. The two men engaged were in the plumbing business and it was evident they could not stand the prosperity that the cold weather had thrust upon them. Up to the time of the battle the two principals had been the best of friends but at length they had come to a disagreement. One of the men was a big burly Irishman and tipped the scales at 180, while the other was a diminutive specimen of manhood and hailed from Scotland. After a little arguing over some trivial matter they squared off and it was evident a battle royal was to take place.

"Jes' watch me trun de spurs into de Scotchman, why he won't last one, two, tree, wid me," said the heavy weight.

The little fellow said nothing but about that time started after his opponent. Before the referee had time to say the word the two combatants were together and it was certainly a warm start. The Shanese Chicken broke away from the big fellow and then made a flying leap on "de fierce guy's" neck which much resembled the antics of the "little old man of the sea" in Sinbad. Once more they broke away and again they came together, and this time the wee Scotchman landed on the Irishman's eye, which was the last blow struck in the fight.

The feather weight said nothing after the battle but had a broad smile on his countenance and he wore it lovely, too. As a result of the Irishman's trying to back up his assertion "dat he'd never let de kid git to foirst base" he is carrying one of his adorned optics in a sling.

A commercial man who was in the city during the week told the story of a pathetic incident that happened in the late war. He has been traveling out of New York for a number of years and was in that city when the talk of war was at its height last spring. He also got the fever, quit his position with the grocery firm and enlisted in the Seventy-First New York. The Seventy-First New York was one of the few volunteer regiments at the battle of Santiago. It was after first day's fighting and the outer trenches had been taken by our men that the incident happened. The regiment had orders to advance and were to go as far as they could toward the city of Santiago, and were already advancing when he heard a moan coming from the bushes close by. He walked over and there was a lad lying on the ground with a bullet hole through his head. The boy couldn't have been over 17 years old and he had such a sweet expression on his face that he seemed to be perfectly contented where he lay although he knew he would not live long. After asking for some water which the man gave him the boy looked up and said.

"Tell mother—tell her, her boy died fighting for the country he loved."

These were the last words the boy said He died in a few minutes and was buried right where he lay. The dead boy's comrades wrote to his mother telling her his last dying words which seemed to cheer the lady even in her greatest sorrow.

Another camp story is going the rounds and runs something like this. Two Duluth boys, call them Tom and Pete, were at Knoxville with the Fourteenth Minnesota regiment. They had been over to the hospital one morning as both had suffered the night before with all kinds of aches and pains and therefore the army surgeon marked their "quarters," which excused them from all work around the camp. In the afternoon of that day Tom started down town and after walking around the town for an hour he met his friend Pete and the two started around the town. They had been to several stores and had made some purchases, but were now standing on a corner waiting for a car when one of the many provost guards approached them and asked if they had a pass. The boys had forgotten to go through the formality of obtaining one of those important documents but it would not do to say so now. When Tom saw the guard coming he started to take a little walk but the guard caught Pete and again asked them to show their pass.

"Tom, where is the pass?" said Pete.

"Why you know I haven't got it, the sergeant has got our pass," Tom bravely replied.

"Well," said the guard, "the only thing I can do is to take you to the guard house."

"Go ahead, if you are so anxious," was the boys, reply. So the guard took the two boys to the Knoxville armory which was being used for a guard house and on entering the desk sergeant asked them their names.

"What is your name? asked the sergeant.

"Hewitt."

"Hewitt what?"

"Bill Hewitt, Co. K, Second Ohio," said Pete.

"What is your name?" this time to Tom; but Tom was equal to the emergency, having had time to think and quick as a flash he said: "P. J. Quinn."

"What company," asked the sergeant, but Tom had not heard what company his friend had given so he said "same company."

"Well, you fellows will have to stay here until the major comes," the sergeant informed them. So they went to the back part of the building and stayed until the provost marshal arrived.

It was not long before the major put in an appearance and Tom was first to be tried. Pete wanted to be at the hearing so he could tell what his partner was saying but the guard said no. Pretty soon the sergeant came down and called "Hewitt," but Pete had forgotten his name; the sergeant called again, Pete thought it must be he the sergeant was after. So he followed the sergeant up to the major's dask and the major said.

"Is this Bill Hewitt?"

"It is, sir," answered Pete.

"Well do you think you boys would go right back to camp if I would let you go now?" asked the major, for Tom had been jollying him in the meantime.

"We certainly would," replied the boys and away they went, a little wiser for their experience.

FEBRUARY MAGAZINES

Scribner's Magazine for February brings forward several more of its attractive features for 1899. It is not a "war number," although it contains one of the most graphic things yet written about the war—the second installment of Governor Roosevelt's serial on "The Rough Riders." Senator George F. Hoar of Massachusetts one of the oldest and most conspicuous of the members of congress, begins his reminiscences of the political events of the past fifty years in this number. Senator Hoar has known all the great men of the period, and his keen appreciation of human nature and his kindly spirit have made him warm friends with many of them. These reminiscences are therefore intensely personal. Each installment will stand alone, and the first deals with "Four National Conventions," in which the senator was a conspicuous figure, and over one of which he presided. The paper contains a lot of the inside political history back of the nominations of Blaine, Garfield and Harrison. "Aunt Minrevy Ann" is destined to take her place alongside Uncle Remus as one of Joel Chandler Harris' two most humorous characters. The first of her Chronicles, in this number, tells how she "ran away from home and then ran back again." A. B. Frost, the best illustrator that Harris has ever had, makes the pictures for the Aunt Minervy Ann stories.

* * *

The leading article in Appleton's Popular Science Monthly for February discusses the very important question of "Vegetation in Cities" in its relation to healthfulness. Dr. Smith, the author, has been one of the leading physicians of New York city for the past twenty-five years, and is hence well qualified to speak authoritatively on the subject. "Mivart's Groundwork of Science," by W. K. Brooks of Johns Hopkins university, calls attention to some of the weak points in Dr. Mivart's philosophy, and points out the evil effects which such attempts at compromise always produce. C. L. Whittle contributse an extremely important article on "The Science of Observation." He first calls attention to the necessity of knowing how to observe intelligently, and then takes the reader to a number of places, by means of photographs, where nature's methods are strikingly illustrated, and shows how, by a study of such common features as railroad cuts, ledges of rock and washouts, some of the most powerful forces in nature can be demonstrated and the present features of the landscape explained by their past action.

* * *

The fiction in the February number of the Catholic World Magazine is particularly good. There is a tender pathos about the story of a miner's life, as pictured by John J. a Becket, well calculated to bring the moisture to the eye and throb to the heart. Such stories as Chiquita do not a little to tone the whole magazine.

The current number of the Forum completes the twenty-sixth volume; and it may with propriety be said that the magazine, with increasing years shows no signs of decadence, but, on the contrary, preserves its virility unimpaired. In the February issue there are two articles of especial importance at the present time. One is by Commander R. B. Bradford on "Coaling Stations for the Navy." This officer, as is well known, has seen much active service, and in bringing the necessity of coaling stations before the public his effort has been, as he says, to deal with facts. The other paper is by Hon. David J. Hill, assistant secretary of state, and is entitled "The War and the Extension of Civilization." Mr. Hill approaches his subject from a new standpoint, and claims that the terms "imperialism" and "expansion" do not meet the case. Hon. Charles Denby contributes to the same number some further arguments "Why the Treaty Should be Ratified."

Among the notable features of the Argonaut for Feb. 13 are: "Bossue's Vindication: How a Charger Sustained His Dead Master's Honor," translated for the Argonaut from the French by W. E. Dutil; "A Nation of Tea Drinkers," in which Isobel Strong writes of the English "Five-O'Clocks;" a letter from New York, containing gossip about the election of Chauncey Depew to the United States senate; and "Memories of Daudet," a long review, with extracts, of Leon Daudet's "Memoirs of Alphonse Daudet."

The question of handling the wires and gas, water and drainage pipes in great cities, and even in towns, is becoming with each year one of greater importance. A prize was offered to the engineers of the United States by the Cosmopolitan magazine for the ablest article suggesting a scientific, economical solution of the problem. The paper of Henry F. Bryant has been selected by the committee as the one most ably meeting the conditions. It appears in the February Cosmopolitan.

McClure's Magazine for February opens with a notable poem by Rudyard Kipling, in which the "White Man" (unmistakably the White Man of the United States) is urged to take up his burden and go forth and fulfill his divine office of master and teacher to his "new-caught sullen peoples, half devil and half child." Following this is an interesting account, by Franklin Matthews, of an actual descent in the Holland diving torpedo boat, illustrated with drawings from life. Hamlin Garland contributes a delightful description of the daily life of the trail, drawn from his own close acquaintance with it; Capt. Brady relates some more good stories from his own experience as a telegraph operator and train dispatcher, and Stephen Crane depicts, in his own vivid manner, some striking instances of bravery on the part of marines to whom it fell at Guantanamo to signal from shore to the ships under full exposure to Spanish sharp-shooters.

The complete novel in the February issue of Lippincott's is "For the French Lilies," by Isabel Nixon Whitely. The action is chiefly in Italy in 1511-12, and in this remote period the author shows herself at home. Wardon Allan Curtis tells "The Tale of the Doubtful Grandmother," and a most extraordinary tale it is, such as surely was never told before. In "A Night in Devil's Gully," Owen Hall records an Australian experience of a kind now happily rare. Austin Bierbower, in "A Diplomatic Forecast," predicts that the leading and predominant powers will soon be England, Russia and the United States, with Germany as a bad fourth—unless she attacks and overcomes Russia before the latter has carried out her Asiatic plans.

In the Engineering Magazine for February Commodore Melville sets down his "Readings from Experience in Naval Engineering." As engineer in chief of the United States navy, he is fresh from studying the work of modern war vessels in action—an experience never afforded heretofore to the naval authorities of any civilized country. Lessons drawn from such an opportunity by such an authority are full of weight and interest. Commodore Melville's paper is to be continued in March. Of prime importance, too, especially at this time, is W. Henry Hunter's review of the Panama canal. The fine pictures aid in showing a state of progress far in advance of that generally imagined.

Among the best and most practical features of the household magazines of the day, is one carried out by Table Talk, which, in giving menus for the month, adds directions for the economical carrying out of the same. The February issue has this attractive feature, as well as many recipes, given in reply to inquiries from housekeepers all over the country.

The February number of the New England Magazine contains a third and final article on "Negro Melodies," by William E. Barton, D.D. The first, which appeared in the December number, contained the older plantation songs; the second, the songs which show the influence of the war and of the new freedom which it brought to the slave; and the third concerns itself principally with the newer songs which have grown up or been modified by new uses since emancipation. The articles embody the words and music of nearly seventy of the best songs, most of them till now unpublished. Some of these newly published songs are equal to the very best hitherto in print, and all are of interest. It is the largest "find" of this character since the publication of the original collections of Fisk and Hampton, and one which students and compilers of these songs will certainly use in future books of this sort. The historical and descriptive notes are gossipy and instructive. Warren F. Kellogg, 5 Park Square, Boston, Mass.

The February Ladies' Home Journal offers more than the expected variety of literary and pictorial features. It opens with an article by Mrs. Ballington Booth, taking the reader through state prisons, pointing out the awfulness of prison life, and the hopelessness of a released prisoner's efforts to gain unaided a place where he can get a livelihood. The story touches the heart and will attract widespread interest. Mrs. Lew Wallace writes of "The Murder of the Modern Innocents," a powerful and convincing protest against the over-education of children. "The Story of New York's Social Life" gives interesting glimpses of Gotham society, and "The Largest Ranch in the World" describes a Texas pasturage as large as two states of our Union. The three serials, "The Girls of Camp Arcady," Miss Wilkins' "The Jamesons in the Country," and "The Minister of Carthage" continue with dash and a successful interest.

The four February issues of the Youth's Companion will contain, among other features, an article by the late Dan Rice, in two parts, entitled, "Fifty Years With a Menagerie;" a story by Sidford F. Hamp, the Western writer, entitled "Walter's Fight With Indians;" Mary T. Earle's serial story, "The Flag on the Hilltop," describing life on the Ohio river border during the civil war; a tale of frontier adventure entitled "The Cradle of Andy Le Barge;" Robert Barr's story of the war of 1812, "The First Speculator," and a schoolboy's story, "To Coventry and Back," by W. T. Nichols. Another feature of interest will be "Art Students in New York," by G. W. Breck, former president of the New York Art Students' league, who offers some good advice to prospective students of art.

Dodd, Mead & Co., announce for early spring publication, the following books: A new novel by Amelia E. Barr, entitled "I, Thou, and the Other One;" a collection of stories by Ira S. Dodd, entitled "The Songs of the Rappahannock;" Ruskin's letters to Rossetti and others of his contemporaries (one of the most important contributions to recent Ruskin literature). Joubert's "Thoughts," translated into English, with a preface by Mrs. Humphrey Ward; and a new volume of poems by Paul Laurence Dunbar, the author of "Lyrics of Lowly Life."

Houghton, Mifflin and company, of Boston, Mass., the publishers of the Atlantic Monthly, announce a special rate to new subscribers of 50 cents for a trial subscription to the Atlantic Monthly for three issues. The Atlantic never was stronger or better than it is today, and this offer affords an excellent opportunity for new readers to become acquainted with the magazine.

The midwinter Frank Leslie's Popular Monthly is bright, crisp and picturesque. It is to some extent a Spanish-American number, embracing among its leading illustrated articles: "West Indiaward, Ho!" in which Champion Bissell gives some valuable information and advice to citizens of the United States who contemplate settling in Cuba or Porto Rico; "To Make a Spanish Holiday," by Mrs. Frank Leslie, in which occurs one of the most vivid descriptions of a bull-fight ever penned, supplemented by the splendid drawings of F. Luis Mora; "An Old Spanish-American Colony," by F. Williamson, giving a beautifully illustrated account of journey up the great Magdalena river of South America, and a ride over the Andes to the Colombian capital, Bogota.

In the February number of the American Monthly Review of Reviews the editor seeks to apply the lessons of our national failures in the South during the reconstruction period following the civil war to the present problems of a similar nature in Cuba, Porto Rico and the Philippines. His deductions are interesting and instructive. He says: "The true way to restore the South to the Union after the war was to restore the South to its own people." The same principle applies today to the new territories just coming under our control. The editor warns us against a new style of "carpetbagger" who is threatening to invade Cuba—namely, the franchise-grabber.

Students of social and economic problems will be deeply interested in the February issue of the Coming Age. In it Dr. Philip S. Moxom contributes a thoughtful paper on the "Present Day Tendency of Democracy." Rev. R. E. Bisbee discusses Edward Bellamy and his work. Ernest H. Crosby writes on Count Tolstoi and his labors. Mr. Flower shows the surprising results that have attended recent co-operative experiments in Great Britain. He also discusses the recent Chicago street railway contest; the race problem in the South, and the czar's manifesto. The Coming Age is outspoken and fearless, but there is nothing pessimistic in its atmosphere. It is pre-eminently constructive and progressive in the best sense of the term.

"Are Long Marriage Engagements Judicious?" is discussed from various points of view in the February issue of the American Queen by Margaret Sangster, the editor of Harper's Bazar; Edward Payson Ingersoll, D.D.; Lucy Hall Brown, M.D.; Herbert L. Bridgman, of the Brooklyn Standard Union; Helen Lee Sargent and Susan Hayes Ward. "Good Manners: Are They a Lost Art?" is another symposium participated in by able writers. Ouida contributes an article on "The Fashion of Today," Sarah Grand writes about "The New Woman." Grace Pierce has an article on "The American Woman," illustrated by Charles Dana Gibson.

Magazine readers cannot afford to pass by the February number of Self Culture, especially if they are looking for the largest amount of good reading, well illustrated, and served at the nominal price of 10 cents. It will be refreshing, too, to many of our readers to take up a magazine that is not given up to the attenuated descriptions of the exploits of the "Rough Riders," or to the glorification of Sampson, Schey and Hobson, by themselves, and which has not found it difficult to make up a number of 128 double-column pages, without chronicling the doings and charms of actresses alleged to be beautiful.

"Experiments with High Explosives in Large Guns" forms the theme of a paper by Hiram S. Maxim in the North American Review for February, in which Mr. Maxim interestingly narrates the result of a long series of experiments made by him in order to produce a gun that should throw high explosives, such as nitro-gelatine and compressed gun cotton, for many hundreds of rounds without perceptible wear taking place in the barrel.

HOW FEATHERS ARE TREATED.

Ostrich feathers in their natural state are white or gray, but ere passing into the hands of the milliner for use as ornaments they are often dyed in various colors, and some times, if the curl is not as decided as it should be, the shape is improved by mechanical treatment. An ostrich will furnish, it is said, $40 to $50 worth of feathers every year of different qualities. The prices vary from $7 to $200 per pound.

Yellow Jaundice Cured.

Suffering humanity should be supplied with every means possible for its relief. It is with pleasure we publish the following: "This is to certify that I was a terrible sufferer from yellow jaundice for over six months, and was treated by some of the best physicians in our city and all to no avail. Dr. Bell, our druggist, recommended Electric Bitters; and after taking two bottles, I was entirely cured. I now take great pleasure in recommending them to any person suffering from this terrible malady. I am gratefully yours, M. A. Hogarty, Lexington, Ky." Sold by Duluth Drug company.

WINE OF CARDUI

REGULAR AS CLOCKWORK.

DUMAS, ARK., July 24.
My menses used to come twice a month and were very profuse. I had almost constant headache, backache, pains in the lower abdomen and great constipation of the bowels. I have used four bottles of Wine of Cardui, taking Black-Draught as needed, and now my menstruation is as regular as clockwork.
MRS. L. M. WITHERSPOON.

McELREE'S
Wine of Cardui

The menstrual period should regularly appear no oftener than every twenty-eighth day, and should continue three to five days. There is danger ahead if the menses come oftener than that. It means an early death. Happy old age is impossible if nature's programme is not carried out. If the menses are too profuse or too scant, if there is suppression, if there is any weakness or drain in the organs of womanhood, not a moment should be lost in taking Wine of Cardui. As Mrs. Witherspoon says, it regulates menstruation like clockwork. When a woman is "regular", and her delicate and distinctive organism is strong and well, her health is sure to be perfect, and a perfectly healthy woman has many years of brightness and happiness before her. Wine of Cardui undoubtedly lengthens life.

MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE—

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of sixteen thousand six hundred ninety-six and 41-100 dollars ($16,696.41), which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by Dewitt C. Prescott and Sarah Prescott, his wife, mortgagors, to Harriet H. Norris, mortgagee, bearing date the 23d day of February, 1892, and with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for the county of St. Louis and state of Minnesota, on the 29th day of February, 1892, at 10:00 o'clock a. m. in book 69 of mortgages, on page 567; which said mortgage, together with the debt secured thereby, was duly assigned by said Harriet H. Norris mortgagee, to Hanson E. Smith, by written assignment dated the 8th day of September, 1898, and recorded in the office of said register of deeds, on the 10th day of September, 1898, at 2:10 o'clock p. m., in book 108 of mortgages on page 578; and whereas, the said power of sale has become operative, and no action or proceeding has been instituted at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz: Lots sixteen (16), seventeen (17) and eighteen (18), block one hundred nine (109), Sixth (6th) division, West Duluth, together with the residence thereon situated, in St. Louis County and state of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said St. Louis County, at the front door of the court house, in the city of Duluth, in said county and state, on the 7th day of March, 1899 at 10 o'clock a. m., of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and fifty dollars attorneys' fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

NOTICE OF MORTGAGE SALE—

Whereas default has been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage which was duly executed and delivered by William S. Woodbridge and Frances A. Woodbridge, his wife, and Lydia F. Woodbridge, (widow), mortgagors, to L. V. N. Blakeman, mortgagee, bearing date July first (1st), 1891, and which was duly recorded in the register of deeds' office for St. Louis County, Minnesota, on August seventh (7th), 1891, at four (4) o'clock p. m., in book eighty-nine (89) of mortgages, on page three hundred thirty-one (331); and said L. V. N. Blakeman thereafter died, and the undersigned, Emma A. Blakeman, was duly appointed and has duly qualified as executrix of his estate, in the probate court for Hennepin County, Minnesota; such default consisting in the non-payment of the principal sum secured by said mortgage, with interest thereon at the rate of eight per cent per annum from July 1st, 1896, and exchange, no part of which has been paid:

And whereas there is therefore claimed to be due, and there is actually due, upon said mortgage debt, at the date of this notice, the sum of two thousand four hundred fifteen and 83-100 ($2415.83) dollars, principal, interest and exchange;

And whereas said mortgage contains a power of sale in due form, which has become operative by reason of the defaults above mentioned, and no action or proceeding at law or otherwise, has been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof;

Now therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of said power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made, said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described therein, situate in St. Louis County, Minnesota, described as follows, to-wit: All of lot thirty-three (33), in block nine (9), and all of lots one (1), two (2) and three (3) in block ten (10); all in Bay Front Division of Duluth, according to the recorded plat thereof in said register of deeds' office of said county; which premises will be sold by the sheriff of said St. Louis County, at the front door of the court house, in the city of Duluth, in said county and state, on the twentieth (20th) day of March, A. D. 1899, at ten (10) o'clock a. m., at public auction, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and seventy-five dollars attorney's fees, stipulated for in said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.
